REVISING OFFICERS

The publication of the names of the Revising Officers appointed for the Province of Ontario should surely elicit those who have been raving against the "iniquity," as they styled it, of the Franchise Act in providing for these officials, if these critics had been influenced by reason instead of indulging in unfounded abuse of their political opponents. Their pretended dread that the Revising officials would be corrupt and shameless partisans, ready to falsify the voters' lists in the interest of their party, was clearly a sham, for when a few of the appointments were made public, although they were so excellent as to receive the approval of even the Reformers of the localities interested, the wholesale abuse of the Revising Officers as a body was redoubled instead of being allayed.

The full list is now published and will be found in another column. A careful scrutiny will show that it is an irreproachable selection. No fair minded opponent of the Administration will find fault with it, or deny the gentlemen to whom have been entrusted this important duty. Even those virulent and scurrilous opponents of the chosen statesmen of Canada, who cannot see any good in any act of a Conservative Administration, and think it necessary to pour out their abuse upon Conservatives whatever they may do, will have to deal in generosity without venturing upon particulars. They will have to admit that their own local Revising Officer is an excellent choice, and to locate the outrage elsewhere.

On examining the list of names it will be seen that the County Judges have as a rule been appointed. In the few cases, only about one in eight, where barristers of high standing have been selected, it is almost invariably because the County Judge is appointed for another riding. The people will have full confidence in the impartiality and ability of these officials and will acknowledge the fairness with which the executive power has been exercised.

Of course this appropriateness of the selection was no more than was expected by those who knew the justice of the Government, and this includes many besides their political friends. Lawyers of the Reform party, if not blinded by partisan prejudice, are always willing to allow that the judicial appointments of the present Government have been admirable, and they are so reasonable to imagine that the quasi-judicial position of Revising Officers would be less appropriately filled. In fact it would be hardly necessary to point how well the Government has done its duty in this respect, but for the howl that has gone up from a section of the Reform press and a portion of the Reform representatives, and their assertion that an outrage had been committed in handing the voters' lists over to political partisans.

Of course the Globe will see no good in this list, and will think it especially bad because composed almost wholly of judges. But the people of Canada do not share in the Globe's antipathy to the Canadian judiciary, and will have the same confidence in them as Revising Officers that they feel in them as judges.

THE PROTECTIVE TARIFF.

The Witness (the only English Reform paper in Montreal) expresses the following opinion in the tariff question:—

"We know perfectly that Mr. Blake or any one else would have to continue to maintain a considerable tariff for purposes of revenue, but if Mr. Blake were true to his antecedents, he would as fast as he could, not to case dis-aster, withdraw these taxes which have been imposed for purposes of plunder."

If the Canadian free traders were "true to their antecedents," and believed their theories regarding the restriction of trade and other free trade dogmas, were correct, they should advocate the removal of all customs duties and the collection of the revenue by direct taxation. That is what their arguments lead to, but they do not care to follow them to the far.

The Witness, however, is consistent in so far that it desires to see all protective duties removed. The Witness believes that a tariff would have to be maintained for revenue purposes, and the Conservatives agree to that, but they differ in one point. The policy of the Conservatives is to have the tariff as adjusted that, while producing revenue, it will also be protective. The Witness would have the revenue collected, but without the advantages of the protection.

It is noticeable that the Witness acknowledges that to withdraw the protective tariff at once would cause disaster. It would, evidently, have the manufacturing industries starved and certain death and immediate extermination is not an inviting prospect.

We learn from the London Advertiser that Sir John Macdonald is the responsible conductor of the Mail. What a wonderful man, and of what surpassing abilities Sir John must be, to add such momentous duties to his successful Premiership, and to perform them with such ease, that no one ever suspected that he bore such an additional burden, till the secret was divulged by this babbling confidant of the great Conservative leader.

Fatal Encounter with a Grizzly.
 Bismarck, Dakota, Oct. 19.—Jas. Riggs, who with a party of friends, was hunting in the Rockies, was killed in an encounter with a grizzly bear on Friday last. Riggs stabbed the bear in the heart, but not until he had been disemboweled.

NOVA SCOTIA MINERALS

The Opinion of a High Scientific Authority on their Importance.

The New York Engineering and Mining Journal in its last issue has the following:—

The recent visit of the Mining Engineers to Nova Scotia served to dispel many erroneous impressions. Not a few were surprised to find that Nova Scotia has a known coal area of nearly 700 square miles, or nearly twice the area of the Pennsylvania anthracite fields, and that some of the Nova Scotia fields have a greater thickness of workable coal than probably exists anywhere else in the world. The coal, too, is of good quality, though, when not washed, the slack and coke contain generally very large percentages of ash and of sulphur. The iron ore deposit of Lunenburg is one of the finest in the world and greatly surpassed many experts. The country altogether was larger and better than was expected, and there was created among patriotic Americans a very general opinion that the Maritime Provinces are in every way worthy to become States of the Union and to receive the inestimable benefits of annexation. To a man they will vote for it, and it is well that some of the ladies are even more enthusiastic on this subject, and with characteristic impetuosity propose to begin the annexation of individuals, simply to educate the "Blue Noses" up to a proper appreciation of its blessings.

It was pretty generally believed that the climate of Nova Scotia was both cold and wet. This erroneous impression was thoroughly dispelled; for certainly no trace of coldness or "fidelity" was found anywhere to offset the warmth and air rarely existed in any other part of the world the Institute has yet visited. As for the legend that in Nova Scotia the normal condition of the atmosphere is rain and fog, the visitors were convinced, both by personal experience and private information, of the contrary; for they found it a well established fact that the natives are always dry.

In an article on the Spring Hill collieries the same journal says: "American industries have a special interest in this great coalfield, for it may become a very important source of supply for manufacturing and metallurgical works situated along our eastern seaboard. Consider the fact that we export to Canada far more coal than we import from all countries, there is a fair probability of reciprocity in coal at least being enacted in the interest of our coal and manufacturing industries. We imported only 64,815 tons of Nova Scotia coal last year, while we exported, almost exclusively to Canada, in the same year, 1,342,018 tons of anthracite and bituminous coal. In Canada, our coal pays a duty of 60 cents a ton; while Nova Scotia coal coming into this country pays a duty of 75 cents a ton for all except slack, which pays 30 cents a ton. No doubt the removal of the duty on both sides would increase our export far more than our imports of coal, and it would afford a cheaper fuel to our metallurgical works situated on the Atlantic coast. At what price could we then obtain coals in New York harbor? Spring Hill slack could probably be delivered f. o. b. here, with a fair profit to the mine, at $1.75 a ton, and run of mine at perhaps $2 to $2.25. And as the by-products of coking in the vicinity of New York could be utilized, and would return a profit on the operation, the cost of coking need not be counted. A good furnace coke could therefore be delivered here at from $3.50 to $4 a ton, which is about the present price of furnace coke here, while to works at Boston and farther East the cost would be still less.

Experience has demonstrated that with the present duty no considerable amount of Nova Scotia coal can come in while our superior Cumberland and Clearfield coals are sold at the mines, including miners' profit, at 75 cents a ton, and are carried by our railroads at three cents per ton mile; but the time will come whether through reciprocity in a few raw materials, or later on and better yet, by annexation of the New Dominion, when the vast mineral resources of Nova Scotia will be developed by opening to them an enormous market in our Eastern States. Then will the great Spring Hill collieries, which, now in their infancy, have a capacity of from 1,200 to 1,500 tons a day, grow into the realization of the magnificent, though by no means visionary, plans of their very able and enterprising managing director, Mr. R. G. Leckie.

BRITISH ELECTION CAMPAIGN.

Reading Speeches by Churchill, Chamberlain and Michael Davitt.

Lord Randolph Churchill addressed a meeting at Norfolk last evening and continued his speech as a piece of bravado. He dropped his old tactics and posed as a Tory of the old school. He agreed with Mr. Gladstone and Mr. Bright in favoring a middle course in the education debate. He proposed that everybody should pay one penny weekly for purely elementary education, and that the Government increase its grant in order to supply deficiencies. He denounced Mr. Chamberlain's land proposals.

Mr. Chamberlain, speaking before a caucus at Birmingham, violently assailed Lord Randolph Churchill, whose bright particular star, he said, was now eclipsed by the heavy hand of his master, Lord Salisbury. Lord Randolph's vaunted brilliancy was all gone, and only coarse, fatulent abuse remained. Mr. Chamberlain, amid a terrific outburst of enthusiasm, concluded with a plan for universal franchise and confidence in the democracy. He predicted that in the coming elections the Liberals would have the largest majority for half a century. He said he gloried in being abused. No one who politician was so honored.

Michael Davitt, speaking at Glasgow, made a bitter attack upon the Tories. He feared, however, that Irishmen would vote against the Liberals in order to secure power. He urged the union of the Church with the Radicals. He praised Mr. Gladstone's past services, and said he hoped the ex-Premier would live to secure national independence for Ireland.

THE WAR CONTINUED.

The 6th Battalion to Push All Notes Against the Toronto News.

The refusal of Mr. Kibbie, city editor of the Toronto News, to appear on his personal recognition before Police Magistrate Desnoyers has been the effect of determining the officers of the 6th Battalion to persevere with their suits against the News.

A staff officer of the 6th informed a Star reporter this morning that the officers of the Battalion had done all in their power to arrive at a just settlement. It had been decided to postpone the Kibbie case until the 19th, as Mr. McNamee was endeavoring to effect a settlement. Consent to the postponement had been given in the hope that an agreement would be arrived at in the meantime. All along the prosecution expressed the desire to discontinue the case in the event of an ex parte honor, and they had offered to withdraw the suits as soon as a gentlemanly apology was made. Now the gentleman went on to say, the case is different. They realize that Kibbie's failure to put in an appearance is due to Shepherd's intervention, and seeing the latter's bad faith and animus, they are determined to press all suits, including two in the civil courts for $50,000, to the end. In addition to the existing case suits for $99,999 will be issued against Shepherd in the Circuit Court by the rank and file of the battalion. — Montreal Star.

THE COLONIAL EXHIBITION.

A Large Exhibit from the Dominion—Success of Mr. C. Tupper's Work.

OTTAWA, Oct. 19.—Sir Charles Tupper, High Commissioner, left the city today for Nova Scotia, and will not return before leaving for England. "Sir Charles states that the arrangements so far made for the representation of the Dominion at the Indian and Colonial Exhibition next spring give promise of a most thorough collection of exhibits being sent over. The great difficulty now is that though Canada comes next to India in the amount of allotted space in the Exhibition, Ontario Province exhibits alone will fill more space than is allotted to India, and unless the Committee of Management can give the Dominion a much larger amount of room the already promised exhibits will have to be cut down. Amongst the cities from which rich collections will go Galt stands pre-eminent, with Hamilton and Toronto following. The arrangements for the cereal exhibits are most complete, and strong hopes are entertained that fat stock, etc., may be equally entered.

A THOUSAND DOLLAR BILL.

A Hamilton Backman's Theft Revealed After a Lap of Three Years.

HAMILTON, Oct. 19.—Arthur Cline, a well known backman of this city, was arrested this morning, charged with the theft of $1000. Three years ago this fall a wealthy young California Eugene McCarthy, the alleged Hunt had named Hunt visited this city, accompanied by lots of money, which he spent with a lavish hand. When the pair left this city to go to Washington they were driven to the station by Cline in his hack and in paying his fair Hunt gave what he thought a $50 bill and received back the change. In examining his money on the train he discovered that he was short of a $1000 bill. He immediately telegraphed to a friend here, and sent McCarthy back on the first train to look for the missing bill, but the search was unavailing. The affair was apparently forgotten until Cline's son-in-law, John Sheridan, laid the information against him. The latter says that his father-in-law sent him to the States to change the bill, which he did in St. Louis. On Friday Sheridan assaulted Cline, and the latter laid a charge against him, upon which he was fined $20 and costs of fifty days. To get revenge Sheridan lays the charge against Cline, and the Magistrate will investigate it on Nov. 2. Bail was fixed at $2000, which was given.

CURE FOR CHOLERA.

An American Consul's Report of the Epidemic in France.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 19.—U.S. Consul, Frank H. Mason, has sent in his final report to the Secretary of State, dated Oct. 1, of the cholera in the south of France. The most fatal days were at Marseilles, Aug. 31, when 60 persons died, and at Toulon Aug. 27, when there were 32 deaths. Altogether there had been this season in Marseilles 1,230 deaths. Americans were singularly fortunate in escaping the plague, no deaths having occurred among them, owing to their careful avoidance of the excreta, which proved fatal in the case of many other foreigners. While the epidemic was high, nine men, including the captain of two American vessels in port near Toulon, were stricken with it. They all recovered after using what is called the recipe of Dr. Valentine Mott, of New York. Its formula is: "Tincture of rhubarb 10 parts, laudanum sydenham 4 parts, camphor one-half part, syrup of ether 50 parts, syrup of bitter orange peel 50 parts. Use a teaspoonful in a little water, and repeat until the symptoms cease." As to the scientific results achieved during the progress of the epidemic, the report says: "It is doubtful whether the final statistics will show that any substantial progress has been made in treating the most malignant forms of the disease, or that the proportion of deaths to cases have been reduced so much as to make a person sick by all the experience of these two summers. The one efficient treatment for Asiatic cholera is to avoid it. The remedies are intelligence, temperance, correct living, that individual religion of the body which is so essential part of human civilization, and supplemented by the improved drainage, ventilation and municipal cleanliness which are the basis of modern sanitary science."

A SWINE MOUNTAIN ON FIRE.

Owing to the drought which has so long prevailed in Switzerland and Savoy, fire, some of them of an unusual and alarming character, have taken place in various parts of the country. Two months ago a great turf moor known as the Grasse Moore, near Witzwil, in Canton Fribourg, took fire and is still burning. All efforts to put it out having proved abortive.

The peasants of the neighborhood had to get in their crops in all haste and remove their stacks and other easily inflammable possessions to a safe distance. Unless there is soon a sufficient fall of rain to extinguish the fire which, especially at night, makes a strange and weird spectacle, several villages will be in danger. Last week a greater part of St. Jean de Maurienne, in Savoy, was burned. The college, the Palace de Justice, and some thirty other buildings were completely destroyed, the fire engines, owing to lack of water, being unable to act. On Sunday afternoon last, a cloud of smoke was seen rising from the summit of Salève, the mountain which overlooks Geneva, the bushes and grass which cover the hillside near the stone cross on the path between Monastier and Treize-Arbres were on fire, and fanned by a light wind, or tended so rapidly that after sunset the side of the mountain above Verrier was all in a blaze, and the flames, the blazing path by which Geneva's excursionists climb up to Monastier, rendered impossible. Great fears were at one time entertained that the fire would reach the village of Monastier, when all the barbage and timber on the Salève would have been involved in one terrific conflagration. Fortunately, however, the wind carried the flames towards "the little gorge," where there being nothing but naked rocks, the fire eventually burned itself out.

Killed by Death by a Horse.

CAPTOWN, Oct. 19.—Last night Maxwell Kitchen, a well-to-do young farmer in this neighborhood, went out to look after his horses in the pasture field. Though he did not return his family had no misgivings, as they concluded that he had gone visiting some neighbors. This morning he was found lying face downwards in a mud puddle in the pasture quite dead. His jaw was fractured, and it is supposed that one of the horses kicked him. He was 26 years old and bluish respected.

Slowing up Hell Case.

has been a laborious and costly work, but the justice of the effort. Obstructions in any important channel of the human body bring inevitable disease. They must be cleared away, or physical wreck will follow. Keep the liver in order, and the pure blood courses through the conveying health, strength and life. Let it become impure and the channels are clogged with impurities, which result in disease and death. Lists for 1885, must do so before 12 o'clock tomorrow night, when the time expires.

The Gun Club.

A meeting of the Gun Club was held on Tuesday, when it was decided to practice on Tuesdays and Saturdays. Clay blackbirds and

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock
this morning, as reported from the Toronto
Observatory, are as follows:—Westerly winds,

The market was fairly well attended this morning. Fresh butter brought 20 to 21 cents and tub butter 15 to 18 cents, eggs 15 to 16 cents, potatoes 50 to 60 cents, hay $12, barley 50 to 75 cents, oats 32 to 33 cents.

Doubly Interesting.

The subject of Masonry is an interesting one,
and a miracle of supernatural event is also very interesting. Therefore the subject of Dr. Wild's lecture on the 28th, "A Masonic Miracle," will be doubly interesting.

Fell off the Train.

When the noon train drew up to the Grand Trunk depot station Mrs. Brown, of Beaverton, while getting off the train, fell to the track and injured her side. Dr. Pigeon attended to her. She was able to proceed to Bellefleur on the afternoon train.

Adjourned Sale of Furniture, &c.
The sale of the remainder of the splendid furniture, &c., at C. Young's Hotel, Ashburnham, has been postponed until Thursday, the 22nd

Did Not Appear.

William Halloran, who was charged with having assaulted Constable Adams while in the discharge of his duty on Sunday night, did not appear in the Police Court this morning when his case was called. On Monday, when the

The "Silver King."

Harry Miner's company appeared in Bradburn's Opera House on Tuesday evening in the "Silver King." The play is a popular one and there was a full house. The leading male characters were well performed, but the support was not in all cases as good as it should have been. Mr. Walter F. Birch, as the "King," received frequent applause, and Mr. Horace Cone filled the part of "the Spider" with success. Mrs. Hattie Warner's costumes were superb, but her acting, although fairly good, was too plainly acting.

Personal.

Mr. George Perry, an old employee of the REVIEW, and now holding a position in a leading office in Rochester, N.Y., called on us this morning.

We have had the pleasure of a visit from Mr.
C. H. A. Williams, formerly captain of the Port Hope troop of cavalry. He is making arrangements for the local distribution of the memoirs of his late brother, Col. A. T. H. Williams, the gallant commander of the Midlander.

Mr. John Robertson has just received from
S. J. and a Tam o' Shanter that will create a sensation when it appears on the Curling Rink.
It is believed that it will not be found necessary to have the doors widened.

Just received at Turnbull's, a large shipment of Furrows (good patterns) for Homes' Suits and Ladies' Vests, both of which are made up on the premises.

THE SAWDUST QUESTION.

An Association Formed to Purify the Waters of our River and Lake.

Some time ago a number of people who are interested in property near the Little Lake, met to see if some action could be taken to suppress the deposit of sawdust in the Otona-bee. At the meeting Mr. E. A. Peck was appointed secretary, and was instructed to call a general meeting to consider this very important matter.

The recent low water has enabled the people to see exactly how far these banks of sawdust extend into the Little Lake. Beds appeared over the surface of the water near the centre of the lake, while those near the north east shore are many feet deep.

A meeting was called by the Secretary, and on Tuesday evening quite a number assembled at the Mechanics' Institute.

Mr. R. Meade was elected chairman, after which considerable discussion ensued.

Mr. N. LEPLANTE thought that not only should the Association endeavor to prevent the deposit of sawdust in the river, but it should make a move towards dredging the lake. An exploded along Crescent street might be made twenty feet wide by having the crib work pushed out into the lake and filled in by the sawdust.

Mr. JAMES ENGLISH said that he did not think it should be used in that way. He favored having it carted out to farms, to be used as manure.

Mr. E. B. EDWARDS agreed with Mr. Leplante. The Association should take the form of one that would endeavor not only to suppress the nuisance, but one that would have for its object the removal of the sawdust out of our lake. The people would then understand that the Association was not formed to make only a spasmodic crusade against the mill owners.

Mr. D. BELLBOMEN said that he was here tonight because he thought it was his duty; and it was the duty of every citizen of Peterborough to take an active part in the removal of this nuisance. If things went on as they had done, in a few years the lake would be entirely choked up.

Mr. N. LEPLANTE was of opinion that Dr.
Clarke should be hailed over the coals for not having given more attention to this matter.

Dr. Clarke replied that he had called Dr.
Bryce, Secretary of the Provincial Board of Health, out into the lake, pointed out the injuries that was being done and had nearly swamped him on two or three beds of sawdust.
The doctor had proceeded to place the matter before the Ontario Legislature and press the importance of having the lake dredged. Nothing more had been done, however.

After some further discussion the Association was formed under the name of the Anti Sawdust Association.

The Association was organized for the purpose of securing the purification of the waters of the River Otonabee and Little Lake by the removal of sawdust, etc., and the prevention of the nuisance for the future.

The membership fee was fixed at $1.

Mr. R. Meade was elected permanent chairman, and Mr. E. A. Peck, secretary-treasurer.

A motion was put and carried as follows:—
That the chairman, the secretary and Mr. Hall be a committee to prosecute offenders against the law, and that the secretary be authorized to carry on any prosecution in the name of this Association.

The meeting then adjourned.

GOVERNMENT OFFICES.

LAND ACQUIRED BY HER MAJESTY FOR PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

The Post Office Site Settled on George Street—Other Public Buildings Probably on Water Street.

At length the long debated question of the selecting of a site for the Peterborough Post Office has been decided.

It was rumored that the deeds conveying the land had been registered, and a visit to the Registry Office afforded the following information:

THE POST OFFICE SITE.

A deed was registered on Oct. 20th, bearing date Oct. 19th, 1885, from Edward Phelan and his wife (to bar dower), conveying to Her Majesty Queen Victoria, for the sum of $3,900, part of Lot No. One, south of Charlotte street and east of George street, in the town of Peterborough, being that portion having a frontage of 60 feet on George street and 114 feet 7 inches on Charlotte street, the north 60 feet of the lot
"for the purpose of erecting thereon a post office for Peterborough."

OTHER PUBLIC BUILDINGS.

On the same day but a few minutes later, was registered a deed of the date of October 20th, from Campbell W. Sowers and his wife (to bar dower) conveying to Her Majesty the Queen for the sum of $6,000 part of Lot 2, North of Hunter street, and east of George street, in the Town of Peterborough, being that portion having a frontage of 60 feet on Hunter and 100 feet on Water street, being the east 60 feet of the lot, a lane at the north reducing the depth to a hundred feet.

There is no mention of the purpose for which the lot is acquired.

SETTLED AT LAST.

It will be seen that it has been decided to erect the Post Office on the corner of George and Charlotte streets, south, of the Market Square.
It is also probable that a public building will be erected at the corner of Water and Hunter streets to accommodate the Customs, Inland Revenue, &c.

It is to be hoped that such buildings will be put up as will be a credit to our flourishing town. The site for the Post-office being on the road taken by all visitors to our town, whether by the Grand Trunk, the Canada Pacific or the steamboats, will ensure the buildings being noticed, and it should be of such a character as to afford a favorable idea of our town at the very outset.

POLICE COURT.

BREACH OF THE PEACE.

WEDNESDAY, OCT. 21.—John Poulette appeared on remand, charged with fighting in a public place on Sunday evening. He pleaded not guilty. Mr. O'Meara appeared for the prosecution. An attempt was made by the defence to show that the fighting was only in jest, but it failed, and a fine of $5 and costs or 30 days in gaol was imposed.

PROFANE LANGUAGE.

John Poulette was also charged with using profane language in a public place on the same evening, and on that charge was fined $2.

INTERFERING WITH THE POLICE.

Lewis Clark was charged with having interfered with Constable Adams while in the discharge of his duty. Mr. J. O'Meara appeared for the prisoner, who pleaded not guilty.

This case was the outcome of the disturbance on Sunday night, when Constable Adams was assaulted and the prisoner taken from him.
In the court on Monday Clarke spoke to the officer and he recognized him as one of the party who attacked him on Sunday and arrested him. The defence tried to prove an alibi, but as the witness said that Clarke came to his place on Sherbrooke street at about six o'clock in the evening, and the row occurred not far from that street at about six o'clock, the Magistrate did not consider the alibi proven.

The prisoner was fined $50 and costs or two months in gaol. The Magistrate remarked that he made the penalty a fine in consideration of the fact that the prisoner had a family, but that if any more of the same party came before him on the same charge he would not make the penalty a pecuniary one.

THAT PROPOSED CONVENTION

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR.—The editor of Examiner first blames an unknown teacher for misrepresenting the Board to the Minister of Education, then concocted me for misinterpreting the object of that resolution already referred to.

I made no charge that the motion was passed with the sole, or even the chief object to prevent the town teachers from taking part in the proposed convention; but I did say that teachers absenting themselves to attend that convention brought themselves within the scope of that motion. Was it not agreed at that same meeting that the schools should not be closed?
Does he not admit in his editorial of Tuesday that such was the decision of the Board when he complains of teachers having so many holidays that they should subtract two days from the summer vacation, and, therefore, need not to subtract any at other times?

The law provides for two semi-annual conventions of two days each to be taken out of the school time. Now the editor of the Examiner is a very potential personage; but the Minister will scarcely alter the law out of deference to his opinion.

"But they are determined that henceforth the teachers shall not run the Board."—Examiner. A proper determination. But who has been running it, or attempting it? I had no desire to misrepresent the Board, but acting from information obtained from responsible parties that there was opposition expressed to the two days being taken, and also to the use of the building, I wrote to the Minister for advice to guide the Executive in their actions.

I would ask if there was nothing said at that meeting, Tuesday, 6th, of the convention when the Court Room?

I remain yours truly,
WM. BEATTIE,
Sec. Peterborough Teachers' Association.
October 21st, 1885.

YOUNG TREES FROM THE FOREST.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR.—Will you allow me to call the attention of your readers to the fact that the present time, and till the first renders the ground too hard for digging, is the period when all deciduous trees, such as the maple, oak, elm, ash, hickory, beechwood and others, may be had from the forest, or better still, if possible, from the fields adjoining, where they have grown from seed blown from the woods, and planted to best advantage. They may be taken an inch or more in thickness of stem and planted at once in their ultimate positions, or very young, and planted in garden beds, next year or the year after to be planted where they are needed. The first method is generally the most rapid of results,
but the transplanting so increases the root fibres
as to give great certainty of taking root and additional vigor of growth; and one word of advice, if you take deciduous trees strip off their leaves, if any are on; if evergreens, keep their roots moist and covered till you plant. Evergreens will grow if carefully planted now,
though their best time is June and July.

In the west, where planting is being done with a view of growing timber rapidly, they plant thousands of acres with trees in blocks of nearly a square mile, four feet apart every way
in garden beds, next year or the year after to be planted where they are needed. The first method is generally the most rapid of results,
but the transplanting so increases the root fibres
as to give great certainty of taking root and additional vigor of growth; and one word of advice, if you take deciduous trees strip off their
roots moist and covered till you plant. Evergreens will grow if carefully planted now,
though their best time is June and July.

Yours, etc.,
R. W. PHIPPS.

APOLOGY AND SUBMISSION.

The action for libel brought by Mr. R. S.
Williams, of Toronto, piano manufacturer, against Mr. E. J. Hartley, of Peterborough, Ont., and Mr. C. F. Colwell, of London, Ont., piano dealers, came up for hearing at the autumn assizes before Mr. Justice Galt, and was terminated by the defendants giving the following apology and submission.

ASSIZE COURT, TORONTO.

R. S. Williams vs. Hartley and Colwell:
The defendants having heard the whole evidence, admit the circular purporting to be signed A. Weber, dated Oct. 24th, 1882, was not justified and ought not to have been published. They regret having made use of it, and they withdraw their plea of justification in this action, and agree to pay the plaintiff's costs, as between solicitor and client. They also undertake to give up to the plaintiff's solicitor any of the circulars remaining in their possession, and they submit to judgment for the costs when taxed, and an injunction restraining the further publication of the circular.

Special to the Review.

LONDON, Eng., Oct. 22.—The law committee of the Privy Council to-day gave their decision in the appeal case of Louis Riel, affirming his conviction, and holding that the Canadian

Court in the first instance had jurisdiction of treason; that six men on the jury were sufficient; that shorthand notes were lawful reports of proceedings, and that substantial justice had been done to Riel.

THE CONFIDENCE OF THE PEOPLE.

ANOTHER remarkable victory has been won by the friends of the Dominion Government, and another unmistakable expression of public approval of the policy of the Macdonald Administration has been recorded. The Conservative candidate has been elected in St. John's, N. B., city and county by a large majority. The representation of the constituency was rendered vacant by the death of the Hon. Isaac Burpee, a Reformer, who was elected in 1879 by a majority of 506 and again in 1882 by a majority of 534. Mr. Everett's majority is placed at about 400, which shows a gain of nearly 1,000 votes. This is a sweeping change, and the victory, following the one gained in Antigonish, a Nova Scotia constituency, where a minority of 330 was turned into a Conservative majority of 201, is significant as showing that the people of the Maritime Provinces have ever fuller confidence in the Government after an additional trial of three years than they had in 1882.

The Reform reaction, of which we have heard a great deal, does not appear to have much influence on elections. It has been declared over and over again that the feeling against the Dominion Government was so intense that the people only wanted the opportunity to hurl them from office, and the emphatic language indulged in by those professed exponents of public opinion was such that any person who was not accustomed to their ways might even fear that the indignant population would not wait for a legitimate opportunity to make a change in the rulers of the Dominion. It was said that there was "seething excitement" in Ontario, and that the Maritime provinces were so disgusted with Conservative rule that they were seriously considering the question of secession. But all the talk by the Opposition press was merely idle words. There was no such excitement, no violent upheaval threatened in any part of the Dominion, and the intense desire for Reform rulers was only felt by the bitter politicians of that party. The people were satisfied.

The election of Mr. Ward in East Durham by a handsome majority was a good indication that the people in this section had not changed their opinions and that they estimated the statements of the Reform press and orators, their lamentations, their sighing and wailing, at their true value. Mr. Thomas White's triumphant return for Cardwell was corroborative evidence of the fact that no Reform reaction had begun in this Province, and that the people of Ontario were true to the National Policy, to the idea of the building of the Canadian Pacific Railway, and to the entire policy of the party of progress, whom they had placed in office in 1878, and whose policy they had endorsed in 1882. Neither does the reaction exist in Nova Scotia or New Brunswick, as a constituency in each of those provinces, which formerly elected Reformers by large majorities, have recently sent to Parliament, by considerable majorities, Conservative representatives. It is fair to presume, as the Reformers laid such stress on the reaction in these Provinces, that there is a growing feeling against the Government in other parts. The Conservative Administration still retains the confidence and support of the people.

THE C. P. RAILWAY.

Progress of the Work—A Good Report by Mr. Schreiber.

OTTAWA, Oct. 20.—Mr. Collingwood Schreiber, chief engineer of the Government railways, just returned from a tour of inspection of the Canadian Pacific Railway, says the line north of Lake Superior is in very good condition. Large numbers of men are still busily engaged in ballasting, but the line is in such good condition that any amount of speed can be attained. The numerous and frequent trestle bridges have it all cases where temporary trestle work was employed, been removed, and many banks have been made in places where trestles formerly existed. On the whole, the eastern section of the line is now a most valuable and good piece of line, although much of the country through which it runs will never be valuable. Leaving Winnipeg, Mr. Schreiber continued the journey in Victoria, B. C., by the Northern Pacific returning by the Canadian Pacific Railway through Kicking Horse Pass. Here both ends of the road present an excellent appearance, the part done by the Government and the part made by the Syndicate both being admirably constructed. There remains now only a few miles, the distance at the time of Mr. Schreiber's visit being 36 miles of line to be laid, and altogether the rails are only laid from one end. The Company are placing two miles a day. By the end of the month the whole plate laying will be done and the eastern and western shores united by the line. The Company will not open the line for traffic this year. Speaking of the country he said that from the end of the dry district eastward to Eyle River and Kamloops there was a magnificent agricultural country either for grazing or cereal crops. The dry district toward the lack of water could be overcome by irrigation is especially fitted for grain and hop growing, and is wonderfully free from insects.

The Cardinal's Hat Coming to Canada.
 A despatch from Montreal says that the vacancy in the College of Cardinals, created by the death of the Cardinal Archbishop of New York, will probably be filled by the promotion to the dignity of Archbishop Taschereau of Quebec. During the recent visit to Rome of Canadian Bishops, who went there about the division of the diocese of Trois Rivières, Cardinal Simoni is said to have given him the promise to obtain for Archbishop Taschereau the first Cardinal's hat which should become disposable.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

RIEL'S APOLOGIST.
 The Globe has been bashfully apologizing for the Northwest investigator of rebellion all through.—Newmarket Era (Rel.)

A PAIR OF THEM.
 A Philadelphia lady who recently visited Canada, and was caught smuggling by United States customs officials at Suspension Bridge, writes to the Philadelphia Call to say that "at present" she is "a rabid free trader." Mr. Nelson, the owner of the Toronto Globe, is also a rabid free trader.—Hamilton Spectator

IMMIGRATION.
 The only occasion upon which any Government spent public money to bring competitors here to test down wages was when the Mowat Government, upon the representation of the late Hon. George Brown, secured Scotland for printers to underbid printers in Toronto and brought a number out, paying part of their passage money and rewarding them with a bonus of $6 for themselves and for every member of their family they brought with them.—Toronto Ad.

INDUSTRIOUS HOWLERS.
 One of the greatest absurdities connected with the attacks upon protection is found in the fact that no three free-traders agree as to the proper policy of the Government. A very few enthusiastic theorists clamor for free trade absolutely, apparently ignorant of or indifferent to all questions of nationality affecting trade. Others have various schemes for reducing the tariff on many different articles, leaving some still protected by the tariff. As the latter constitute by far the greater part of the imports, and as they are unable to decide what should be left protected and what should be made absolutely free, they have no positive policy to propose in place of general protection, but content themselves with howling at the existing state of affairs without providing or even suggesting a practical system to take its place. It is only the very ignorant who call for absolute free trade in all things; but it is easy to attack protection negatively without affirming anything better.—Detroit Post

A PLEA FOR FAIR PLAY.
 The close of this week will probably see the completion of the Canadian Pacific as accomplished fact. Our Reform contemporaries should accept it as such and change the tone of attacks on the company. So long as the road was a prospective mendicant at the hands of the Government, they may possibly have been justified in their very gloomy prophecies of its failure as a means of inducing the country to refuse its demands. Now, however, there can be no possible excuse for the continuance of this kind of assault on the company, the only result of which will be to embarrass the road, depreciate its value and imperil our chances of ever getting back the $30,000,000 loaned it. The railway policy of the Government is still an open issue, our esteemed contemporaries will be quite justified in pointing out what they conceive to be its errors, and demanding the punishment of the responsible parties, but they should limit their hostility to them and give the railway fair play.—Montreal Star (Indep.)

Mr. Charles Tupper's Home.
 A private English correspondent in a communication some time ago stated that amongst other things—"I was at the Canadian Commissioner's the other evening to dine, and met there several prominent people. Their dinner table is a great place for meeting people interested in Canada. Lady Tupper showed me through the house. She said most of the Canadian visitors are disappointed in it—it was not grand enough to suit them—but she added, 'my husband and myself are plain people, and too old to learn to become grand.' The house is a very ordinary one—no better and no worse than dozens of others on the same street. It cost $100,000, under fifty thousand dollars—not much of a mansion can be got in a city like London for that sum. They have no butler or footman—a waiting girl received us at the door. They keep no carriage—the High Commissioner and his wife either 'footing it' when they go abroad, or hiring a 'public carriage.'"

Veteran Parliamentarian.
 Sir Harry Verney, who entered the Commons in the first reformed Parliament, will not accept re-election this year. He is eighty-three years old, and has a brother, Mr. Calvert, Q.C., seventy-nine. Sir Harry changed his name from Calvert to Verney on inheriting the estate of the Baroness de Fernand, sixty years ago, or thereabouts. Mr. Talbot, "the Father of the House," also retires this fall. He is the same age as Sir Harry Verney, and was first elected to the unreformed Parliament of 1830 as member for Glamorganshire, and without a break he has sat for Glamorganshire all the fifty years since. Mr. Villiers is another veteran, eighty-two years old, who has represented one constituency for now just half a century. Sir Robert Carden was born in 1801, but never entered Parliament until 1880. The O'Grady Mahon is eighty-two years old, and was elected to the unreformed Parliament, but has not yet had enough of it, and hopes to secure a return this fall.—N. Y. Tribune

Mrs. Langtry in Court.
 LONDON, Oct. 20.—The case of Mrs. Langtry, who was summoned to appear before the county court of Chelsea for refusing to pay household debts contracted while living with her husband, came up for hearing to-day, but was postponed until Nov. 3rd, at the request of her counsel, who pleaded that his client could not appear owing to professional engagements which could not be broken without serious damage. A number of dressmakers' bills are among the items mentioned in the summons. Mrs. Langtry claims her husband is responsible for the debts. Mr. Langtry's friends state that he is unable to pay the bills, as the only source of income he has at present is an annuity allowed him by his wife on condition that he does not molest her.

Shooting Affray at a Ball.
 HALLETTVILLE, Tex., Oct. 20.—There was a shooting affray at Whiting yesterday morning which resulted in the death of two men. A dance was in progress, and among the dancers were John H. Campion, constable of Whiting, and one told Campion that Frank Dixon, a penniless young man of the neighborhood, was a mad with a revolver. Campion demanded Dixon to surrender the weapon. Dixon refused, and a scuffle occurred in the crowded ballroom. Dixon finally opened fire at Campion, hitting him twice. Another ball struck a young man named Hartnett, and two other men were wounded slightly. A panic prevailed, during which Dixon escaped. Hartnett died during the day, and Campion cannot survive.

Serious Accident.
 BELLEVILLE, Oct. 19.—John Oakham, while hunting deer with Judge Fralick and D. R. Levesque, near Bancroft, was accidentally shot below the left shoulder blade. He was a few feet in advance of Levesque, who fell, his gun discharging its contents into Oakham's body. He is seriously wounded, but may recover.

HON. DAVID HEALY.

The Rise in America of a Peterborough County Boy.

The Labor Union of New York publishes a portrait of the Hon. David Healy, accompanied by the following biographical sketch:—

The following is but a meagre sketch of the busy life of one of the most earnest, unselfish and efficient workers in the cause of labor. He was born in Peterborough County, Ont., in 1850, of Irish parents. His early education was received at the Classical Institute at Norwood, Ontario. In 1867 he removed to Pennsylvania, and in 1874 commenced the study of law at Corry, in that State, but after two years of application was forced by ill health to temporarily abandon the pursuit of that profession. In 1877 he renewed his study in the office of Hon. L. B. Proctor, author of "The Bench and Bar," at Danville, in that State. In 1881 he removed to Rochester, and in the fall of the following year was elected to the Assembly by a majority of 2,381. The cause of this overwhelming evidence of the confidence of the people in a comparative stranger, was his real and intelligence with which he had advocated the claims of labor on the platform and through the press. At the time of his election he was chairman of the executive Board of the Knights of Labor of America. He was first nominated by the workmen, and afterwards endorsed by the Democrats.

In the Assembly Mr. Healy at once assumed and throughout maintained an entirely independent position, not identifying himself with either of the political factions, but steadily sought practically to promote the substantial interests of those who had first given him their confidence.

Among the most prominent of the measures which he introduced in the Assembly was the bill establishing the Bureau of Labor Statistics, which received a unanimous vote in both branches of the Legislature.

When the Bureau was organized, Mr. Healy was appointed chief clerk—a position which was understood to be substantially the head and working force of the Bureau.

Through the Presidential campaign of last year he had determined to maintain the same independent position which had so prominently characterized his course in the Assembly. Being requested by a large delegation of working men to preside at a public meeting to be held in Albany, and to introduce to the people Gen. B. F. Butler, Mr. Healy complied with the request, at the same time reserving the right to act at the polls without being controlled by any obligations which might be incurred by his public representation of the nominee of the People's party for the Presidency.

Commissioner Peck, the head of the Bureau, strenuously objected to the proposed action of the chief clerk, and implicitly forbid it. Nevertheless, Mr. Healy did preside at the meeting, and fulfilled his promise to his associates. Immediately he was dismissed from the department on a charge of sending private dispatches at the public expense. The commissioner retracted the charge five days after making them, and reinstated Healy, who at once resigned—feeling that he could not with any self-respect continue official relations with those who had thus sought to dictate his private actions.

Mr. Healy is widely known among the Sons of Toil, both as an eloquent and impressive speaker and a clear and forcible writer. He has lately assumed the position of editor of the Independent Citizen, a weekly paper published at Albany.

In the event of Viscount Walsley leaving his son, his daughter is to take the rank of Viscountess, and the title is to descend to her male heirs.

The Queen is to return to Windsor Castle on Saturday, Nov. 21, and will stay there till about December 18, when the court will remove to Osborne. Princess Beatrice and her husband are to stay at Balmoral till the departure of the Queen and they will accompany her to Windsor.

A few months ago a hitherto unknown portrait of Shakespeare was discovered in a shop near the Haymarket. It had been for many years in the possession of a family at Paddington, by the last of whom it was bequeathed to the present owner. At the end of the panel on which it is painted are several explanatory couplets, dated nearly 150 years ago.

The Duke of Newcastle, it is reported, has joined the Roman Catholic Church. The conversion took place some time ago, it is said, but the avowal was postponed until the young duke attained his majority. This conversion has caused much annoyance in Established Church circles. The duke has great influence, and has an income of $300,000 a year.

The earthmen from the Kalahari desert, Africa, now in London, are only four feet in height. They live almost entirely underground, and subsist on locusts, ants, lizards and the like of wild animals. Their language is a mere succession of "clicks," but this is amply compensated for by the astonishing power of conveying their meaning by signs, the earthen being born pantomimists.

Prince Louis of Battenberg's future sphere of employment will be in connection with one of the royal yachts. The Queen does not approve of the separation of married couples, and that hereafter Prince Louis is to be employed exclusively on home service. Her Majesty's grand daughter and her husband, who derive the bulk of their income from their royal relative, will be granted the use of the Villa Hohenlohe, Queen Victoria's residence at Baden-Baden, which has been for several years unoccupied.

IRELAND.

The loyalists of County Cork have formed a Defence Protective Union to oppose the National League.

Michael Farrell, a Limerick laborer, caught hold of a fellow workman named James Conway, in a peculiar manner, when the latter turned and brandished his tormentor with a shovel.

From the Registrar General's report criminal offences in Ireland increased last year at the rate of 20.2 per 10,000 persons, as compared with 1883. There are 29 police to every 10,000 persons.

The Duke of Abercorn, who celebrated, not long ago, his golden wedding, lives now almost entirely at his home, Harcourt, in the north of Ireland, in a sort of patriarchal style. He has no neighbors, scarcely, as he owns every acre for miles around, but the immense mansion is always full of his children, grandchildren and great-grandchildren. The Hamilton family are looked upon by the people as semi-royal, and are very popular by reason largely of good looks and gracious manners.

A process server was sent the other day by a Kilkenny landlord, to serve a notice of eviction on Michael Kirby, a tenant on his estate at Slieve Beg. The wife was duly served, and the man was leaving the house when some members of the Kirby family seized him, forced his hands behind his back, and forced the eviction notice into his mouth, where it was kept until he had swallowed half of it. As he was then in danger of being choked, the portion of the writ unswallowed was taken away and in response to a demand that he should be buried alive he was hurried towards a bog. His pitiful cries for mercy and expressions of contrition, however, had effect upon his assailants, who let him depart amid loud booing under a shower of mud and clay. The portion of the writ in the possession of the Kirbys was then burned.

SCOTLAND.

The Right Hon. Sir Francis R. Sandford, K. C. E., has been appointed Under-Secretary for Scotland.

The estate of Mr. James Arthur, of Barshaw and Carline, merchant in Glasgow, is registered at £1,049,750.

Lord Blantyre was awarded £14,375 compensation which the Clyde Trust has to pay for damages to the forebore of his Erskine estate.

Mr. Chamberlain was amazed at the enthusiasm displayed by the Highlanders at the proposal to disestablish the Church and apply the funds to the promotion of free education. The innumerable audience literally rose at this passage in his speech.

Lady Louisa Bruce, the sister of the Earl of Fife, has summoned her retinue of pageants to the inhabitants of Linlithgow and Charleston with a public ball and reading room. A site has been granted for the building by the Earl of Elgin, about midway between the two villages.

The Duchess of Albany presented colors to the Seaforth Highlanders at Ballater recently. In making the presentation the Duchess said it was in fulfillment of her husband's wishes, and that he was very anxious that the Seaforth should be the first of the battalions to be raised.

The little daughter of the Duke and Duchess of Hamilton has been presented by the people of the Isle of Arran to a handsome diamond and pearl necklace. Lady Mary Louisa, a young heiress, was carried into Brodick Castle hall by the Duke and Duchess, where the deputation was assembled. They were entertained to luncheon after the presentation.

The Earl of Crawford and Balcarres, has contributed some interesting MSS. to the Fine Art Gallery at Aberdeen, including the Book of Hours used by Mary, Queen of Scots in her prison at St. Hill. It contains two prayers in the Queen's hand-writing. There is also a vellum prayer book, originally the property of Catherine de Medici. It passed from her to Francis II, then to Queen Mary, and ultimately to her uncle, whose signature appears, together with those of his previous owners.

Two groups of cairns have been discovered at Auchkeels estate, in Perthshire, and antiquaries pronounce them remains of a Pictish village. The remains of Pictish villages are very rare in central Scotland, but on parts of the West Coast and in the Island of Lewis such remains are common, and all possess the same distinctive features, which go to show that the butts were formed of a low wall of stones and turf and had a conical roof of turf, supported on stakes set in the wall with a hole in the centre of the roof to let out the smoke.

Proceedings of a somewhat extraordinary character are reported from Skye. For some years crofters in the Lamiet of Seacoe have been complaining of the ravages caused among their crops by deer from Lord Macdonald's forest, tenanted by a Mr. Ketchell. They estimated their losses last winter at £250. Exasperated by the constant incursions, the crofters assembled the other day, and drove several deer which were feeding in the corn into the sea, and drowned or starved the whole of them, afterwards dividing the carcasses. Criminal proceedings are threatened.

Cut Completely in Two.

HAMILTON, Ont., Oct. 20.—This evening "Black Ellen," O'Neill, an old woman, got drunk and laid down on the Hamilton and Northwestern tracks, where it crossed Wentworth street. The train from the south cut her clean in two. The coroner was notified, but decided that no inquest was necessary.

Another smallpox case in London. LONDON, Ont., Oct. 20.—Another case of smallpox has developed in Mrs. King's boarding house, on York street, Fifth Ward. A young man named Fred Beck, brother-in-law of John King, who brought the disease here from Hamilton, showed symptoms of the malady today, and was removed to the hospital.

Woman—"If I give you something to eat, will you give me a little love?"
Tramp—"No, mum, I'm too weak to eat now. I'm not lazy, just weak; but I'll give you something to eat, and you'll give me a little love, and I'll sit out in the cold for a scarecrow while I'm eatin' it."

A Texas Tragedy. LAREDO, Texas, Oct. 20.—On a ranch sixteen miles from here Rudolfo Gomez a few days since entered the house, courteously saluted his wife and grandmother, and asked whether they loved him. They replied "No," whereupon he withdrew, and appeared a moment later at an open window with a Winchester rifle. He fired several times, killing first his wife and then his grandmother. His wife was soon to become a mother. Gomez fled to Mexico, where he was arrested, but subsequently released. He was insanely jealous of his wife.

What he Wanted. A Nipawituck man was arrested for stealing a hog, and at the opening of the trial, the justice of the peace before whom he was tried asked: "Mr. Short, have you secured an attorney?" "No, your honor," replied the accused, "I don't know any one 'em wuz tryin' to get away."

The justice frowned on the laugh that followed, then said: "The court will tolerate no livid, gentlemen. Mr. Short, you had better employ a lawyer to attend for your case for you." "I thought squire, as how the ole woman hyar would do instead of a lawyer. She's right smart on the talk."

"She cannot plead your case in this court. You had better engage an attorney."

"But the durned lawyers want more than the case is worth to tend to it."

"There is Mr. Longwind; he's a very good attorney. He'll attend to your case for a very reasonable fee."

"I tried him squire; he axed too much to tend to their case."

"How much did he want?"

"Why, durn his skin, he wanted the hog?"

His Honor and Bijah.

"Is your name John Sherrin?" softly inquired the court.

"Yes, sir."

"Any relation to the John who is waving the bloody shirt in Ohio?"

"No, sir."

"It's just as well. John—permit me to be thus familiar—you are not handsome."

"No, sir."

"You haven't any store clothes."

"I know it."

"You are out of money and winter coming on."

"Exactly."

"And to cap the haystack, you got drunk and had a fight."

"Yes, sir."

"No then, what shall I do with you? Bijah, hand him a glass and let him see himself."

"Then that's the sentence, John, and as a reward for your good sense you may have the front seat in the Black Maria as you ride up."

The Production of Gold.

A single mining company in California reports the production of over $1,000,000 of gold per annum, and that its operating expenses are less than one-third the value of the product. Its dividends, it says, amount to $50,000 per month.

The product of gold in the world reaches about $100,000,000 annually, and of this the United States produces one-third, Australia a little more than one-fourth, and Russia not quite one-fourth. The product of gold appears to be steadily decreasing in the world, as well as in the United States, while its use in manufactures is being greatly increased.

Nearly one half of the gold produced in the United States is used in its manufacture. Nearly eight million dollars' worth goes into jewelry and watches, and three and a half million into watch cases. The other principal uses for it are gold leaf, plate and watch chains.

The dentists make much use of gold, and yet in such small quantities that the whole amount credited to dentists in the United States is only $37,912 in 1883. The chemists use almost as much, a large share going, no doubt, to the photographers, who use gold in toning. The statistics on this matter, however, must be approximations, for quite frequently gold coin itself is taken for use in the arts. —Philadelphia Ledger.

"El Padre" Cigars. Universally acknowledged to be the finest 10c cigar manufactured. Don't be persuaded to take other brands. No chemicals or artificial flavorings used.

S. Davis & Sons have moved into their new mammoth factory, the finest of its kind in America. They are the only cigar manufacturers in Canada who manufacture their own cigar boxes and packing cases, which industry gives employment to sixty hands.

Beware of cheap artificially flavored for the purpose of hiding the poor quality of tobacco used in flavored cigars. Insist upon having the old reliable brands—"Cable" and "El Padre."

A trial will convince the most skeptical that S. Davis & Sons' manufacture of cigars are superior in every respect to any in Canada.

Prize medals awarded for the world were awarded to S. Davis & Sons, of Montreal, for their manufacture of cigars, at Paris, 1887, Centennial, 1878, Montreal, 1868-69.

THE PAIN-KILLER.—We have known the high character of this medicine, and that it is used with great success and satisfaction in our very best families. Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, OCTOBER 22, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Live and Learn.

Hear the lecture by the Rev. Dr. Wjld on Oct. 28th on a "Masonic Miracle." The reverend gentleman is always instructive on the platform on the pulp.

The Abilene.

Mr. William Kenneally having leased the Albion Hotel, Ashburnham, lately occupied by Mr. C. Young, is desirous of informing the public that he will run both Hotels in first-class style.

A Lovely Court.

Judge Dennistoun presided at a session of the Division Court in Norwood on Wednesday. When the sonorous voice of Bailiff Anderson cried "O yes, O yes," etc., there were present the judge, bailiff, clerk and two lawyers, but not a litigant. There was not a contested case.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Fresh south to west winds, mostly fair weather, with light showers in a few places, slightly higher temperatures.

GREAT DISCOUNT SALE at Salsbury's to make room for Xmas stock.

A Novel Scribbling Book.

A combined scribbling book and dictionary is a novelty in school book goods, a specimen of which we have received from Messrs. Salsbury & Bro. In the book part of the scribbling book there is a comprehensive pronouncing dictionary, with a list of foreign words and phrases and rules for spelling. It is a convenient and useful article.

Prepare for Winter.

Gentlemen will find a large range of Wearing Apparel at the "Golden Lion," Overcoat, Persian Lamb Cape, Scotch Cape, Shirts and Drawers, Buck Mitts, Gloves, etc. Tailorers done with neatness and dispatch, from a large selection of Overcoats, Scotch Tweeds, Worsted, &c. Go to FAIR, VANEVERY & Co. for your outfit.

Royal Caledonian Curling Club.

At the October meeting of the representative committee of the Ontario branch of the Royal Caledonian Curling Club, held in Toronto, the Peterborough club was represented by Mr. J. H. Burnham. Mr. J. D. Flavelle, of Lindsay, was appointed First Vice-President. In the allotment of matches for the Royal Canadian District Medal, Peterborough and Orillia were chosen to play against each other. Lindsay club was appointed convener of one of the groups of clubs which are to compete for the Ontario Taskard.

Obituary.

We regret to record the death of Mrs. McDonald, wife of Mr. D. A. McDonald, formerly of this town, but now of Lindsay. Mrs. McDonald was widely known and greatly esteemed and liked in this neighborhood. The funeral, which took place at the Elmwood cemetery, the remains being brought there from Lindsay, was very largely attended, and the church was crowded, among others by many of her former Sunday school pupils. The great quantity of flowers on her coffin also testified to the sorrow of those who have lost to mourn her loss. She leaves one child, a boy of 11 months.

Flaherty & Clark.

Mr. T. E. Flaherty, who opened out a new Tailoring and Clothing store in Lynch's block, Hunter street, a few weeks ago, finding his business succeeding so well, and requiring additional assistance and supervision, has taken into partnership with him Mr. Gerald C. Clark, formerly of Acton. This gentleman, we understand, has had the advantage of an extensive business experience, and is thoroughly acquainted with those important details in connection with any business which is essential to its financial success. We bespeak for the new firm of Flaherty & Clark a liberal share of patronage, and, from what we have learned, this is being bestowed on them in a very encouraging manner already. Their cutter, Mr. R. G. Kilpatrick, has gained a good knowledge of the wants and requirements of the gentlemen of Peterborough, and Mr. Flaherty himself will still see that customers go away happy and contented.

THE BIGGEST THING yet is a "Combined Scribbling Book and Dictionary" at Salsbury's for 10 cents. Sixty large pages in the dictionary alone.

Hoolery.
Fair, VanEvery & Co. are selling rapidly a "wholesale closure" of Fine Wool Hosiery at about half price. Go early for first choice.

Brick Work Completed.
The brick work on the new St. Andrew's Church was completed this morning. It will be a fine edifice. The tower is eighty-five feet high. It is a matter for congratulation that the work on a building of this size should be done, as it has, without an accident.

Vaccinations.
Dr. Clarke, Medical Health Officer, vaccinated 150 children at the South Ward School on Monday, Tuesday and Wednesday. In all nearly 300 persons have been vaccinated in that Ward, principally children. The vaccinators will next visit the West Ward School, then the Separate and Central Schools, and afterwards proceed to the North Ward.

False Rumours.
James Rumour is always a mischievous person, and at the present time he is industriously striving to frighten the people of the town by circulating false reports of cases of smallpox. To-day the rumours took definite shape, the houses in which the disease was said to exist being specifically located. A visit to the Medical Health Officer, however, confirmed the suspicion that the reports were, as usual, unfounded. It is a pity that such rumours should be circulated.

A Perfect Room in the Millinery and Dress making Department of the Golden Lion.
Orders are going in rapidly. Mantles and Dresses are being turned out with a promptness which shows that Miss Johnston, with her large staff of expert hands, is prepared to execute all orders with neatness and despatch. Fair, VanEvery & Co's large and excellent selection of Dress and Mantle Materials are giving perfect satisfaction. Their large and varied stock is very attractive, an evidence that they have the business wisdom to provide what the people wish.

Coming Events.
The Rev. Mr. Baxter, editor of the Christian Herald, London, Eng., delivered a prophetic lecture in St. Paul's Church on Wednesday evening. The meeting was opened by prayer by the Rev. E. F. Torrance. Mr. Baxter's prophecies were based on passages in the books of Daniel and Revelations, which he explained as he understood them. He said that Europe was on the verge of great wars and revolutions. Europe would be divided into ten kingdoms, Britain, France, Spain, Italy, Austria, Greece, Egypt, Syria, Turkey and Roumania, prior to the appearance of Antichrist, who would be a descendant of Napoleon. "A day is as a thousand years," and the world has been in existence nearly 6,000 years. The Lord created the world in six days and rested on the seventh, and the world is now reaching the Saturday night period. The Sabbath will follow, which will be the millennium. The lecture was very attentively listened to and was impressive.

INJURY TO PROPERTY.

WEDNESDAY, Oct. 21.—At an afternoon session of the court Thomas Fullerton, a boy, was charged by C. Spence, Grand Trunk Railway detective, with having injured a passenger coach on that railway. The boy lives on the line of the Missing Link, and on October 10th threw a stone at the train and broke a window in the parlour car. He pleaded that it was an accident, but the plea did not avail, and he was fined $2 and assessed $5 damages, with an alternative of ten days in gaol if not paid.

DURK AND DISORDERLY.

THURSDAY, Oct. 22.—Thomas McHugh was charged by Constable McGinty with having been drunk and disorderly on Wednesday evening. The prisoner "didn't know whether he was guilty or not," by Constable McGinty's evidence settled that point and he was fined $2 or ten days in gaol. He was very sorry, and when the usual questions were asked by the Clerk, he said that he did not know his age, was neither married nor single and did not know where he was born. However, when the Clerk prepared to lay another information against him his memory revived and he answered the questions, after which he was escorted up the hill.

ONTARIO FRUIT.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—Having undertaken the work of superintending the preparation of a collection of Ontario fruits, for the Colonial and Indian Exhibition, I shall be glad to receive contributions of fine fruit from persons residing in any part of Ontario. The specimens will be preserved in fluid in suitable glass jars. The fruits desired now are all the varieties which can be obtained of apples, pears, plums, peaches, quinces, grapes, and wild fruits; also nuts, tomatoes, peppers, and egg fruit. Where the fruits are large three or four specimens will be sufficient; if of medium size, six specimens; and of those of small size, sufficient to fill a quart jar. The samples sent should be carefully named and forwarded in baskets by express. Express charges will be paid here, and all contributions duly acknowledged.

A Thumb Amputated.
While Joseph Bond, of Green River, was coupling cars on the Canadian Pacific Railway, at Indian River, this morning, his thumb was caught between the cars and smashed. He came to town, and Dr. Kincaid, who attended to the injury, found it necessary to amputate the thumb at the joint.

It Might be Remarkable.
—That there is no smallpox in Peterborough.
—That Lewis Clarke's $50 fine was paid and he was liberated from gaol.

—That as the town has been made richer by $100 on account of the row on Sunday evening, it should give Constable Adams a new hat to replace the one demolished during the disturbance.
—That the world will not come to an end for a few years yet.
—That there will be a concert in the Opera House to-night.
—That the view from the tower of the new St. Andrew's Church is a fine one.
—That the Privy Council's decision in the Riel appeal case is given in another column.
—That if a case of smallpox did appear here there is no hospital prepared for the purpose of isolating it.

Terrific Cattle Explosion.
WILKESBARRE, Pa., October 21.—A terrific explosion of gas took place in No. 2 slope of the Delaware and Hudson Coal Company at Plymouth this morning. At this writing the greatest excitement prevails here, as the slope is full of men and boys. One report is to the effect that the number of dead will be large. Fifteen are known to be fatally burned. Fourteen of them died.

A Sad Death.
Annie Davies, a young girl who attempted to commit suicide a couple of weeks ago by jumping into a well on Cumberland street, in consequence of her lover marrying a young lady in Hamilton, died on Saturday and was buried yesterday. She was engaged to be married to the young man, and his conduct almost unexcusable. After she heard of his marriage she refused food except what was forced upon her, and gradually sank until Saturday night, when death put an end to her misery.—Toronto Mail.

THE RIEL APPEAL CASE.

The Riel's Counsel Acknowledges the Failure of the Trial.

LONDON, Oct. 22.—The Privy Council gave its decision to-day in the appeal case of Louis

Riel. The petitioners' case was considered very weak from the outset. Riel's counsel relied chiefly on the contention that the court in the first instance at Regina had no power to try the petition. The court apparently was not much disposed to attach weight to this argument. No surprise was felt when at the close of the counsel's address the attorney-general said he did not feel called upon to reply on behalf of the crown. The Lord Chancellor replied to-day. It was against the prisoner on every point, and giving his condition, holding that the Canadian court of first instance had jurisdiction for treason, that the six men on the jury were sufficient; that the proceedings were lawful and that substantial justice had been done to Riel.

Mr. Fitzpatrick, Riel's Canadian counsel, said to-day "It is impossible to pretend that Riel was unfairly tried. No doubt at the time of the outbreak in the Northwest a grievance existed which has since been remedied. Riel committed the agitation from purely political motives. My people still consider that he rendered valuable service to the country.

Disunion was the extreme end to which he aimed, and he was incapable of keeping the rebellion within the legal limits. On the scaffold Riel will be remembered as a prisoner in an asylum he would be forgotten."

Mr. Fitzpatrick advocated the appointment by the Canadian government of a commission to enquire into the prisoner's case, and to ascertain the prisoner's case, and to ascertain the prisoner's case, and to ascertain the prisoner's case, and to ascertain the prisoner's case, and to

ST. JOHN AND EAST SIMCOE.

THE Globe of Oct. 21st, in accounting for the defeat of the candidate in St. John on the previous day, says:—

"The Dominion Government have used extraordinary measures with a view to purchase this constituency. It was kept under a close watch for eight months, including a whole season, in order that means might be found of getting at every purchasable vote."

An master of fact eight months only carries us back to the latter half of February, whereas the last session of the Dominion Parliament commenced in January—consequently the rest was not vacant during a "whole season." But let that pass. What we wish to call attention to is the fact that while the Globe thus condemns the action of the Dominion Government, it never had a word to say against, may it be approved the Ontario Government's keeping the local constituency of East Simcoe unprotected from the beginning of Nov. 1884, until June 1885—as near as may be the same length of time as St. John was vacant, and including the whole of the session of the Legislature which commenced last January and ended in March—no doubt judging Mr. Moray by the same rule as it judges Sir John, "in order that means might be found of getting at every purchasable vote," with a view of securing the re-election of Mr. Dray.

WASTEFUL TRUSTEES.

In discussing the objections made to the sale of timber, the property of the Province of Ontario, the London Advertiser says:—

"The proposal of the Pro-Præ in this matter seems simply to this—that because Mr. Pardon, who is a reformer, is placed in charge of the Crown lands of Ontario, he shall not be at liberty to administer them."

It seems to us that the Advertiser has strange ideas of administration. In private life a trustee who sold part of the property entrusted to him and instead of reinvesting the proceeds applied them to the current expenditure for managing the estate, would soon be made to answer for the waste and misappropriation. The judiciousness of his administration, irrespective of the treatment of the proceeds, might also be called in question, if he sold trust property at a time when low prices were ruling. And Mr. Pardon and his colleagues, as trustees of the property of the people of Ontario, are in a similar position. Selling property and spending its proceeds, is not administering it.

The leading Reform journal has a very poor opinion of the people of Canada, even of those who belong to its own party. The Globe can only account for the great Conservative victory in St. John, N.B., by claiming that the majority was purchased. That is, the Globe holds that out of about 3,000 voters whom it claims as Reform, about 500, or one in every six, were ready to desert their party for him. Very complimentary to the New Brunswick Reformers! Of course this charge of corruption is a mere lame excuse for defeat, but this does not diminish the Globe's insult of the election.

A SUGGESTION.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—If the people of Peterborough desire to have a general by-law to encourage manufacturing, and desire to do justice to all manufacturers, whether old or new, I would suggest that a by-law should be passed exempting ALL MANUFACTURERS from manufacturing from municipal taxation for the next ten years. It is true that such a remission by-law would be beyond the powers of the Council, as the first Division By-law undoubtedly is, and as I am inclined to think the proposed new by-law will be if passed, but the Legislature might well be asked to exempt the one as the other, while the great advantage of adopting my suggestion would be that every property owner as well as manufacturer in the town of Peterborough would be placed on the same footing, instead of giving one property owner (the Dominion Company) a decided advantage over every other, and that one in such a position that its development is quite as likely to build up the village of Ashburnham as the Town of Peterborough.

Yours, etc.,

A RATEPAYER.

Attacked by Pirates.
 HONG KONG, Oct. 19.—The British steamer Greyhound trading locally in Chinese waters has arrived here and her second officer reports that a daring attempt was made by Chinese pirates to capture the vessel. The captain of the Greyhound was invited on board of the pirate ship and after being plundered was killed. The pirates then attempted to seize the Greyhound and a desperate fight ensued, in which the other officers and the crew of the latter vessel were badly wounded. The Greyhound was a full head of steam and escaped.

Who Says Farming Doesn't Pay?
 A farmer from the vicinity of Morley is in the city, with a number of what which he has procured No. 1 hard, and of which he has 3,000. This amount he raised on 80 or 85 acres. He was able to get the entire crop in with the assistance of another man and his team, he having done a large amount of fall plowing. At Morley this wheat is worth at present, per bushel, 70 cents or over. This farmer will receive over $2,000 for his grain this year. Who says farming doesn't pay?
 Winnipeg, Manitoba.

Returned to Death.

CHICAGO, Oct. 19.—A terrible, quick-acting fire broke out in a one-story and a half brick cottage at 65 Vermont Park Place, owned and occupied by W. J. Bates, at six o'clock this morning, in which four persons, viz: Mrs. Mary R. Bates, aged 21; John Bates, aged 5; Edward Bates, infant, and Mrs. Douglas, aged 70, mother of Mrs. Bates, were burned to death.

LEGISLATION AND SAWDUST.

To the Editor of the Review.

DEAR SIR,—With reference to last organization of the Anti-Sawdust Association, it might be interesting to our townspeople to read a communication published in the last number of the Canada Law Journal on the legislation of our Provincial Parliament at its last session, in the interests of the lumbermen on the Ottawa river. The editor of the journal, commenting upon it, says: "If there is any explanation to be given for such exceptional legislation, it would be well if it was given. At present it has a very fishy appearance."

The pollution of our river is a subject that interests us all strongly, and in view of the legislation above referred to, and the precedent there established, showing clearly the class legislation of the Ontario Government, when ruled by a wealthy body of capitalists, to the detriment of the citizens generally, it would be well to watch carefully that future legislation of a similar nature should not be enacted to nullify the laudable efforts of our Anti-Sawdust Association.

Yours, etc.,

H.

The communication is as follows:—

To the Editor of the Law Journal.

SIR,—It is a matter of surprise to me that among the many valuable comments which have appeared in your pages and elsewhere touching the legislation of the last session of our dear little Legislature, nothing has been said, so far as I am aware, about chapter 24, entitled an Act respecting saw-mills on the Ottawa River. Don't you believe it, sir. It is not an Act respecting saw-mills. It is an Act respecting the law of injunctions. The act in the Act is intended simply to be thrown in your eye, in my eye, and the eyes of the public, and prevent us from seeing what an outrage this little Act, in some of the most venerable principles of the British lawgiver. Henceforth, the law of injunctions will be divisible into two parts: the law of injunctions affecting saw-mills on the Ottawa River, and the law of injunctions not affecting saw-mills on the Ottawa River.

The intelligent student who, guided by some knowledge of law and much intuition of natural justice, when asked to give the rule in the case, replied that it was the same as the rule in anybody else's case, for that the law was no respect of persons, would be wrong, hopelessly wrong. The law—our law—does respect persons; it respects persons who own saw-mills on the Ottawa River.

Section 1 of this insidious little Act provides that when any person who, but for this Act would be entitled to the same, claims an injunction against the owner of any saw-mill on the Ottawa River for any injury or damage, or for any interference with his rights by reason of the throwing of any sawdust or other mill refuse into the said river, the Court of Judge may refuse to grant an injunction in case it is proved to the satisfaction of such Court or Judge by the person against whom such injunction is claimed that he has been requested to stop the discharge of sawdust or other mill refuse, and that he has refused to do so, and that the discharge of sawdust or other mill refuse is in the habit of granting injunctions where it was proved to their satisfaction to be under all the circumstances proper and expedient not to grant the same. "All the circumstances," therefore, either means nothing, or it means a great deal more than I, for one, think it ought to mean.

Let us continue our study of the section, and we shall see what it does mean. And for that purpose shall take into consideration the importance of the lumber trade to the locality wherein such injury, damage or interference takes place, and the benefit and advantage, direct and consequential, which such trade confers on the locality and on the inhabitants thereof, and shall weigh the same against the private injury, damage or interference complained of.

In other words, sir, this Act overrides ruthlessly one of the grandest and most fundamental principles of British law, viz: that private rights prevail over public convenience; but what is perhaps worse, it overrides that principle not in favor of every body, but in favor of owners of saw-mills on the Ottawa River. But let us read on. Section 2 provides that this law shall be the mark to which every suit shall as well as to suits which may be hereafter brought. Where is our public morality? Is it crystallized in a failure? And is the Canadian played out?

Surely this Act must have brought a blush upon the face of every honest man—of every lawyer—in the House, as it did on that of your obedient servant.

MUTARE SPERO.

CAMPBELLFORD.

BIG PUMPKINS.—A mammoth pumpkin has grown in Mr. John Slade's garden on the gravel road, in the southern limits of the village. It measures 3 feet 3 inches in circumference, and weighs 105 pounds. Five other pumpkins grew on the same vine.

BROKE HIS HORSE'S LEG.—Mr. Campbell, a farmer residing in the neighborhood of Meyersburg, lost a horse one day last week. Being rather slothful in his movements while being driven into the stable, Mr. Campbell picked up a stone, threw it at the animal and broke its leg.

STUCK WITH A SHOVEL.—On Monday a quarrel arose between Mr. Joseph Poole and Mr. Joseph Bertrand, neighboring farmers residing near Meyersburg. Bertrand struck Poole on the head with a shovel, and he was rendered unconscious for some time. His recovery is somewhat doubtful.

SLIGHT COLLISION.—On Friday afternoon the train from the west was detached from the locomotive and sent some distance down the track, at the railway station in this village, and while moving at a rapid rate the front car struck a car which was standing along, and it raised it fully eight inches off the rails. The buffers were broken and parts of them were sent flying about in the splinters. The passengers in the coaches at the rear end of the train were not hurt, but a great deal of property was damaged. A defect in the brake was the cause of the accident, and the great efforts on the part of the brakemen to check the movement of the train were of no avail.—Herald.

Hard to be Convinced.

De Krage.—"There is a most peculiar odor, Judge, that issues from a crevice in the bank near my house. I think it is natural gas."

Judge.—"Why don't you test it?"

"I don't know of any convincing test."

"Touch a lighted match to the crevice."

"But it might explode and blow me up."

"Well, Great Scott! Do you want any more convincing proof than that?"

GREAT TRIBULATIONS

COMING UPON THE EARTH BEFORE THE SECOND ADVENT OF CHRIST

The Time Near at Hand—The People who will be Caught up to Meet Him—The Consternation of their Friends

The Rev. Mr. Baxter, of London, Eng., delivered a second lecture on great prophetic events in St. Paul's Church on Thursday evening. There was a good attendance, and the lecturer received a very attentive hearing. Mr. BAXTER commenced by saying that he would refer to the coming of Christ in its two stages. It was a popular opinion that when Christ came to judge the people the earth would be burned up, and that the Judgment Day would be a day of twenty-four hours. There were texts that seemed to indicate that when Christ came the earth and all its works would be destroyed, but the original text read that some of them would. There will be a CONFLAGRATION, but it will not have the effect of melting away the solid globe. The wicked would be buried, but the five continents and the oceans would remain. The geographical configuration of the earth would not be materially altered. Christ would not come to annihilate the earth, but to purify it. There were now 1,300,000,000 people on the earth, and it would be interesting to know how many would remain upon it after Christ's coming. There were not told how many there would be, but the number would be comparatively small. Supposing that it would be 30,000,000, it would be years before there would be 1,300,000,000 people again. If Canada had all the population that it was capable of sustaining it would contain 100,000,000 or 200,000,000 people, and after 500 years of the millennium the earth would be all as thickly populated as that. There would be no wars, famines or plagues to depopulate the earth, and what was to be done with the increasing multitude was a great problem that would have to be solved after the millennium had commenced. Business would be more brisk, commerce would be active and employment would be plentiful, and there would be no disasters. Rivers would have to be bridged, valleys filled and mountains tunneled to make highways for trade, and there would be a great turning over of the earth. The 6,000 years, corresponding with the six days in which the world was made, were nearly completed, and the second advent might be expected about 1896 or 1900. Saturday night always closed with preparations for the Sabbath and the

SATURDAY NIGHT OF THE WORLD would be occupied with the battle and overturning preparatory to the great Sabbath of the world. They would have much trouble and bloodshed to go through. Christ would restore the Garden of Eden to the whole earth. The wild beasts would become the same as they were in Eden. The shaggy bear and the cow would feed together, and the lion would lie down with the lamb. The curse would be removed from the earth and weeds and thistles would grow no more. Instead of coming down in a few moments, Christ's second advent would occupy three and a half years. Christ would appear with a shawl and the good people who were watching for his coming and the sainted dead would be caught up into the air to meet Him. None of the wicked dead would rise until after the millennium. He did not know whether there would be a displacement of the graves, but if the tombstones were toppled over and the graves opened the cemeteries would present a strange appearance. The number of living people who would be caught up to meet Christ would be 144,000. After that three years and a half of great tribulations would follow, to prepare the remaining Christians to meet Christ, after which He would reap the full harvest. These three years would be the good, pure and holy, who were expecting and watching for His coming. Their disappearance would cause great surprise, and the newspapers would contain long reports of the disappearances. Perhaps there would be

COLUMNS OF ADVERTISEMENTS for missing ones. The first stage of Christ's coming would be in pure love and mercy. There would be several months of a great revival of religion, and then the three years and a half of great tribulation. Following that Christ would be seen coming publicly in bright light and illumination to the earth. They should try to be among the 144,000. They would be Christ's special escort throughout eternity. He hoped, if he lived a few years longer, that he would not die and never be buried. The chosen people would leave the earth peacefully, like Noah and Elijah. As soon as the trumpet sounded, the 144,000 would feel a thrill. An immortal vigor would creep through their veins, and, despite the laws of gravitation, they would ascend slowly and majestically above the houses, mountains and the clouds to where Christ was. This would probably

OCUR IN A FEW YEARS. A wife who believed that Christ was coming would not be believed by her husband, and the husband would awake and find her gone. He would look around the room and through the house for her in vain, though her clothes would be there and her purse untouched. He would go out to tell the story and he would find that many others were also missing. Then he would remember his wife's faith in Christ's coming and it would be found that it was three who were expecting Him that were gone. Two men would be ploughing in the field, one holding the plough and the other the reins. One of them would disappear and the other would be a nothing left but his clothes. They would not take their clothes with them, for they would wear apparel woven in the loom of Heaven and prepared by God Himself. There would be signs of Christ's coming. One of these would be the establishment of a

PARLIAMENT IN IRELAND. Ireland did not belong to Caesar's Roman empire and it, as well as the other similar possessions of Britain, would have to be so far separated from the Empire as to have their own legislatures. France would be extended to the Rhine, Greece would be restored to its ancient size, and Turkey would be dried up. The ancient Roman empire would consist of ten kingdoms, formed into one great confederacy, to which Germany and Russia would not belong. In that part of the world the greatest tribulations would come. Thousands of men engaged in their ordinary employment in Europe to-day are destined to be slaughtered in war within a few years. The Antichrist would rise, after the confederacy was formed, in the neighborhood of the Balkans. The covenant of seven years, mentioned in the last verse of the 9th chapter of Daniel, must be before Christ's coming, and if that event was to take place in 1896, in 1889 the covenant must be made and the ten kingdoms had to be set up before that. The time was close at hand, and he urged them to be pure and holy and to watch for the advent of Christ.

A "PARALLEL" CASE.

The Belleville Ontario informs its readers that "It is said that a suit will be brought against the Government by the firm which has the contract for the Government printing for damages sustained by the firm on account of printing to friends of the Premier and his colleagues." The Ontario proceeds to say that "It is not so long ago that the Government printer (McLean & Rowe) recovered nearly $70,000 on a parallel claim, and it looks very much as though the country is fully determined to pay several times over for every job of printing or book-binding it has to be done." Our contemporary forgets to state that in its "parallel case" it was Messrs. Mackenzie, Blake, and their colleagues, who made the breach of contract for which a profit had to be given to the contractor, a profit which was received by the printer who did the work, as well as by Mr. Anglin, Speaker of the House, who did not do the work, could not do the work, and never intended to do the work, but who was corruptly rewarded for party services by this device, because the people of his own Province and his own party would not consent to his receiving a portfolio. The Ontario should tell the whole story, and when it speaks of paying several times for printing, it should explain that its case was that of Messrs. Mackenzie, Blake and Anglin. This is fact; its rumored suit is merely supposition.

HAND-MADE.

The London Advertiser finds it difficult to attack in any reasonable manner the revealing officers that have been appointed by the MacDonald Administration, and therefore proceeds to manufacture an imaginary grievance. It says that there are many instances in which the judge has been passed over and some lawyer appointed, and it professes to be able to give the names. We will not ask the Advertiser to name many, but we would invite it to give the names of one or two judges who have been passed over. If the Advertiser has such information it should share it with the public.

When Sir Charles Tupper arrived in Canada and proceeded to Nova Scotia the Reform press said that he did not wish to meet Sir John Macdonald and insinuated that their relations were not friendly. They now state that Sir Charles went to Nova Scotia at Sir John's agent and in accordance with his wishes. When can they be believed?

What has become of those excessively humorous dialogues between the "Young Tory Lawyer" and the voter published by the Globe? Would they not be even more laughable now than they were at the time they were published, as the appointments under the Franchise Act have been made?

REPORTED BY INDIANS.

Lord Lansdowne's Strange Experience in the Northwest.

The Governor-General was to be at the Blackfoot camp on the 29th, but a change in his programme delayed him a day. When he reached McLeod he found that the trail to the Crossing was burnt by prairie fire and water scarce, so the party decided to go by the old trail to Calgary, thence to Calgary by rail, which they did, reaching the Crossing on Wednesday morning about 10 o'clock. The day was charming, and on the arrival of his excellency he was met at the station by about 200 Indians, all mounted and armed in war costume. The sight will never be forgotten, great big stalwart warriors from six to seven feet high. His excellency alighted from his car and was introduced to Crooked, a white chief, who obtained from the vehicles were loaded and got into residence, while Lord Melgund, Mr. Hope, Mr. Anson, Mr. Egan, Col. Harbord, Capt. Colton and others who accompanied him, remained in the car. Everything ready, the Indians mounted their horses, gave a rousing war-hoop and off we went 50 braves in front, 50 on either side and 50 behind in the rear. The Governor-General and the Lieutenant-Governor rode together; then came his excellency a suite in carriage followed by a number of invited guests with the escort of mounted police bringing up the rear. The Indians were delighted to replace the mounted police escort in doing honor to the Governor-General. The horses were led by the white chief. Blackfoot was simply fascinated, and was greatly admired by Lord Melgund, who, I am told, is one of the best horsemen in England. At the junction of the trail where the river crosses the agency headquarters were reached. Here the Indians were reinforced by about 300 or 400 more young men and innumerable women and young (looking) women. The boys began racing about and firing off their rifles with terrific volleys, until the place looked like a great battle-field. One of his Excellency's suite became somewhat alarmed and got under shelter, fearing he might meet a stray shot, or have a bullet fall on the top of his head. The young men in answer to this, finally Crowled and asked by Mr. Dendrey to call the young braves to order and in almost an instant all were dismounted and gathered around a table on the grass at which his excellency the Governor-General and two interpreters were seated. Here his excellency made a very pleasant speech, complimenting Crooked and his Indians on the part played by them during the rebellion, and said that the Government was proud of such conduct on their part. Crooked said in the beginning of the rebellion: "I sent a message to Mr. Dendrey for the great chief Sir John Macdonald and when I met that I knew what I was doing and stuck to it; my word is as good as my oath. The Government has treated me well, and I will never forget it; we remain all the Indians manifested their approval by a shout."

DIPLOMACY.

The Despatches of Lord Granville and Lord Salisbury on the Afghan Difficulty.

LONDON, Oct. 23.—A blue book giving the history of the negotiations between Great Britain and Russia regarding the Afghan frontier question was issued yesterday. The publication of the blue book at this time is bound to have great effect upon English politics, and its results are almost certain to be more favorable to the conservative than to the Liberal party. About half of the despatches are signed by Earl Granville and the other half by the Marquis of Salisbury. The contrast between the despatches of the two statesmen is most marked. Earl Granville's utterances are marked by weakness and shiftness. They frequently show much craftiness of a kind which suggests that they were the work of Gladstone's mind although of Granville's hand, but they are outshined even in craft by the replies of M. De Giers, the Russian Foreign Minister. The Marquis of Salisbury's despatches, on the other hand, are not only firm and vigorous, but they are characterized by a certain amount of candor and honesty. They had been carefully studied and a well-settled policy regarding Russia, and that he steadily and stoutly pursued it. His successful management of this momentous controversy is now for the first time revealed to the world. It deserves to rank, alongside of the despatches of the British triumph won by Salisbury and Beaconsfield in the diplomatic tour de force known to history as the "Great Game." From the moment that the Marquis of Salisbury took control of affairs, the tone of the despatches from St. Petersburg became greatly changed. They had been previously evasive and threatening; they became illusive and crafty, but always respectful. Some of the dodges resorted to by Russia are amusing in the light of later events. When it was evident to the Russian official mind that it was useless to try to browbeat Salisbury, M. de Giers suggested that the ownership of Zhetysay pass be postponed until the other points were settled. This proposal was promptly rejected by Salisbury. M. de Giers then offered to submit the Zhetysay question to the permanent tribunal of arbitration. This proposal was promptly refused and Russia yielded. It is evident from a study of the despatches that the balance on several occasions. There were also incidental squabbles, but the main points were settled. It is evident that sooner or later there will be a serious complication between Persia and England.

A MADDENED MENAGERIE.

A special despatch from Memphis, Tenn., says:—There is a reign of terror in the vicinity of St. Francis, Ark., a village twenty miles west of this city, on the Memphis, Springfield and Kansas City railroad. The woods are filled with fierce tigers, lions, jaguars, hyenas, and other animals crazy with the taste of blood, and the inhabitants of the little village are huddled in their houses earnestly praying for relief to arrive. Boas and crocodiles are freed from their cages and roam through the deserted streets, and the howls of the laughing hyenas make sleep impossible.

The particulars of the sudden changing of the peaceful village into a racing ball of savage beasts were received here this afternoon. A crowd of villagers had assembled on the depot platform awaiting the arrival of the train containing John B. Davis's circus and menagerie. The train consisted of twenty cars and was just making into the yard when the engine ran off the track, followed by a dozen cars containing the elephants. The big performing elephant, 14 years old, became crazed with fear, and breaking through the side of his car as if it were but pasteboard, dashed toward the assembled people, trumpeting loudly and waving his trunk frantically in the air. While the people were rushing to their homes for shelter, many of the other animals escaped from their overburdened cars, and the streets of the village were soon filled with them. The elephant made the two-year-old boy of Graceland John Anson from the stoop of his father's residence and threw the boy a distance of twenty feet. While the child lay groaning, the big lion Jupiter broke his cage, followed by the lioness Juno and her two cubs. They quickly tore the boy to pieces, and the hyenas and jackals assailed and fought over the remains. The elephant seemed mad with excitement and placing his immense head against the car containing the tigers he tripped it over and broke open the cages. The smell of blood infuriated the latter animals, and the few men who had ventured upon the streets were forced to seek safety in going to their residences. The car containing the snakes, some of which were fifteen feet in length, caught fire and many of the reptiles were burned to death. Those who escaped crawled through the streets hissing with passion. The villagers kept up a shower of revolvers and shotguns upon the animals and gradually drove them into the woods. The big elephant was captured by his keeper and returned to his car, and several of the other animals were corralled by the circus employees and confined in their cages. There are still several blood-thirsty animals roaming in the woods near the village, and the inhabitants are afraid to venture upon the streets. The circus continued on its way this morning. Mr. Davis offers a large reward for the capture of the escaped animals, and several young men of this city are organizing a rifle club to raise the siege and put an end to the horrors which now afflict the people of St. Francis. — Philadelphia Bulletin.

THE KEY TO CHRISTIANITY.

Casson Farrar Discovers on the Doctrine of Atonement.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Oct. 21.—In his address before the Episcopal Church congress last night Casson Farrar said: "The doctrine of atonement is the key to Christianity. Its truth has been declared the reconciliation of man to God. Errors have arisen through theological subtleties, and sometimes a name has been given to some systematic theory of an atonement, but the belief set forth in the Scriptures is the true doctrine of atonement. I say at once, and without fear of contradiction, that no theory of the atonement, no scholastic explanation of it, no statement, has ever been accepted by all creeds, or can ever be accepted by all creeds. This is sufficiently admitted by all eminent theologians in every history of doctrine ever written. After referring to the various theories which have been put forward and zealously advocated for years, he said: "None of these theories have ever been stamped with approval by the church of God. They have at the altar, been left as permissible opinions in the region of unfathomable mysteries. In popular apprehensions all such theories are dangerously tainted with heresy. The case of these errors, he held, was that they sprang from ignoring the fact that it had pleased God to give us the plan of salvation in detail."

NORWOOD.

NEW NORWOOD.—We understand that Mr. P. W. Reynolds is about purchasing a site from Mr. Hugh Beckett, between Miss Williams and Messrs. Rutherford & Co's drug store, for the purpose of erecting there a large brick block.

Mr. Robert Metcalf proposes we believe, building a brick block on the corner of Spring and Colborne streets, south of Baskins' new block.

NORWOOD MEMORIAL INSTITUTE.—A meeting of the above Institute was held at the Library room on Friday. The attendance, as usual, was small, the public evincing little interest in the welfare or management of this valuable institution. The following men were elected officers for the current year:—Mr. T. M. Grover, president; Dr. Ford, vice-president; J. W. Clark, secretary; Thos. Burke, secretary; W. H. Stephenson, treasurer; W. Rutherford, librarian; J. C. Brown and Jas. Clapham, auditors. Directors, Dr. Patterson, E. W. Waters, P. W. Reynolds, John David, W. H. Malins, A. H. Hinchman, J. J. Pearce, Thos. Frank and W. R. Rutherford. The resident clergyman of the village were appointed by the directors. Messrs. T. M. Grover, W. R. Rutherford, Dr. Ford and Dr. Clapham were appointed a library committee.

PAPA, ARE YOU GOING AWAY?

Chas. Sheldrick's Heartless Engagement With a Salvation Army Girl.

Anger at an engagement is reported at Ingersoll, Charles Sheldrick, for the past two or three years an employee at the "Noon Room" works, was considered a steady young man. He was a member of the Baptist church and appeared to be trying to lead a constant life. Last spring he began attendance at the Salvation army barracks and devoted his attention to a frequent of that place, Miss Annie Bluff, whom he declared he would go five miles to hear laugh. His faithful wife protested against his conduct, but in vain. He told her that he loved Annie most, and that he intended going away from her, but said he did not purpose marrying her, only intended living with his love three or four years, and asked his wife if at the expiration of that time he should get tired of Annie, would she consent his coming back and live with her again. Miss Bluff's parents endeavored to persuade her against her shameless conduct, but she defied them, and they turned her out of doors. Sheldrick then made preparations to leave the town by a line some household things and a cow, and packing the proceeds. Finally he sent his own and Annie's trunks to the railway station with as much method and coolness as if it was their wedding journey. He has two children, aged about 4 and 6, and when he was leaving, they followed him to the street, crying, and calling, "Papa, are you going away?" A creditor, desirous to prevent him going by train, being the money, but he could not be deterred, and he escaped a dose of rotten eggs that the young men of the town had prepared for him.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Light to moderate winds, fine weather, stationary or slightly higher temperature.

A Bishop.

The other evening an enterprising young fellow of the soil drove into town for the express purpose (so it is said) of taking a lady friend for a drive, and while his horse was standing at the gate, it suddenly took a third fly and fell to the ground, injuring the vehicle sufficiently to make it necessary to postpone the drive.

Dufferin Literary Club.

A regular meeting of the Dufferin Literary Club was held on Friday evening, but on account of there not being a sufficient number of members present, the debate was not gone on with. Mr. D. W. Dunlop, the Honorary President, was present and made some good suggestions in regard to conducting the affairs of the Society. The debate on exemptions will take place on Friday evening next.

New Couplings.

A meeting of the Fire Water and Light Committee was held on Friday afternoon. The Committee went in the Fire Hall and inspected the hose and couplings over which so much discussion has arisen. It was decided, after due consideration, to take off all the old couplings, get new ones, and alter the threads on the hydrants so that the lock on any branch of hose could be connected with any hydrant.

Mr. Neil keeps the largest and best assortment of Gents Furnishings in Peterborough. Call and examine his stock before making your purchases.

Be in Time.

There should be no delay in securing seats for the Rev. Dr. Wild's lecture on "A Masonic Miracle" on October 28th. Dr. Wild, on the occasion of his previous visits, was heard by large audiences, and his lectures were so well pleased that there will doubtless be a large attendance at this lecture. His reputation as an interesting speaker and original thinker is so well known that it does not require to be referred to. Do not fail to hear him and secure your seat at once.

Personal.

In view of the recent appointment of Mr. A. P. Fowles as Queen's Counsel, it will be of interest to trace his career and professional career. He entered Trinity College, Toronto, at Michaelmas, 1864, on which occasion he took the Second Foundation Scholarship. He was Warden Scholar and Mathematical Prize man both in June, 1868, and June, 1869. He graduated as B. A. at Michaelmas, 1867, with First Class Mathematics Honors, ranking at the same time the Prince of Wales Prize. At Michaelmas, 1877, he was admitted to the degree of B. C. L. He entered the Law Society at the Hilary Term, 1884, and was called to the Bar at Easter, 1872.

Drop into Turnbull's Show rooms for Millinery and Mantles. An extensive stock to select from.

The Market.

The market square was crowded in every part this morning. The movement in grain was heavy, the prices being, for spring, 86 to 90 cents per bushel, and for fall, 86 to 90 cents per bushel. Coarse grain remains about the same. Potatoes sold at 45 cents per bag, considerable fall in price from that of a few weeks ago. Apples brought from 60 cents to $1 per bag. There was a large quantity of garden vegetables offered for sale at reasonable prices. Beef sold at 85 and 86 per cwt.; pork at 90 per cwt.; and lamb at 7 and 8 cents per pound. The offer of meats was large as was also that of fowl. Chickens brought 45 cents per pair; ducks 60 cents per pair; turkeys from 60 to 90 cents each, and geese 50 cents each. A limited quantity, only, of butter and eggs were offered for sale, the former bringing 21 cents per pound and the latter 18 cents per dozen.

Board of Health.

A meeting of the Board of Health was held in the Council Chamber on Friday evening. This was the first meeting of the Board that has been held this year. There were present: Councilmen Hartley, McNaughton, Rutherford, Green, and Messrs. E. Pearce, J. Garvey and Dr. Fife. Nearly all of the Council were also present. On motion, Councilman Rutherford was elected chairman. The business before the chair was the question of isolating the case of varioloid. After some discussion it was decided to put up a three room building, 20x25 feet, one story high. To this place the occupants of the house where the diseased child is lying will be removed. The contract was awarded to Mr. J. D. Bagley, he to have it ready for occupation by to-night, when the removal will take place. The building, etc., to be situated on the corner of the street and the street. Mr. Rutherford went to the grounds and selected a site and to-day the work of building the house is being proceeded with all dispatch. Dr. Job will attend the patient, with Surgeon Billings as assistant.

THE BROTHER TOWN got a "Combined" box of books and literature at Salisbury's for 10 cents. Sixty large pages in the collection, say about.

Superior Hardware.

Any person wishing to see a sample of superior hardware will visit the warehouse at C.P.R. station. This wood will be delivered in any part of the town by telephoning to Calcutt's Brewery. Long wood $4.00, sawed $4.50.

Lecture Address.

A lecture will be delivered in the Charlotte Street Methodist Church on Monday evening, by the Rev. Chancellor Nelles, on "Latest Advices." The chair will be taken at eight o'clock by James Stevenson, Esq. There will be no admission fee, but a silver collection will be taken on behalf of the Library Fund of Victoria University.

Just received at Turnbull's, a large shipment of Fur-trimmed (good patterns) for Men's and Ladies' Use, both of which are made up on the premises.

A Perfect Home in the Millinery and Dress-making Department of the Golden Lion. Orders are going in rapidly. Mantles and Dresses are being turned out with a promptness which shows that Miss Johnston, with her large staff of expert hands, is prepared to execute all orders with neatness and despatch. Fair, VanEvery & Co's large and excellent selection of Dress and Mantle Materials are giving perfect satisfaction. Their large and varied stock is very attractive, an evidence that they have the business wisdom to provide what the people wish.

Is it Really True.

—That Inspector Wilson had his man out shovelling the fog off the streets this morning?
—That Pat Cavanagh heard a sigh when he found he hadn't a V in the pocket of his overcoat this morning?
—That trustee Kendry has selected the site for the new public school in the north ward?
—That the reason contractor Thornton has not commenced work on the Smith street bridge is because he has a woodshed to build?
—That Mr. Thomas Davis, Local License Inspector, etc., is troubled with rheumatism in the region of the left eye by reason of a stick flying up while he was chopping wood?

Just to hand, at Turnbull's, a full range of Heavy All Wool Dress Goods. Regular price 30 cts, selling at 25 cts.

It Might be Remembered.

—That there's going to be a meeting of the Town Council on Tuesday night.
—That the Rev. E. H. Dewart, who presides in the George and Charlotte Street Churches to-morrow, is a native of the County of Peterborough.
—That he was born and brought up in the Township of Dunbar.
—That large quantities of grain is leaving Peterborough over the Grand Trunk Railway.
—That the exemption by-law will again be discussed on Tuesday night.
—That Mr. W. Depoon shipped another carload of prime cattle to Montreal this afternoon.
—That the small boy had his sled on this morning utilizing the front on the sidewalks.
—That the rumor to the effect that there was a case of smallpox in the Montreal house is untrue.

POLICE COURT.

SATURDAY, Oct. 24.—Patrick Cavanagh appeared again at the Court this morning to answer to a similar charge as that preferred against him yesterday morning, that of being drunk and disorderly in a public place. He was quite oblivious of what he had been doing, and was in the same quandary as he was yesterday—he did not know whether to plead guilty or not guilty. Chief Johnston, however, who had taken him in charge, related the circumstances, and Mr. Cavanagh was mulcted to the extent of $5 or fifteen days in goal. He chose the latter.

Jacob Roberts was charged with having assaulted Margaret Moore. He pleaded not guilty. Evidence was taken in which it appeared that the object of the assault was a little girl who had charge of Roberts' infant. Roberts was drunk and had demanded that the child be given to him. The girl did not comply with his demand and he had struck her. The defendant pleaded that he had only done so in fun.

The Magistrate held that it was no fun to strike a girl. The defendant had been up before this court on several occasions, and it appeared that he was utterly reckless as to what he did. His wife had made complaints a great many times, and if he was removed from her altogether it would be a great blessing. The defendant was committed to goal for one month, the Court remarking that anyone who was guilty of striking a girl was better in goal than out of it.

An American Opinion.

Mr. Browne, proprietor of the Richmond County Democrat, published at Thompsonville, N. Y., was recently in Peterborough visiting his uncle, Mr. Thos. Cahill. The Democrat of Oct. 17th contains the following as a result of the visit:

"To the many readers of the Democrat who believe the manifest destiny of Canada is to become a State of the Great Republic, the news will be welcome that during a recent trip thither by a representative of this paper, enough was won to convince him that that country was a prosperous and enterprising enough to be a most desirable acquisition. The Town of Peterborough, Canada West, for instance, illustrates this statement. It is perhaps one of the most progressive of all the minor communities. It has grown rapidly, its dwellings are comfortable and neat, each family residing in its own house; the principal streets are lighted by electricity, others by gas, while an excellent water supply is obtained from the lake and the Ottonabee river. The sidewalks are paved with granite, and one of the surest means of detecting a foreigner from the 'States' is the propensity he has for stumbling over these board walks. Saw mills, wooden mills and flour mills are numerous, all driven by water power which at this place is most efficient. There are three newspapers, the Review, a conservative organ, edited by Mr. T. Kerr; the Examiner, a reform organ, and the Times an independent. All are daily, the first two being issued in the evening, the last in the morning. They are bright and new, with well appointed printing offices. A novelty in the method of announcing deaths which instead of being advertised in the papers are published by means of placards posted up bearing the name of the deceased, the invitation to the funeral, etc. There is a fine Catholic Cathedral in the place which was recently extensively improved, and there is a station of a Bishop besides the one of the Rev. Father Conway. The market place is an interesting sight on market days—Wednesdays and Saturdays—when from a multitude of wagons ranged about the open commons, the farmers who have driven in from the adjacent country dispose of the best farm produce, poultry, etc., at remarkably low prices. Chickens and ducks at from 35 to 60 cents a pair illustrating the prevailing moderate charges, something possible only by reason of the absence of middlemen between the producer and consumer. A fastidious person would be surprised to find that in going into operation on the first of next May, the provisions of which saloons will be closed, selling or giving away liquor prohibited, and no private family will be allowed to keep a bar in the house in less than ten gallons of whisky, fifteen gallons of beer, etc. What the practical working of this act will be remains to be seen. The temperance cause, however, is a sturdy, intemperate and material prosperity characteristic of an enterprising place although it has a law which will compel visitors from the States to abstain from drinking with them. The supply of whisky, and in a pocket sack capable of holding ten gallons."

A Horse Nave Two Lives.

CREEK LODGE, N. Y., Oct. 23.—Barney Dugan's canal horse, Old Joe, has saved two persons from drowning within the past three weeks. The first rescue was that of a girl named Annie Giesley. She was playing on her father's boat in the canal, and when the boat and Old Joe came along the girl fell into the canal. Before any other aid could be given her the horse plunged into the water, seized the girl's dress in his teeth, swam with her to the shore where the bank was low, and then heaved her out with her. He refused to swim back and had to be taken from the tow line and to be taken a mile back to a bridge. The second rescue was that of the boy who drives him on the canal. The boy was wrestling yesterday with another boy on the tow line, and was thrown into the canal. He couldn't swim, and there was no one near him who could. When a boatman was looking for a pipe pole Old Joe jumped into the canal and brought the boy safely back to the tow path.

Important to Canada.

A special despatch to the Globe from London, Eng., on Oct. 23rd says:—The Imperial post office authorities are now advertising for tenders for the conveyance of mail from Coal Harbor, British Columbia, to the island of Hong Kong, and from Hong Kong to Coal Harbor. The tender is to be made by way of Yokohama, Kobe, and the outward and return journey. The tender is to be made for the conveyance of the British mail to China terminating on the 31st January, 1886. Tenders in response to the present offer may be sent in up to the 31st March, 1885. This is regarded here as an important recognition of the Canadian Pacific route.

A Horrible Method of Suicide.

DENVER, Col., Oct. 23.—This morning the dead body of Jacob Kauffman, a well known musician of this city, was found on the premises near the Orphan Home. The body was entirely nude, horribly scarred and covered with blood. Investigation showed that after undressing Kauffman had forced his way back and forth a number of times through the wire fence. The ground was saturated with blood, portions of the skin hanging from the wire at different places, and the handmarks where the man had torn his way through the wire were on the sand beneath the fence. The coroner's jury decided that Kauffman suddenly becoming insane had committed suicide.

Mormons Favored Out.

TOLSON, Ill., Oct. 23.—Alonso Johnson and Samuel Moody, missionaries from Mormonism, have been holding nightly meetings in a school house in the outskirts of the town, endeavoring to obtain converts. Several of the village malcontents had been to take a lively interest in Mormonism and polygamy. Before the people were awakened to a sense of what was going on, nearly twenty young girls, it is said, had tacitly consented to join the sect. Last evening forty indignant churchmen gathered on the school house, and after reading a shower of stones and rotten eggs through the windows, cleared out the buildings. The missionaries fled in the darkness.

Only Two Weeks' Married.

OTTAWA, Oct. 23.—Lawrence Griffin an engine driver on the C.P.R., who was married in this city about two weeks ago, has just succumbed to the small-pox scourge in Montreal. Having friends in Montreal he went on a visit to attend the honeymoon. Two days after they reached there Mr. Griffin was stricken down with the loathsome disease and was removed to the hospital. His young wife, after dining alone for a month, could find no comfort, returned to Ottawa only to receive intimation of his death.

HEAVY GALES.

Several Vessels Reported Lost with their Crews.

DETROIT, Oct. 23.—Vessel masters arriving from Marquette say they never experienced such heavy weather on Lake Superior as has prevailed during the last few days. The gale raged with unabated fury for 60 hours, attaining a velocity of from 40 to 60 miles an hour. Navigation was rendered doubly perilous by the prevalence of furious snow storms. Many vessels had narrow escapes from serious disaster and several are still missing. The steam barge, S. C. Eddwin, of Detroit, arrived in search of her consort, barge Grace Whitney and Eureka. During the gale the barges separated from the Baldwin and have not been heard of since. The captain of the Baldwin is almost certain that they have come down and that all hands are lost. There were thirteen men on the two barges. At Mr. Whitney's office, in this city, confidence is expressed that both barges are safe.

Just to hand at Turnbull's, another fresh lot of Blankets and Comforters we believe at prices never before offered in Peterborough.

SUPPOSED MURDER.

A County Constable Severely Frowned by a Picking Farmer.

TORONTO, Oct. 23.—About ten days ago County Constable Heeneey and John Lang, a farmer of Picking, had a dispute in a tavern about the merits of a binder. As the dispute threatened to terminate in blows Heeneey left the tavern, but was followed by Lang, who assaulted Heeneey, throwing him down. While Heeneey was on the ground Lang pommelled him about the head, with his fists, and tiring of that sort of a struggle used it violently on Heeneey's head, which is now terribly swollen and almost in a jelly. The affair was reported to the police, but no effort was made to arrest Lang until last night, when eight constables surrounded the house. A brother of Lang drove himself in Lang's clothing and rushed from the house, followed by the police, who finally captured him and found their mistake. Heeneey the man wanted succeeded in escaping, and the police are now closely watching the entrances of this city. Heeneey's condition this morning is very critical, and it is expected he will die before many hours.

BELLEVILLE.

A BRUTAL MISDEED.—On Tuesday night a fire destroyed a barn on a farm in the 6th concession of Tyendinaga, owned by Henry Alford, and leased by Charles Bennett. The loss was about $3,000. The fire is now believed to have been incendiary, as Parks green mixed with salt had been placed in the pasture, and two cows were killed by being dismembered with a knife, and another young man named Cowan was being assaulted charged with the commission of the crime. He had an enemy against Bennett, and made threats against him. The suspicion has been strengthened by the fact that Cowan's boots fit the tracks found about the site of the burned barn.

But why should dudes fill up the schools?
We've built for boys with brains, not fools?

HUDSON BAY EXPLORATION.
Return of the Alert and the Believed Explorers to Halifax.

A Halifax despatch says: The Arctic steamer Alert arrived from Hudson Bay yesterday, bringing back fourteen of the eighteen observers who have spent the last fifteen months on the station in the shores of Hudson Strait and Bay. They were sent by the Dominion Government to take observations of the temperature, movements of the ice, etc., so as to determine the great question of opening up to traffic the Hudson Bay route to Europe. Capt. Gordon, Dr. Bell, of the geological survey, and other officers were interviewed and the following facts elicited:—The Alert experienced great difficulty in reaching Hudson Strait in July, and was forced to plough her way through a massive quantity of held ice. The season was four weeks later than usual. The Alert was off Nachash Bay July 15th, and got back in a field of ice from five to thirty feet thick, extending forty miles to the eastward, and in every direction as far as the eye could reach.
This enormous ice field came from Davis Strait to the north, where the winter has been exceptionally severe. The Alert did not get away from the ice until July 7th, when having incurred serious damage to her plates and stem, was compelled to put back to St. John's for repairs. The accomplished, she then left St. John's July 27th. She then had no difficulty in entering and relieving the men on the station there, her arrival being the first vestige of civilization the men had seen for a year. She then fought her way up the strait to the station, the other station, meeting with very heavy ice fields and a strong tidal drift which sometimes ran seven knots per hour to the north.
There was an open passage at the time in the middle of the strait and Hudson's Bay. The French Prince-Royal and Cam Owen worked their way up, but the Alert having to call at the stations to relieve the men, she entered the ice along the shore. On August 9th, she drove her way up the strait, and then made Ash Inlet, and drifted with the ice and current for a week. They got out of the ice August 21st and into Hudson Bay and never saw ice afterwards. But in the Bay they encountered

A SERIES of VERY HEAVY GALE, accompanied by heavy snow, lasting three to six days, at intervals of two or three days each. On arriving at St. John's Bay St. John's No. 4, they found that St. John's and the other observers, including the would never arrive (as the Alert was then over a month late), had deserted the station and left the day previous in a small open whaling boat, for Chimo Bay, one hundred miles distant, rowing and sailing the whole distance and the gale the Alert had experienced. It was afterwards learned that the perilous journey was safely made in fourteen days after great suffering from exposure and exhaustion. The winter when St. John's stayed had been very severe.
The hump had failed; the Equinox had suffered terribly from famine. St. John's had only two days provisions for his party of four and though he gave as liberally to the starving Equinox as he was able, the latter died of the want of food. St. John's had a mouse at the door of his little shanty. Fearing that he would meet the same fate as the Equinox during the coming winter, he undertook the hazardous journey to Chimo. There he and his party got on the Hudson Bay steamer Labrador, intending to land at Rio Quinto, on the coast of Labrador, and there await the Alert, but the steamer Labrador with her valuable cargo of Hudson Bay supplies got on the rocks before reaching Rio Quinto.

NEWS OF THE DISASTER was sent by the Equinox to Nachash Bay and then thence by the whaling steamer to St.
John's, N.B., when the steamer Hercules was immediately despatched to the scene of the disaster to take off the crew and passengers and save the cargo if not too late. They were safe when last heard from. The Alert succeeded in safely relieving all the other stations and brought home all the remaining observers, with the exception of Inlet, a Haligonian, who died at Trichingham Island from scurvy. Captain Gordon is optimistic in the opinion that the whaling route is feasible for navigation four months of the year by properly built vessels and it is simply a question of whether the opening of the route with such short season of navigation will pay in competition with existing routes. The sum total of the observations so far that the average temperature is much lower than generally imagined, the average cold spell being a thirty below zero. Regarding the conditions, Captain Gordon said they varied so one day was not run for another. The navigator simply had to take the ice as he found it, and whatever he saw open was or the ice was thinner. That was the experience of two Hudson Bay captains whom he interviewed who had navigated that region for a quarter of a century. Dr. Bell, of the Geological Survey, and he had made a great many geological, zoological, and botanical discoveries, and learned a great deal about the habits of birds and mammals from nature. All the discoveries and information point to the fact of

VAST MINERAL WEALTH
in those regions; gold, silver, copper, iron, lead, chromium, mica, asbestos, pyrites for making sulphuric acid, anthracite coal, and a great variety of coarser mineral products and minerals of scientific interest only. He thinks the explorations ought to be continued. Dr. Bell and his assistant, Mr. McNaughton, a New York-born, thrillingly brave and valiant hunter-experience. They saw hundreds of these qu-rreps and killed scores of them; the walrus weighing a ton each and the bears 1,500 pounds to 1,700 pounds. Some of the bears showed fight and tried to get on board the steam launch, and nearly succeeded in jumping and drowning the occupants. McNaughton and a comrade named Griffin had an exceedingly narrow escape with their lives from an infuriated brute who had been wounded, and it was only by the utmost coolness and bravery that they conquered his heaviness with rifle and gun. McNaughton recovered Griffin with a severe leg wound, the loss of his bravery in standing by and saving his life. All agree that the country is enormously wealthy in fur-bearing animals and furbearers, and that the fur, the profitable trade in which has hitherto been monopolized by the Hudson Bay Company, can be obtained from the Equinox for a mere song. The Hudson Bay fur company are doing all they can to impede the work of the Equinox and Indians hunting, whereas the missionaries are teaching them agriculture with civilization.

MAXIMILIAN'S MAD WIDOW.
Pathetic Scenes in the Old Castle of Bou-chout, in Belgium.

A few miles from Lachen, the favorite residence of the king of the Belgians, stands the old Gothic castle of Bouchout, at present the residence of the widow of the Emperor Maximilian. Not long ago rumors were current that the Empress of Mexico had regained her reason, which she lost at the death of the unfortunate emperor. These reports were untrue.

More than 18 years ago, when the empress went through the ceremony with the same grace and dignity, such as in former times, she was brighter and higher still, and bids in Mexico, and the respectful homage which was accorded to the poor empress was perhaps more genuine than in her days of greater splendor. The empress herself excited feelings, who, after a while, would people had gathered around her she would thank them for coming to see the great empress of Mexico, and then, rising from her simulated trance, would towards the saying room, saying, "You wish, no doubt, to lay your tribute at the feet of his majesty the emperor; I will gladly find him."

Returning after a few minutes she would say:
"I cannot find the emperor, but he will see you as soon as he returns." With this she resumed an animated conversation on the present situation of the brilliant future prospects of the emperor, and, taking up his portrait, she showed him to rise higher and higher still, and not to strive for one, but for ten, twenty, nay, for all the crowns of the world. The courtiers, moved to tears by the pathetic scene, would bow and make their departure, unperceived by the excited Empress, who, after a while, would majestically sweep through the rooms, haughtily commanding in-guards to carry her train but the proud, had look melted into an expression of tenderness when her daily walks through the grounds at Lachen, where Empress Maxi-miliane was then residing, her eyes followed the flight of birds or clouds.

After the death of the Emperor the little court moved to Bouchout, and the Empress has in the course of time become less excited. Sometimes again she was one of her fancies to order a large number of elegant costumes, each of which required some thirty yards of material, having to be made Mexican fashion, with immensurable Mexican skirts in her own unique and quiet style, and the veil appears to be lifted only on Sundays, during divine service, which she regularly attends. The voice of the organ is heard through the chapel. Then her soul's eyes transcend, and a strange smile lights up the features of one of the most unfortunate women of our century.—Fall Mail Gazette.

THE CORK CATTLE TROUBLE.
CORK, Oct. 24.—The Cork packet company at a meeting yesterday attempted to effect an amicable settlement of the difficulty with the cattlemen who are boycotting the company's vessels. The company asked their loyalist patrons to send their goods by another route, offering to defray any extra expenses incurred.
The loyalists refused and the meeting was without result.

THE GREEK PARLIAMENT.
ATHENS, Oct. 24.—At the opening of Parliament today the King, in his speech to the Chamber, said that the rupture of the B-rin Treaty by Bulgaria compelled Greece to prepare to maintain her interests. He suggested the partition of Macedonia by his speech in leaving their peaceful vocations to master under the flag of their country. He hoped the interest of the Powers in the maintenance of peace would enable them to adopt effectual measures for the restoration of solid equilibrium among the Balkan states.

A LOYALIST MANIFESTO.
DUBLIN, Oct. 25.—The patriotic union has issued a long manifesto denouncing the Irish National League for having five years embittered home life, coerced individual liberty, extorted hard earned money from the people,
and permitted the perpetration of outrages.
The union appeals to the people to assert their independence of the League and maintain the integrity of the Empire. The manifesto calls upon the electors to vote against the tyranny of Parliament and clique of petty traders, bankrupt farmers and idle loungers, who form the League and intimidate the country.

FATALITIES IN FACTORIES.
LONDON, Oct. 24.—Two very painful accidents are reported from Manchester. In a cotton factory a young girl was caught in a revolving wheel by the hair, and crushed to death before the machinery could be stopped. In another case a lad was coiled in half a mile of wire, and the life literally squeezed out of him. These two deaths emphasize the recently issued factory statutes, which reveal much more palatable suffering than the crime and modern routine which shock Mr. Ruskin. Mr. Redgrave's report shows that during twelve months, in places subject to the supervision of the factory inspectors, 403 deaths resulted from accidents arising from machinery, and 8,501 injuries were inflicted, ranging from cases calling for amputation to simple bruises and lacerations. Altogether 8,904 men, women and children in twelve months, during their ordinary course of labor, lost their lives or were grievously maimed, bruised or disfigured. This forms a painful record, and the only consolation is that it compares favorably with the wholesale machinery accidents of the past, prior to factory legislation, when capital had little regard for the life of labor.

ATROCITIES IN MOROCCO.
TANGIER, Oct. 23.—The atrocities practiced by the authorities of Morocco are attracting the serious attention of all the foreign representatives, who will appear to their respective governments for foreign intervention in order to stop the horrible atrocities which are almost daily perpetrated on alleged criminals for some imaginary offences that are trumped up by spies for the purpose of retaining their positions. Recently one of the officials caused a poor woman, who was enceinte, to be flogged in the presence of her husband and father. The woman's arms were tied together, drawn over her head, and then a rope was tied to the stake to hold her in that position. The lashes were laid on so heavily that blood flowed freely from the unfortunate creature's back, her sweat and unhappy husband being compelled to witness her terrible sufferings. After the flogging the woman was taken to the home of an English lady, where she is now being kindly cared for. The foreign residents are greatly shocked at the occurrence of such atrocities, and have signed a petition for a protectorate.

PUBLIC CHARACTERS.

SOME Reform journals are objecting to any criticism of Mr. Robert Jaffrey, because he is not an official or a representative. As Mr. Jaffrey has large transactions with the people of Ontario, who pay him large sums of money, the question whether these dealings are judicious on the score of economy is fairly open to discussion. The fact that Mr. Jaffrey is a stockholder of the Toronto Globe should not preclude him from business relations with the people of Ontario if they can deal with him profitably and economically, but it may fairly be taken into account in considering why he is especially favored, as in the kindred case of Mr. Nelson, with his costly school book monopoly.

It is absurd to argue that persons having such dealings with the public are mere private individuals, whose names should not be mentioned in the public journals. We do not perceive that Reform journals find any such difficulty in naming and criticizing private, unofficial persons having dealings with the Dominion of Canada.

ANOTHER plank has been added to the great Reform platform. It is that Lord Lansdowne has too many titles. Now watch for further evidences of the Reform reaction.

THE Rev. M. Baxter says that the possessions of Britain that did not form part of Caesar's empire must be separated from the British Empire before the end of the world. The Toronto World should feel encouraged.

THE Globe thinks that the news that the "Liberal stronghold" of St. John city and county has given a large majority to the Conservative candidate is "disappointing." Well, our constitution happily gives the people of Canada the right to choose men in whom they have confidence to represent them and administer their affairs, however "disappointing" this may seem to those in whom the people have so much confidence.

THE charges rung by the Reformers and their journals upon the theme of the Northwest territories are almost too numerous to follow. Now, the Fort Hope Guide has discovered that they are almost worthless and have been an unprofitable acquisition. Instead of being told of the want of permanent fertility and the arctic climate of the Northwest we have lately been accustomed to hear from Reformers that it is one of the finest countries, only needing a Reform Government to make it a paradise.

THE great bugbear of the Franchise Act, in Reform eyes, was the bad men who were to be appointed Revising Officers, yet the Globe only objects to an appointment of the whole number made. It begs of grumblers to ventilate in its columns any little grievance that they may imagine they have when the voters' lists are made up, in order to give it something to whine about, and it promises to blackguard the judges if it only gets the chance.

SHOT IN THE DARK.

A Prominent Saloon Keeper Murdered and Robbed in Detroit.

DETROIT, Mich., Oct. 24.—About midnight last night the employees of the Michigan Central depot and residents of that vicinity who had not retired, heard a pistol shot. A few moments after the shot was fired Thomas Callahan, a porter of the Western Hotel, and Thomas Burke, started from the depot to investigate the matter, and found the body of a man, apparently about 45 years of age, lying on the ground within a few feet of the sidewalk on Third street. The body was still warm, and from a ghastly wound about two inches above the ear a stream of blood and brain oozed out upon the pavement. His coat was torn, indicating that he had engaged in a struggle with his assassin before the fatal shot was fired. The murdered man had been stripped of all his valuables except an onyx ring and his watch chain, which was lying on the ground beside the corpse. A small money bag made of cotton, which had been fastened around his waist with a band, was removed and rifled of its contents. The only things found in his pockets were a handkerchief and a few cents. A short distance from the body was found an English "bull dog" revolver of 32 calibre, one chamber of which was empty, giving the impression that the deceased had drawn his weapon to defend himself from his assailant, and that it had been wrested from his grasp and used to accomplish the murder. The body was identified as that of Dan Ewer, a well known saloon keeper, of Port Huron, who had attended the trap shooting meeting in this city. Ewer was a quantity of jewellery and usually carried a large sum of money. There is no clue to the murderer.

EDUCATIONAL.

A Sermon Preached by the Rev. E. M. Stewart, D. D.

On Sunday morning the Rev. E. M. Stewart, D. D., editor of the Christian Guardian, preached a sermon on education in the George Street Methodist Church. In the evening he preached in the Charlotte Street Church.

He took his text from John, viii, 32, "And ye shall know the truth and the truth shall make you free."

The words of the text, he said, were not the conjecture of mere earthly wisdom, nor were they the speculations of the worldly philosopher. They were the fruit of research for the Son of Righteousness, and of research to solve the great problem that affected our destination. These words here set down claimed our special attention because they revealed to us God's method of freeing us from sin and death, to live in the life and liberty of Godliness. This same question had agitated the world for ages, even in times of darkness. At all times had men striven to solve this problem of how to get rid of sin. The literature of the past was a proof of it, as was also the present intellectual activity. In all the sciences there was a remarkable activity. Philosophers, geologists, etc., were ever advancing theories in their own special lines. Some of these theories were held in high favor, but the mistakes of the human mind were shown by the fact that these theories were rejected for more acceptable ones. But when men's minds were directed to solve this great spiritual problem, the obscurity deepened. The unaided mind of man could not solve this problem; could never find rest. But God had given the rich promise of hope. The burdened heart was delivered by His strong hand, and that peace is given to the soul which is only surpassed by the peace that passeth all understanding.

He next combatted the idea that religion was opposed to science. This old argument of the sceptic was put justified by the facts of past history. Commotions had arisen which were called contests between religion and science, but they were merely contests against false theories of science. It was the old theories battling against the introduction of the new. As an instance, it could not be said that religion was against science because Galileo was brought to his knees. He was not the sole representative of science nor the persecutor of religion. The church had ever ranged itself on the side of science. Were not Roger Bacon, Copernicus, Isaac Newton and others, pillars of the church, also apostles of science. At the present day the march of mathematics, of physics, of physical truths, moral truths and spiritual truths. He held that to engage in the study of science in its various branches had an ennobling effect on the mind. It gave it a greater grasp and a loftier tone. But there was no study that would move our whole being, quicken every sense and nerve, than that respecting immortality. This was evidenced by conversion. Cases he had known whose minds were low and grovelling, but on these men being converted their appetites for knowledge were almost ravenous. The study of the Bible was the fountain of all knowledge. Its promises and its precepts were always true. To study this book gave the student inspiring thoughts. To admire a man for poetic and artistic genius was right, but our spiritual nature was our highest nature, and the capacity to be able to receive God's truths was our highest capacity. Extraordinary gifts in the arts and sciences, without the spirit of God, were like the eastern sun gilding the mountain peaks with a rich flood of light, transforming them into minarets of fire. The Spirit of God not only touched the peaks of Memory or Imagination, but descended to the dark valleys below, scattering the gloom and kindling life in the shady glades. There was a great danger of people now knowing the truth, without experiencing its effects. It was no use to know of the Saviour unless you had personal experience of his power of saving yourself.

This educational work is one with which the people should take an active interest. They seemed to be slower in taking hold of this work than they were of building churches or of contributing toward home and foreign missions. The poor man thought that it was the rich man's place to contribute toward building colleges because he could send his sons to be educated there. This was a mistake; the poor man's sons were just as numerous in attendance at the colleges as the rich man's, and some of them were a good deal more clever. It was the interest of everyone to have colleges within easy reach, where their sons and daughters might receive all the advantages of a higher education; a higher education, not only to qualify them for the church, but to qualify them for the laity, for it was the strength of the church to have an highly educated and intelligent laity, and that church which had the most highly cultured laity would leave the most lasting impression on the world.

In the morning Dr. Nelson, of Cobourg, preached in the Charlotte Street Church and in the evening in the George Street Church.

THE DYNAMITE GUN TEST.

A Cartridge Weighing 100 Pounds Success Fully Fired.

The New York World says: There is no longer any doubt that 100 pounds of dynamite can be safely fired from the dynamite gun, for Lieut. Zalinski did it yesterday afternoon at Fort Lafayette. At 1 o'clock Inventor Winslow called together his fellow inventors and a number of other distinguished guests and boarded the tug James D. Nichol at the late wharf of the harbor office and started for the experimental station. Among the guests were Mr. Yung Wing, the Chinese Minister; Major Salvador de Mendonca, the Brazilian Consul, and Mr. T. H. Wilcox, Brazil's attorney; G. N. Santiago Castro, from Mexico; Dynamiter S. P. Appolonio, of Philadelphia; W. F. Buckley, W. E. Benedict, Boston bankers; Col. W. S. Shafer, who knows all about all sorts of guns, and President N. D. Schuyler, of the Pan-American Dynamite Gun Company. Leaving Fort Lafayette the passengers saw a long gray tube sinking up at an angle of 20 degrees, with its narrow end pointing towards an imaginary target in the southwest by west of Sandy Hook. Every person climbed ashore over a pile of loose rocks and old boiler iron that Lieut. Zalinski pelts dynamite at when he is at Fort Hamilton becomes monotonous. The dynamite gun looked just like the first department water tower painted gray and swollen to twice its ordinary size, and as it lay slanting heavenward brave men peeped through its shining interior and said they could see the stars. It is 60 feet long, 74 inches in diameter, made of an exterior shell of wrought iron thirteen-sixteenths of an inch thick, lined with a quarter-inch tube of polished brass. When it is charged with a force of compressed air of 1,000 pounds pressure it can throw a 300 pound projectile a distance of two miles.

Lieut. Zalinski told his helpers to put in a 300 pound slug of iron into it, and they did so. Then he twisted a little wheel and took a half a turn on a big one, and finally pulled a lever, which made things hum. The slug sped away with a shriek of escaping air, and a cloud of gray vapor and struck the water a mile and a quarter away. Then it was discovered that the safety trap had become loose, and let out all the compressed air, instead of only 200 pounds, as intended, and thus necessitated a delay of four hours, till 1,000 more were compressed. While waiting the guests strolled inside the crumbling walls of the fort, where the 100 pounds of dynamite relative lay in its brass case like a giant capsule, and examined its steel cap weighing 100 pounds with its wooden t-til piece which keeps it to its course in its flight. The lieutenant pushed back a little plate in the middle of the cartridge and explained all about the hi-romote battery inside. When the projectile struck the water, he said, it would start the battery; this would fuse a bit of platinum wire, which would explode a fulminate of mercury cap, and then the dynamite would show its force. The spectators all looked on anxiously, no one showing in his face that he felt any fear that the battery might start of itself. But when they learned afterwards that 1,100 pounds of extra strong dynamite were piled in a vessel under their feet they stepped around as though walking on pins. In order to furnish a little innocent merriment, Lieutenant Zalinski set off two eight ounce charges of dynamite that blew big holes in thick sheets of boiler iron. Then the spectators became nervous and he stopped.

The setting sun was shining on the sides of the white police boat Patrol, which had come down to take a look around, when the visitors clambered aboard their feet they stepped a safe distance to see the 100-pound cartridge fired. Lieut. Zalinski waved the red warning flag, and pulled the lever again; the gun shrieked fiercely, the dynamite cartridge whistled away for a mile and a half, struck the water with a splash—and that was all. Lieut. Zalinski said the hi-romote battery must have failed if in the cartridge's flight through the air, because it wasn't riveted, and this was the reason the cartridge had not exploded. Next week he will rivet it on tightly, and try it again. Oystermen will probably be careful in the use of their tongs till the cartridge is fixed up.

TUESDAY, OCTOBER 27, 1885.

REFORMERS ONLY ARE HEARD.

The town of Cobourg is heavily in debt, and large amounts are owing by that corporation to the Provincial and Dominion Governments. The matter has been pressed upon their attention by the decided action of the Ontario Government, which has asked for Cobourg debentures to meet the indebtedness. At a meeting of the Cobourg Town Council the matter was discussed and deputations appointed to wait upon both Governments. In referring to the matter editorially the local Reform organ endeavored to injure the Conservative representative of the constituency, but it really deals a blow at the Mowat Government.

The Cobourg World says that "from 1875 to 1883, West Northumberland was represented in the Local Legislature by a Ministerialist who had sufficient influence with the government to induce them to hold the matter indefinitely in abeyance," but that Mr. Mulholland, who is a Conservative, has not the same influence with the Government, and therefore payment of the debt is pressed. The whole article in the World amounts to this, that a Reform member only can secure favors from the Government, and that Mr. Mowat and his colleagues are influenced more by the political opinions of the representative West Northumberland sends to the Legislature than they are by the merits of the question. Mr. Clarke, a Reformer, who is a member of the Town Council, was emphatic in stating his belief that "there was no earthly use in sending the Mayor or Mr. Mulholland to the Government of Mr. Mowat," and that "the party who would be most likely to succeed on such a mission would be a political friend." When Mr. Clarke moved a resolution appointing a deputation he explained that "he had not named any Conservative on the deputation, because he did not believe that any Conservative in West Northumberland had any influence there." The men who will not receive and properly consider the representations of delinquents sent by a corporation simply because they are Conservatives are not fit to administer the affairs of the Province. Men so prejudiced against political opponents could not do justice in any case where persons of different political opinions were concerned.

We are not now considering the justice or injustice of the claim made by Cobourg that it should be freed from debt, by the indebtedness being assumed by the people at large. Under either supposition the conduct of Mr. Mowat and his colleagues has been grossly corrupt, according to the showing even of its own friends, and utterly unjustifiable. There is no excuse for them from the imputation of most unrighteous partiality and unfairness. Either the Mowat Administration was doing the people of Ontario an injustice when it did not enforce payment from the town of Cobourg because it was represented by a supporter; or it is now doing the people of Cobourg an injustice by exacting payment from them because they are represented by a Conservative. In one case or the other Mr. Mowat and his colleagues are acting the part of fraudulent trustees in dishonestly abusing their trust by administering it for their own advantage. They are not entrusted with the control of public moneys for the purpose of rewarding political or of buying political opponents.

It is needless to say that the Conservative Government at Ottawa has been guilty of no such dishonest dealing with public moneys. It has required payment of the interest on the debt due to the Dominion by Cobourg, whether represented by a Reformer or a Conservative, and will certainly continue to do so until it is shown that the circumstances, under which the debt was incurred, were of such a nature as to call for its remission.

The endeavor to coerce West Northumberland into sending none but Reform representatives to Toronto is in keeping with the general policy of the Mowat Government. The public money is expended in the manner that will bring them the most political advantage, and the colonization road's funds especially has been made an election fund for the party. The people of Ontario should not allow such unworthy trustees to administer their affairs.

BELLEVILLE

DWELLING HOUSES BURNED.—The dwelling house, woodshed and drive house of Mr. Kelchman Graham, ex M.P.P., on the front of Sidney, were destroyed by fire, with the greater part of their contents, between four and five o'clock on Saturday morning. Mr. Graham's son, Robert, and an adopted daughter, were overcome by the smoke but were rescued. In the dwelling nearly all the furniture, in the woodshed forty cords of wood, in the drive house a new top buggy, an open buggy, a motor wagon, and several sets of harness, and in the loft 500 bushels of buckwheat, 200 bushels of barley, and a quantity of corn, were destroyed. The loss amounted to from $7,000 to $8,000; insured in the Phoenix for $4,000. The origin of the fire is unknown.

A Serious Mistake.

Mr. Peter Grant, of Walkerton, who recently sold his home and furniture, reached Toronto on his way to the Old Country, when he remembered that he had left eleven hundred dollars in cash in the drawer of a table that he had sold for sixty cents. In an agony of fear and anxiety he came back to Walkerton and found the purchaser of the table. This lady, Mrs. Vanhatten, had found the money in the drawer, and rejoiced at the heart of Mr. Grant by handing it over to him intact. He gratefully presented her with twenty dollars. — Walkerton Herald.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

WELL DONE MR. JOHN.

We are glad of this. The (Franchise) act is robbed of much of its offensiveness by the judicious appointments made. Now, if the parties do their duty we may have a good voters' list. — St. Catharines News (Ref.)

TAXATION COMPARED.

Sir Richard Cartwright says our taxes are at the rate of $6 per head of the population. That is not true. Our population is very nearly 100,000. The taxation last year was $25,500,000, or rather more than $5 per head. That of the United States, he says, was $5.48. Now a man could be just to his own people would have explained that the United States taxation to which he referred does not correspond with the Canadian taxation to which he referred. In Canada nearly all the provincial expenditures are paid out of the Dominion treasury, while in the United States the expenditures of the state government are met by a direct tax on the people of the several states. To make the comparison fair the provincial subsidies and interest on provincial debt assumed by the general government, ought to be deducted from the Dominion expenditure, or else the state expenditure in the United States ought to be added to the taxation there. A man desirous of acting with strict justice towards his opponent would have done one of these things. Sir Richard Cartwright did neither; and we are justified in thinking that he did not desire to deal justly with his opponents—that he did not desire to place the facts before his hearers with absolute frankness and impartiality. — Hamilton Spectator.

A REASONABLE ARGUMENT.

The temptation to partisan action in the appointment of revising officers, and the very degrading and dangerous results which would follow upon partisanship in these officers give cause for the greatest satisfaction with what has been done in Ontario. Moreover, as in this unimpeachable case the Government has shown itself Canadian more than Conservative, the case of the Government will become stronger all along the line in national questions, for it is reasonable to argue that if it is straightforward and honest in questions like this, it is in others which are less easily penetrated by the public. — Montreal Star (Indep.).

MR. BLAKE'S TWO-FACED POLICY.

The protectionist makes his position clear. One knows where to find him. He is pretty safe from an opponent who begins by saying that he is opposed to protection, but winds up by adding that he is not in favor of free trade. The policy of "Good Lord God devil" has never won, and it does not deserve to win. — Hamilton Times (Ref.).

RECKLESSLY EXTRAVAGANT.

Had our Province at confederation been presented with a fund in cash, the interest of which was sufficient to defray the expenses of government on an economical scale, and instead of carefully husbanding it, were to appropriate a portion of the capital every year for the current outlay until the whole was expended, would not their course be condemned as recklessly extravagant? Where is the difference in principle between frittering away a cash capital and a capital of natural resources? — Toronto News (Indep.).

THE DAY BEFORE THE DEFEAT.

Despite the bounce and blow of Tory canvasses the constituency of Saint John is a soundly Liberal. The reports from east and west, and from the two cities give strong assurance of this fact. We have a good cause and a good candidate. There is strong confidence in the result. It only remains to give vigorous and intelligent work at the polls. Let every Liberal elector go to the polls and vote as he feels, and his neighbor will follow. Watch the cause and work till the last vote is polled. We count confidently on Mr. Melville's election, but no effort should be spared to make his majority to more than a handsome one of 500 votes. — St. John Telegraph, Oct. 19.

LAUGHING AT THE "GLOBE."

The Globe should not try to mix the most satirical and destructive of the current humor within the compass of one editorial, as it did recently, when it at the same time denominated the "partisanship" of the independent press and extolled its own independence of party. We are apt to get confused and to laugh in the wrong place. — Montreal Star (Indep.).

NOISE AND BLUSTER.

One of the reasons that the Reform cause does not make much headway is because the Reform leaders have no distinctive platform. The platforms they put forward are simply a bundle of negotiations, and instead of appealing to the country on some good measure, such as commercial union with the States, they waste their time in blustering away at details of administration. Take the leading Grit organ. It has of numerous times in a week to blow the Conservative party to smithereens, but it has it off in such petty charges that it fails to have any effect. Instead of being a regular Gritting gun it is a miserable little pea-shooter. It keeps peeping away in its own puny style, day after day, imagining it is blowing everything to pieces, when the truth is that it is only making a noise. Until the Reform leaders put forward a platform worth fighting for, and the organs discover that their hysterical ravings have no effect with the thoughtful people, who refuse to be taken in by the members of the Dominion Government as a gang of unconvicted burglars, it will be useless for them to expect a majority of the people to give over to their side. — Toronto Telegram (Indep.).

GRANT AND JOHNSON

Chancellor Depew's Extraordinary Charges against the latter.

The ex-Secretary of the Treasury, Hugh McCulloch, says Mr. Depew's allegations are entirely new to him. His relations with President Johnson were probably as intimate and confidential as those of any member of the Cabinet, but he never heard a suggestion from him that he could be construed otherwise than loyal and patriotic. He thinks the charges against Johnson will be utterly disproved. Chancellor Depew says: "Two or three days before Gen. Grant went to Mount McGregor I had a talk with him. The General said, 'Do you remember the story you told me years ago about President Johnson's extra ordinary efforts at the period of reconstruction?' I remember well," he replied. "Have you included it in your memoirs?" I asked. "No," he said. "I have never written it. I suppose Gen. Grant did not want to make the matter public at the time, not being willing to revive the controversy. Did Gen. Grant say what he would have done if Johnson had tried to carry out his plan?" Nothing more than what he told Johnson, that he would drive the illegal Congress out of the capital at the point of the bayonet. Mr. Depew further said Johnson had given Grant the name of those who had agreed to stand by him in his purpose, and the General had repeated many of them to him (Depew) but he could not remember them. He also told him that he had obtained information about the Southerners who were in communication with the White House at the time. These men told their friends, and it naturally came around to the ears of the general, who was the greatest friend the Confederates had, as he had just saved them practically from annihilation.

A LEGAL ROMANCE.

The Question of the Identity of Miss Dash's Captain Settled by the Jury.

LONDON, Oct. 25.—A case was concluded yesterday that established the fallibility of human evidence in the matter of identity. In the latter part of March last Miss Emma Dash, while promenading the pier at Brighton, was accosted by a man who introduced himself as Captain Macdonald. This strange acquaintance proved agreeable and ripened into friendship, which rapidly ripened into love. After a few days' ardent courtship Miss Dash consented to become the captain's wife. They were married at St. James's Church on April 4th, and had their wedding breakfast at the Clarendon hotel. They started on their honeymoon, but one fine morning Captain Macdonald went out to return no more, and the bride returned disconsolate to Brighton. Months passed on, when one day a lady who had been present at the marriage recognized the errant captain disguised as a butcher in the Brighton market. This was told to the bride, who also recognized him, and he was arrested. The butcher asserted that his name was James Malcolm, and that he neither was nor had he known Captain Macdonald. He denied that he had married Miss Dash, and said that he had a wife at home to whom he had been married for years. He was charged with bigamy, but when the case came to trial, owing to the conflict of witness, the jury disagreed. Yesterday he was tried again, and the evidence was equally irreconcilable. All the witnesses present at the marriage, including the clergyman who performed the ceremony, swore most unhesitatingly that James Malcolm, the meat salesman, was the Captain Macdonald who married Miss Dash. The case was of the Clarendon hotel collected distinctly Capt. Macdonald staying at her house and having his wedding breakfast there. She swore most emphatically that the prisoner was not that captain. So witnesses after witnesses were called, and each contradicted the other. Witnesses swore that the accused could not be easily mistaken for Miss Dash's lover, and an alibi was set up covering the period of the courtship, marriage, and brief honeymoon, but the testimony of the clergyman who performed the ceremony turned the scale. The jury, after a lengthy absence from court, found the prisoner guilty, and he was at once sentenced to seven years penal servitude. If the evidence of the prisoner's wife could have been received, the question of identity would have been settled one way or the other in five minutes; but under the law the prisoner was debarré from this testimony, which it is understood would have gone to the extent of proving that Malcolm never slept out of his own house during the period that Captain Macdonald wooed, won, and married Miss Dash.

The Prohibition.

The weather prohibition for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock
this morning, as reported from the Toronto
Observatory, are as follows:—Generally fair weather, with winds shifting to northerly during the day, and becoming somewhat calmer towards evening; light showers in a few places.

It Might be Remembered.

—That the Court House steps are being placed in position.
—That Sargent Billings informed us that he was to have acted as assistant to Dr. Job, who attends the case of varioloid.
—That he has since informed us that he did not come to terms, and consequently did not act in such capacity.
—That on account of the first information being published he was debarred from getting a "glass of hale" anywhere.
—That the Scott Act Inquiry has been adjourned again.
—That so has the case of Thomas Beavis, Esq., Local License Inspector, etc., against the Grand Trunk Railway.
—That it has been postponed indefinitely.
—That the "old reliable" hunting party have returned from the back country excursion and have brought home a good supply of fine deer and a quantity of fish.
—That the plan of the Hall for Dr. Wild's lecture is as A. L. Davis's book.
—That Dr. Wild passed through Peterborough to-day on his way to Smith's Falls, where he delivers his celebrated lecture, "Men With Iron Shins." To-morrow evening he lectures here on "A Masonic Miracle."

Scott Act.

The enquiry into the vote on the Scott Act was resumed in the Judge's chambers to-day.
His Honor Judge Denison presided. Messrs.
C. A. Weller and J. O'Meara appeared for the petitioners, and Mr. D. W. Dumble appeared for the respondents. Mr. Richard Warham, deputy returning officer in No. 3 division of Smith, was called, but refused to give evidence unless he received fees. He was not paid.
Mr. Ross, deputy for No. 2, Dummer, testified that the vote was not taken in the school house of section No. 1, but was taken in a back bit-tchen of a house in that locality. The teacher of the school in question lived in the house.
Mr. Geo. E. Williams, Secretary of the Scott Act Association, was next heard. He stated that he gave evidence there merely out of courtesy, not that he felt compelled to do so. He did not furnish the Returning Officer with the voters' lists to be used in the town of Peterborough. The lists he had sent the Returning Officer were merely got up for the convenience of the Scott Act Association, to canvass from.
The lists were compiled from the printed lists of 1884. At the request of the Association the Sheriff had divided the town into the sub-divisions they had asked. Dr. Ford had not asked him (the witness) for those lists. He had asked him as to the manner in which the town was divided. No attempt had been made to have the lists absolutely correct. He did not notify Dr. Ford that those lists were got up for the convenience of the Association, but he had supposed Dr. Ford knew what they were for.
The enquiry was postponed to obtain the evidence of Mr. Benham, and for a re-examination of Dr. Ford.

IRISH NATIONAL LEAGUE.

A Preliminary Meeting to Organize Branch—Assistance for Mr. Parnell.

A preliminary meeting for the purpose of taking steps for the organization in Peterborough of a branch of the Irish National League was held in the Grand Central on Monday night. A considerable number of gentlemen, sympathizers with the national cause, were present. The Rev. P. Conway was called to the chair, and Mr. J. O'Meara was appointed secretary. After a few opening remarks the reverend gentleman introduced Mr.
John P. Sutton, of Quebec, the organizer of the League in Canada.

Mr. Sutton, in an able and eloquent speech, explained the object of the National League.
Its purpose was to provide funds for the support of the Irish Parliamentary party, to enable them to carry on their struggle for the establishment in Ireland of a local government like that which they possessed in Canada.
This party was composed of men of ability, journalists, members of the bar, and many other professions, who in many instances had to give up lucrative positions to battle for their country's welfare. They had to combat with the seduction of positions and place; bribes and offers of office were not wanting to encourage them to betray the national cause. The little party of forty who had so manfully resisted these temptations were deserving of help and support from Irishmen and descendants of Irishmen of all creeds and classes. The struggle could not be carried on without funds, and the Irish people looked to their brethren in Canada elsewhere to assist them pecuniarily as well as by their voice and sympathy. With eighty or ninety men at his back Mr. Parnell could insist upon a proper measure of self government, being meted out to Ireland. Mr. Sutton then explained how a branch of the National League was formed.
A person might contribute to the Parliamentary fund and then not be a member of the league.
Still, he hoped a large branch would be formed,
as the moral influence exercised by large numbers combining and voicing their sentiments in regard to their native or motherland, could not well be exaggerated. He had received the most generous encouragement from Protestants and Catholics alike elsewhere. He hoped the same would be the case in Peterborough. Mr.
Sutton then pointed out the progress of the Association in Canada and the United States, and gave an account of the amounts received and forwarded to Mr. Parnell. He concluded a fine speech by pointing out that Mr.
Parnell's aims were really of as much advantage to the English and Scotch as to the Irish.
The power to make laws of mere local utility in a Parliament of their own choice on their own soil, would relieve the already overburdened Parliament of a vast mass of work, and enable them to devote their time to the complicated questions of foreign and general policy in a thorough manner.

After the Rev. Father Conway and other gentlemen had spoken, it was decided to call a public meeting for the purpose of obtaining contributions to the Parliamentary fund, the time selected for the holding of the same to be announced in the newspapers.

The following resolution was moved by Mr.
J. O'Meara, seconded by Mr. John Hackett, and unanimously adopted:—

"Whereas the demand of the Irish people that the laws for the government of their native land should be made on their own soil and by their own countrymen, for their country's benefit, is only the just and righteous privilege accorded to every nation, and is the right enjoyed by the people of this Dominion; and whereas the means employed by the Irish people for the recovery of this right of which they have been so long and unjustly deprived are such as are sanctioned by constitutional law and the precepts of Christianity,

"Therefore be it resolved, that we, the Irish men of Peterborough, do hereby express our heartiest sympathy with the people of Ireland in their struggle to obtain those rights, which it is our happiness as citizens of Canada to possess, and that, mindful of our Irish origin, we do hereby pledge ourselves to give the Irish people, for the purposes aforesaid, such financial aid and assistance as our means will permit."

Mr. O'Meara was appointed to receive and acknowledge contributions to the fund pro tem.
The meeting then adjourned.

"LATEST ADVICES."

The Lecture Given by the Rev. Chancellor
Nelles in the Charlotte Street Church.

On Monday evening the Rev. Chancellor Nelles, of Victoria University, delivered a lecture entitled "Latest Advances" in the Charlotte Street Methodist Church. The audience was rather small. Mr. James Stevenson took the chair and briefly introduced the lecturer.

Dr. Nelles introduced his subject with by explaining that the term "Latest Advances" included a double idea, both information and counsel.
There was a certain plausibility in lecturing on this subject, for why should men speak having nothing worth saying and people listen expecting to learn nothing? But he said that men's advices followed in the wake of their counsels.
A wise man's advice was wise and that of the foolish man foolish. Advice was continually being given. One class or person advised another class or person, from that of the minister giving counsel to the sovereign to the minister advising his people. Husbands also advised their wives, sometimes wives advised their husbands. If a husband were wise he would follow his wife's advice, particularly in the case of not being out late at night or endorsing an embarrassing neighbor's note. Public lecturers gave advice in general. He then took up the first head of his discourse.

Number 1—Let us not be alarmed at the signs of the times. He referred particularly in this to the intellectual unrest now so apparent in both Europe and America. He referred to the numerous circumstances existing that were gradually wearing away the old landmarks.
Revolutions were going on at all hands. The most disturbing factor of modern thought was the Darwinian theory of evolution. It seemed more revolutionary than evolutionary. Darwinism was in the air, and we were compelled to breathe it. This man Darwin was like a stone thrown in the pool of speculative thought, producing great alarm to the fishes therein. It seemed as if we were drifting on without a set course. This period was certainly a transition period. But he was certain that the transition would not partake of the chaotic
but would be a regulated, systematic transition.
There was no need to be alarmed at this transition, it was but a healthy sign. There was no sun of immobility in the universe. Our whole star system was travelling along to some remote place in space. Heat was motion, and so was sound, light and electricity. The waters of the rivers were also in motion, moving to the eternally rolling sea. There was nothing more deadly than a standstill or sluggishness.
The stagnant pool was possessed of infection,
while the still sea of salt was so rank that no living thing abided in it, nor would the birds of the air fly over it, and as an eye-opening lesson to women it was witnessed by the solitary pillar of Lot's wife, so changed because she would not do as her husband bade her—she would not go on. Both in human and spiritual things, a moving on was a sign of purity. It was only the first principles of our religion that would remain stationary.

Advice Number 2—Let us not expect to solve the problem of the universe. He did not object to people trying, for in the pursuit of a valuable object, good results sometimes accrued. Thus did alchemists spend their lives in the pursuit of the philosophers' stone.
They never found it, but they found chemistry.
Columbus, also, by trying to find the back door of Asia, discovered the front door of America.
Yet it would lead to better results if we applied ourselves in trying to solve the minor problems of life.

Advice Number 3—Let us not turn pessimists.
This pessimism was another sun of the times.
After exhausting nearly all the branches of thought the German philosophers were now trying to do what he might term rationalize the irrational. It had been said that political economy was the dismal science, but it was nothing compared to this. For his part he would resist the devil of pessimism and he would love the arts. He would listen to sweet music, love friendship and the home, engage in the pursuit of discoveries of science. He was of opinion that there was in this world more kindness than cruelty, more virtue than vice,
more joy than sorrow.

Advice number 4—Let us not encourage this modern d-dan of equality. "Liberty, Fraternity, Equality," was the great watchword of the French. Liberty and fraternity were not only beautiful words but attainable ideas.
Equality could never be. There would ever be those who would be above their fellows, and if levelled to an equality to-day, would rise to inequality to-morrow. There would be over those who would lead his fellow men to higher regions of life and power. The mountain would ever be above the plain. If over the human mind attained to a higher plane of morality it would not be done by the levelling process. Instead of equality there would always be disparity.

Advice Number 5—Let us remember the compensations which nature provides for all of us inferior, less favored mortals, men who dwell in the valleys. In this the lecturer dealt with the equality which was which was bestowed upon those who were not invested in power, riches and such like. For instance the man of comfortable circumstances was not troubled like the rich man. The most amusing instance given was that of the political parties. The party out of power had nothing to do but to carp at what was done by the party in power. I would not be their policy to have a policy. They had no patience to be-t-w, and therefore were not troubled with unfortunate reverses.

Advice number 6—Let every man mind his own business. Under this last head he gave some wholesome advice to all. The only persons he excluded were wives, and wives, of course, were expected to mind their husband's business as well as their own. He graphically described what would ensue if this man in was not generally gloated, and the good that would accrue if everyone minded his own business.
At the conclusion of the lecture a very hearty vote of thanks was tendered to the lecturer, moved and seconded by the Rev. Mr. Davis and Mr. Wm. Clark respectively.

The proceeds go towards replenishing the library of Victoria University.

GREAT STORM OFF LABRADOR

Eighty Vessels Wrecked or Ashore and Over Seventy Lives Lost.

St. JOHN, N.B., Oct. 26.—Advice received to-day from Labrador says a great storm of that coast on the 11th inst., doing immense damage among the fishing fleet gathered there.
Eighty vessels have been wrecked or driven ashore, and at least seventy persons of the fishing crews have lost their lives. Two thousand persons are now ashore in a destitute condition. The news has created much excitement here, and steamers will be immediately despatched to the scene of the trouble with provisions, clothing and other comforts for the use of the castaways.

MR. STEAD'S TRIAL.

Important Evidence in the Great

Abduction Case.

LONDON, Oct. 27.—The trial of Mr. Stead and other defendants in the Armstrong abduction case was resumed this morning. A discussion between counsel arose respecting portions of the testimony of Mrs. Ann Braghton, taken yesterday. Reference was made to the "borthans" notes of the jury. Mrs. Braghton declared yesterday that Mrs. Armstrong said she would never let her daughter for immoral purposes.
The prosecution suggested Dr. Smith, of Harley street. He deposed that he chloroformed and examined the girl Eliza Armstrong, and had the certificate at the request of Mr. Stead and Mr. Bramwell Booth. This testimony created a sensation.

CONFLICT WITH APACHES

Battle Between Indians and Apaches in Mexico. Great Alarm in Chihuahua.

PASO DEL NORTE, Mex., October 26.—Great alarm prevails throughout Chihuahua on account of the constant influx of hostile Apaches from the United States. The recently reported influx of driving away from Arizona has had the effect of driving away from Chihuahua. The Chihuahuans are generally well armed, but against such a large number are with a particle of protection. From Puerto Antonio, on the Mexican Central road, one hundred miles south, came the first report of a conflict with the Apaches. The fight occurred on a narrow ling to a Texas named Blum. The Indians attacked the ranch by night during Mun's absence. There were two Texans on the ranch, employees of Blum, who barricaded
the doors and gave battle, but the Indians burned the house and killed both men. Beside the mutilated bodies of the white men there were found four dead Indians, and the blood marks showed that several Apaches were carried away wounded. A great mining boom has prevailed throughout Chihuahua for the past three months, and it is estimated that there are 600 to 800 American miners protecting in the mountains in parties of two and three. These prospectors know nothing of the influx of Apaches, and old Mexican predict that many of the prospectors will never be heard of again.

Montreal's Malady.

MONTREAL, Oct. 27.—Official returns at the health office show that there were 40 deaths from smallpox yesterday in the city, 3 in Cote
St. Louis, 1 in St. Jean Baptiste, 1 in Ste.
Catherine, 2 in St. Henri, 1 in Cote St. Paul.
Cases of this lox have broken out at Chaubly Basin and Chambly canton. On Cote St. Paul street this afternoon a man was seized with his face all covered with the pustules of small pox. He was so drunk that he did not know what he was doing and he caught up a child and rubbed his face against it.

Indians as Lumber Workers.

LEAD CLAIR, Wis., Oct. 27.—Indians on the Chippewa reservation are making extensive arrangements for speedily commencing preluminaries for logging work the coming winter.
A large number of the tribe were actively engaged in the work last winter. Their logging work amounted to from five millions to six million feet, and a river cut lot of logs in all details were never put into lumbering streams tributary to the Chippewa. The season in the region never failed in the severest of the severe frigid weather.

A STRANGE REMINISCENCE

A Story of the Strong Nerve of a Freeminent Canadian.

An old resident is responsible for the following reminiscence:
A good number of years ago people were startled by a report respecting a young man in the western part of what was then Upper Canada. He went to the woods one winter morning to fell timber. During the day he felled a tree which he dug-d. He attempted to fell another on the next morning, but did not succeed. He went up one of the felling trees to attempt to divide them, when suddenly the upper tree fell and caught the young man's foot between the two, at the same time throwing him over backward so that his shoulders just touched the snow. He was alone, for in the bush his voice could not reach his friends, and it being a cold day he must soon perish. But he was a man of strong will and was equal to the occasion.
He took his knife from his pocket and cut the flesh around the bone of the imprisoned leg.
As he came to an artery he held it until the cold congealed the blood and then proceeded. If he felt his strength beginning to fail he bathed his face with snow.
When he had the bone bare he reached his axe and with one

EXEMPTIONS DISCUSSED

THE NEW DICKSON COMPANY BY-LAW
REJECTED BY THE TOWN COUNCIL.

The First By-law stands Rejected—By-namite and Other Explosives—Hawker and Peddlers—The Smith Street Bridge.

A regular meeting of the Town Council was held on Tuesday evening.

The following communications were read:—

Dumble, Police Magistrate, calling the attention of the Council to the fact that the population of the town being over 8,000, he was entitled to a salary of $1,200 per annum, and notified them of his intention to apply to the treasurer to make the quarterly cheque $300. He also claimed arrears.—Finance Committee.

FINANCE COMMITTEE.

Councillor DAVIDSON read a report of the Finance Committee recommending the payment of an account of R. B. McKee, amounting to $25.10.—Adopted.

DANGEROUS EXPLOSIVES.

A By-law introduced by Councillor Rutherford for the purpose of regulating the keeping and transporting of dynamite and other dangerous explosives in the Town of Peterborough. It restricted the amounts to be kept in any building to one pound, and the amount that could be transported through the town at any time to one pound. The By-law passed the several stages.

During the discussion Councillor DAVIDSON said that more dynamite was smuggled through the country on trains in trucks than any one supposed.

A RAILWAY SIDING.

Councillor DAVIDSON introduced a By-law to permit the laying of a siding from the Midland Railway on Bethune street to the store works, the owners of property to be compensated by the store works for any damage done to their property, which was read a first, second and third time.

EXEMPTIONS.

Councillor CABILL moved that the third reading of the By-law to exempt from taxation certain manufacturing establishments.

Councillor McCLELLAND moved, seconded by Councillor DOUGLAS, "That the following be submitted for the second clause: Such other buildings as may be erected by said company, or any other company, in the town of Peterborough, for manufacturing purposes, and the machinery to be used in connection therewith, shall, upon application to the Council for their consideration and approval, be exempt from taxation for a period of ten years from the time of passing such By-law."

Councillor McCLELLAND said that he moved the amendment because he thought that all manufacturing establishments should be treated alike, and because they should not exempt from taxation anything that did not exist. He understood Councillor CABILL did not think that the amendment made things any better. They were simply desirous of inducing these people to go on, without leaving the matter over for another Council to deal with, and he had no doubt that all would be willing to grant similar privileges to other companies.

The Council went into Committee of the whole, and the whole By-law was reconsidered.

Councillor RUTHERFORD thought that every member of the Council was willing to grant exemptions to manufacturing establishments. He understood Councillor CABILL did not think that the amendment made things any better. They were simply desirous of inducing these people to go on, without leaving the matter over for another Council to deal with, and he had no doubt that all would be willing to grant similar privileges to other companies.

They were simply desirous of inducing these people to go on, without leaving the matter over for another Council to deal with, and he had no doubt that all would be willing to grant similar privileges to other companies.

Councillor HARTLEY advocated the passage of the By-law as it stood, and would rather see it rejected altogether than adopted with the amendment. If they were giving them a bonus to assist them in putting up buildings he would feel like approving it, but they gave them nothing and lost nothing.

Councillor McCLELLAND said that he did not consider the taxes, but the principle was rotten from top to bottom. He was willing to deal with all new factories the same as they had dealt with the store factory and look works. They had dealt liberally with the company in exemption for the years the building already erected.

Councillor KENNY emphasized the fact that by passing the By-law they would lose no taxes which they now received, and said that they would receive the benefit of the expenditure in their erection and other incidental benefits. He contended that the Dickson Company paid too much taxes now, and that there was no property in the town more highly assessed. In regard to railroad facilities, Peterborough was as well supplied as Toronto, and when buildings were ready for the reception they would be in a position to induce manufacturers to come here. He agreed with Councillor Rutherford that if the By-law were passed, the company in exemption for the years the building already erected.

Councillor CABILL said that a good deal of opposition to the first By-law arose because it was said that all property owners were not in the same class. He therefore moved that the following be added to the second clause: "Or any other buildings that may hereafter be erected in the town of Peterborough by any other company or individual for manufacturing purposes." He hoped that those people who had been contending for the same privileges as the Dickson Company would, when this was carried, go on and build.

Councillor McCLELLAND said that he was contending for a principle. He wished to retain for future Councils the right to consider applications for exemptions. Mr. Cabill's amendment still exempted buildings which were not in existence. If buildings were next year erected for manufacturing purposes he would be willing to exempt them, and he believed they would be granted exemption.

Councillor GREEN said they talked of encouraging manufacturing establishments, but the By-law would discourage those establishments now in existence. It might lead to placing them at a disadvantage through unequal competition, the new factories being exempt and the old ones in the same business being compelled to pay taxes.

Councillor RUTHERFORD said that the present By-law did not fix the assessment of the Dickson Company property at $20,000. If it is increased in value the assessment would be raised—but they proposed to exempt buildings to be erected for manufacturing purposes.

Councillor CABILL withdrew his amendment. Councillor YELLAND did not see that this By-law was an improvement on the old one—if anything it was the worst of the two. The question was, would they exempt factories from taxation before they knew what would be manufactured?

Mayor COX asked the Council to adjourn until tomorrow night and if they would visit the Dickson race, after viewing the activity there in preparing to erect buildings he was sure they would unanimously vote for the By-law. As an instance of the advantage Peterborough possessed, he said that the store works paid as much for freight on their mouldings from Albany to Sudbuck Falls as they now pay on the mouldings sent here. If there had not been a vacant place for the lock factory they would not have secured it, and that showed the necessity of having vacant buildings for such purposes.

Councillor KENNY said that he did not wish to see others come in and compete with Mr. Yelland or Mr. Douglas, but he hoped to see those gentlemen go down and take two of the buildings on the race.

Councillor CABILL said that the Dickson Company, which owned property in Ashburnham, could build on that side of the river, but it was in the interest of the town to have them build on this side. If the By-law did not pass the other would still stand, as this one repealed the other.

Councillor McCLELLAND's amendment was put and lost.

The Committee then rose and Councillor Cabill moved the third reading, which was lost on the following division:

Yea—Councillors Cabill, Davidson, Rutherford, Keady, Hartley and the Mayor.
Nay—Councillors McNaughton, Green, McClelland, Yelland, Douglas and Menzies.

HAWKERS AND PEDDLERS.

Councillor RUTHERFORD introduced a By-law respecting hawkers and peddlers. The license fee for residents was placed at $50, and for non-residents at $200, and was made to apply to peddlers of tea, jewelry, etc.

THE SMITH STREET BRIDGE.

Councillor MENZIES asked what was being done about the Smith street bridge?

Councillor CABILL said that the contract was let almost immediately after directions were given to erect it. There was some delay in getting it but it had been on the ground for two weeks.

Councillor RUTHERFORD said that the Town Engineer had written a letter to the contractor about the matter. If he did not go on with the work at once it should be given to another contractor, or proceeded with by day work.

A DEAIN WANTED.

Mr. M. BOLTON addressed the Council at some length in support of his petition regarding a drain which he said had been filled up nine or ten years ago, and which he wanted re-opened. The Council adjourned for two weeks.

The society have concluded that they will not receive any new members after next Tuesday night until the "Daniel" is produced.

An Expression of Gratitude.

The committee of the Peterborough Protestant Home beg to acknowledge their deep gratitude to the choir, amateurs, Orchestra of the Fire Brigade Band, Mr. Heathfield, Prof. Parker, Mrs. Cameron, the press, Mr. Bradburn, who gave the Hall free of expense, and Mrs. Robert Donahoe for the great trouble she took in getting up the concert for the Home. The proceeds amounted to $65.

Sabbath School Teachers' Association.

The regular meeting of the association will be held on Monday evening next, Nov. 2nd, in St. Paul's Presbyterian Church. Rev. E. Duff will read an essay on "How to encourage a missionary spirit among the scholars," which will be followed by an open discussion on the same subject. It is to be hoped that all teachers and officers of the various Sabbath schools will endeavor to be present.

Indication.

The Rev. John McKen, formerly of Toronto, and well known to many in Peterborough as Secretary of the Provincial Sabbath School Association, was inducted into the Presbyterian Church, Lakeside, on Tuesday. The Rev. Wm. Bennett and the Rev. A. Bell, of Peterborough, the Rev. J. Campbell, of Newwood, the Rev. J. Hay, of Campbellford, and the Rev. J. Cameron, of Millbrook, took part in the service.

My meal.

The Winnipeg Man who on Oct. 22nd obtained the following notice of the marriage of a gentleman who formerly resided in Peterborough:

"Holy Trinity Church presented a scene of unusual splendor this afternoon, the occasion being the wedding of Miss Charlotte K. Clark, the daughter of Mr. Thomas Clark, assessor of customs, and of Winnipeg, a well-respected citizen, and Edwin K. Clark, of C. L. A. The ceremony, which took place at 2 o'clock, was performed by the Rev. O. Fortin, rector of the church, assisted by the Rev. Canon Matheson, of St. John, and witnessed by a large number of friends. The bride was Miss Anna F. Clark, and each carried a basket of beautiful white roses. Mr. John Clark acted as the groomsmen and Mr. Donahoe presided at the organ with his usual ability. The choir was also in attendance and sang the hymns and chants appropriate for the occasion. The ceremony being over the newly married couple walked down the centre aisle, the organ playing forth the wedding march, and along the carpet covered sidewalk to the carriage in waiting, which they entered and a shower of rice. They then drove to the house of the bride's father at Donald street, where a handsome dinner was partaken of, and the magnificent even-stored bride-cake dismantled. Great admiration was expressed at the number, only and tasteful presents which the bride had received, not only from her friends and relatives in the city, but also from friends in Toronto and other eastern cities. Many of the gifts were of great value, including a silver plate, glittering crystal and marble ornaments, choice bric-a-brac, services, works of art, jewelry, china, and a host of other things. The bride-cake present was a superb, three-tiered cake, containing in addition to the jelly, the deeds of a very handsome marriage settlement. After partaking of the dinner and receiving the congratulations of friends, the happy couple left at four o'clock for the west by a special train.

Opening of the Canadian Pacific.
The new all rail Canadian route to Winnipeg and the Rocky Mountains via the north route of Lake Superior, opens for passenger traffic on Monday, November 2nd. Cars will run through to Winnipeg without change.

Contemplating a radical change in my business after the first day of January next, I now offer a line of Base Burning Coal Sacks at cost up to that date for cash. Great value for the next two months.
ADAM HALL.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours ending from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Fresh to strong east and north winds, partly cloudy weather, with light rain in the south western portion, slightly cooler.

Prepare for Winter.
Gentlemen will find a large range of Wearing Apparel at the "Golden Lion," Overcoat, Persian Lamb Cape, Scotch Caps, Shirts and Drawers, Buck Mitts, Gloves, etc. Tailoring done with neatness and dispatch, from a large selection of Overcoats, Scotch Tweeds, Worsted, &c. Go to FAIR, VAN EVELY & CO. for your outfit.

Personal.
Mr. Percy Myles recently received a severe injury to his face while engaged in the field of sport in Ottawa. He is now progressing towards recovery.

Mr. J. C. Jamieson, of the Belleville Intelligencer, paid us a visit to-day. The combat in which he has been engaged with the great mud-thrasher of Toronto does not appear to have had any effect upon him and if any one has received injury by this opponent and assailant must have been the party.

A Perfect Run in the Millinery and Dressmaking Department of the Golden Lion.
Orders are going in rapidly. Mantles and Dresses are being turned out with a promptness which shows that Miss Johnson, with her large staff of expert hands, is prepared to execute all orders with neatness and despatch. Fair, VanEvery & Co's large and excellent selection of Dress and Mantle Materials are giving perfect satisfaction. Their large and varied stock is very attractive, an evidence that they have the business wisdom to provide what the people wish.

Good coat makers wanted, apply to Andrew McNeil, Tailor and Gent's Furnisher, George street.

A New Methodist Church at Havelock.
The corner stone of a new Methodist Church at Havelock was laid on Tuesday by the Rev. I. Towell, Superintendent of the Peterborough District. After the stone was laid the people assembled in the school house near by, where suitable addresses were delivered by the Rev. I. Towell and the Rev. I. W. Puffer, and a sumptuous tea was enjoyed, which had been prepared at Havelock, and the prospect of having one at an early date is gratifying to all concerned.

A Feast for Shopkeepers.
The Fall and Winter opening of dry goods may now be said to be well commenced, and one is especially impressed with this fact on a visit to T. Kelly's corner store on George and Simcoe streets. The stock carried by Mr. Kelly has been arranged with judgment and taste, and the selection for the season, as well as the variety of goods on the shelves, seem to indicate a close and studied interest in the wants of our people. Mr. Kelly has a reputation among dry goods men of being one of our sharpest buyers, and consequently the quality and prices of his goods are hard to beat. We noticed that in Dress Goods, Silks, Household Furnishings, Gloves, Hosiery, Ladies' and Gent's Underwear, and every other line usually handled at dry goods stores, T. Kelly's establishment was fully equipped; and certainly it would seem to be a safe place for any resident of Peterborough to go to Toronto for better stocks to select from, or lower prices either.

It Might Be Remembered.
That the new Dicks Company Extension By-law was defeated in the Town Council last night.

That the old and of questionable By-law still retains a place among the By-laws of the town.

That Messrs. Fairweather & Co. have introduced the electric light into their establishment.

And that darkness or daylight makes no difference to them in showing their goods to customers.

That Dr. Wild lectures in the Opera House this evening on a "Masonic Miracle."

That there was no fight over the By-law granting permission to lay a sidewalk to the store works.

That the Peterborough Town Council is willing and ready to encourage manufacturing industries.

That Mr. L. F. Carpenter is "in the hands of his friends," and will be a candidate for a seat in the Council in any Ward they wish him to stand for.

That the hawker and peddler by law imposes a license fee of $200 on non-resident peddlers of tea.

That Lockie's clothes dryer would save the ladies much trouble in the cold weather.

That the Y. M. C. A. Bible Class was well attended last night.

That the REVIEW Book-Binders is kept constantly employed on all classes of work. An order for reprinting 90 vols. was received about 10 days ago and was finished to-day. Another order for 25 vols. came from Lindsay to-day; besides numerous orders for ledgers and other account books for banks, merchants and companies, are in progress.

Twenty to thirty per cent is the discount Salisbury Bros. are offering on their present stock to make room for Xmas goods.

Hosiery.
Fair, VanEvery & Co. are selling rapidly a "wholesale clearance" of Fine Wool Hosiery at about half price. Go early for first choice!

Dublin Blast.
On draught at the Croft House, manufactured by H. Calcutt, Ashburnham, in the year 1883 the fire at yet.

A Treat this Evening.
This evening in Bradburn's Opera House the Rev. Joseph Wild, D.D., will deliver his lecture on "The Masonic Miracle." No doubt there will be a large attendance, as the lecturer is popular and the subject interesting.

Superior Hardware.
Any person wishing to see a sample of superior hardware will visit the wharf near the C.P.R. station. This wood will be delivered in any part of the town by telephoning to Calcutt's Brewery. Long wood $4.00, sawed $4.50.

Dramatic.
The popular drama "Kerry Gow" was put on the boards at Bradburn's opera house on Tuesday evening. There was a large attendance, and Mr. J. S. Murphy and his company satisfied the audience with their presentation of the play.

Heat Home.
The young Frenchman, Theophile Boivin, who lost his leg at the Nassau Mills some six weeks ago, was sent to his home 70 miles below Saguenay, Que., a few days ago, Mr. J. M. Irwin paying all expenses. The men at the mill made up a purse of $62 for him to receive on his arrival home.

The Nichols Hospital.
A meeting of the joint committee of the Hospital Trust and the medical profession was held on Tuesday evening for the purpose of framing regulations for the hospital. So much progress was made in the preparatory work that the hospital was ready for the reception of patients this morning. A meeting of the Board will be held to-morrow evening for the purpose of receiving the report of the committee, after which the regulations will be published.

Is It Really True?
That large quantities of dynamite are smuggled through the country in trunk?

That John Woods was injured by a defective sidewalk, and can claim compensation from the town?

That Mr. L. F. Carpenter's "friends" have decided to put him up as a candidate for a seat in the Council?

That Mrs. T. Charles Watson is superior to Mrs. Scott-Siddons as an abolitionist?

That, as some predict, we will have comparatively warm weather all next month?

That there are more sore arms in Peterborough now than there ever was before?

Mrs. T. Charles Watson.
The Y.M.C.A. is to be congratulated on having secured Mrs. T. Charles Watson to begin their series of entertainments by the leading abolitionist, on both sides of the ocean. This lady is the acknowledged rival of Mrs. Scott-Siddons, and has drawn crowded houses at all places. The following is extracted from the Toronto Mail:

"Mrs. T. Charles Watson filled and more than merited the praises that have been lavished upon her. She is a graceful, beautiful woman, her voice is perfect, and her rendering of her more programmatic above criticism. She is without a peer as a reader."
Mrs. Watson will appear at Bradburn's Opera House on Tuesday, 3rd November. Prices, 75, 50 and 25 cents.

POLICE COURT.

BREACH OF THE PEACE.
WEDNESDAY, Oct. 23.—David Johnston was charged by Chief Johnston with fighting in the street on Tuesday night, and was fined $2 which he paid. He was willing to pay the fine, but was anxious "that the other fellow" should also be punished.

A SCAFFOLD ACCIDENT.

A Young Man Seriously Injured by a Fall from a Scaffold.
A young man named O. G. Hart, who was engaged in painting a new house on Park street, met with a serious accident on Tuesday. While he was standing on a scaffold, a few minutes before noon, the scaffold gave way, and he fell to the ground, a distance of ten or twelve feet.

Hart was stunned by the fall, and was still unconscious when taken to his boarding house on Ayre street. Dr. Pigeon was summoned and found that while no bones had been broken, he was suffering from concussion of the brain. He remained unconscious until this morning, but is now doing well and will probably recover.

Hart, who is eighteen years of age, came from Collingwood, Ont.

THOUGHTS BY THE WAYSIDE.

As we wander past the orchards, laden with their precious store Of rich fruitage, they afford us solemn thoughts to ponder o'er

Than their sparkling bloom and beauty What more charming to the view? Or when morning mists enshroud them, Gild their foliage with dew?

Who could tell when all in vernal Longitude of garb were dressed, Which would ripen first the bearing Fruit abundant, as the text?

See that tree whose pendant branches Sway beneath their pious load, Well repaying all the labor That on it has been bestowed

Close beside it grows another. Large, symmetrical and fair, But a slight gleam of sunlight To disclose no fruit is there.

Ah, alas! for expectations Of a bounteous autumn yield, What the high hand of fate in appearance, The fruit for it is the field.

Long we pondered o'er the lesson Taught by the apple tree and vine, Are there not in God's own vineyard Striking contrasts such as these?

Many a humble Christian, bearing Fruit where none but God can see, There the lowly but faithful sower, Like the fair but fruitless tree.

Did not Jesus curse the fig tree That His followers might know That when genuine, professed Will the fruit of good works show?

Like the tree by river planted, That in Christ, the Living Vine, Bring forth good fruit in due season, Everlasting life divine.

Now, my soul! apply this lesson To thine own state, ask "shalt thou, When the corn has been reaped, follow, When the corn has been reaped, follow?"

Views of a Premier.
St. Peterburg, Oct. 23.—The Norve Premier publishes an interview with the correspondent at Philippopolis had with Mr. Karaveloff, the Bulgarian premier. Mr. Karaveloff denied that Bulgaria had any agreement with England or Austria before the Roumanian revolution in respect of the union of Bulgaria and Roumelia, but they acted on their own responsibility in taking the initiative in bringing about the union. "If there is any last gasp in the matter," said the premier, "it is Russia, whose Council General at Philippopolis, M. Zerkine, first agitated the union, and helped to start a newspaper there devoted to the cause of union, with Bulgarian money. When I entered the ministry believing the same thing, I stopped the subsidy from the government to the newspaper, and also forbade the meeting of unions in Bulgaria. Mr. Karaveloff reprimanded the statement that Prince Alexander had notified Russia of the intention of Roumelia to unite with Bulgaria, and that Roumelia was willing to continue Turkish suzerainty, but not to cede an inch of territory. In conclusion the Bulgarian Premier said: "If Turkey declares war, we are able to raise Macedonians in three days. A European war is none of our business, and we are not alarmed at the armaments of Greece as her army is far from being terrible."

Callings of a Bridge.

THERE is now no small-pox in Peterborough, family has taken it. The prompt action of the Board of Health has saved the town from any danger, and the measures it adopted, together with the intelligent action of the people in setting vaccination and being cautious, has removed almost entirely all reason for fear.

Greatly exaggerated rumours were spread outside the town, in the neighboring townships, but there is, we believe, no more danger in visiting Peterborough now than at any time.

The measures adopted have been effective and removed all danger.

Mr. Scott's Election.

The Montreal Herald says:—

"As a dramatic reader, Mrs. T. Charlotte has for the past few years ranked only second to Mrs. B. O. Siddons. Since the latter has gone on the stage, on Mrs. Watson falls the honor of wearing the Siddons mantle."

A Choice Selection

Fair, Van Every & Co.'s importation this season of Scotch Tweeds for suits, Napier and Beavers for overcoats, Manches and Ulster

Clothes, are meeting with ready sale, and are being made up in best styles by their experienced cutter. All orders for suits, over-coats, etc., will be executed with neatness and dispatch.

Almost Deserted.

The steady drizzling rain of last night and to-day has had a tendency to give the streets of Peterborough a deserted appearance, there being little or no business of any account being done. Even the carriages, who on former occasions have withstood many a rain and snow storm, have had to succumb to the effects of the rain and silently withdrawn to a place of shelter at their different homes.

Light Wanted.

Now that the extensive stone works of Messrs.

Powell & Jones are in operation in the southern part of the town, the employees of the works, as well as those who have for years been residents of that part of Peterborough, would like to have the gas company extend their pipes so that they could have a few gas lamps

in this neighbourhood, as well as in other distant parts of the town. The best thing for them to do would be to get up a petition and present it to the proper authorities, when, no doubt, the matter would be favorably looked upon.

Approaching Completion.

The old residence of Wm. Clifton, Esq.,

now the property of Mr. Geo. A. Cox, has for some time been undergoing a complete transformation. A large number of mechanics are at work pushing the work on to completion as rapidly as possible. Mr. W. H. Watson has the contract for painting, and to judge from the start that he has made on the outside, particularly the verandah, it will present a very artistic appearance. The verandah is after a Japanese style, being prettily frescoed with here and there a large Japanese fan. These fans and fresco work have been painted in such a manner that the view from the walk as one approaches the house, is remarkably striking and effective.

The Market.

There is no prospect of any conditions in the market that would warrant any material change in the price of wheat. The visible supply, according to the Chicago estimate, increased only slightly during the past week, a circumstance that gave a temporary strength to the market.

Corn is firm, but no activity of any account exists. Oats show an upward tendency, with barley steady. The clover market is dull, but not so discouraging as the barley market. It looks very much as if considerably lower prices will rule. Eggs are steady and in demand, being quoted in the Montreal market at 19 and 20 cents per dozen, and in the New York market at 20 and 21 cents per dozen. Hay brings from $9 to $13 per ton at Montreal. Straw is also in fair demand.

THE GRAND TRUNK RAILWAY.

An Advance in Rates and Hopes for an Arrangement With the U.S.R.

TORONTO, Oct. 28.—The Globe's cable from London, Oct. 26th, says: "At the general annual meeting of the Grand Trunk Railway company held at the City Terminus Hotel,

Canam street, to-day, there was a very large attendance of shareholders. Sir Henry Tyler presided. He laid before the meeting the

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

THE PEOPLE HAVE FAITH IN THEM.

We must do Sir John Macdonald, or the Government, which may or may not like to put it to the test, say that the appointments of the members of the Senate are not to be made by the Governor-General, but by the Senate itself. The Senate is to be composed of 16 members, 12 of whom are to be appointed by the Governor-General, and 4 by the Senate itself. The Senate is to be composed of 16 members, 12 of whom are to be appointed by the Governor-General, and 4 by the Senate itself.

GREAT SNAKES!

The Federal Government, which has other names, is Sir John Macdonald, or the Government, which may or may not like to put it to the test, say that the appointments of the members of the Senate are not to be made by the Governor-General, but by the Senate itself. The Senate is to be composed of 16 members, 12 of whom are to be appointed by the Governor-General, and 4 by the Senate itself. The Senate is to be composed of 16 members, 12 of whom are to be appointed by the Governor-General, and 4 by the Senate itself.

WHY THEY OBJECTED.

This whole story of the Senate is now seen to have been unwarranted, untrue and malicious. It was quite on a par with the cynical R-forms of the past. The point is that the Senate is to be composed of 16 members, 12 of whom are to be appointed by the Governor-General, and 4 by the Senate itself. The Senate is to be composed of 16 members, 12 of whom are to be appointed by the Governor-General, and 4 by the Senate itself.

NEWBORN.

RESUMED HIS DUTY.—Our readers will learn with pleasure that Mr. J. Davidson, Principal of the High School, has sufficiently recovered from his recent illness to be able to resume his scholastic duties again. The school was never in better condition, thanks to Mr. Davidson's excellent teaching abilities, and we may expect to see a large number pass the teachers' examinations in December.

SKALPOX SCARE.—On Friday last it was rumoured that the village of St. John's, Ont., was to be the scene of a great massacre. The rumour was created, and the rumour that "fifty" were to be killed in St. John's, Ont., was to be the scene of a great massacre. The rumour was created, and the rumour that "fifty" were to be killed in St. John's, Ont., was to be the scene of a great massacre.

THE BUILDING ROOM.—The list of new buildings erected during the present year goes to show that St. John's is growing, flourishing and prospering beyond the expectations of the most sanguine. Not less than thirty-five new buildings, at a cost of nearly $50,000, have been erected this year—more than that of any other since the village's incorporation. These buildings, with a few exceptions, are of a better class, and better still, in nearly every instance are owned and paid for by the parties erecting them, and not by loan companies, speculators and capitalists. Next season gives promise of being even better than the present year, and several contractors have nearly a year's work ahead of them. Newbold has a bright future before her. —Register.

A QUEER FREAK.

A Rich Man, Wife and Seven Children shot Up for Years

A Cleveland dispatch says: In an unpleasant residence in Blocker's street there has resided for many years a family named Fies. The blinds have always been securely fastened, and the neighbors have never seen any of the inmates. The most curious feature of the family was the greatest interest in the neighborhood, and a number of plans were laid to compel the family to show themselves. Every plan, however, proved fruitless.

A number of plain cloth physicians called at the residence to inquire if the inmates did not desire to be released. In every instance they were answered by a voice proceeding through a hole in the door thanking them, but declining any assistance.

Yesterday the health officers called but were refused admittance. They stated that they were compelled to look into the sanitary condition of the house. After a great deal of hesitation the door was opened. The officers entered a large room well furnished. The man who stood before them appeared to be about 45 years old, of pleasant address and well dressed. Upon entering the next room the officers discovered a number of children by open children, the oldest a boy about 15 years. The mother was well dressed and gave very intelligent answers to all the questions asked. It was learned that the man and wife had resided there for a number of years, reading and educating their family. The husband spent most of his time locked up in a bed room.

The rooms were always darkened and the children were never permitted to go into the yard or street, or to be seen by any one. The oldest boy brings the food to the house before daylight and after dark in the evening. In reply to the question as to what means he had for getting the food, he said he was rich and had everything he wanted, and that he and his family only wished to be left alone.

FROM ALL OVER.

The Villa Marie Bank has declared a half yearly dividend of three and a half per cent.

A CRYING EVIL.—Children are often fearful and ill when worms are the cause. Dr. Low's Worm Syrup safely expels all worms.

This U.S. Customs authority relates to all who can claim to cross the frontier without providing with certificates of vaccination.

To REMOVE DANDRUFF.—Cleanse the scalp with P. & L. Low's Magic Sulphur Soap. A delightful medicated soap for the toilet.

NATIONAL PILLS is the favorite purgative and antibilious medicine. They are mild and thorough.

The name of Canon Liddon is prominently mentioned as likely to be appointed to either of the vacant bishoprics of Ely or Manchester.

Worms often destroy children, but Freeman's Worm Powders destroy worms, and expel them from the system.

It is stated that it is very unlikely there will be any further recommendations to the U.S. Congress to subsidize Arctic expeditions.

THE VERDICT OF HALF THE WORLD.—The entire western hemisphere pronounces Murray & Leamon's Florida Water the most delicious perfume for the hair, the face, the body, and the bath, the chemistry has yet succeeded in extracting from living flowers.

The new disinfecting machine ordered in London by the Montreal health department has arrived by the S.S. Caspian. It will be put into use at once.

We assure you that after many years experience we find nothing that compares to West's Cough Syrup, in the speedy cure of coughs, colds, croup, asthma, bronchitis, influenza, and all throat and lung diseases. J. D. Tully, Druggist.

The persecutions of prominent Mormons in Utah for polygamy are being kept up with untiring vigor. When the charge is proved, the sentence is usually six months in jail.

A VICTORY SOURED.—Everytime when Hagyard's Yellow Oil is used, for rheumatism, neuralgia, sciatica, sprains, sore throat or disordered feet, limbs or burns, a certain victory is the natural result.

OWING to the depression in the ship-building trade of the Clyde the greatest distress prevails in Glasgow, where many ship-builders have been obliged to reduce the salaries of the workmen.

BILLIQUENESS.—When the liver does not act properly, the bile accumulates to excess in the stomach, causing yellow eyes, sallow skin, sick stomach, diarrhoea, etc., and the sufferer is a miserable being. Hagyard's Yellow Oil acts on the liver, stomach, bowels and blood, curing billi-queness.

The lightship stationed near Colchester reef, Lake Erie, will be removed on the 31st November, and a fixed white buoy will be shown from the lightship recently erected on a pier in Colchester reef.

CONSTIPATION.—This evil habit neglected, brings a multitude of miseries, and is the source of much illness. Burdock Blood Purifier cures constipation by toning and regulating the bowels to a natural action.

HAGYARD'S PECTORAL HALLAM cures throat, bronchitis and lung diseases that lead to consumption; breaks up coughs and colds; cures whooping cough and sore throat, by loosening the phlegm, allaying irritation and removing the cause of disease.

THE CAR, during his recent visit to Colchester, has purchased a villa near the city. The villa is to be pulled down and a palatial chateau erected on its site as the Oscar's wedding gift to Prince Wales.

SCALP THERAPY.—To cure this oft-recurring trouble use Hagyard's Yellow Oil internally and externally. Yellow Oil cures croup, asthma, pain in the side, rheumatism, neuralgia, ear ache, deafness and all sore and painful complaints.

WEST'S WORLD'S WONDER or family liniment has proved to be one of the greatest blessings of the age. It is a never failing remedy for rheumatism, cuts, sprains and bruises. Call on J. D. Tully for a trial bottle and you will use no other.

KING CHRISTIAN'S arbitrary provocation of the Danish King has temporarily averted the threatened revolution; but many intelligent statesmen believe that a republic will be established in Denmark before the expiry of twelve months.

THE PAIN-KILLER.—We have known the high character of this medicine, and that it is used with great success and satisfaction in our very best families. It is favorite medicine of our missionaries in heathen lands, where they use it more than all other remedies for the diseases that abound in those unchristianized lands. It should be kept in every house, and be in readiness for sudden attacks of sickness.

EIGHTH WONDER OF THE WORLD.—It is demonstrated by history that the ancient in many of the arts, notably architecture, far excelled the present age, but it is reserved for the present decade to produce the eighth wonder of the world, i.e., West's World's Wonder or Family Liniment, which is infallible for Rheumatism, Sprains, Cuts, Bruises, Sore and all diseases requiring external application. Price 25 cents and 50 cents per bottle. Sold by J. D. Tully.

KNOCKED DOWN AND ROBBED.

A Bank Agent in Montreal Done Up For $1,200.

MONTREAL, Oct. 29.—A bold robbery happened in the east end of the city yesterday. S. Garceau, agent of the City and District Savings Bank, at the eastern branch on Notre Dame street, left that office shortly after banking hours yesterday afternoon with the intention of depositing the money taken during the day at the head office. An amount of $1,750 was in paper and was carried by Mr. Garceau in his right hand. While awaiting the arrival of the City street car, he was suddenly seized from behind by a big burly fellow, and at the same time levelled to the ground by a blow from some blunt weapon by a second assailant. As soon as he recovered himself he found the package of money gone, and proceeding on foot as fast as his dauntless condition would permit, he reached the police station, where he informed the sergeant of his loss. Two constables were immediately dispatched in pursuit, but failed to discover any trace of the highway robbery, or in fact find anyone who had seen the affair. Garceau says he has only a very indistinct recollection of what took place after he received the blow; he thinks he remembers the two men running in opposite directions, but he would be unable to recognize either of them. Garceau has been in the service of the bank for upwards of fifteen years, and had been promoted to the responsible position he now holds.

PAINTED WITH HAIR.

Marvelous Art Work done by an English Microscopist.

A microscope fancier of this city, who does not ride his hobby out of his home, and would not for the world allow himself to be interviewed upon his pet subject for a newspaper, entertained the other evening at his house a company of persons, among whom was a reporter of the Sun. He walked to a table in the centre of the room, upon which was his favorite microscope.

"I have several things to tell you that are not known except by microscopists. Here is a slip of glass, for instance," he continued, as he picked up a narrow glass slide, "which contains the representation of a beautiful bouquet of flowers. The representation, when looked at with the naked eye, can scarcely be seen at all. It simply looks like a small spot. The bouquet, when you look at it through the instrument, contains all the flowers, leaves, etc., as you can see them in the scales and hair of a butterfly. The dust from the wings of the butterfly was picked up and placed in position by Henry Dalton, of London, who is now dead. Dalton, with the aid of a microscope, picked up one particle of the dust at a time on the end of a hair, and adjusted it to the slide in such a manner that when his task was finished the bouquet assumed its present beautiful and perfect form.

"Although Dalton was disappointed, he could not of his imitators in his peculiar line of art. A long the microscopist's work are prized as highly as the works of the great masters in painting are valued by artists who work on canvas. A painter who can paint a complete scene on a surface as small as a sleeve-button is considered skilful, yet Dalton used a single hair for a brush, and dealt with particles of matter scarcely visible to the naked eye, which he placed in their respective positions, with the aid of his microscope, with such accuracy that he finally produced his representations, which are so correct in every detail that artists who have examined them critically have been almost overcome with astonishment. This is what I call one of the wonderful achievements of the century.

"He was a fast worker, and, by laboring almost incessantly, he could finish it, I think, in the course of a week or ten days. The Dalton slides are very valuable in America. There are not more than 50 Dalton slides in this country, and can scarcely be purchased for love or money. In fact, as I said before, they are highly prized by microscopists throughout the world, and are painted by a celebrated master in the studio. I have also one or two other slides executed by artists not so noted as Dalton. Gray's Elegy, containing thirty-two verses, has been photographed by the aid of a microscope on a slide within a space of one-tenth of an inch square, and is perfectly legible when read through a powerful instrument."

The company looked through the instrument and saw, among other objects, the tongue of a fly, the two nails of a goat, the digestive apparatus of a flea, the eyebrow of an insect too small to be detected with the naked eye, the circulation of the blood in a microscopic vascular vein, an abscess on the back of a fly's neck, a fracture in an ant's collar bone, and a thousand other extraordinary sights.—N. Y. Sun.

FIRES AT KINGSTON.

Two Vessels, a Hotel, a Stable and Several Stores in a Blaze.

KINGSTON, Oct. 29.—Last night the steam barge Indian, owned by Captain S. Fraser, and scow Empress, owned by Captain Lewis, were burned at the wharf. The fire was quite disastrous. The steam barge Indian was valuable. The cause of the fire is unknown at present. The Indian was valued at $10,000, the Empress at $2,000. The firemen saved many adjoining barges.

At eleven o'clock a disastrous fire broke out in the stables of the Windsor Hotel, and spread with great rapidity. The hotel was burned down, the roof of the hotel wrecked, and the building greatly damaged. Franklin Bros., who have a large stock of horses, also had a horse suffocated. All the horses in the hotel stables were rescued. Michael Dolin suffers the loss of the stable and damage to the black. Mr. Dolin pulled off his hair in the muddy street. The firemen saved many adjoining barges.

C. R. McGregor, of Hamilton, while endeavoring to save a lady's watch, was suffocated and sunk to the floor. Miss McGregor was pulled from the flames by the firemen. The firemen saved many adjoining barges.

The Real Culprits.

Occasionally here we understand, a customer manifests a disposition to seize the local book-seller's hip and thigh, when called upon to dip deep down into his pocket to provide the needful for school books. But this is unjust. The crime in that line of trade is to a certain extent responsible, inasmuch as they support the Government responsible for the shameful job which entails the exorbitant prices at which these books sell; but no further; the fact being that the retailer's profit has been curtailed, and he has to pay tribute to the principal proprietor of the Globe. Let the plundered proprietor see their work and keep it warm till the next abolition, and then pour it out upon the real culprits.—Orillia Packet.

A Whole Family Drowned.

A fatal accident occurred on Thursday in the parish of St. Anne, below Sorel, on the St. Lawrence river, in front of Ile de Grace. A whole family, comprising father, mother and child, perished while crossing from Sorel to the above mentioned island in a small boat and were drowned. A Mother's Suicide.

QUEBEC, Oct. 28.—Marie Tremblay, wife of G. Laviole, of the village of Murray Bay, was found dead and hanging in her barn on Sunday. The deceased was only 35 or 30 years of age, and the mother of four children. Dr. Crozier, of Belle St. Paul, C. C. of the district, has held an inquest on the remains, which resulted in a verdict of "Death from asphyxia by her own hands while suffering from mental aberration."

Murder in Arkansas.

LITTLE ROCK, Ark., Oct. 28.—Monday night a disguised man rode up to the residence of a prominent colored man named Geo. Templeton in Hempstead county, called him out and shot him dead. The offender was produced on Monday afternoon, and efforts will be made to capture the murderers.

MILL OWNERS AND MACHINERY.

Men who conduct great business enterprises are naturally conservative and averse to innovations and experiments. And yet it is through experimental knowledge, acquired by reducing theory to practice, that all progress in the useful arts is made. But it is not the business of the purely practical man to theorize; he is concerned only with actual results, and adopts those means which he finds ready made to his hand, and which he thinks are best calculated to produce those results. The field of scientific speculation, in which the investigator reasons from cause to effect, and applies well-known principles, and the laws of matter in working out those mechanical problems which relate to production and industry, belongs exclusively to the inventor. He is the manufacturer's best friend and benefactor, and yet he is sometimes regarded by the latter almost in the light of an enemy, because he is the instigator of changes and innovations, because he will not let "well enough" alone, but is continually coming forward with some new mechanical device or machine in the line of improvement, which revolutionizes the existing order of things, and which the manufacturer is compelled to adopt.

Hence there are many fossilized mill owners who dread the appearance of the inventor with his new machine, as the sun man dreads the option of physics or the surgeon's knife which is to cure his infirmities and give him a new lease of life. He would rather be left alone and plod along in the same old beaten track which leads to no progress, provided his contemporaries in the same line of business are content to do the same. Even if it can be demonstrated that the new invention is one in the interests of true economy, and will pay for itself a few times over in the course of a few months, he is reluctant to investigate its merits, and don't care to experiment with it. He can only be interested on compulsion. Especially if its adoption would involve any considerable immediate outlay, he can't see any good in it, and won't touch it until compelled to do so by the action of some more enterprising and progressive rival, who knows a good thing when he sees it, and who believes that the best is the cheapest in the long run.

It is undoubtedly true that the continual improvements in machinery involve frequent changes, which are sometimes expensive and burdensome to manufacturers. But on the whole the latter, as well as the great consuming public, are large gainers by these changes, on the score of improved processes and cheapened production. In this age of progress no producer of textile, leather or metal fabric can afford to ignore any new device or invention which secures the best results with the greatest economy of time, labor and raw material. In the race of trade competition he will be forced to take hold of these new things sooner or later, and he had better be among the first than the last to take advantage of them.

Of course we do not recommend the practical manufacturer to grab at every new patented machine which comes along regardless of merit. While open to conviction and ready to investigate, he also needs to be cautious, deliberate and discriminating in his action, in order that he may be sure to get the best, and not throw away his money on mere pretensions and catch-penny devices. There is no danger of his being deceived or imposed upon if his investigation is properly conducted. He is not called upon to take the word of any man, however well known or expert in machinery, as to the merits and capabilities of any new specialty. A mere guarantee of certain results should hardly satisfy him. It is not unreasonable for him to require the proof, the practical demonstration; and the owner of any really meritorious patent will never shrink from home real test however rigorously applied. But after the demonstration is complete, and its utility is established beyond doubt or question, there should be no holding back, if terms are reasonable on the part of the buyer. A new and good thing in the machinery line, which is really wanted and needed by manufacturers, will not long go begging for customers.—Manufacturers' Gazette.

CABLE NEWS.

"Cable." The oldest and most reliable brand of cigars in the market. Free from all chemicals and artificial flavorings.

"El Padre" Cigars. Universally acknowledged to be the finest in the clear manufactured. Don't be persuaded by the other brands. No chemicals or artificial flavorings used.

S. Davis & Sons have moved into their new mammoth factory, a finest of its kind in America. They are the only cigar manufacturers in Canada who manufacture their own cigar boxes and packing cases, which industry gives employment to sixty hands.

Beware of cigars artificially flavored for the purpose of hiding the poor quality of tobacco used in flavored cigars. Look out upon having the old reliable brands—"Cable" and "El Padre."

A trial will convince the most skeptical that S. Davis & Sons' manufacture of cigars are superior in every respect to any in Canada.

Prize medals against the world were awarded to S. Davis & Sons, of Montreal, for their manufacture of cigars, at Paris, 1887, Centennial, 1876, Montreal, 1868-69.

Alexander's Position. LONDON, Oct. 27.—Prince Alexander has received assurances from the representatives of England, Italy and Austria that his disposition will be realized in the conference if he places himself unreservedly in the hands of the powers on the basis of a reconsideration of the clauses of the treaty of Berlin dealing with eastern Roumelia.

It is proposed to hold an exhibition of Canadian live stock in London, England, in connection with the Indian and Colonial Exposition next June.

It is a favorite medicine of our missionaries in heathen lands, where they use it more than all else together for the diseases that abound in those warm climates. It should be kept in every house, and be in readiness for sudden attacks of sickness.

Daily Evening Review

FRIDAY, OCTOBER 30, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

The Late Gen. McNeill.
Gen. Geo. B. McNeill, one of the Northern heroes of the civil war in the United States, whose death is announced, was interested in various mines in the eastern part of the county and in the northern townships. He paid several visits to this locality.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours ending from the 10 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Strong northerly winds, decreasing by night partially, clearing colder weather.

Thanksgiving Music.
Mr. Chas. C. Hampshire, the efficient and painstaking organist and choir-master of St. John's church, will present an extra choice programme of music on All Saints' Day, Nov. 1st. At the Monday service the choir will also render new and choice numbers, among which will be anthems from the best authors.

A Church Robbed.
It is very seldom that the dwelling of burglars, bent on their bad business, disturbs the hallowed sanctity of the house of God. But on the 26th of October, in the town of Wingham, four hardened wretches entered the Roman Catholic church and stole therefrom the communion alms, the chalice, paten and ciborium. Mr. A. D. Stewart, Chief of Police, Hamilton, has requested the force here to keep an eye open for the thieves.

Homes, Eggs and Tomatoes.
We are requested to state, for the information of those concerned, and who have been guilty of—on more than one occasion—letting—throwing such things as eggs, tomatoes and stones at the doors of residents of the northern portion of the town, that if they do not stop this nefarious practice, and behave themselves better in the future, they will be brought before the Magistrate for their desert, as more than one of them are known.

Personal.
Mr. C. A. Waller is at Cobourg attending the Autumn Assizes.
Mrs. Finlay, Simcoe street, left town on Thursday evening over the C. P. R. and co-operators, for Salt Lake City, Utah.
Mr. Richard Hall, of Hall, Innes & Co., has been suffering from an aggravated form of sore throat for the past few days.
The Omeone Herald says: "Mr. W. H. Hill and family, of Omeone, have gone to Peterborough to live. We hope Mr. Hill will meet with the success his ability entitles him to."

Snow Shoes.
The first light fall of snow has had the effect of making the athletic loving folk of winter pastimes. The Amateur Athletic Association have decided that they will not put an end to their sports as soon as the ground is covered with snow, but will, at all events, organize one club to keep up the muscle of the stalwart young (and old) members of the Association. They are going to organize a snow shoe club, the preliminary meeting to be held at an early date. From the interest that has been taken here in this line of sport during the last few winters, it would appear that there is lots of room for such a club.

Home Again.
The hunting party that left town a few days after the "Old Reliance" returned late on Thursday night, after having had over a week of successful hunting on the shores of the back lakes. There were also a few old reliable in this party. Capt. Geo. Fitzgerald and Lieut. Arthur Blane have not spent dull summer afternoons at the battle or weeks of the breeding fall in the back country for naught. Tom. Rutherford and Harry Mathews also pulled up good ends, while Dunk. Cameron, Harry Evans, M. O'Brien and Sam. Clagg, all first year men, distinguished themselves on several occasions during the past week by the valorous attitudes they struck when any game was in sight. The last mentioned of the four, however, carried off the palm by bringing down the biggest buck of the eleven that were run down. This form of the eleven does and backs, the prize of the party, were laid out on exhibition in Fitzgerald & Stanger's carriage shop. They are a really fine lot of animals, three out of the eleven kicking the beam at 300 pounds.

Wanted.
Chief Johnston has received a circular from the Chief of Police, Trenton, stating that one R. H. Tomlinson alias Bunston, is wanted, having escaped from the gaol at Wooler.

T.
Contemplating a radical change in my business after the first day of January next, I now offer a line of Base Burning Coal Stoves at cost up to that date for cash. Great value for the next two months. ADAM HALL.

A Choice Selection.
Fair, VanEvery & Co.'s importation this season of Scotch Tweeds for suits, Naps and Beavers for overcoats, Mantles and Ulster Cloths, are meeting with ready sale, and are being made up in best styles by their experienced cutter. All orders for suits, overcoats, etc., will be executed with neatness and despatch.

Prepares for Winter.
Gentlemen will find a large range of Wearing Apparel at the "Golden Lion," Overcoat, Persian Lamb Caps, Scotch Caps, Shirts and Drawers, Buck Mitts, Gloves, etc. Tailoring done with neatness and despatch, from a large selection of Overcoats, Scotch Tweeds, Worsted, &c. Go to FAIR, VANEVERY & CO. for your outfit.

Mrs. T. Caroline Watson.
The London Free Press says of Mrs. T. Caroline Watson:—

"GRAND OPERA HOUSE. Mrs. T. Caroline Watson gave her promised recital last night before a highly distinguished and fashionable audience, and certainly the performance was as brilliant and fascinating as they had been led to anticipate. It was her first appearance in public here, and it may be hoped it will not be her last, for it is rarely that a lady reader possesses so many attributes of person and such practical accomplishments—variety and dramatic elocutionary power—come to entertain us. If she does not actually wear the mantle of Mrs. Scott-Skelton, it is safe to say that no other comes nearer to that queen of dramatic readers."

It Might be Remarked.
That the regular meeting of the Dufferin Literary Club will be held this evening, and "Extemples" will be further ventilated.
That a meeting will be held in Lynch's block on Tuesday evening to form a branch of the Irish National League.

That now will there be high rivalry between the "old reliable" and the Fitzgerald hunting party as to who can tell of the mightiest deeds of prowess done.

That out of the three hundred and twenty names brought before the assizes at Cobourg during the last five years, only seventeen have been from the town of Cobourg.

That the people of Cobourg know better how to keep out of crime than out of debt.

Step.
This was the word used by the proprietor of Hamilton Hall, as one of our representatives passed his door to-day. "Stop and look inside for one moment. I wish to show you the best value in underclothing I ever saw in my business experience. Just look at that line for fifty cents, we got seventy-five for the same line last season, and as for this dollar line, I firmly believe it is a better shirt than we sold for two dollars in the Scotch make last season. I have bought a large stock of them, believing that the low price must sell them. Just tell the readers of the REVIEW, that for right down good solid value in Underclothing, Andrew McNeil defies competition in this particular line." Call and see for your selves.

Change of Time.
On and after Monday, November 2nd, the trains on the Ontario and Quebec division of the Canadian Pacific Railway will arrive at and depart from Peterborough as follows:—Arrivals, from Chicago, Detroit, St. Thomas, Galt and Toronto, 12.31 p.m.; from Toronto and intermediate stations, 9.05 p.m.; from Montreal, Ottawa and Perth (express) 5.31 a.m.; from Havelock and Norwood (mixed) 7.25 a.m.; from Winnipeg, via Carleton Place, 11.48 a.m.; from Montreal and Ottawa (mail) 6.42 p.m.; Departures, Montreal express, 12.31 p.m.; mail to Montreal, 10.56 p.m.; mail to Chicago and intermediate points, 5.31 a.m.; local mixed westward, 7.25 a.m.; express westward, 11.48 a.m.; express for Toronto, 6.42 p.m. It will be observed that the 11.48 a.m. train, which runs to Winnipeg daily, Tuesday excepted, is an additional one to the service.

A Handsome Drug Store.
Mr. James R. McCrea, well known to the people of Peterborough, will open his handsome new drug store on Monday next. The store is situated on Hunter street, directly under the Peterborough Business College. The front is an attractive one, of heavy plate glass and quarter iron columns. The fittings are elegant in design and admirably combined with utility. The cases are all of oil finished white ash with glass fronts. The shelves are filled with glittering array of cut glass receptacles, prettily lettered with gold and under them are the indicated drawers with silver handles. The counters are made of the same material as that of the other fittings and on the one next the door stands a particularly elegant high glass case, rimmed with walnut and tipped with silver. The place is lighted with electricity and heated by coal. The dispensing room, in the rear of the store, is fitted with all modern requisites. Mr. McCrea has had ample experience in his profession. He spent several years in the establishment of Mr. John McKee, of this town. Afterwards he went to the wholesale drug house of Messrs. Kenneth Campbell & Co., Montreal. After two years he took his leave, holding a responsible position in this establishment of acknowledged reputation. In the spring of this year he took honors at the Ontario College of Pharmacy, standing second among all of the candidates. Mr. McCrea is a son of an old and respected resident of this county, Dr. McCrea, of Keppel. It may be added that the fittings, which are of a superior class, were all put in by Mr. D. Belchem. The painting and lettering was executed by Mr. W. H. Watson.

POLICE COURT.
D. & D.
FRIDAY, Oct. 30.—Philip O'Brien was charged by P. C. Pigeon with having been drunk and disorderly. The charge was admitted and a fine of $2 or ten days in gaol imposed. The fine was paid.

SCOTT ACT SCRUTINY.
To the Editor of the Review.

Sir, I was surprised to notice the contents of a letter appearing in the Daily Review of Thursday signed Geo. E. Williams, secretary Scott Act Association.

This young gentleman has no business to criticize the proceedings now being taken before the County Judge. He is not a lawyer. He cannot realize the difficulties incident to the interpretation of a new act, and, as a matter of fact, important and difficult questions had to be considered in the case now before the Judge in a manner which all should realize.

It is not a mere boy. To say "it is very unfair that proceedings should be delayed now," that the delay is "unavoidable," that the Judge can easily understand that the object of the delay is to impede the return, etc., is to reflect on the Judge in a manner which all should realize. And the charge is all the more objectionable in that it is rather insinuated than directly made. If Mr. Williams is not already aware of it, I may inform him that people are occasionally punished for writing as he has done.

I might add that I cannot agree with Mr. Williams when he states that it is "the desire of a large majority of the electors of this county, as shown by the vote taken," that the Act should come into force on the 1st May next. The statement is incorrect, in fact, it is untrue.

Yours, etc.,

The Fatal Gun.
MONTREAL, Oct. 29.—A daughter of Mr. Jas. Fournier, of St. Hyacinthe, was accidentally killed by a gun which her younger brother was playing with, as the parents were going out to church last Sunday.

Suing for Damages.
MONTREAL, Oct. 29.—Mr. Dufresne, a post official, has entered a suit for $2,000 damages against the City Passenger railway company for running over and killing his two-year-old daughter.

The Hamilton Murder.
MONTREAL, Oct. 29.—The mortality by small-pox in the city and suburbs yesterday was fifty-one, an increase over the previous day, and 61 new cases reported. Eighty-five houses were placed for the first time and 55 a second time; while 34 dwellings were disinfectant.

Section's Murder Conspiracy.
BOSTON, Mass., Oct. 29.—Chief Inspector Hancock says the statement that the alleged Melan conspiracy was only a blackmailing scheme is entirely inconsistent with the facts. The thousand dollars, which was deposited for "John Bull" at the Revere house, is now in the safe of that hotel.

A Brakeman Hanged.
LONDON, Oct. 29.—A Grand Trunk brakeman named Robert Lake met with a very serious mishap at St. Mary's this morning. He was running on a freight train going east, and was engaged in coupling cars, when he slipped and fell across the rails. The wheels passed over his legs between the knees and hips, crushing and mangled them so badly as to render amputation necessary, and he will probably die from the effects of his injuries. He is a married man with a family, and resides at Stratford.

Extraordinary Rescue.
AKRON, Ohio, Oct. 29.—Physicians who have just returned from Peninsula, twelve miles from here, report the widest demonstrations in that town yesterday in an effort to save the life of Anton Fiala, who was given morphine for a quinine by a green boy in a drug store. Fiala took from three to five grains of the drug. His life being despaired of, the entire populace turned out, and on Friday a hundred men were engaged in running Fiala up and down the streets in the wildest manner, while women and children followed, adding greatly to the excitement. At four o'clock Fiala began fainting the crowd, and several doctors began to struggle. His condition is very critical.

A Gang of Young Burglars.
OTTAWA, Oct. 29.—The last of a gang of young burglars, who, during the last spring and summer, gave police such trouble, has been safely caught. His name is Arthur Bourque, and he is about 18 years of age, and of prepossessing appearance. The evidence against him is almost entirely that of the other members of the gang, who he was associated. He has been missing for some time from the city, having the long delay in his arrest. The crime which led to the detection and breaking up of the band was the bold Monday afternoon robbery of Laverdure's store on William street, which was masterminded by the band, and in which the gang was completely routed. They took the goods wholesale, clearing out the whole stock of pocket knives and firearms, and taking a quantity of cutlery. One of them alone was armed with six knives in his possession. All of the thieves caught at the scene were sent to gaol where they still are. Bourque was brought before the magistrate this morning and elected to be tried summarily. There was some doubt in the magistrate's mind as to the propriety of using for a crown witness a prisoner awaiting trial for a felony, whose statements in a box might incriminate himself. He concluded to remand Bourque for a week.

LINDSAY.
WILD CATS.—The long swamp, near Mount Pleasant, is said to be infested with wild cats, and a man residing in the neighbourhood was chased by a number of them the other day. The Cats council has repaired the bridge in the swamp, very much to the satisfaction of many of the ratepayers, who find it a great convenience.—Warder.

DEBT REDUCED.—A financial statement read by Rev. Father Laurent before high mass on Sunday last disclosed the pleasant fact that since the rev. gentleman assumed control of the affairs of the parish, a little over two years ago the parish debt has been reduced by $5,500. This has been accomplished without any special appeal to the congregation, solely by Rev. Father Laurent's very careful manipulation of the ordinary revenue of the church. In addition to this satisfactory result a comfortable vestry has been added to the church and many other needed improvements made. The debt now stands at $11,500, and Father Laurent looks forward to its total extinguishment in a few years.—P.M.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, OCTOBER 31, 1885.

A NATION'S WEALTH.

Mr. HENRY GEORGE'S ideas regarding protection and free trade are being published as a serial in the Toronto Globe. Mr. George entertains peculiar opinions on many subjects, and even the Globe, which is thus giving his views as important contributions to political literature, would scarcely care to endorse some of them. In the latest instalment Mr. George contends that the more a country exports the more it imports and the less it exports the richer it will be. He argues that when a country exports more than it imports it barter a larger quantity of goods for a lesser quantity, and is therefore a loser. His view is that the more a country imports the more it has, and therefore the richer it is. This is the free trade view, and the free traders would abolish the customs duties, because they tend to restrict the importation of goods.

The free traders are nothing if not theoretical, but their contentions are not sustained either by the logic of theory or the admissible logic of facts. Mr. George's great mistake is in basing the wealth of a country on the value of its importations. A nation is wealthy in proportion to the value of the goods it is capable of producing, and is poorer in proportion to the extent to which it utilizes these resources and produces that which people require.

The man who reaches such a condition that he cannot live unless he receives more than he can give an equivalent for, must either draw on his capital or depend on the bounty of others. If a farmer, who, the same as a community or nation, has to depend on what he produces, is compelled to buy more than he can sell he will become impoverished. If the farmer could dispose of his small surplus produce for a larger quantity of other articles that he required, the larger quantity being of greater aggregate value than the surplus he disposed of, he would become wealthy, but when he has to make up the difference between the produce of his land and his requirements he becomes poorer each succeeding year. His object, therefore, should be to produce as much as possible of that which his farm is capable of producing, and he should encourage his family to produce something that they could produce. If by following that course he reaped more than he required for his own consumption, and to pay for the goods he needed but could not produce, he would accumulate wealth. If he were to take steps to prevent his family procuring necessities that could be grown on the farm, in order to encourage them to produce instead of buying them, he would be acting wisely, because the more he obtained from his farm in excess of what he required the richer he would become. And a nation that is compelled to buy more than the surplus products of the labor of its people will pay for its becoming impoverished. The aim of a wise government should be to encourage the people to produce everything that they required, which the country was capable of producing. This would tend to enrich the people, and would, especially in a new country, attract more people to reside in it. The population would be thereby increased, and an increase of population probably employed means as increase in wealth.

The means adopted in Canada to stimulate the people to produce what they require is the collection of duties on articles imported. It stimulates the people to produce or manufacture (the latter simply being the preparation of the produce for use) what they need, and when this result is obtained the country is benefited.

WALL STREET BEARS.

Their Operations and Some of the Lines of the Stock Exchange.

Brokers and operators are "bears" when they have sold stock, and particularly stock that they did not own, contracting to deliver it at some future time. They are then "short of the market." The disposition of the bear is to pull things down. The Wall street bear is often found "gunning a stock" by putting forth all his strength and craft to break down the price, and especially when aware that a certain stock is heavily loaded and cannot resist his attack. He "bears in" by purchasing stock to meet a "short" contract, or to return his "short" by buying stock to fulfil his contract on the day of delivery. This is a well-known scheme, and is called "covering short sales." A drop in the price of a stock is to a bear the next best thing to a "break." He rejoices in an "off" market when prices fall. He "bears out" a man by forcing down the price of a stock that the person is carrying so low that he is obliged to let it go and perhaps to fail. He grossly humiliates when the bulls get a "twist on the short" by artificially raising prices, and keeping or compelling the bears to settle at ruinous rates. Neither bull nor bear is an altogether safe "bitter." The latter, however, is reported to be about four times as malicious as the former, inasmuch as he rarely sells another man's property, while the bull contents himself with carrying his own.

The bear occasionally finds himself in a "corner," where it is impossible to buy the stock of which he is "short," and which he must deliver at a specified time. He groans and bays, but must pay what the holder of his contracts are willing to accept. Some relief is offered by a "buy up," or the withdrawal from the market of the "bears" or "bulls" or combinations of both. The "buy up" is the revelation of its secret by one of the members, and a "buy up" is in one of the parties sells out his interest without the knowledge of the other. Either form of defection yields some mitigation to the bear's suffering.—R. Whelan, in Harper's Magazine for November.

THE CALENDER EXTENSION.

A Description of the Northern Pacific Junction Railway.

The building of the Northern and Pacific Junction Railway, which starts at Gravenhurst and runs to Calender, thus connecting the Midland Railway with the Canadian Pacific, is of importance to Peterborough and Ontario generally. Recently a party, among whom were Messrs. Hendrie and J. O. Bailey, went over the line, and the Globe in giving an account of their trip, thus describes the line:—

From Gravenhurst to Hoc Rock, a distance of two miles, the road offers no special features of interest, but at that point a deep valley, through which the public road passes, necessitates the building of an iron viaduct.

350 feet long, and of the same design as those on the Ontario and Quebec Railway near Toronto over the various branches of the D. M. The viaduct at Hoc Rock is built on solid granite foundations. Some idea of the general character of the structure may be gathered from the fact that there are about 315,000 pounds of iron used in it.

The road from there to Bracebridge which is about ten miles from Gravenhurst passes through a country richly settled by farmers who make a specialty of raising their grain specially, and make a fair boast that Muskoka beats the world for mutton. Just before reaching Bracebridge the road leaves the township of Muskoka and crosses an iron bridge (containing 370,000 pounds of iron), of a similar design to the viaduct of Hoc Rock over the same branch of the Muskoka river, into Draper township, and then passes through a gorge, or rather deep cut through a lot of granite 150 feet long and 40 feet wide into Muskoka township, and then crosses the north branch of the Muskoka River into the township of Bracebridge by a Howe truss bridge, with a span of 150 feet long and with iron approaches containing 150,000 pounds of iron. This bridge commands

A VIEW OF THE GREAT FALLS of the Muskoka, 150 feet high, and of the timber slide made by the Ontario Government some years ago, and of some magnificent scenery. The distance of ten miles was covered in some twenty-five minutes from Gravenhurst, and the fact that the road was new, and that there had been a perfect deluge of rain for some days previous, but the excellent blast which had been obtained from a pit about half way down as well as the abundance of the scenery. After passing through the thriving village of Bracebridge, which is the capital of the Muskoka district and the base of supplies, the train passes down the line of the Muskoka River, and reaches a country richly settled, crossing the road frequently till the hamlet of Falkenburg is reached, about six miles north in the township of Maculsky, but it is on after crossing the line into St. Johns, past cedar and maple forests, with sheep farms interspersed along the line of road and with pretty views of the Muskoka river, of which glimpses are caught every few minutes. The next settlement north of this is Uxton, eight miles further north and nearly twenty-four miles from Gravenhurst. This is a thriving little hamlet lying a short distance from the station ground, with a good hotel and some very comfortable houses, which are RAPIDLY INCREASING IN NUMBER. From here to Huntsville is a distance of ten miles and the train travels along at a fine rate of speed, and that thriving town, situated at the junction of Fairy and Vernon lakes and surrounded by a well settled country. The place has a thoroughly business air about it, and is the headquarters for supplies for the vast region to the north. The engineering difficulties here were very great, as it was necessary to cross the connecting stream between the two lakes at a right angle, to enable the stream to flow on its beautiful water to pass underneath. The ground is very uneven, rising in every side from the lake, leaving a valley of considerable extent, through which a high embankment had to be built. The station is at the southern end of the road and commands a glorious view of Lake Vernon, and the ground had all to be cut out of the side of a hill. The contractors, Messrs. Hendrie, Symes, & Company, have their headquarters here and inhabit a very comfortable brick house, immediately overlooking the station ground. This, it is probable, will be considerably enlarged and re-formed into a first-class summer hotel, under the direct supervision of the railway company.

The road to this point is well ballasted, and with the exception of a small piece near Hancock bridge, which has caused some trouble, is in good condition, and very good running is made both by passenger trains and a special train on which the party travelled. A halt was made for the night, and the reporter took advantage of the opportunity offered to stroll through the hamlet, which has many comfortable houses, good hotels and large stores, all of which, combined with the beautiful scenery, make it a very attractive place. On Wednesday morning a fresh start was made about nine o'clock, and a quick run was made up the river, two miles further north through the township of Chaffy and across the Little and Big East Rivers. To this point and for a few miles beyond the road is well ballasted and in good running order. On leaving Huntsville the connecting stream between the two lakes is crossed by a Howe truss bridge with a 150 foot span, and with masonry of the same class as those before mentioned. A halt was made at Little East River to enable the party to INSPECT THE FINE VIADUCT over the valley through which the stream flows. The stream flows nearly fifty feet below the viaduct, which is 450 feet long, with grey granite abutments built on pile foundations cut off 18 feet below the water, and running down 40 feet further, and is of the most substantial character. The weight of the iron used in its construction is 300,000 pounds, and the design, like that of the other iron structures on the road, is the same as those before mentioned, an iron truss. Some after passing through the "big back" granite section difficulties, and here is about a mile and a half of road there which cost over $130,000 to build. The line was originally laid out across the Magnetawan River about nine miles, but by cutting through "big back" granite sections difficulties were found possible to cut out five of these, leaving four bridges, one with a span of 125 feet and the other three of 100 feet each. This "big back" or rather series of big backs it near Elmdale post office, and consists of

SOLID GRANITE HILLS AND DEEP VALLEYS.

One of these hills was fifty feet high, which had to be cut through, and the material obtained was all required to make a fill in a deep valley close at hand, which was fifty feet deep, and was about five miles long. For a while it was necessary to run the rails completely over one of these "big backs" in order that the work of construction might go on further north. The work of cutting down at this place had only been commenced about five days before the party passed through, and had been a delay of two of those days by wet weather, but the train passed through without difficulty, although some work was still in progress. The road at this point was made on the Magnetawan and other steep was made, and the wooden Howe truss bridge which there spans the stream was examined. The foundations are in all respects satisfactory to those of the Little East River viaduct, with the exception of the abutments being built of red instead of grey granite, but this had to be driven there just as at other points to get a solid foundation. After leaving the train ran slowly over the, as yet, unballasted road, past Katrine post-office, past Burk's Falls station, with the busy thriving hamlet it is designed to serve hidden some half mile away behind the woods, then on past

LAKES WITH WELL WOODED SHORES and across numerous small streams which are crossed with small bridges or culverts, all as substantial as they can possibly be built till a sight of Stony Lake is caught, and now close above the waters, and the last sight of it is visible, till just ahead is seen the new village of Sundridge, already a thriving place, and beyond which less than a quarter of a mile of track had been laid, and when point the track had only reached that morning.

A year ago Sundridge was like Humboldt City in the North-west, a city of one house; now there are two large saw mills run by steam power, two large, and it is said, well kept hotels, and houses by the score, with others rapidly being built. The land is considered a distance since through Armour and Spring townships is a rich, deep black loam, and will undoubtedly at no very distant date afford a generous living to a considerable population.

When the train came to a halt it did so at

THE LAST RAIL which had been fully spiked that morning, and just behind the track-laying train. Unfortunately the last tie and rails had been laid down a few minutes before the train arrived, and the party were deprived of an opportunity of watching the work, which was very interesting. The track-laying train when at work lays about a mile a day, but as wet weather interferes with the operations somewhat frequently only about four or five miles of track can now be laid every week. From the north end of the road another line is laying track at the rate of half a mile a day, and as there only now remains some twenty miles of track to lay, it will not be long before the track will reach the big viaduct, where they are to be joined. The big viaduct is about six or twelve miles north of Sundridge, which latter place by the way is seventy miles from Gravenhurst.

THE VIADUCT CROSSES A DEEP VALLEY 900 feet long, and with the lowest part 100 feet below the level of the lake, and will require 220,000 pounds of iron in its construction, and all this is ready and waiting to be shipped up as soon as the rails reach the southern end, and as it will only take about three weeks to place in position the tracks will be in position in time to receive the train of next month, when there will be a continuous line from Toronto to LaVas, where the junction with the Canadian Pacific Railway is made. From the north the track is now laid for nearly twenty miles, and is being pushed as rapidly as possible. There are four wooden Howe truss bridges in the northern section of a similar construction to those in the south end.

ALL THE BRIDGE WORK HAS BEEN FINISHED for all the bridges and culverts, and has been pronounced by the Government engineer and other experts to be of the very best description. No other stone has been used but granite.

MINDER.

STUPID DEATH.—We this week chronicle the death of a man, the oldest man in the whole back country, Mr. John Gidde, of lot 19, con. A. Menden. A p. number, late hospital sergeant in her majesty's service, at the ripe age of 86 years. Mr. Gidde was in this village on Saturday last in his usual health. On Tuesday morning he was out with his son Archibald and Mr. Gidde where they were at work and was apparently in his usual good health, he left them and went to his home at the junction of the road, which he carried in and put in the stove. Sitting down he took a cold shivering fit and seemed fainting, but partially revived on receiving a glass of water from the hands of his son who was in immediate attendance upon him. He reached out his hand to him and expired almost instantly.—Echo.

REFORM PLATFORM BUILDING.

THE Reformers really seem to be trying to frame a policy, in view of the impatient demand for it by some members of their party. The following is the contribution of the Reformers of St. John, N. B., at a meeting held by them shortly after the rejection of their standard bearer by the people:—

"A resolution was moved by Col. Blaine that an agitation be started for the purpose of securing our connection with the Upper Provinces and forming a maritime union. This motion was seconded by a dozen persons, and was received with tremendous applause. After some discussion by Messrs. Blaine, McMillan, R. J. Ritchie, Herbert Moore, A. D. M. Boyne, E. Sears, and others, it was agreed to refer the matter to the Young Men's Liberal Association about to be formed."

This certainly is a definite policy, and it might be somewhat alarming, but for the reflection that these enemies of the Dominion of Canada are but a minority of the people. This, however, being the case, "what," as the Globe says of the half-breed prisoners, "is left to the miserable wretches but to rebel?" They evidently cannot submit to the will of the majority. They would find, as did their half-breed allies, that they would have to reckon with the loyal Reformers as well as with the Conservatives. In fact it is such tactics as these constant attacks upon Canada that have induced the best elements of the Reform party to co-operate with the present able and patriotic Liberal Conservative administration.

POOR BARRELS CRIMINAL VOLUNTEERS.

THE rebel half-breeds now in prison at Regina and Stony Mountain have published a petition to the Dominion Government and among other false statements they falsely slander our brave volunteers, whom they accuse of assassinating and torturing the wounded, of insulting and mistreating women and children, and of committing wholesale robbery, even going so far as to term them "unpunished criminals." It is not altogether surprising that convicted criminals should rave against those who check of them in their career of crime, but it would hardly be expected that the leading Reform journals should put them on the back, call them "these poor prisoners," and in plain words justify their rebellion. These rebels and murderers slander our gallant troops, but the Globe sides with them because they also slander, as when free they attacked, the authorities of the Dominion of Canada entrusted with the administration of their affairs by the people of Canada.

THEIR ONLY HOPE

We had almost forgotten that the Reformers had a policy, but the Globe reminds us that it has. In an editorial propounding the early fall of the Conservatives from power, the leading Reform journal gives as the sole reason for this hope, that "Sir John Macdonald's health is failing." The waiters for dead men's shoes are often disappointed, and public opinion holds them in about the same estimation as the majority of the people of Canada holds the modern Reform party. Sir John Macdonald is only mortal, and in welding together the isolated Provinces and Territories into one great, prosperous and progressive Dominion, he has already accomplished such a grand work as falls to the lot of few men. But when he is taken away his grateful countrymen would be more likely to select as his successor one of his colleagues than one of those whose chief claims would be that they have been waiting for Sir John's falling health and death.

REFORMERS, who, when in power, thought defects were the right thing, are now very severe on the Macdonald Administration for the deficit of the past year. These captious critics forget to mention that the deficit was not caused by ordinary expenditure, but by the expenses of putting down the rising of the Rielite Reformers who were investigated to rebellion by other Reformers.

A Pittsman's Revenge.

"I have received a call to-day," says a Boston Advertiser correspondent, "from a Scotch gentleman who is the great-grand-son of Major Pittsman. His wife, who accompanied him (an American lady), is a descendant of Joseph Tidd, who lived in the old Tidd home-stand, which is still standing in our town, at Lexington, Mass., and whose sons, Benjamin and John, were in Captain Parker's company on the 19th of April, 1776. It is related of this John Tidd that, being one of the last to leave the Common, he was pursued by the British, struck down and robbed of his arms. At the same time his cousin, Lieutenant William Tidd, retreating up Hancock street, was chased by a mounted officer (supposed to be Pittsman), who cried out, 'Stop! or you're a dead man.' The plucky lieutenant sprang over a pair of bars near the Clark house, made a stand, look him, fired at his pursuer, who deduced the shot, wheeled about and hastened back to join his men. That a descendant of this 'Britisher' should after 100 years marry a descendant of this 'rebel' and that the two should do duty with eagerness to see for the first time the spot where their ancestors fought against each other, is a fact as suggestive as anything in fiction, and fully as suggestive, for it tells us that the animosity which is born of civil war is not to be always perpetual. Could he have been a wound, but he was more than usually adroit when he captured that a Pittsman should at last capture a Tidd."

A Giddy Romance.

One of the best of the many good things said by the late Emory Storrs was at a meeting of a prominent Chicago citizen to raise funds for the Dearborn park library and art gallery. Some one remarked that he did not believe the enterprise would ever pay. "I want Chicago," exclaimed Storrs, "to raise to that eminence where it can do something that won't pay."—N. Y. Tribune.

Great Flood in Virginia.

RICHMOND, Va., Oct. 30.—The heavy rain during the past 24 hours has caused the greatest flood known in the past five years on the western end and Lexington branch of the Richmond & Allegheny Railroad. The trestle at the South River, five miles east of Lexington, was washed away. A mixed train on the Allegheny was wrecked, and Engineer Williams and the fireman are missing and are believed to be killed. All the passengers are safe. The Shenandoah Valley train is in trouble at the same point.

Killed on Her Way to Dinner.

DUTTON, Oct. 30.—Maggie McCalline, of Cowal, North Dunwich, a waitress in the employ of Mr. Wilton, of Dutton, was killed instantly at noon to-day. She boarded at John Kerr's, south of the track, and was on her way to dine when No. 8 express came along. In attempting to cross the track before the express she was struck by the pilot and buried a distance of ten rods. Her body presented a horrible sight. Her skull was split open, and the brains strewn along the track. The clothes were stripped from her body, which was horribly mangled.

Trampled to Death.

COWANVILLE, Que., Oct. 29.—A sad accident, resulting in the death of Mr. Robt. Grubb, occurred near here, Wednesday. Mr. Grubb left his house in the morning to let the cattle out of the stable, and not returning at the proper time his wife went to look for him and found him trampled beneath the feet of a colt. Help was obtained to take him to the house and a physician sent for. Upon examination it was found that the unfortunate man's ribs and collar bones were broken, and his head badly cut and bruised. He died in about two hours. The deceased, who was universally respected, was one of the pioneer settlers of East Durham. He leaves a grown-up family and a large circle of friends to mourn his loss.

Explosion on a Steamer.

DULUTH, Minn., October 30.—Last evening, as the steamer Myles was leaving the dock, the seat iron casing or jacket of the cylinder filled with steam and exploded, throwing a great volume of steam with such force as to knock the second engineer, who was on watch, through a door into the room where the first engineer was in bed asleep. The steam rushed in through the opening and filled the room, and scalded them, so that when the door was opened the room almost immediately afterwards they found both men dead. Thos. Hickey, the first engineer, was 37 years old and leaves a wife and two children in Hamilton, Ont. The second engineer, Wm. Rooney, was not married. He leaves relatives in Ottawa, Ont.

Brabham Crushed to Death.

KINGSTON, Oct. 31.—Another fatal accident occurred on the Kingston and Pembroke Railway this morning. John Morrison, a brakeman, was crushed to death at Harrowsmith. Morrison was detailed to do uncoupling, and was caught, thrown and dragged for some distance. Two wheels passed over his body. In falling he yelled and broken. William heard him and derailed to the engine driver, who stopped the train. Morrison's body was found alongside the railway track fearfully mangled. The wheels had crushed his abdomen, dismembered him. His right leg was broken and stripped of the flesh. Deceased was on the Kingston and Pembroke Railway a month. He was an old railroad man, unmarried, about 33 years of age, and belonged to Cobourg.

Burglars Captured.

HAMILTON, Oct. 30.—Joseph Boyle, Tommy Hazan and two other tough characters were arrested this morning at Dundas for burglarizing J. Barbark's store in Iyden, on Wednesday night. Their arrest is due to the clever and prompt action of Wilber Babcock, proprietor of the Elgin house, where Boyle and Hazan stopped last night. Their talk and bundles of stolen articles excited Babcock's suspicion, and when he had succeeded in grasping himself by the wrist in going to see with them on several other jobs, they revealed the robbery and also a plot to break into Grafton's store in Dundas, and stated they had $600 worth of stolen silks hidden between Dundas and Bradford. When they went to bed at 4 o'clock this morning, the house sent for Chief Collins, who arrested them and took the stolen goods to the station. Nobody knew of this except those concerned, and when at 10 this morning two others called and asked for Boyle and Hazan, Babcock again sent for Collins, and after an exciting chase they too were captured.

VERY PRETTY ROMANCE.

Everything Combined to Produce the Result to be Desired.

In 1871 Joseph W. Walters, broker, Brooklyn died, leaving $100,000 to his widow. She was about 48 years old, and her son, Lester D. Walters, was 16. The boy was of a roving disposition, and, wearying of the discipline of his mother, resolved to leave home. Having saved a little money he packed his trunk one day and took a sudden departure. His mother was prepared to lift the fatal veil as soon as the prodigal returned. Time passed and no tidings of the truant were received. After a while the widow inserted an advertisement in a New York paper calling for a young lady companion. Among those who applied for the position was Miss Marie De Lacy, who had been brought up in Paris. She was of the prepossessing appearance and manner, an accomplished reader and conversationalist, and a fine pianist. She was soon the trusted friend of the widow. They continued to live in Brooklyn for years, and then, nothing having been heard from young Walters, they spent two years in travel, going as far as Palestine. Mrs. Walters became strongly attached to the young woman, and treated her as a daughter. They returned to this country where they continued their travels. In 1882 Mrs. Walters died and left a curious will.

"The will is at my office," said Mr. Griffith, "but its exact terms are nearly as follows: 'I give, devise and bequeath all my property, but real and personal, of every kind and nature wherever the same may be situated, in trust upon the following conditions: First, it is my will and intention that my friend, Marie De Lacy, after my decease, shall faithfully search for and find my son, my son, Lester D. Walters, and, if she find him, she shall marry him, and if she cannot find him, she shall remain unmarried. If either my son or my friend, Marie De Lacy, shall not consent to said marriage, then the above hereinbefore mentioned shall revert to the one who refuses to abide by my wish. Second, if my said son, Lester D. Walters, refuse to abide by my wish, I give and devise and bequeath to him one quarter of my estate, both real and personal, and the remaining three-quarters I give, devise and bequeath to my friend, Marie De Lacy; and if said marriage takes place I give, devise and bequeath all my property, both real and personal, to my beloved son, Lester D. Walters, and my beloved friend Marie De Lacy, to be divided between them equally, share and share alike. The expenses growing out of the search for my son are to be paid out of my estate.'"

Mr. Griffith two years ago was introduced to Miss De Lacy. Having learned the facts of the case, and having also learned from a school mate of Mr. Walters that he was said to be in Mexico, advertised for him in a Mexican newspaper. The advertisement was answered by Mr. Walters. Mr. Walters went to the Bijou Theatre one night about six weeks ago, where Miss De Lacy and Mr. Griffith's friend occupied a box. The young lady was pointed out to Mr. Walters, who fell in love with her at first sight. They were introduced after the play and the party went to Delmonico's. Mr. Walters, who did not know who she was, and knew nothing of the terms of the will, visited her afterward, and they became engaged to be married. Then the lawyer explained to him the facts of the case by which they had been brought together, and told him about the will. Mr. Walters was pleased, and the wedding will take place next Friday.—New York Tribune.

In the usual way in keeping cabbages in winter, there is a considerable loss by freezing and decay. In attempting to avoid this waste, we have tried with success the method of pitting here described. A long pit three feet deep and a little wider (it may be made as wide as desirable), was dug out on a part of the field where the soil was dry and sandy, and there was no danger that water would enter. The bottom of the pit was lowered up, so that the first tier of cabbages were planted in it, the stems being set so deep that the heads rested on the soil. The cabbages of the next tier were set alternately between the lower ones, having the roots partly in the soil. A third tier was placed on the second, but reserved with the roots upwards. All the soft heads were put at the top. Straw was laid between the stems, leaving the roots out, and earth was thrown upon the straw, burying the roots three or four inches. In pitting the cabbages, the roots were all taken up with them, and not cut off. A covering of boards was laid on the pit, to shed rain. In the spring these cabbages came out in the best condition; the soft heads had filled up, and none of the cabbages had been frozen. The pit was filled with selected cabbages, with the intention of keeping them for the spring. The same plan has been tried for several years, and always with satisfaction. Neighboring farmers have adopted it, and we intend to use it in preference to any other method.—American Agriculturist.

VARIETY

Tennyson's New Poem—A Literary Sensation in London.

London, Oct. 31.—The literary sensation of the week has been Tennyson's poem, called "Vandana," printed in Macmillan's Magazine, apparently stirring various contemporary political and social movements. The following are the most striking verses—

A heart's open on our globe
Eighty after many a vanished face
Many a planet by many a sun
May roll with the dust of a vanished race

Raining pollen, never at rest,
As this poor earth's history runs—
What is it all but a trouble of dust
In the gleam of a million million suns?

Lead upon this side, lie upon that side
Fruitless violence mourned by the wise
Thousands of voices drowning his own,
Is a popular current of lies upon lies

Faith, her zenith or all but lost
In the gloom of doubt that darkens the Crest, with a bunch of all best in her hand,
Followed up by her vast legion of fools

Stately purpose, valor in battle,
Glorious annals of arms and fleet;
Death for the right cause, death for the wrong
Triumph of victory, groans of defeat.

Innocence smiling in her mother's milk,
And charity setting the martyr's fire,
Thrones, who holds the banner of freedom,
And reads not to ruin a realm in her name

What is it all, if we all of us end
But in being our own corpse outside at last?
Swallowed in vastness, lost in silence,
Drowned in the deep of a million years past.

The fourth stanza is supposed to refer to the Salvation Army, and the sixth to the Pall Mall (Examiner's exposure).

MOSQUITO GULCH.

A Brutal Tragedy in one of the oldest Mining Camps in Colorado.

Light was shining up Mosquito Gulch from my cabin, but for the most part the night was dark, the cloudy sky not showing the twinkles of a single star. Two men were threatening their way in single file along the narrow trail. Suddenly the silence which pervaded all nature was broken by a wall of fire in the last agony, and which fairly curled the blood of the witnesses, rough and ready men of the frontier as they were, to witness fear was almost unknown. After a moment's pause the bodies were spewed up and the slow, listless walk of the hour before was changed to a quick gallop, which in a few minutes brought them to the nearest cabin, which was the most remote of any in the camp from the rest. Seeing a light shining through the window they knocked for admittance, but meeting with no response pushed the door open and walked in.

There a terrible sight greeted them. Lying prone upon the floor was the figure of a woman, apparently still young, but with blood oozing from a wound in the forehead, while from her very nature was a mortal coil. In fact it was easy to see that her tenure on life was a short one.

"Who did it?" asked the elder of the two men, as he raised his head to a more comfortable position and wiped the blood from his face to get a better view of her features, which,
although containing evidence of a former beauty,
were drawn up as with the agony of a mortal pain.

"Who did it?" repeated the man, as she seemed for the moment easier and manifested a desire to speak.

"Jim," he answered with difficulty. "Then,
as if conscious with new strength, "He who did it is the man for whom I have done everything. We lived in the town of Aurora, Ill., and my parents were wealthy, connected me against him, saying he was a mere adventurer. I would not believe him, however, and, despising of his riches, I consented to our marriage we eloped one night and were married in a distant town. It was a long time before I was forgiven, and then only at the death bed of my father. By his will I received a handsome property. By persuasion and threats my husband succeeded in getting the title in his own name. Then followed a long course of disipation, in which the estate was squandered.
After this he left the estate and the husband and he one day left me, but my foolish love for him never ceased, and a long search I discovered his whereabouts and followed him to this camp.
I came here, thinking that in consideration of my love and long journey he would relent and receive me kindly. The result, however, was just the opposite to what I had foolishly imagined, and his anger was so furious that I feared he would kill me at the first. However, after applying the vilest poisons and the harshest of drugs, he left the cabin for some time. I knew he returned, a short time ago considerably the worse for liquor, and after hearing every imaginable abuse upon me, suddenly, as if seized by a cruel madness, he caught me by the back and hurled me to the ground. I know he killed me. Yes, Jim Bonner is my murderer," she said, and related to me the whole story with such difficulty and many pauses, and while the two men sat and watching her the entire time, and her face and her life's troubles were over. Mopping her forehead, the man gazed quickly up the gully and gave the alarm, and a score of determined and well-armed men were scouring the country around for the murderer. It was not until daylight that he was discovered by one of the parties in a dense thicket of small trees. As soon as he saw his pursuers he opened fire on them, wounding one in the leg and arm. The fire was returned and a bullet went through the leg brought him to the ground and caused him to surrender, begging for mercy.
He was seized, placed on a horse and taken back to the camp of his crime, and on a train from his cabin, just as the sun was peering over the mountain tops, Jim Bonner, with the stain of murder upon his face, was launched into custody, without a word being said as to the cause which was about his neck. To this day turn up the gully at night inquest they fear the murderer's wailing cry of agony under the cold death blow.—Denver Times.

FOUND AFTER FIFTY YEARS

A Toronto Mystery that has been Unsolved for Half a Century Cleared Up.

Toronto, October 30.—A strange story is told here by a city detective, which clears up a mystery that has been unsolved for half a century. A human skeleton was found on Monday in a yard on Duke street, a detective corpulent part of the city. Nearly fifty years ago the police were informed that a gang of cut-throats and along there were congregated in the bush on the corners of the city, and a posse of men started to hunt them down. All escaped except a man named Gyp, who was put in jail. The night of his arrest Gyp attacked the turnkey of the jail, nearly killed him, took possession of the keys, and started all the prisoners free. The police followed Gyp for about two weeks, and finally spotted him outside the city.
As he was crossing a policeman fired for him and Gyp was never to drop. When the police got to the place they could see nothing of him, although the crowd was dressed and offered made, nothing was ever seen of Gyp again until they were found on Monday in the yard that used to be the bed of the old creek where he was shot. A bullet hole was found in the skull.

temperature can be kept above the freezing point. Winter-dairymen also tend to equalize the labor of the farm as between winter and summer, and profit is increased for the reason that the better made will bring the highest price of the year, and the comparatively little cost over summer butter, with the added advantage that the calves may be as easily and economically raised in winter. Upon this subject, at the late meeting of the North-western Dairymen's Association, Mr. C. L. (Jablon) of Iowa, in an address on the "Winter Care of the Cow and Calf, and Small Farm Management," held as follows:

We have our cows come in in September rather than in May. The pastures are recovering from the midsummer drought, the meadows are then in full bloom, the price of butter has passed the low ebb of July, and the cows being carried to high tide prices of January and February. There is also more time to fatten with saw and calf, and this attention is well repaid in liberal yield of the cow and satisfactory growth of the calf. We have found that a calf born in the Fall will with proper care be further advanced at a year old than those born in the Spring.

It will be understood that in order to secure the most benefit from the cow and her products during the fall and winter efficient shelter is of the first importance, but it is not necessarily that costly barns be built to secure our stock from the rigor of a northern climate.

When the cow is about to calve she is separated from the herd in winter by giving her a well littered pen in the stable and in the weather she is usually put in a lot near the house. Ordinarily no assistance is needed. Where the cow or calf is in the stable the cow should be fed at a cow appen placed to have him present but if she shows her dislike, see to it that all is well and leave her. After the calf is born, while the cow is feeding it, draw all the milk from her now distended udder and let the cow drink it. The effect of this first milk is laxative, helping the cow to clean. By milking the cow she will be relieved of this burden, and the youngster will find enough for its wants. Give the cow a warm mass of straw and leave her alone with the calf. We leave the calf with its mother till the milk is down, taking care to empty her bag night and morning. After this the cow is partly milked until the calf is a week old, when she takes her place among the others, giving her a shakedown facing the calf pen. Tragedy in this way the separation is as gradual that the cow does not worry over it.

The calf is fed with milk night and morning.
Sweet skimmed milk is warmed for the little faller at noon. Old milk is mixed with the milk in small quantities at first; the amount is slowly increased as the calf is made from new to skimmed milk, taking care to make all these changes without harm. Great watchfulness is needed during the early life of the calf, but overdone. Next to this, giving the calf good milk is a source of annoyance which it resists, to the damage of its owner. The calf may be taken from the milk by mixing with it boiled oilseed grass. This way of weaning the milk will often relieve the mother of a nuisance.

When the calf begins to chew its cud, either ground or whole are placed within its reach.
Hay is also provided for it from this time forward, and abundant and nutritious feeding is needed to produce an animal both pleasing and profitable.

WINTER RATIONS OF DAIRY COWS.

Cows used for winter dairymen should be put on full feeding in November. It is more easy to keep up a full product, than to restore it after it has been reduced. It should not be forgotten that milk and butter are made only from the surplus of food after the other vital functions—those which relate to the mere living and moving—have been supplied. It is then almost a necessary condition of dairymen that a cow should be kept in good condition, full fed, at least, and in the very best health. Abundant food, of course, is necessary, but mere abundant food, as such, is not sufficient. The food must be of the right kind, and the dairyman must select the best of feed and fodder, and supply it abundantly. As a rule, when the capacity of a cow is not precisely known, it is well to gradually increase the food, until the cow is fully satisfied, and so longer completely empty the trough at the end of each day. The exact point in time known. And this point should be made the standard for the feeding of the herd, to be varied for each more or less, as the digestive capacity of the cows will differ. Several years' accurate measure and observation in feeding highly productive cows, averaging ten to fourteen pounds of butter weekly, have shown us that the following ration and feeding schedule have produced the best results: Early cut clover hay, fifteen pounds per day; mangels or sugar beets, fifteen pounds, and fifty pounds of yellow cornmeal and fine wheat bran, of course middlings, both ground together, twelve pounds per day.
The hay is divided into three rations, that is,
five pounds of hay cut into chaff, and wetted, is given with four pounds of the mixed meal and bran in the morning, and the same in the evening.
At eleven o'clock a peck of sliced roots,
with one pound of the ground feed, is given,
and when this is eaten five pounds of lucy hay is given. This feed is well directed, and while some of the cows will not eat the lucy hay at night, it is all gone in the morning, and the cows are licked clean. Some of the cows will eat for milk, and they always get what they ask for; an extra allowance for some is needed.

Feeding cows for extra product is a hard thing. Now it operates in the line of nearly every cow which has become noted for her extraordinary product. Two pounds a day in her prime of life and milking, is by no means a dangerous plan to aim at in any good cow.
It is not a matter of life and death, but a matter of economy and the desire to produce a large quantity of milk. As a rule, a cow should be fed so that she will produce a large quantity of milk, and be in good health.

As regards wintering cows in the winter, we have found that the best and simplest method is to winter the cows in a well-ventilated stable, and to feed them so that they will be in good health and produce a large quantity of milk. A change to water from a spring twenty-five degrees cooler, has reduced the yield of milk and cream twenty-five per cent. With a herd of twenty good cows or over, it will pay to have a scald tank, and a careful one only is worth the pay—to stand solely to the feeding, watering, cleaning and littering of the cows; and any spare time he may have may be used in feeding and caring for the herd, for this is no small advantage to the producer.

SALT FOR THE FLOCK AND HERD.—If a person were to be deprived of the use of salt for a week, how much his food would taste, and how he would pine for a taste of it. In fact, his food would taste so bad that he would not eat it. A farmer who is in the habit of selecting to give his cows and sheep regular rations of salt, should try to do without it himself. It would be a lesson he would never forget. There are several other ways in which an owner of any kind of animals might put himself in their place for a short time, and see how disagreeable would be the neglect or ill-treatment he gives to his stock. The result would be that there after his first thought would be for their just and kind treatment, all of which would largely increase the pleasure and profit of his use. The best way to give salt is daily in the feed: a small handful for each cow and as much for every sheep or ten sheep.
One double the need of salt, he would notice the strongly saline taste of milk given by a cow about two months before calving.—American Agriculturist.

It has been said that the Scottish dialect is peculiarly powerful in its use of vowels, and the following dialogue between a Shopman and a Customer has been given as a specimen. The conversation may relate to a pair of Blankets hanging at Alexander's store door.

Daily Evening Review

MONDAY, NOVEMBER 2, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

St. John's Church.

This evening at 8 o'clock there will be a choral service at St. John's church, and immediately following there will be a missionary address by the Rev. Stephen Jones, Toronto.

Port Hope Polo Club.

Arrangements have been completed for the appearance of the above club in Peterborough at the Lansdowne Rink on the afternoon and evening of Thursday, the 12th inst. Wait for them!

For Ireland.

All those in favor of such a measure of self government being accorded to Ireland as we enjoy in Canada are cordially invited to attend the meeting to be held in Lynch's Hall, Hunter street, on Tuesday, the 3rd inst., at 8 p.m. sharp.

Anti-Saunder Association.

A meeting of the Anti-Saunder Association will be held in the Mechanic Institute on Wednesday evening. The attendance of a large number of interested persons is desirable; not only those who are interested in property near the Little Lake, but those who are interested in the town at large and the beautiful water course.

The Cure of the Sick.

All ladies interested in this subject are invited to meet at St. John's School House on Wednesday evening at 8 o'clock, when some practical instruction in nursing will be given by Miss C. Peck, graduate of the New York Training School for Nurses, attached to the Bellevue Hospital. Proceeds for Sunday school purposes. Admission 15 cents.

Mineral Waters.

Mr. McKee, druggist, has received a large assortment of Leberg's Condensed Mineral Waters, which include Carlsbad, Kissingen, Royal Hungarian, and other choice combinations in a cheap and convenient form. The high reputation for cleansing and invigorating the system possessed by these waters guarantees an extensive sale.

Improvements.

Mr. H. LeBrun has recently placed in his City Clothing Store a set of elegant gasaliers. The frame work is of polished brass, supporting three lights. The shades are of handsome tinted and ornamentally frosted glass. The effect is charming, and the light so good that the customer has almost the same advantage as if buying in daylight.

Mrs. F. Charles Watson.

"Although only a few years before the public, she has by the sheer force of her genius, combined with the natural talent for acting, worked her way to the front rank of artists, and is now, perhaps, since Mrs. Scott-Siddons has left, the only successful and satisfactory reader in this country."

Everyone should hear her on her first appearance in Peterborough to-morrow night. Prices, 35, 50 and 75 cents.

Turnbull's is the right house for Boys' wear. A full range of Boys' Suits, Overcoats and Underclothing to select from.

From the Wilds.

Messrs. J. E. McIntyre and J. S. Morrison returned from the wilds of the back townships at night. They left Messrs. McFadden, Cassey, Wilson and Kent comfortably camped or housed, like the man of Bible story, on a firm rock, where no winds, etc., and in succession of lots of grub, amongst which were five fine deer. The others will remain in camp for a few days longer to see if they can't get over the Fitzgerald score. The McIntyre party return thanks to the Fitzgerald party for their donations of camp gear and supplies. Mac says his new Colt is a daisy and sure death to deer every time.

Personal.

Mr. Richard White, managing editor of the Montreal Gazette, was in town on Saturday. Mr. T. H. Gault, of the firm of Gault & Bros., wholesale dry goods men, Montreal, paid his first visit to Peterborough on Saturday. He expressed himself as being much pleased at the appearance of the town, and surprised at the business air of the place. He went to Campbellford, where the firm's factory is situated, on Saturday evening.

Mr. Wm. Johnson and Mr. Hall, who recently came out from England, started on the return trip this morning. They go to New York by Grand Trunk Railway and connections, and take the Celtic for the Old Country.

Messrs. Ostrom & Ostrom shipped another carload of eggs to Boston this afternoon. The car, which contains two hundred cases with forty nine dozen to a case, goes over the Grand Trunk Railway and connections to its destination.

Making Fair Progress.
 Mr. John Milken, Hunter street, who recently fell from a scaffold in the R. man Catholic church, Keesee, from the effects of the fall breaking his leg, has been removed to town. He is under the care of Dr. Clark, and the injured limb is making as fair progress as might be looked for.

The First Train.
 By the recent changes in the time table of the Canadian Pacific Railway a new train has been added to the service from Winnipeg to Toronto. The train will take sixty-three hours to traverse the distance mentioned. The first one left Winnipeg this morning and will reach here on Wednesday at 11.48 in the forenoon. After that date the train will run daily, Tuesdays excepted.

At Work.
 Mr. Thornton, who has the contract for overhauling the Smith street bridge, has commenced work with a staff of men. It appears that the delays have been the result of some unforeseen circumstances, and no party concerned seems to be in fault. However, the improvement will be at once pushed on, and it is expected that the bridge will be opened again for traffic before many weeks. The timbers which come from Harwood are said to be very good.

Drop into Turnbull's Show rooms for Millinery and Mantles. An extensive stock to select from.

Vital Statistics.
 The following are the numbers of births, marriages and deaths that have been registered at the office of the Town Clerk during the month of October:—
 Births..... 11
 Marriages..... 7
 Deaths..... 5
 This record is palpably misleading, for there have been at least three times as many births and deaths. Legal steps will shortly be taken to enforce these important registrations.

Special Music.
 Sunday being the 1st of November, the anniversary of the opening of restored St. John's Church, special music was rendered by Mr. Hampshire and his choir. At the morning service the litany was sung in chorus and the Kyrie, with new musical setting from the pen of Mr. Hampshire, was given with beautiful effect. The anthem "What are These," by Steiner, was given by the choir in a finished and efficient manner. During the offertory Miss Addie Everett sang a solo "Whoso Hath This World's Goods" in a creditable manner. In the evening the same anthem was given and the Magnificat and Nunc Dimittes by Tours, was sung by the choir.

A Runaway.
 This heading is a stereotyped one, but the item is a little out of the ordinary. The horse didn't tear furiously through the streets, nor did the buggy and harness settle in fragments near a telegraph pole. But on Saturday night at about ten o'clock a freight train was coming over the "missing link." In coming down, the grade about two miles from town the brakeman did not "catch" the train in time. The result was that, owing to the slippery rails the brakes refused to do their duty and the train increased its speed at each stop. A continuous scream was kept up by the whistle and any one on the track not only got off, but plunged their ears with the ends of their thumbs. The train hands did not succeed in stopping the runaway till it had passed down Bethune street as far as King street. No damage was done.

Be Sure You're Right.
 "First be sure you're right, then go ahead," is a very safe maxim to follow, and those who make a point to hold steadfast to it in this world will at life's close have no cause for regret. It is cold winter is fast approaching, and with it all the comforts and discomforts that the inhabitants of this mundane sphere could wish for. The comforts of the world are not bestowed on all, but that is no reason why the discomforts should be courted. One of the comforts of a man during the lengthy period of a Canadian winter is to keep warm. Andrew McNeil, at Habilitation Hall, has done the proper thing this season. A large stock of good, substantial, unvarnished (all first class goods and no shoddy stuff) will be sold to the public at prices that put them within the reach of all. Don't freeze this winter when McNeil is giving such good value.

It Might be Remarkable.
 —That Hallowe'en passed off very quietly in Peterborough.
 —That a meeting of the Board of Education will be held to-morrow evening.
 —That the pedestrians carry around an unusually large amount of Peterborough soil on their shoes to-day.
 —That the Street Inspector should have had the crossings on George street scraped.
 —That Mr. G. W. Morgan, druggist, advertised fresh fruit, oysters, etc., this morning.
 —That Mr. J. C. Craig was minus a sign this morning.
 —That there was no business at the Police Court this morning.
 —That a traveller lost a C. P. R. ticket on Saturday night, for which he had just paid four dollars.
 —That the number was 523, and the finder should take it to the C. P. R. office.
 —That Mr. J. R. McCree opened his new drug store to-day.

Encourage Home Manufacture and smoke Peterborough Cigars. Acknowledged to be the best.

Contemplating a radical change in my business after the first day of January next, I now offer a line of Best Burning Coal Stoves at cost up to that date for cash. Great values for the next two months.

LEGAL.
PETITION OF RIGHT.—A petition of right was presented on Tuesday Oct. 27 at Osgoode hall before Mr. Justice Prondfoot. The applicants were Mr. McArthur, of Washington Territory, and Mr. Barnett, of the county of Renfrew, petitioning Her Majesty for a declaration that they are entitled to a license for fifty square miles of timber lands on the Petawawa river, in the region of the Upper Ottawa. The Attorney-General's defence was that the plaintiffs were disentitled to a license by their own laches. His lordship gave judgment in favour of the applicants with costs.

SOLICITOR'S LIEN.—In Can. Pac. R. W. Co. v. Grant, the plaintiff sued for freight for the carriage of timber, and the defendants counter-claimed against the plaintiffs for damages for neglect and delay in the carriage of the timber. At the trial judgment was given for the plaintiff for $2,122 and for the defendants for $1,420. Judge Armour endorsed in the record these words:—"The verdict will be for the plaintiffs for $2,122 and for the defendants upon their counter-claim for $1,420, and each party will be entitled to costs against the other, as if the statement of claim and counter claim were separate actions." There was an application before the Master's Chamber to set off the two judgements, and there was an objection by the defendants' solicitors on the ground that they had a lien for their costs. Mr. Dalton gave judgment on the 27th inst., and held that there was nothing in the judgment of Mr. Justice Armour to take the case out of the operation of the general law, for the words of the judgment in respect to costs applied merely to the quantum of costs. He then set off the general law to be that where, as here, the rights depend upon one judgement given in the same action, the costs may be set off without regard to the solicitor's lien, and he so decreed. This decision will probably be appealed.

Just to hand at Turnbull's, another fresh lot of Blankets and Comforters, we believe at prices never before offered in Peterborough.

BELLEVILLE.
COMMITTED FOR TRIAL.—The charge of indecency and outlandish behaviour against Dennis Cowan was continued in the police court on Saturday. Francis Elliott, a shoe-maker, testified that he had made for prisoner a pair of boots that would have made such tracks as were observed about Belmont's premises, and advised other witnesses against the prisoner having uttered abuse against any person, and undertook to work his mother's farm. The prisoner was committed for trial, bail being refused.

The Week's Record.
MONTREAL, Oct. 31.—The number of deaths among Catholics of smallpox for the week ended last night was 273 in the city and 81 in the suburbs, including 33 in Cote St. Louis, making a total of 354 for the city and suburbs. There were 235 deaths in the city and suburbs during the previous week. Many children are reported to be suffering with smallpox at Longueuil who have never been vaccinated. The provincial board has had an interview with M. Desjardins, who agreed to the suggestion that all children in Canada should be vaccinated. The official returns at the health office this morning show that there were 39 deaths in the city from smallpox yesterday. In Cote St. Louis, 4 in St. Jean Baptiste, 3 in Ste. Genevieve, 1 in St. Henri and 1 in Point St. Charles.

Curio-titles Unearthed.
KINGSTON, Oct. 30.—Patrick Black, of Kingston Mills, who is developing a sandstone quarry has found across several curiosities. One of these is a huge tombstone, perhaps marking the grave of some departed Indian warrior; the other a well-rounded pillar about four feet in diameter, protruding the mill rock for fifteen feet. It is for the same material as the main body of the rock, but the veins are circular, precisely like the growth of a tree, the veins in the rock being flat. Near at hand is a circular opening in the mill rock of which another such pillar has fallen. The pillars are not such curiosities as the events which expect to dig out the mine of buried Fumbled, but that they should be found in solid rock is puzzling to many people.

Slit by a Revolver.
ONTARIO, Oct. 31.—A parliamentary messenger named Chapman, who was formerly a lieutenant in her majesty's 54th regiment, was found dead in bed yesterday. His neighbors did not see him in the morning, and a little girl was sent into the house through a window. The door was opened and Chapman found dead with his wife lying insensible beside the body. It is thought he was strangled by some one. Mrs. Chapman is in the hospital in a very low condition.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

At Home.
 An "At Home" will be given by the ladies in the lecture room of the George Street Church on Thursday evening, Thanksgiving Day, Nov. 12th. Come and enjoy yourself.

The Probabilities.
 The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours commencing from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate winds, partly cloudy weather, not much change in temperature.

Thanksgiving Day.
 Mr. Heathfield has fixed the date for his organ recital on Thanksgiving Day, Thursday, Nov. 12th. He will be assisted by his own well-trained choir, and by some of the leading voices from other choirs. An excellent programme is being prepared, which will be issued in a few days.

A Grand Display.
 While passing Mr. Chas. Stapleton's auction rooms to-day, we were attracted by the dazzling display of beautiful pictures on exhibition there. The collection comprises some rare works of art, by American and foreign artists, and are handsomely framed. Our citizens should not miss this opportunity of decorating their homes at a nominal cost. The opening sale takes place this evening at the store opposite the Grand Central Hotel.

Semi-Annual Sale.
 The semi-annual sale of horses and cattle at Dr. Kincaid's stock farm, which is situated about three miles south of the town, took place on Wednesday. The sale was a successful one, as have been all others that have been held on the farm. The sale commenced at a quarter to two o'clock in the afternoon, and by five o'clock one hundred and thirteen head of cattle and three head of horses were sold. The attendance was not very large, but those who were there were buyers, as may be inferred from the short time it took to dispose of the stock. The prices were fair, from $14 to $45 per head being realized. Mr. Charles Stapleton, assisted by Mr. Harry Stapleton, conducted the sale.

Miss Peck's Lecture.
 Miss Peck, of New York, delivered a lecture in the school room of St. John's Church on Wednesday evening on "How to Nurse the Sick." Owing to the wet weather there was not so many present as should have been, but still there was a fairly large gathering, composed exclusively of women. Miss Peck, during her discourse, gave many very valuable and practical hints as to how to nurse, and those who were present were highly delighted, not only with the interesting information that was given, but with the easy and interesting way in which it was presented by the fair lecturer. Miss Peck is a daughter of Mr. A. H. Peck, Ashburnham. She has attended the Bellevue Training School for Nurses, and has received a diploma from that institution as to her competency as a nurse.

Court Little John.
 The semi-annual installation of the officers of Court Little John, Canadian Order of Foresters, took place in their hall on Wednesday evening. The ceremonies were performed by Mr. W. H. Watson, Deputy District High Chief Ranger, assisted by Mr. A. McNeil, Chief Ranger of Court Peterborough, and Mr. J. Fanning, Past Chief Ranger of the same Court. The following are the names of those who were installed as officers:—

R. H. Langdon C. R.
 W. S. Cooke V. C. R.
 Wm. Green Chap.
 J. R. Stone R. H.
 J. Saward F. R.
 Chas. F. Manning Treas.
 T. Overton S. W.
 W. Stevens J. W.
 J. Morand S. R.
 J. Moore J. H.

Messrs. W. Green and Jas. B. Malligan were appointed auditors to audit the books for the last half year. It was decided to meet on the first and third Wednesdays in each month until further notice is given.

The Harmony Club.
 The new musical association which was formed on the evening of Thursday last, held their second meeting on Wednesday evening. The officers of the club and quite a number of private members were present. After some discussion it was decided to christen the association the "Harmony Club." Mr. Heathfield was appointed musical director. It was also decided that all candidates for membership must first be balloted for before they are admitted, and that there be no honorary members. Whether or not to admit the ladies to membership is to be further considered. The orchestra has already six pieces, first and second violins, violoncello, piano, cornet and piano. To this number it is expected others will be added in due time. After some other minor business had been transacted the orchestra tried over some very pretty overtures and a few of the Mendelssohn quartets were sung by the vocalists present. The club intend to make preparations at once and go into steady practice for having a concert in January. The officers of the Harmony Club are:—

PRESIDENT.—Mr. A. Elliot.
 SECRETARY.—W. A. Leck.
 MUSICAL DIRECTOR.—Mr. A. Heathfield.
 LEADER OF ORCHESTRA.—Mr. J. A. Donnor.

Personal.
 Mr. W. H. Boboheld, a Collegiate Institute, student has been admitted to freshman standing in Victoria University, having passed in all the subjects required for Junior Matriculation.

To the Ladies.
 Every lady should remember Fair, Van Every & Co.'s great 25 per cent. Discount Sale of Trimmed Hats and Bonnets, &c., commencing Nov. 4th.

Missionary Meeting.
 An interesting service will be held at St. Luke's church, Ashburnham, to-morrow, Thursday evening at 7.30. Addresses will be delivered by the Rev. Septimus Jones and others. All are invited.

The 11th.
 It is expected that the Polo contest which will take place in the Lansdowne rink on the 12th of November will be one of the most interesting and exciting events that has taken place in Peterborough for years.

Giant T.
 As the result of my announcement, the public realize the fact that my Base Burners are selling at low prices, my stock is fast diminishing. Call early if you wish to secure bargains. ADAM HALL.

Don't make any appointment for the evening of the 12th of November, for on that evening the great polo contest is to take place at the Lansdowne rink. Those who never saw one of these contests should by all means attend, and to those who are interested in polo it will no doubt be doubly so.

Railway Accident.
 A young man about twenty years of age, named Edward Hargrave, a bookman on the Midland Division of the Grand Trunk Railway, met with a serious accident at Lindsay on Tuesday evening. He was engaged in his duties on the top of a box car when he slipped and fell to the ground. The wheels passed over his left leg a little above the ankle, rendering amputation necessary.

Dr. Thos's Pupils at Upper Canada College.
 B. Morton Jones on entering the 5th form obtained one Residency Exhibition in Classics and one in Modern Languages, two prizes—one for English Composition and one for form examination. Charles Gelling entering same form (5th) obtained four prizes, one for General Proficiency, one for form examination, one special and one for English Composition. Berrie Joy, H. C. Thosier, D'Arcy McMahon, T. E. McCandless and three others got honorable mention in several subjects. An exhibition entitles a boy to free tuition and a certain annual sum. The examinations were outside university men. Examination last day in June, but now only made public.

Assault.
 The evenness of things in general in Ashburnham were somewhat disturbed on Tuesday night. The conduct of one George Mills in the Maple Leaf Hotel, did not appear to be satisfactory to the landlord, who like the landlords across the waters, proceeded to eject the said George, whose conduct was not what it ought to be. Considerable resistance was given, but the superior strength of mine here prevailed. This forenoon the ejected tenant Mr. Lipsett before the magisterial bench of His Worship Magistrate Wood, preferring a charge of assault against him; but after hearing all of the circumstances of the case His Worship came to the conclusion that Mr. Lipsett had not acted wrongly. He therefore dismissed the case. Mr. E. A. Peck appeared for the defendant.

Be Sure You're Right.
 "First be sure you're right, then go ahead," is a very safe maxim to follow, and those who make a point to hold steadfast to it in this world will at life's close have no cause for regret. The cold winter is fast approaching, and with it all the comforts and discomforts that the inhabitants of this mundane sphere could wish for. The comforts of the world are not bestowed on all, but that is no reason why the discomforts should be sought. One of the comforts of a man during the lengthy period of a Canadian winter is to keep warm. Andrew McNeil, at Habilitation Hall, has done the proper thing this season. A large stock of good, substantial underclothing (all first class goods and no shoddy stuff) will be sold to the public at prices that put them within the reach of all. Don't freeze this winter when McNEIL is giving such good value.

Sawdust.
 A meeting of the Anti-Sawdust Association was held in the Mechanics' Institute on Wednesday evening. The President, Mr. R. Meade, occupied the chair. The President, in opening the meeting, reported that a person had been employed to collect evidence against mill owners and that he had already made cases against several mill owners in Peterborough and Lakefield. These cases were now ready to be proceeded with and he would ask the opinion of the meeting as to what was to be done. A discussion, which lasted over an hour, followed, at the conclusion of which it was decided to instruct the secretary to write to the mill owners requesting them to take steps to abate the nuisance. If, in the course of a week, such steps were taken by the mill owners as to dispose of sawdust and still refuse in other ways than that of depositing it in the river, prosecutions would be stayed, but in the event of their not complying with the request of the Association steps to prosecute were at once to be taken. Quite a number of new members were enrolled.

Hospital Reception.
 A meeting of the Board of Trustees of the Nichols Hospital was held in the office of the Secretary, Mr. A. P. Fossomonte, on Wednesday evening. The committee were drafted as follows: Printing Committee, Messrs. J. Stratton and J. McClelland; Supply Committee, Messrs. J. W. Flavelle and J. McClelland; Property Committee, Messrs. J. Stratton, R. S. Davidson and W. Masson. A resolution was passed authorizing the secretary to insert the necessary notice of application for an Act to incorporate the hospital. The secretary was also instructed to have the hospital connected with the telephone exchange as soon as possible. There are now two cases in the hospital, one a case of typhoid fever and the other a complication of diseases. The second case was taken to the hospital on Wednesday. The secretary has sent out circulars to the physicians notifying them of their appointment on the medical staff. Most of the physicians have accepted the appointment already, and the acceptance of the rest will be doubt be forthcoming in a day or two. The staff will then be organized and the hospital arrangements completed. Dr. Burritt has by virtue of the seniority of the date of his diploma the right to be the first physician in attendance. His diploma is dated 1835, while that of Dr. Kiddell, the next oldest physician, is dated 1860, and the next, Dr. Pitt, 1865. The physician will attend the time appointed in the rules and regulations in regular rotation.

Interesting Items Regarding the Peterborough Association.

From the November issue of Association Notes we take the following items regarding the Peterborough Young Men's Christian Association:—

WEEK OF PRAYER.
 This season, which has been so much blessed in the past throughout the world, is again upon us, and our hope is that it will be of great spiritual benefit this year to the young men of Peterborough. A union meeting for the general public will be held in the George St. Methodist Church Sunday School on Sabbath, 9th November, at 4:15 p.m. An account of the wonderful growth of this great movement will be given, and a collection will be taken up on behalf of the International Committee. Special meetings for young men will be held during the week as follows:—

Sunday, Nov. 8, 8:30 p.m.—Mr. J. W. Flavelle, leader.
 Tuesday, Nov. 10, 8 p.m.—Rev. F. H. Wallace, leader.
 Thursday, Nov. 12, 8 p.m.—Rev. A. H. Munro, leader.
 Friday, Nov. 13, 8 p.m.—Rev. I. Tovell, leader.
 Saturday, Nov. 14, 8 p.m.—Rev. E. F. Torrance, leader.

We would like to have a large attendance at these meetings, and trust that our workers will use all their influence to this end. We want a large Invitation Committee at work each evening distributing dodgers. We would also be glad if those who can help us in connection with the music will volunteer their services. Finally, we would ask our workers and all Christian friends to be much in prayer, that God will bless these meetings to the salvation of young men.

NOTES.
 The Reception Committee have got down to work, and will put in a good year of it. They aim to have a member on duty at the rooms each evening.

We are again in need of an organist for our Young Men's Meeting, our friend Mr. Blackwell having removed to Toronto. Who will volunteer?

AMONG the things on the tapis for December are a Trade Reception and a Book Reception. Every member is expected to be at the rooms on Monday, 9th Nov. A very pleasant social time is anticipated.

We are pleased to learn that the George Street Church intend having special evangelistic meetings, probably in December. The Whyte Bros., of Toronto, will assist.

We are pleased to state that the Travelling Secretary, Mr. T. S. Cole, who has been very ill with bronchitis since his return from England, is now somewhat better. We trust that his health will soon be fully restored.

With hardly an exception, the pastors of the town have kindly consented to preach special sermons in behalf of the young men at this season. The Churches have also generously agreed to take up collections in aid of our funds.

DISTRICT CONFERENCE.
 The District Conference, to be held at Port Hope, will take place later in November than at first anticipated. The actual dates have not yet come to hand, but we will make them known as soon as possible, through the press. We hope that a number of our members will make arrangements to go, and thus get warmed up, so as to engage more heartily in the work.

MEMBERS' MEETING.
 As stated in last issue, the next social meeting of members will take place on Monday, 9th November, at 8 o'clock. It is intended to make this far more successful than any that have preceded it, and each member is requested to do his share towards making it a success, by being present. The new officers of the Association specially desire to make the personal acquaintance of every member. A good programme of music and readings is being prepared. Mr. D. B. Gardner will read a paper on some interesting topic (upon which discussion is invited), and refreshments will be served. In order to cover expenses, a voluntary collection will be taken.

YOUNG MEN'S BIBLE CLASS.
 This class has commenced its sessions under the leadership of Rev. F. H. Wallace, M.A., B.D., and the studies have been of a very interesting nature. The subjects studied so far have been "The Form of the Bible," and the "Veracity of the Bible." The next topics to be considered will be the testimony to Scripture resulting from the excavations in Palestine and Syria. Other subjects will be the Versions, Manners and Customs, Geography, Institutions of the Bible, etc. The attendance has been moderately good, but not so large as it should be. We hope that during the present month the members and other young men will turn out so well that the hall will be none too large to accommodate the class.

BOYS' MEETING.
 This meeting has had about the usual attendance. The Sunday school lesson for the following Sunday has been taken up. New members are added to the branch almost every week.

MEETINGS IN BOOKS.
 Tuesday, 8 P.M. Young Men's Bible Class.
 Wednesday, 7.30 P.M. Boys' Meeting.
 Thursday, 8 P.M. Training Class.
 Saturday, 8 P.M. Young Men's Meeting.
 Sunday, 4 P.M. Young Men's Meeting.
 Sunday, 8.30 P.M. Gospel Song Service.

TRAVELLING DEPT.
 A Prizes Service will be held in our hall on Thanksgiving Day, 12th Nov., at 9.45 a.m., to be conducted by Mr. G. M. Roger, open to all. Ladies will be welcome. The exercises will be largely musical. There will be no collection.

POLICE COURT.

THE RAILWAY DIFFICULTY.
 THURSDAY, Nov. 5.—The much postponed case of Mr. Thomas Beavis v. the Grand Trunk Railway Company came up at the Police Court this morning. Mr. Beavis charged the Grand Trunk Railway with having on the third day of October allowed cars to stand on their sidings on Bethune street a longer time than the law allows, thereby infringing on by-law No. 365. These sidings were put in for the purpose of accommodating the owners of store houses, but the complainant claims that the trucks and sidings are used systematically as a railway yard. The evidence of P. C. Adams was taken, in which it was stated that he went to Bethune street on the day in question and saw that there were sixteen cars standing on the street at the time. Six of these cars were standing on the sidings between Charlotte and Simcoe streets. The putting in of the evidence of the complainant occupied from half-past ten o'clock till nearly one o'clock. The evidence for the defence is being taken this afternoon.

McGregor's Speedy Cure.
 It is popularly admitted everywhere that McGregor's Speedy Cure is the most reliable and by far the cheapest remedy for Constipation, Liver Complaint, Indigestion, Impure Blood, Loss of Appetite, and all other similar troubles. It is not necessary to take a great quantity before any result is produced. A few doses will cleanse your system. Trial bottle gives free at John McKee's Drug Store.

 —That the second of the series of pool tournaments did not take place last night.

 —That it will be held in the Hub billiard room on Friday night.
 —That the Orange concert is to be held this evening.
 —That some light fingered individual purloined several articles of household goods from an Ashburnham dwelling on Wednesday.
 —That the fowl fanciers in the south ward are being robbed of their choicest by some persons unknown.
 —That they are thinking of organizing a vigilance committee.

THE REVISING OFFICERS.

In spite of the excellent selection made of able and impartial Revising Officers, some of the Reform journals still cry out against the outrage of appointing them. It may be remarked, however, that the Reform newspapers carefully avoid locating the supposed grievance anywhere in their own neighborhood, where the want of justice in their charges would be manifest to their readers. The wrongdoing is always attributed to a safe distance, or is vaguely described in general terms. In fact almost without an exception the Reform press express satisfaction at the choice of their own local Revising Officers. The following are some staunch Reform journals that do so:—

London Post.
 Coburg World.
 Whitby Chronicle.
 Gravenhurst Banner.
 Brockville Recorder.
 Harris Observer.
 Berlin Telegraph.
 Melford Monitor.
 Acton Free Press.
 Seaforth Examiner.
 Kingston Whig.
 Joseph Mercury.
 Milton Champion.
 Ayr Recorder.
 Colborne Northumberland Enterprise.
 St. Catharines News.
 Norfolk Reformer.
 Marlborough Express.
 Welland Tribune.

This is very far from being an exhaustive list, which would, indeed, be too long for our columns, but it is sufficient to show how general throughout the Province is the appreciation of the Revising Officers where they are best known. Even the strongest opponents of the Administration thus admit its scrupulous justice in this matter. The fierce but meaningless howling of the more rabid portion of the Reform press will therefore have little effect upon public opinion.

With its usual want of fairness the leading Reform journal, after devoting much editorial space to general abuse of Conservatives because rotten eggs had been thrown at the Marquis of Lorne, a Liberal candidate, had not one word of censure to bestow when Lord John Manners, a Conservative candidate, was mobbed by Liberals. Attention being called to this evidence of its petty prejudice the Globe tries to crawl out of its predicament, by asserting that it published both despatches, as if that were the point in question. It does not attempt, however, to explain why it indulged in editorial vilification of political opponents, and had no blame for political friends in similar circumstances.

Among its reason why its Northwest friends should rebel, the London Advertiser lays the greatest stress upon an asserted sale of their lands to the Prince Albert Company. As it happens the Dominion authorities did not sell the land of even one settler to the Prince Albert Company.

We are informed by the Globe that "it is usually understood that what Parliament can give it can also withdraw." Parliament may have the power to do so, but it by no means follows in all cases that it has the right. A Parliament or a nation can commit a robbery as well as an individual.

The London Advertiser in a half-hearted way condemns, while it justifies, the Northwest rebels, but it thinks they were better than the supporters of the Dominion. Of course the Advertiser prefers Reformers to Conservatives.

IN HUMAN RELATIVES

An Old Woman of 84 Confined in a Room for Years.

NEW HAVEN, Conn., Nov. 4.—An agent of the Connecticut Humane Society yesterday broke into the house of Geo. Peck, jr., at Cheshire, Conn., during the absence of the family, and released Mrs. Caroline Brooks, an 84-year-old widow, who had been confined in a room for over two years. Her clothing was wadded, and her surroundings of the most filthy character imaginable. It seems that about three years ago Mrs. Brooks, who is the widow of Aaron Brooks, a soldier in the war of 1812, decided to turn her farm and property in 8th union over to that town in trust, she in turn to receive support from the town, her desire being to keep herself out of the clutches of a niece, the wife of George Peck, jr., of Cheshire. After the transfer of her property, the town contracted with the Pecks, the family she had been so anxious to avoid, to care for her until her death. She was removed to Cheshire, and from the day she entered Peck's house her life has been one of privation and terror. She was locked into a room and fed once a day. The story of her treatment became known to several persons, who immediately notified the humane society. The citizens of Cheshire will prosecute all connected with the affair.

Guarding Steel

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 5.—Extraordinary precautions have been taken at Regina barracks to prevent visitors approaching or communicating with Riel. His guard has been doubled, and Riel is visited every hour. Mounted police men prevent all approach from the outside. Mr. Lemieux has written to the prisoner, saying he has done his best for him, and failed, but adding that there are hopes yet.

THE IRISH NATIONAL LEAGUE.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR, I was very much pleased with the moderate tone of the speeches delivered the other evening at the meeting of the Peterborough branch of the Irish National League.

Still, there are two or three points upon which the newspaper reports are somewhat misleading.

1. It is hardly correct to assert or to imply that all Irishmen (or even nearly all Irishmen), are in favor of the objects of the League.

A very considerable part of the Irish people—a part representing a large share of the intelligence and probably more than half the wealth of the Island—is strongly opposed to the League and Home Rule.

2. I am sure the Rev. Father Conway does not wish to be misunderstood; but his remarks would leave the impression that in Ireland at present men are driven from their homes, imprisoned and dispossessed of their land, merely because they are officers of the League.

But members of the League are proceeded against by law in Ireland, not because they are such members, but because in certain instances they have been connected with boycotting and other lawless proceedings.

Of course in Ireland, as in other countries, a landlord may eject a tenant who does not pay rent, or who fails to fulfil his other obligations. But the powers of the Irish landlord are, in general, far less wide than those of the Scotch, the English or the American landlord. In fact the English, who are so fond of landlords, is reported to have said that were the laws in England, Scotland or America as fair and lenient towards the tenants as similar laws are in Ireland, there would be very little ground for landlord agitation.

I make the foregoing remarks without any reference, of course, to the individual case mentioned in the speech of the Rev. Father Conway.

3. What is meant by "such home rule as we in Canada enjoy"? Does it mean that local affairs should be discussed in a parliament at Dublin and Imperial affairs in a parliament at London? If so there is hardly an analogy between Ireland and Canada, as Canada has no votes in Imperial questions at London. Or does it mean that the only tie binding Great Britain and Ireland shall be allegiance to a common sovereign, and that each island shall have power to raise an army and a navy, and to enter into foreign treaties independently of the one of the other? If so, the analogy hardly exists. Or does it mean that the Lord Lieutenantship shall be abolished, in accordance with the wishes of the British House of Commons as expressed by a vote of 4 to 1 thirty-five years ago, when the Irish members and the Irish people so strenuously objected to the proposed change? If so, there is hardly an analogy between Ireland and Canada, as Canada has no Governor General, but also Lieutenant Governors.

I have read various speeches of Mr. Parnell and his co-workers, as also the speeches delivered at the Boston and Philadelphia general meetings of the Land League, two and three years ago, and certainly, with the exception of the very recent speeches of Mr. Parnell, the utterances favor in most unmistakable language entire separation from Britain.

I ask the foregoing questions with no wish to engage in a controversy, but merely for information, as, if the League is a good thing, it should be encouraged; if a bad thing, it should be condemned.

Peterborough, Nov. 6, 1885.

THANKSGIVING DAY

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—There are, approximately, 900 young men in our town away from home, and who, therefore debared, are, to a great extent, from the pleasant festivities incident to the occasion. Would it not be a good thing for an equal number of our Christian families to take these young men to their homes for dinner or supper on this day? Whilst giving thanks for the bounties of Providence, it will render those thanks all the more acceptable if an effort is made to brighten the lives of those not so favorably situated. All are, therefore, to commend to those of your readers who are in a position to do so, to give an invitation for Thanksgiving Day to one or more of those whose only home life is that of a boarding house. Try it, and you will be all the happier yourself for having made others happy.

Yours, etc.

THANKFUL.

NEW YORK'S GOVERNOR.

A Short Sketch of His Life and Political Career.

David Bennett Hill was born in Schuylers (then Chemung) county, August 2nd, 1844. His ancestors were from New England and of vigorous stock. His education was commenced in the common and finished in the higher schools of his native town with a thorough academic education. Having a taste for law, at the age of 18, in 1862, he went to Elmira to perfect his studies, which he had already begun. In 1864 he was admitted to practice, and since that time there has been no more untiring worker at, or more successful member of, the bar of the Southern Tier. Appreciating the necessity and advantage in the profession of a mastery of the fundamentals which lie at the foundation of government, and from which all law proceeds, Governor Hill has always been a student of first principles, and a natural politician in the highest sense of the term. Hence his selection by his fellow-citizens in Chemung county in 1870 to represent them in the State Assembly, and his re-election in 1871. During his service there he was a recognized and conspicuous leader on the Democratic side, and in the most important committees. As Chairman of the Committee on State While he displayed unusual parliamentary ability.

In 1875 Governor Tilden, who knew Governor Hill well, and who in the present canvass has made no secret of a strong desire for his nomination, tendered him membership in the constitutional convention to provide a plan of uniform government for cities, which he was obliged to decline on account of pressing professional duties. In 1877 and 1884 he was president of the Democratic State Convention. In 1881 he represented them in the State of Elmira in which he lives, and which is strongly Republican, called upon him to represent them in the Common Council, and he responded to their wishes, and was triumphantly elected. This was a marked public compliment and personal triumph. In the spring of 1882 he was elected mayor of Elmira and led his ticket largely over a very strong competitor. In the fall of that year he was the choice of the Democratic State Convention for the nomination for Lieutenant Governor, and was nominated by acclamation upon motion of ex-Senator Raines, who had been presented for the same nomination. His majority for Lieutenant Governor reached the unprecedented figure of 198,791, or 3,927 more than the next highest majority on his ticket. On the election of Governor Cleveland to the Presidency, Governor Hill succeeded him.

A DESPERATE FIGHT

Two Men Rob and Beat a Third and Try to Drown Him.

One of the most desperate cases of robbery and attempted murder that has occurred in the city for a long time, happened on the Esplanade on Wednesday night at an early hour, the victim being a middle-aged man named Michael Hurley, living on Ontario street, and his alleged assailants, Thomas P. Fagan and John Goldwin, two rough looking strangers. It appears that Hurley fell in with two men on York street at an early hour in the evening, and went into the King's hotel, Front street, to get a drink. While there Hurley exposed a roll of $100, and after the drinks had been paid for the three men went together. At 8 o'clock Hurley staggered up to the Union station and informed Constable Slemin that two men had robbed him, and attempted to murder him. He had nothing on but his shirt, the latter having been nearly torn from his back, and his face was almost battered out of shape. He explained to the constable that the men who went into the King's Hotel with him were the parties who attacked him, and the other went with Hurley to the hotel and got the money. The injured man stated that after leaving the hotel the men induced him to go down along the esplanade, saying they would take him to a good hotel near the Union station. He walked along unsuspectingly till they reached the Credit Valley wharf, when he was stopped and asked them where they intended going. One of them muttered some reply, and then turning suddenly, grabbed Hurley by the throat. The other at the same time caught him by the legs, and the two carried him face downwards out on to the wharf. He cried for help, and made a desperate resistance. Three times he succeeded in breaking away from them, but each time he was knocked down and kicked about the face and head. Finally one of them twisted a handkerchief round his neck and held him while the other removed his clothing and stole from the pockets $10.00, a portion of the money being a $5 bill that had been partly burned. After they had got his money he twisted him self out of their hands and made a dash for the Esplanade, but they caught him again, and one of them, drawing a razor, tried to slash his throat. He renewed his cries and struggles and they then dragged him to the edge of the wharf and tried to throw him into the water. Just at this moment, however, two G.T.R. employees heard the cries and started for the wharf. The thieves caught sight of them and fled. Shortly after Hurley had finished his story Constable Patton, who had been supplied with a description of the men, met them on York street and arrested them. Upon being searched at the police station the burned $5 was found in a pocket of one of them.—Frontier News.

LIFE AND CHARACTERISTICS OF FOREST TREES.

Eleven years ago I examined the stumps of two white oaks and the grave of the chief, which told this singular story by circumstantial evidence so strong that it could not be doubted: In the year 1509 an acorn fell about one half mile from where I am now writing (Rockville, Ind.) and by favorable chance sprouted and grew into an oak. In 1594 another acorn sprouted about 30 feet distant from it. It may have grown on the tree mentioned, as it was then 92 years old. In 1731 a tornado from the northwest blew down a still older oak, which in its fall struck against and greatly damaged the top of the one born in 1502. There is to-day the well-marked grave of the fallen giant, the dirt piled upon the southeast side of the hole, and a long depression in the ground where the trunk fell and rotted, till not a vestige of its wood can be seen to-day (though some traces of the bark of the roots can). This depression points to the stump of the damaged oak. The two younger had been freshly cut down when I examined them. Their stumps were about four feet across and there was not over an inch difference between their diameters, though 92 years difference in their ages. The younger had a large, healthy top, no broken or dead limbs, and it had put on rings of growth from the beginning of more than average size. The older one had been injured in its branches by the fall of the still older one before mentioned (in 1731) and for 57 years had put on very small rings of growth (about 25 to 30 years to the inch instead of twelve to fifteen, as it should be). A set of branches developed to take the place of the damaged ones, and the rings began to increase in size and gradually attained to the average. I examined their tips, which coincided with what has gone before. There were the peculiar knots in the top of the older one where the dead limbs had rotted off and were healed over. (Any expert timberman will readily recognize them.) During this delay the younger oak caught up with the older one in size. The size of a tree is a very uncertain indication of its age.

In all the cases of the hundred I have examined of the oaks (the oldest trees of the forest I think), I never saw but one that was here when Columbus discovered America. That one was by far the largest I ever saw, and was over 600 years old, about twice the age of the other largest oaks. I could not get its exact age, as it was so decayed near the heart I could not distinguish the rings. It was between six and seven feet in diameter, and forked about sixty feet up, and each fork was as large as the other largest tree. It was not sound enough to make good lumber, being what in this region is called "doughy," a state between soundness and rotteness. It had been down a year before I examined it (being out of the country when it cut), so that it was very difficult to examine. I have mislaid my memorandum of it, but it would be about as follows: At the age of 300 years it had some ill-fortune which caused it to form about 100 small rings, which retained its health and formed normal rings for 140 years, when another mishap caused small rings till within the last fifty years, when it was putting on fair growth again. This tree was, about one and a half miles from Rockville, Ind., and was noted among hunters and woodsmen. It was a disagreeable, showery day when I examined it, and for that reason I did not examine its top to see if dead and lost and healed over limbs coincided with the small rings, but I have often done so in other cases and found them to coincide.

Last May (1884) I examined a sycamore and water elm in the Wabash River bottom, the former six feet in diameter, and the latter five, each 180 years. They stood about 150 feet apart. They were standing on the upper end of a newly made bottom (I mean new as compared with the higher and older bottoms a little more inland from the other, say 200 years). This was the largest sycamore I ever saw that was sound to the heart. I have seen hollow ones nearly eight feet in diameter. This tree seems never to have met with any mishap till the log man came along, as the rings of growth are unusually large.

These trees very probably sprouted twelve to fifteen feet below the present surface of the bottom. They generally begin life in a hole, end of river sand bars, and as sedimentation builds up the surface, they put out new surface roots at every two or three feet of elevation. Such trees, with their several sets of surface roots, are often seen in drift piles, and also still standing on the verge of a deep river bank, where one side is exposed by the erosion of the river. Their roots are often hollow, like their trunks, the hollow (and root too) decreasing in diameter downward until it terminates in a point, like a cone standing on its point. In the southwest corner of this county is a hollow cottonwood stump on what is now a high bottom of the Wabash, in which the hollow extends downward twelve feet. Mr. Joseph J. Daniels, an intelligent, observing man, on whose land it stands, told me so. Such sitting up over the surface roots would kill most of the upland trees, or those that grow from the seed on the high bottoms. — Waterbury.

Greenhouse and Winter Plants.

Bulbs for flowering indoors, should be potted; set the pots in a dark cellar or pit, until wanted for blooming. The same applies to plants taken up from the borders for forcing in winter. The fight with insects should begin from the start. In the window garden, the plants can be taken to a bath tub or a sink for treatment. Frequent showering with water is best for the red spider; tobacco tea will kill plant lice; hand-picking, if begun at once, will keep the mealy-bugs and scale-lies in subjection; earth worms in pots may be killed by the use of clear lime water. Failure with house plants is frequently due to the sudden change from the open air to a close heated room. Make the change gradual by opening the windows on mild days. Hanging baskets best watered by plunging them into a bucket or tub of water, and letting the ball of earth soak through. Plants in the hands of amateurs, often suffer more from too much than too little water. Keeping the soil soaked will soon kill most plants. It is better to wait until the plant shows that it needs water before giving it. — American Agriculturist.

André, the Spy.

TAFAN, N. Y., Nov. 4.—The André monument was blown up by the explosion of a dynamite cartridge at 10:02 last night. Both bases were blown into atoms, and the iron facing that enclosed the monument was completely demolished. The clock was so great that it broke the glass in houses a mile away. In a hotel, one-half mile distant, it broke the globes on the lamps, and the West Shore railroad depot was jarred and several panes of glass were broken. In about fifteen minutes after the explosion there were about 200 persons on the spot; some came running with revolvers in their hands. The postmaster and his wife, both over 70 years of age, were among the crowd.

This is the second attempt to destroy the monument, the first being about six years ago, when dynamite was placed at the base and the statue was destroyed. The monument was erected by Cyrus W. Field, of New York, to the English spy André, who visited the traitor Arnold to negotiate a surrender at West Point.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Another Branch.

A branch of the Irish National League has been formed in Douro, as the result of Mr. Sutton's visit and the efforts of the Rev. Father O'Connell.

At Home.

A choice programme is being prepared for the "At Home" to be given on Thanksgiving evening in the lecture room of the George Street Methodist Church.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours commencing from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Strong winds or moderate gales from the north-east and south-east; generally cloudy weather, with occasional rain.

Original.

A good many of our merchants think that in the scroll letter and enamel they have the very "latest" in signs. And so they have, perhaps. But Bellingham, the furniture man, is going to eclipse them all. In a short time a large glass case will appear projecting in front of his establishment on Hunter street, in which will be enclosed a steam engine in full working order. This will make suitable sign for go ahead-tive establishment.

To Feed New Yorkers.

Mr. W. Denoon, the enterprising shipper, sent two carloads of choice sheep and lambs to the New York market to day. The cars are both double deckers and hold one hundred sheep each. The stock to fill one car was purchased in the vicinity of Peterborough, while the other carload was purchased near Cavanville, on the Ontario and Quebec road. Mr. Denoon has made large purchases of all kinds of stock throughout the district this season, and ranks among the most successful stock dealers in Peterborough.

The Proceeds.

The proceeds of the Mrs. T. Charles Watson entertainment, given under the auspices of the Young Men's Christian Association, amounted to one hundred and forty dollars. Owing to the expenses being so high the Association did not clear a great deal out of this; but still it has placed a neat sum to its credit. It is understood that the Association intends to give another entertainment some time in December, when no doubt the same liberal patronage extended to the Mrs. Watson entertainment will be again bestowed.

A Departure.

There are now two stove factories in Peterborough; the big one in the south ward and another in the west part of the town. Not only the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company manufacture boilers, engines, and mill machinery of all kinds, but they have commenced to make stoves, or large stoves, of a peculiar design. The furnace is cylindrical, and made of wrought iron or steel, as per order. On each side of the furnace are two cylindrical tubes about seven inches in diameter, and running the whole length of the furnace. These two, one each side, with the one on the top forms a gable, almost enclosing the furnace. A damper, easily worked, throws the heat all into these tubes, or allows it to escape through pipe alone. The company are now making a large one for the George Street Methodist Church.

Manitoba Wheat.

Five carloads of Manitoba wheat has arrived by the Canadian Pacific Railway for Mr. Geo. Hilliard. The amount of grain is four thousand bushels, two thousand of which is the product of the farm belonging to Mr. G. G. Hilliard, the son of our M.P. Mr. Hilliard has paid a visit to his son recently, and is well satisfied with the products of North West farming. The farm of Mr. G. G. Hilliard comprises a whole section near the town of Brandon, about 200 acres of which is under cultivation. The ten thousand bushels of wheat was threatened from ten stacks, and is about half the quantity produced by 100 acres. By this it will be seen that the average yield per acre was 25 bushels. The wheat came by train to Port Arthur where it was loaded on the steamer "Alberta," and thence from Owen Sound by rail to Peterborough.

If you are in want of a good serviceable over coat, cut made and trimmed in the latest fashion, there is no better place to call, than ANDREW McNEIL, of Habillment Hall.

The First Visit.

The Nicholls Hospital is now in full working order. Dr. Kincaid, the senior physician of Peterborough, paid his first official visit to the hospital to day. He will, according to the rules and regulations, attend for one month.

Grand Polo Contest.

The Port Hoppers are sure to be very agile polo players and all should see the grand contest at the Lansdowne Rink on the evening of the 12th November. A very exciting contest is sure to take place.

Just received at Habillment Hall a full range of Canadian Jackets, to be sold at prices that will please all who see them. Give McNEIL a call.

A New Cornet.

Mr. E. Mannel has purchased a new flutist, H. Hat cornet. It is a handsome silver plated instrument and has a pleasing purity and clearness of tone. It is especially designed for orchestra purposes, but will also be used by Mr. Mannel in his capacity of cornet player in the City Band. The instrument is a decided acquisition to the band.

Boilers.

The Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company have turned out two fine boilers during the past week. One is for the Central Bridge Works, and the other for Mr. Geo. Matthews' pork packing house. The former is 12 x 4, double rivetted, and made extra strong throughout, being made of 5-16 steel. It was tested at 125 pounds of cold water pressure, and stood the test without budging in any part. It has 54 three inch tubes. The latter is a similar boiler. It is 34 inches by 10 feet, and has 26 three inch tubes.

More Room.

There is no use of a man trying to carry on a large trade in an inadequate place of business. The truth of this was realized by Bellingham, the Hunter street furniture man, a year or two ago, when he increased the size of his warehouse to nearly twice their former dimensions. But now he is in another fix. He finds that he has not enough factory room, and that the present factory is not capable of turning out enough goods to supply the wants of his customers. He is soon going to make arrangements to remedy this disadvantage. He will, as soon as possible, increase the size of his factory by one third.

Personal.

Mr. John Miller, formerly of Peterborough, plays a cornet in the Campbellford Methodist Church.

In its account of the Presbyterian concert in Campbellford the Herald says that "Mrs. Chambers, of Peterborough, sang beautifully several sacred pieces with much effect."

Mr. "Jim" Ellis, the popular ticket clerk at the Ontario and Quebec railway station, has been suffering from a protracted illness. He intends to take a trip out west to see if the salubrious Colorado climate will benefit his health.

The Rev. Mr. McAmmond, who has been ill for some weeks, is now able to be about again. He will resume his pastoral duties on Sunday.

Mr. John MacKay, superintendent of the agencies of the Mutual Reserve fund Life Association, was in town on Thursday. This association is represented by Mr. Geo. Morrison.

We regret to record the death, quite suddenly, of Harry, the eldest son of Mr. D. B. Gardner. The little fellow was the life of the house, and the change in the family circle will be very marked. The remains are being removed for interment to Sarnia, that being the residence of Mrs. Gardner's father, the Hon. A. Vidal.

It might be remarked that the Habillment Hall has been awarded the contract to carry the conductors on the Midland Division of the G. T. R. with winter Overcoat.

That it will be completed to the perfect satisfaction of the company.

That Court Peterborough No. 29 C. O. F. will hold their semi annual meeting this Friday evening at 8 p. m. in their beautiful Hall, George Street.

That the "boys" who attended the social gathering in Ashburnham last evening, say they never had a better time, and speak in glowing terms of the hospitality extended by the worthy host and hostess.

That the sale of oil paintings, etc., is now going on at Stapleton's auction rooms, next door to REVIEW office. Come and see the elegant display of fine art.

That the opening sale of pictures at Stapleton's auction rooms was a success in spite of the rains last night. Quite a few paintings were sold at astonishing prices. Call to night and secure a bargain.

That a regular meeting of the District Literary Club will be held this evening.

And that the members will discuss Canadian independence.

That the cheap poultry is damaging the butchers' trade.

That the second of the pool tournaments takes place at the Hub this evening.

That no one in particular is the favorite.

That is consequence of the evenness of the play during the first contest it is likely that the speculative men will not be over anxious to back any of the players.

That Mr. Thomas Beavis, Local License Inspector, etc., asks the modest sum of $5,000 for his much abused lot.

That there was a meeting of the Philharmonic Society last night, at which several new members were enrolled.

That the members of the Sewing Society in connection with the Bernardo Home are hard at work this afternoon.

That as a result some of the little fellows will be made proud and happy.

ORANGE CONCERT.

A celebration of the Frustration of the Gun Powder Plot.

On Thursday evening the L. O. L., No. 80, celebrated the frustration of Guy Fawkes in their hall on the corner of Simcoe and George streets. The attendance was fairly large considering the wet weather. At about eight o'clock Mr. J. B. McWilliams took the chair. Just two hundred and eighty years ago to-night, he said, the despicable Guy Fawkes had been prevented from carrying out his ghastly designs on the British Parliament buildings. It had been customary with the Orange order to celebrate the event in some way or other. Some years an effigy of this demon in human form had been burned, but this year the L. O. L., No. 80, had decided to depart from the usual course. They had decided to hold a concert, so that the wives and sweethearts of Orangemen might meet and take part in the celebration. He then called on Messrs. D. D. Galletly, D. H. Moore and Misses Logan and Stevens, to open the concert by singing a quartette, "Cousin Jedediah." This humorous selection was just the one of all others to commence with, for, with the interpretation given, it at once set everybody in the merriest mood. At the conclusion it was hard to distinguish which was the more vigorous, the laughter or the applause. Prof. Reid next gave an exhibition of ventriloquism and a recitation. Owing to his lips being in an ill-condition he only gave one ventriloquical act, that of the talking band. He then recited the "Moneyless Man" and the "Boy's First Recitation." He was warmly applauded. Misses Logan and Stevens next sang that old, but ever sweet duet, "In the Starlight," which was followed by a vocal solo by Mr. D. D. Galletly, "The Harp that Once Thro' Tara's Hall." Mr. Galletly recited this with an unusual warmth of feeling, receiving liberal applause.

This closed the first part, after which there was an intermission of five minutes, during which the friends gathered enjoyed in conversation and in making old acquaintance new.

The duet Rachel and Reuben, by Mr. Galletly and Miss Logan, opened the second part. Miss Logan took the part of the importune maid with a particularly pleasing yet amusing sobriety, while Mr. Galletly was the tardy lover itself. When the duet was finished the hall fairly rang with long applause. The vocalists responded by giving in a very felicitous manner "When Ye Gang Awa, Jamie," which was also well applauded. Master R. McWilliams then made his first appearance on a public platform by reciting "The Widow's Mite," which he did in a very creditable manner, without making either a falter or a mistake. The next number was a quartette by Messrs. Galletly and Moore, and Misses Logan and Stevens. The quartette consisted of Edgar Allan Poe's celebrated poem "The Raven," being set to recitative music. "All's Well," a duet, was sung by Mr. Galletly and Miss Stevens, and Prof. Reid then gave an exhibition of sword feats. He cut the apple on Mr. Galletly's neck, and when the two halves fell to the floor the audience, whose nerves were screwed up the sticking point for the vocalist's safety, again breathed freely. The professor tried the same experiment on a dog's head, but the canine proved to be rather bashful before a critical audience. After cutting the lead bar and giving some Zouave double sword exercise the professor brought his feats to a close. Another quartette was given, and all joined heartily in singing "God Save the Queen." The very pleasant evening's enjoyment was thus brought to a close.

Missionary.

A missionary meeting was held in St. Luke's Church on Thursday evening. Owing to the wet weather there was only a fair attendance. The Rev. Septimus Jones, of Toronto, the Rev. T. B. Angell, curate of St. John's, and the Rector, the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, delivered addresses.

Ashburnham Justice.

The same pair of litigants as were at the Police Court, Ashburnham, again interviewed His Worship, Magistrate Wood, this morning. There was only one little difference, Mills being the defendant instead of the complainant. Geo. Lipsett brought him up for using insulting language, to which charge the defendant pleaded guilty. A dollar and costs was all that His Worship called on Mills to contribute.

MODERN CONSTITUTIONAL USAGE

What is the intimate mixture of silliness and malignity for which the Globe in recent days has been distinguished, it is revealing its calumnious and unfounded assertion that Sir John Macdonald was guilty of falsehood in describing the events connected with the reference of the dismissal of Lieut. Governor Letellier to the Imperial Secretary of State for the Colonies. The occasion for this renewed slander is a recent publication by the Marquis of Lorne, a quotation from which is placed alongside of one from a speech in the House of Commons by Sir John, the insinuation being made that they are contradictory, and of course, that Sir John is wrong. As it happens there is no contradiction, nor any reason to suspect inaccuracy on the part of either.

The Marquis describes Mr. Letellier's act as "legal, but not conceived in the spirit of modern constitutional usage." He then describes how he did not consider it for the best interests of the country that the Ministry should give effect to the vote of dismissal by the House of Commons. He proceeds to state that the Ministry desired to do so, "but rather than have any controversy with the Governor-General, they suggested" the reference to Westminster. Sir John Macdonald, in his quoted explanation, states that the Ministry unanimously thought it would be for the interests of the country that Mr. Letellier should be dismissed, and that he would have been pleased if that advice had been at once accepted. But, as he goes on to say, though that advice had not been refused or rejected, the representative of the Queen "state that he would, like to submit the matter" to the Sovereign.

What reasonable being can see any contradiction here. According to both authorities the Ministry thought it best to carry into effect the vote of dismissal, and the Governor-General did not consider it best. According to both, in their deliberations in Council these different views were not brought into conflict—there being, as Lord Lorne says, no controversy, and as Sir John says, no rejection of their advice. According to both authorities the Governor-General and the Ministry were alike willing to agree to defer the decision and abide by the view of the Sovereign and her advisers. Both stories agree perfectly.

The Globe, however, dishonestly endeavors to make out a disagreement where none exists. Looking at the manner of coming to this determination, the Marquis says the Ministry suggested it. Looking to the result of their deliberations, Sir John says Lord Lorne states he would like to submit the matter. Both statements are no doubt correct. The Marquis does not say he did not wish to submit the matter, and Sir John does not say he or some colleague did not suggest the reference. What is more easy than the obvious explanation that in considering the question the Ministry made the suggestion and the Governor-General gladly caught at it, so that it took the regular constitutional shape of the act of the representative of the Sovereign with the advice of his responsible Ministry—of the Governor-General in Council. Thus the Premier gave it to the House, and thus the ex-Governor-General now gives it to the world.

The fact is to every thinking man whose mind is unwarped by prejudice this incident in his eventful career is another proof of Sir John Macdonald's statesmanship and valuable services to this country. His suggestion, advised the difficulty in a manner that saved much unpleasantness both to the Governor-General and to the country. If he had promptly intimated upon the dismissal, Lord Lorne might have given way, but only by yielding his own views under painful coercion. Or he might have rejected the advice of his Ministry and thus have placed himself in the same position as the offending Lieut. Governor by acting legally but not in the "spirit of modern constitutional usage." Sir John thus virtually dismissed what has appeared to the country, and with such a cry as the rejection of a parliamentary vote and of Ministerial advice by the Governor-General, he would assuredly have been sent back with a greatly increased majority amidst an outbreak of excitement not in the interests either of the Dominion or of the Empire—of the people or of the Sovereign. And that the Governor-General having shown such a contempt for "the spirit of modern constitutional usage," would have been recalled, may be followed as surely as the night follows the day. The Quebec Herald, with the legal right to dismiss a Minister, has never during her long reign thus acted in the teeth of the "spirit of modern constitutional usage," and a higher prerogative cannot be permitted to Governor-General or Lieutenant-Governor than to the Sovereign.

Except temporary misrepresentation of his own action, Sir John risked nothing but a little delay, quite compensated by the plausible suggestion and the more authoritative settlement of the constitutional point. With his experience in statesmanship and sound constitutional knowledge, he foresaw that the decision must inevitably be that the Governor-General should accept the advice of his responsible Ministers with a majority of the representative of the people of Canada at their back, just as Lieutenant-Governor Letellier was bound to accept the advice of the Quebec Ministry in a similar position. British statesmen of all schools would agree in not giving up "the modern constitutional usage" of responsible Government.

It is singular that in Canada it is so-called Reformers—professed Liberals, who have advocated exalting the power of the Crown and curtailing that of the responsible Ministry, of the Legislature, and of the people. Or rather it would be singular, but that these pretended Reformers and Liberals are would-be tyrants, aiming at power by any means, and scorning the people opposed to them.

THE TOLLERS OF THE SEA.

Terrible sufferings of the survivors of the Labrador Disaster.

St. JOHN, Nfld., Nov. 5.—Survivors of the terrible gale which occurred on the 11th and 12th ult. on the bleak coast of Labrador, continue to arrive here in a destitute condition. The story of their sufferings is sad indeed. Those who passed through the gale describe it as the most awful hurricane ever witnessed even by those hardy fishermen who frequent that storm-beaten coast. It first blew from the south-east continually increasing in violence, then it suddenly veered to the northeast and the cold became intense. The fierce blast began to hurl the snow flakes on their wings of gloom, and at intervals the whole atmosphere was darkened by the drift. It was a scene of awe and terror, which the imagination can but faintly realize. In the midst of this war of elements a fleet of little fishing vessels were STRUGGLING FOR LIFE.

 Some were caught in the tempest on their homeward voyage, laden deeply with the produce of the summer toil—others lay at anchor, loading, in the exposed roadsteads and harbors, where there was no sufficient shelter. On board were hundreds of fishermen many of them with their wives and children for it is their custom to take their families with them to aid in handling the fish. As the storm continued and increased in violence the vessels were pressed nearer and nearer to the fatal rocks with their affrighted freight clinging desperately to the downed bulks, while one and then another were dashed against the rocks, the human mass hurled into the swirling surges some sinking to rise no more, others clinging to fragments of the wreck; some flung ashore, more dead than alive, on the huge rollers. Thus perished some 30 human beings.

THE SADDEST SCENE OF ALL.
 was at White Bear islands. Here two vessels, the Release and Hope, with all their anchors out, were struggling to ride out the storm. They held on till Monday morning when the morning gale was over. The Release drifted on an island to leeward, and was speedily dashed to pieces. Twenty-five of those on board were drowned, all but six being women and children. The Hope was carried on a ledge of rock near the shore. Two points were launched and filled with those on board, who reached the shore in safety, but before the remainder could be rescued, the vessel broke up and fourteen met a watery grave, most of them being women and children. The scene is said to have been appalling. Poor mothers were seen clinging their children to their bosoms in speechless agony, and children crying for aid and clinging to the hands that were powerless to save. The mercies have blown rushed on them and covered all with a winding sheet of foam.

Thirty-nine in all perished at this single spot. One man lost his wife and four children.

A BRAVE BOY.
 Another touching story is told of a fine manly little fellow of 12 years who was in a father's vessel when she was dashed to pieces. The father tried to save the boy by swimming with the lad fastened on his back. He struggled hard, but again and again with such a burden on his shoulders, he was nearly overwhelmed. The poor boy begged his father to let him go and save his own life; and when he saw that his father would not do this he made up his mind to free himself and struck out towards the shore. A huge wave came and flung father and son on the shore and both were saved. When asked afterwards by a lady if he felt afraid he answered: "No man, I was only a little frightened. I thought poor father was going to be drowned, and what would mother do then—so I got off his back."

ACTS OF HEROISM.
 The dark tragedy is relieved by some traits of genuine heroism. A young man named Reardon had escaped from a wreck by swimming. He had barely reached the shore when he heard the wild shrieks of despair from a woman on board another vessel that was fast going to pieces. The brave fellow did not hesitate a moment. He dashed into the boiling surges, and after a fearful struggle with the waves, he reached the wreck and sprang ashore, bringing with him the rescued woman. Just before he reached the shore the women on board were rescued by the falling of a punt upon them. Surely if ever a hero merited the Victoria Cross for valor, this Newfoundland fisherman deserves such honor. The Government, as soon as the news of the disaster reached St. John's, at once sent out vessels to bring the survivors back to the island. The poor people as they arrive are in a pitiable plight, but thankful to reach home alive. Many of them have lost everything. All their hard-earned catch of fish is gone, and they come home to face the long, cold winter with hardly anything in their houses. They will receive all the help that is possible both from private charity and out of the public funds, but with all this aid it will be some time before their privations and sufferings will be great.

THE RIEL APPEAL CASE

Full Text of the Judgment of the Privy Council.

The following is the full text of the judgment delivered by the Lord Chancellor as the unanimous decision of the Judicial Committee of the Privy Council in the appeal of Riel for leave to appeal against the sentence of the Regina Court:

"This is the petition of Louis Riel, who was tried on the 20th of July last at Regina, in the North West Territory of Canada, and convicted of high treason and sentenced to death, for leave to appeal against the conviction. It is the general rule of this committee not to grant leave to appeal in criminal cases except where some clear departure from the requirements of justice is alleged to have taken place. Whether in this case the prerogative to grant the appeal in criminal cases still exists, their Lordships not having heard that question argued, desire neither to affirm nor to deny, but they are clearly of opinion that in this case leave should not be given. The petitioner was tried under the provisions of an Act passed by the Canadian Legislature providing for the administration of criminal justice in those portions of the North-West Territory of Canada, in which the offences charged against the petitioner are alleged to have been committed. No question has been raised that the facts as alleged were not proved to have taken place; nor was it denied before the original trial that the Court of Appeal in Manitoba, that the acts attributed to the petitioner amounted to the crime of high treason. The defence upon the facts could not be established before the Court of Appeal in Manitoba, and the fact was that the petitioner was not responsible for his acts by reason of mental infirmity. The jury before whom the petitioner was tried accepted that defence, and no argument was presented to their Lordships directed to show that the finding was otherwise than correct. Of the objections argued on the facts of the petition for appeal, two points only seem to be capable of plausible or even intelligible expression, and they have been argued before their Lordships with as much force as possible, and in their Lordships' opinion, naturally and completely as could have been done if leave to appeal had been granted. They have also been dealt with by the judgments of the Court of Appeal in Manitoba, with a common learning, and ability that leaves very little to be said upon them. The great point is that the Act itself under which the petitioner was tried was a law passed by the Dominion Parliament, and that Parliament derived its authority from the passing of the statute from the Imperial statute 34 and 35 Vic., cap. 28, which enacts that 'The Parliament of Canada may, from time to time, make provision for the administration, peace, order, and good government of any territory not yet divided into provinces in any Province; and it is not denied that the place in question was one in respect of which the Parliament of Canada was authorized to make such provision, but it appears to be suggested that any provision made by the Parliament of Canada in this respect has been made for the administration of peace, order and good government, and that the statute relating to the crime of high treason, and further, that if a court of law should come to the conclusion that a particular enactment was not calculated as a matter of fact and policy to secure peace, order and good government they would be entitled to regard any statute directed to those objects, but which a court might think likely to fail of that effect as ultra vires and beyond the competency of the Dominion Parliament to enact. Their Lordships are of opinion that there is no ground for such a contention.

The words of the statute are apt to authorize the utmost discretion of enactment for the attainment of the objects pointed to. They are words under which the widest departure from criminal procedure, as it is known and practiced in this country, have been authorized in Her Majesty's Indian Empire. Forms of procedure unknown to the English common law have there been established and acted upon, and to throw the least doubt upon the validity of powers conveyed by those words would be of widely mischievous consequences. Upon the construction of the Canadian Statute, 43 Vic., cap. 25, there was indeed a contention that high treason was not included in the words "any other crimes," but it is too clear for argument even without the assistance afforded by the 10th section that Dominion Legislature did contemplate the commission of high treason as within the jurisdiction of the Act they were creating. The second point suggested assumes the validity of the Act, and is founded on the assumption that the Act itself had not been complied with. By the 7th subsection of the 7th section it is provided that "the magistrates shall take, or cause to be taken in writing, full notes of the evidence and other proceedings thereat," and it is suggested that this provision has not been complied with because, though no complaint is made of inaccuracy or mistake, it is stated that the notes were taken by a shorthand writer under the authority of the magistrate, and by a subsequent process extended into ordinary writing intelligible to all. The Lordships desire to express no opinion as to what would have been the effect if the provision of the statute had not been complied with, because it is unnecessary to consider whether the provision is directory only or whether the failure to comply with it would be ground for error, in as much as they are of opinion that the taking full notes of the evidence in shorthand was a causing to be taken in therefore a literal compliance with the statute. Their Lordships will therefore humbly advise Her Majesty that leave should not be granted to prosecute this appeal, and that the petitioners' appeal should be dismissed.

MEASURES IN ONTARIO

One hundred and twenty farms have been quarantined in Essex, and upwards of 4,500 hogs have died or have been shut since the outbreak. The first herd which took the disease in Essex have been completely wiped out. The disease, it appears, is not to be treated medically with any great hope of success.

25TH WINTER SEASON

THE DYING CHILD.

By the Editor of the Review.

The sight of a dying child appeals to all the tenderest feelings of a human mother. We look upon the poor little helpless thing, tearfully crying and moaning, looking silently and longingly for its absent mother, but it cannot tell its mother of its sufferings. At first it is impatient of restraint, but gradually, as the sickness increases, it becomes helpless and stiff and, as death draws near, seldom notices what is passing around. Even the presence and tender care of the sorrowing mother are unheeded, and there it lies, suspended between life and death, waiting for the heavenly angels to come to take its soul away and place it in the arms of its loving Saviour. In the still hour of the night it passes away, and the little body is taken and laid carefully in its grave. The weeping mother's heart is sorrowing with anguish at its loss, and for months and years the tears are often brought into her eyes at the thought of her lost one, and her grief is made greater as she finds some little relic of her baby, perhaps a plaything or a little shoe.

They have laid her to rest 'neath the willow,
By the side of the father and child.
In summer birds sweetly sing o'er her,
In winter the winds whistle wild.
Her form was as fair as the fairest,
Her eyes were as blue as the sky.
Oh, dearie, my darling, my loved one,
Why did you, why did you die?

Her form was as fair as the fairest,
Her eyes were as blue as the sky.
Oh, dearie, my darling, my loved one,
Why did you, why did you die?

Her little white hands they were folded,
A red rose was placed on her breast.
Her coffin was strewn with camellias,
The day that was laid to her rest.
Her sweet gentle voice now we miss it,
And also her kind, loving smile.
Oh, dearie, my darling, my loved one,
Why did you, why did you die?

Let us go now into the house of the poor, a scanty furnished room where mother and child reside. Their lot is a hard one. The mother works hard, but sometimes her little boy cries from hunger and want, and she has no means of help save what the procure for her daily toil. Oftentimes the poor little fellow has to be left all alone while the mother goes out to earn her bread, and at night he watches for her return, for the poor child is so lonely and sad. Who can tell the mother's feelings during her long absence, always thinking of her little boy at home. Still she has to work on through the long, tedious day, and when her labor is over she brings a few pennies by means of her scanty earnings, and then hurries on her way home. Her little boy meets her at the door and she throws his arms around her and almost weeps for joy, for he knows that his mother will be with him through the dark and weary night. They take of their humble meal, say their evening prayers and retire to rest. On the next day and the next the same weary routine goes on, the mother toiling hard and the little boy watching and waiting. But by and by a change comes, when the poor boy could watch no longer. When the mother came home one night so little son was to be seen, and when she entered her room she discovered the child lying upon the bed moaning and crying and in a raging fever. The poor woman was almost beside herself with grief. Her little boy did not know her. He was constantly crying for his mother, and yet he did not recognize her. What was she to do? To leave him thus was certain death. A kind providence came to her relief in the form of a medical man, who tenderly nursed the child and did all he could to restore him to health. But it was in vain. The angel of death had set his seal upon the little fellow and his spirit was soon to take its flight to the world above. Just before he died he told his mother he saw the beautiful angels and that the angels were waiting to take him in, and his last words were, "Mother, you will meet me there, and then there will be no more trouble or sorrow in parting forever." His little body was carefully laid away, and then the mother was left alone. Just think of it. Try, if you can, to realize her painful situation. No one upon whom she had any claim, no one to whom she could go for sympathy or relief. She was, indeed, all alone, and she was indeed to be pitied. When the shades of evening fell around her dwelling she might see sitting and thinking and crying about her poor child, who was taken from her so suddenly and so young. There is a wide difference between the rich and the poor in this respect. The rich have money and comforts and friends to console them in their bereavement, but the poor are indeed to be pitied. All alone, all alone, no one to comfort them, and sitting left for their own sorrow and trouble. The little source of affliction is gone and the vacancy caused by the death of her little child is always present and the tears of the poor, hard-working mother, in her lonely home, are all that are left now. The little child, who was consoled by numerous friends in his affliction, but the poor mother is without friends and all that she can do is, when the toll of the day is over and she has returned to her lonely home, to sit and think and cry for the loss of her child, whose laugh and playfulness will never cheer her more.

Oh, Elia Rose, so kind and true,
In the little churchyard lies,
Her grave is marked with drops of dew,
But brighter were her eyes.
Then carry me back to Tennessee,
There let me live and die,
Among the fields of yellow corn,
And the land where Elia lies.

Her pretty eyes and gentle form
Melted in yet one scene;
I love the spot where she was born,
Way down in Tennessee.
Then carry me back to Tennessee,
There let me live and die,
Among the fields of yellow corn,
And the land where Elia lies.

The summer moon will rise and set,
And the night birds thrill their lay,
And the possum and the coon softly step
Round the grave of Elia Rose.
Then carry me back to Tennessee,
There let me live and die,
Among the fields of yellow corn,
And the land where Elia lies.

Now let us go into the lower depths, among the wretched and abandoned, where the little children are not only neglected, but wilfully and continuously abused, and there look upon the desecrated scene of a poor little helpless infant of barely four summers. There we learn a lesson of human depravity, but a lesson which will stir the depths of human compassion and pity for the helpless and the forlorn. Everyone knows the terrible condition of such people, and knows that their so-called homes are the abode of filth, wickedness and misery. Their children come into the world in sin and shame, and are neglected and abused from the hour of their first breath, and are neglected and abused to the end. Not one particle of comfort or peace do they ever see, and the sufferings which they endure are simply beyond description. They drink in the vilest whiskey from their mother's breast, and they live in one continued state of starvation and nakedness and horrible abuse. It is thus easy to realize what their sufferings must be in times of severe sickness, and their moans and cries go unheeded and are seldom heard. Let us just take one instance. Down a filthy lane, in a great city, inhabited by the squalid and degraded poor, and in a room small as a closet, and as if in a common sewer, lived a woman and her little child. She lived as the most of such people live, in drunkenness, poverty and rage. Notwithstanding her surroundings, this little girl gave evidence of a good quality and intelligence generally unseen in such localities, and her mild and sorrowful manner would win the compassion of all who saw her. This place was evidently not the home for her. (Being to want and misery she was seized by a violent fever. Young as she was she felt that her days were numbered, and she lay down to rest. It would be needless to tell of her sufferings and ill usage. She lay upon her bed of filth and rage, the greater part of the time unconscious; sometimes asking for a little water but getting none. Sometimes she would whisper to herself, as if in conversation with the holy angels, and sometimes she would put up her little hands as if waiting for them to come. In great mercy the Lord called her away, and her poor spirit took its flight to the realm above, where she is free from sickness and sorrow, and where she is forever happy in the arms of her loving Saviour.

Rev. Mr. Evans, Protestant chaplain to St. Roch's hospital, says this is the way he did infect himself: After leaving the hospital he first cleans his lungs by taking a pinch of snuff and then walking briskly home, taking care to shake hands with no person. He enters an out-house and directs himself of every article of clothing, which he places in a packing case and submits to the fumes of burning sulphur. He then takes a bath, using carbolic or other disinfecting soap, and commences his ordinary clothing. These precautions he has never omitted, and he does not believe that during the whole time that he has visited the hospital he has carried the infection to anyone.

"Cable." The oldest and most reliable brand of cigars in the market. Free from all chemicals and artificial flavorings.

"El Padre" Cigars. Universally acknowledged to be the finest cigar manufactured. Don't be persuaded to take other brands. No chemicals or artificial flavorings used.

S. Davis & Sons have moved into their new mammoth factory, the finest of its kind in America. They are the only cigar manufacturers in Canada who manufacture their own cigars, boxes and packing cases, which industry gives employment to sixty hands.

Beware of cigars artificially flavored for the purpose of hiding the poor quality of tobacco used in favored cigars. Insist upon having the old reliable brands—"Cable" and "El Padre."

A trial will convince the most skeptical that S. Davis & Sons' manufacture of cigars are superior in every respect to any in Canada.

Prize medals against the world were awarded to S. Davis & Sons, of Montreal, for their manufacture of cigars, at Paris, 1887, Centennial, 1876, Montreal, 1883-88.

Great Decrease in Smallpox Deaths in Montreal Last Week.

MONTREAL, Nov. 7.—The official returns at the health office this morning show that there were 23 deaths in this city from smallpox yesterday, 10 in Cole St. Louis, 2 in St. Jean Baptiste, 4 in Ste. Cuneo, and 1 in St. Henri. The smallpox ambulance yesterday took seven children and their mother from a house in St. Charles Burroughs street.

The first sign that smallpox is subsiding here was given to the public this afternoon by the health authorities. The deaths this week were 208, against 273 in the previous seven days, a decrease of 65. On October 30 there 1080 houses affected, and from that date to the 10th 371 additional houses were reported, aggregating 1458. Of these 781 have been disinfected. This leaves 677 houses where the disease exists. The deaths in this suburban village during the week were 94, an increase of 13 over the previous week. The records are 308 in this city, 14 in Cole St. Louis, 23 in Ste. Cuneo, 13 in St. Jean Baptiste, 10 in St. Henri and 4 in St. Charles, making a total of 302.

At the meeting of the civic board of health to-day the isolation committee reported that on October 30, 36 houses were infected houses in the east end and that 371 have been reported since. Of these there are still infected 677, showing that 781 houses have been disinfected since October 30. The health officer's report showed that 117 new cases reported yesterday and thirty verified. It was resolved that a committee be appointed to ascertain the date and the circumstances under which the smallest made its appearance in Montreal in the present year, how it spread, and what precautions, if any, should be taken to prevent the recurrence of a similar calamity.

THE MYSTERY AT MERRITTON.

Identification of the Body as that of the Victim of a Horrible Murder.

St. CATHARINE, Ont., Nov. 6.—A letter was received last evening from Mr. Hughes of London, Ont., an employee of the London and Savings Company, which throws new light on the late horrible mystery at Merritton. The body found in the canal, it was remembered, was that of a man probably 40 years of age, thin, and was cut and the head terribly crushed. There was also other frightful injuries in different parts of the body. The letter stated that a certain Mr. Hughes, the senior brother, left the road at Merritton on Sept. 1. He was seen by different parties at the Detroit station and was known to have been on the train coming west that day. The supposition is that some quantity of money, a watch and other valuable on his person, he was murdered while on the train and the body cast into the canal. The relative position of the railway line and the place where the body was found shows that it would be an easy matter to have accomplished this while the train was moving without exciting suspicion. The description given in the letter agrees with that of the body found at Merritton. Mr. Hughes, of London, has been sent for and the body will be forwarded for identification.

A Fatal Disappointment.

HAMILTON, Nov. 8.—Yesterday morning a young lady arrived at the Royal hotel and asked for a room. She registered as Miss T. Williams, and frequently made enquiries from the clerk whether a young man had called and asked for her. In the afternoon she got into conversation with a lady guest at the hotel, stating that she came out from Kinkaid for the purpose of getting married. Immediately on her arrival she was to have been met by a Hamilton man, whose letters she had in her possession. About four o'clock a letter was put into Miss Williams' hand (it came through the post) from the bridegroom, to be, informing her that he had to leave the day before with a cargo of cattle, and that she in the meantime had better take a situation and await his return. Miss Williams had crossed the sea to meet the disappointment. She intends starting back to her home in the Old Country immediately.

Canadian Pacific Railway

MONTREAL, Nov. 8.—Mr. Van Horn, general manager of the Canadian Pacific Railway, telegraphed from Champlain, Eagle Hill, Quebec, on Saturday morning that the last rail on the line had been laid, and that the line was now open to the Pacific.

The last rail was driven by Sam Donald, a Scotchman.

Killed by a Cyclone.

CHICAGO, Nov. 7.—A cyclone, which passed over the southwestern part of the state last night, was serious in its results. At O'Connell's house of Joseph Burritt was blown down and Burritt was killed. Several members of his family were severely injured.

A Pilot Boat Sunk.

NEW YORK, Nov. 7.—The pilot boat Mary and Catharine was run down and sunk off Absecon early yesterday morning by an unknown steamer, which kept on her course and did not offer to assist the crew. After being in the water five hours, four pilots and nine men were picked up. An unknown man was lost.

Indian Outrage.

DREXEL, N. M., Nov. 8.—Information has been received here that a band of Indians yesterday sacked and burned the Missouri Florida Cattle Company's branch near here. The Indians shot and killed the wife and the seven-year-old son of John T. Shy, principal owner of the Company.

More Lascivious Fires.

KINGSTON, Nov. 7.—During the night three incendiary fires were started, one in the stables at the Queen's Hotel, another in the sample room in the Burnett House, and the last in Laidlaw & Sons dry goods house. The fires were all subdued before great damage was done. Laidlaw's stock worth $17,000, was injured by smoke and water. Incendiary fires will be taken to secure property. In the Burnett House the fire was started by a man who asked to be shown to a closet, and then set the place on fire. He has now disappeared.

A Cyclone in Illinois.

BLOOMINGTON, Ill., Nov. 6.—About 8 to 10 miles a cyclone struck the extreme southwestern part of Illinois, touching first at the Union depot where it picked up iron express trucks like fathers and threw them about. It upset back, and lifting it in the air turned it over and smashed it to pieces. The Hungarian roller mill, 200 feet from the Union Depot, was next struck, and completely unroofed and a portion of the brick work demolished. The flag staff on the roof, eight inches square, was snapped like a reed and carried 300 feet. The store, loaded ten minutes, and was accompanied by heavy thunder and lightning. The basement fell to 28 ft.

Railway Accident.

KENTON, Ont., Nov. 7.—Last night a wood train coming up from Picton, on the Central Ontario Railway, ran into the rear end of a gravel train, containing a number of Italians, three of whom attempted to jump after the engine had struck the van. One of them fell across the rail and the engine of the wood train passing over him severed both his legs. He is now lying in a box car near the station, and it is not thought that he can possibly recover. The other two who jumped were severely cut about the head and face, but are doing well. It is said that the accident was caused by the crew of the gravel train not giving the proper signal to the engine of the wood train, which was going, and it is probable that even if the signal had been given it could not have been seen.

A CABINET QUESTION.

HERBERT WE QUOTE a paragraph from the Ottawa Free Press, the Reform organ at the capital, in which the London Advertiser was charged with being impudent and inaccurate, and added the remark that the Advertiser frequently displayed those qualities. This has aroused the anger of our western contemporary, and it exhibits its wrath, and further displays its impudence and inaccuracy, in a long article, of which the following is a part:—

"It may be that it requires 200 cabs to carry the members of the Government during the year, but we confess ourselves skeptical on this point. What do the thirteen Cabinet Ministers want of 200 cabs? Will our local contemporary or will the Peterborough Review explain? What an important Government this must be that requires 200 cabs and an expenditure of $30,000 to carry Ministers about in the little lumber town of Ottawa! What has transpired to make it necessary that the members of the Government should exceed the number of Ministers by 187? Has Sir John Macdonald and his colleagues again introduced the custom that prevailed on the continent of Europe during the 17th century, when the importance and influence of a Minister was estimated by the number of his retinue and the magnificence of his equipage? A foreign Minister who had not a hundred or twenty carriages was a political nobody. The Free Press estimates sixteen cabs to each Minister, and the Peterborough Review verifies the statement of our contemporary. Now, 200 cabs is a very large number for a city of 25,000 people. It means that every twenty-fifth citizen is a cabdriver. The amount of travel must be very great, the number of private vehicles very few, and the income of the population very considerable to sustain this number. But the Peterborough Review and the Free Press assure us that the 200 cabs are for the use of Ministers of the Crown alone, and that the expenditure of the large sum shown in the public accounts is not very large, as it would amount to less than $150 to each cabman. We are sure, however, that the public will require more light."

The false insinuations of misleading and inaccurate statements in this article are so numerous that we will not take the trouble to point out the whole number, but a few will suffice.

1. The Advertiser ignores the Ottawa Free Press, which was the real challenger of its statements, and attacks the Review and the London Free Press, the latter having copied the paragraph from the Review.

2. We did not say that the 200 cabs which the Ottawa Free Press said that city were for the use of the Ministers alone. No paper said that, and it is a deliberate invention of the Advertiser. We said nothing about the number of cabs in Ottawa or who used them.

3. The statement that the Review said that "the expenditure of the large sum shown in the public accounts is not very large, as it would amount to less than $150 to each cabman," is false. We made no pretence in the paragraph in question of knowing what amount was spent for cab hire, and therefore could not, and as a matter of fact did not, give any such assurance as the Advertiser credits us with.

4. "The Free Press estimates sixteen cabs to each Minister, and the Peterborough Review verifies the statement." The Free Press made no such statement, and therefore we could not, and did not, verify it. The Ottawa (not London, as the Advertiser would have its readers to believe) Free Press, stated that there were 200 cabs in Ottawa, whereas the Advertiser said there were only 30. That remains a question of veracity between those two Reform organs. It does not make any difference to us which is right, but we would prefer to believe the Free Press in this instance, as it has a better opportunity of knowing, and the Advertiser is given to making reckless statements.

5. The Ministers did not spend $30,000 on cab hire. The statement is ridiculous and bears the imprimatur of the face of it. This statement is the foundation of all the Advertiser's articles, and of numerous paragraphs in its columns which are intended to be witty. But, as it is false, the article and the paragraphs lose all point, except that they show what colossal impudence the Advertiser possesses, and how recklessly inaccurate it can be.

The Advertiser said there were 30 cabs in Ottawa; the Ottawa Free Press said there were 200. We stated that the difference between 200 and 30 was considerable, but that the Advertiser seldom got nearer the truth than that. The statement of the amount spent by the Ministers for cab hire is another evidence that what we said was strictly true. The Advertiser is further astray as to the amount thus expended than the Free Press said it was in regard to the number of cabs in Ottawa! It exaggerates the amount far more than ten fold!

CONFESION OF A BUTCHER.

CHARLES HERMAN TELLS HOW HE MURDERED HIS WIFE.

RUFFALO, N. Y., Nov. 8.—Charles Herman has confessed that he murdered his wife, the apple-seller. He is a butcher by trade and went about his work with horrible deliberation. He said that he and his wife were alone together in their sitting room Sunday evening. At 10 o'clock his wife arose and said she was going out, but refused to say where she was going and when he said he would go with her she objected. She went into the little bedroom of the hall to get ready and he followed her, and she said he had better stay at home. After some words Herman seized his wife and threw her to the floor. He drew from his pocket a razor, which he stated he placed there with deliberate intention of killing his wife. The woman saw the weapon and fought desperately for life, and in her struggles was cut on the left hand and on the cheek. He succeeded in overpowering her and had begun to cut when she renewed her struggles. In the end he succeeded in slaying her throat from ear to ear, and while the blood was flowing from the ghastly wound he lifted her, still alive, and placed her on the bed, covering her from sight. Then wiping the razor with a towel he sopped up the blood with an apron. He changed his shirt and that was found at the house yesterday. The slayer was covered with gore. Confronting his narrative Herman said he visited a number of saloons and drank considerably, after which he went back to the house. On Monday he went back and again returned on Tuesday. He confessed to be a fastidious that drew to the contents of his crime. He stated that the slayer be up on the same bed with his wife, and that he was jealous of his wife.

The burning of Thomas Chisholm. TACOMA, W. T., Nov. 8.—The loss by the burning of Chisholm yesterday will amount to $25,000. The buildings burned were principally work shanties, and were fired by the anti-social agitators who drove the Chinese from the town a few days ago. The incendiaries are endeavoring to make it appear that the buildings were fired by the Chinese themselves, but only two Chinese were in town when the fire occurred.

CAPE BRETON.

Some interesting reminiscences of the island.

The Halifax Herald in a special article on the history of the parish church of St. George, Cape Breton, says:—The early register of the parish bears witness to the existence of slavery on the island in such entries as the following: "George Peter, a black man, and Isabella Thomas, a free black woman, having been published three Sundays in the church, married 22nd July, 1797." "Cesar Augustus, a slave, and Darius Snider, black folk, married 4th September, 1798." "Sept. 15, 1792, buried Isaac Bessien, a negro girl belonging to Abraham Cuyler, Esq." and whatever the condition of a bride at the time of her marriage in 1790, one can scarcely doubt that while in a state of slavery she received the overbearing name (which appears in the register, not only of her marriage, but of the baptism of her child ren), of "Snidrick (so written), Meabek and Abednego." And the same explanation may be given of "Mack Lindy," whose entries in the register are unique. The following is not a bad specimen of curtness, "1799, December 28th, buried Rutile, the barrack master." After the record of a marriage in 1792, the record has made a note of the fee promised, and which the bridegroom could scarcely make at the usual time, "the above promises to pay a quantity of fish." There is nothing in the church record to mark the visit to Sydney of Prince William Henry, afterwards King William IV., in the Andromeda, in September, 1788. He may, however, all must be said to be connected with the church, through C. J. Clarke, for many years one of the churchwardens, who died in May last. Mr. Clarke's mother was a daughter of the Hon. David Matthews. She was a child at the time of the prince's visit, and his prison, who was often at her father's house during his stay in Sydney, showed much interest in her, and he told her he would be glad if at any future time he could do anything for her. Forty years afterwards, and shortly before his accession to the throne, Mrs. Clark, who had been for a widow with a large family, wrote to His Royal Highness, reminding him of his promise, and in reply received an autograph letter from him, telling her that he had not forgotten it, that he was pleased she had called upon him for its fulfilment, and that he had secured for her, Charles James, an appointment with the combe-ariat. Two entries in the register three months after the departure of the Prince have reference to visitors of a different and less welcome kind— "Buried—Woodhouse, one of the convicts, 23rd December, 1788."

"Patrick Doll, one of the convicts, buried 2nd January, 1789."

Woodhouse must not be confounded with Wellhouse, the name of a respectable family whose descendants now live at St. Ann's Bay. The landing of the convicts was one of the most cruel and inhuman scenes ever perpetrated. The ship Providence, Captain Devonham, from Cork, with eighty convicts intended to be sent to the back settlements of Canada, having reached the mouth of the St. Lawrence too late in the season to ascend the river, the captain returned to the coast of Cape Breton, and anchored his ship between Port Nova and St. John's on December 14th, 1788. The rest of the story shall be told in the words of Mr. Brown. "Here the brutal captain hoisted out his yawl and landed all the convicts, after knocking off their iron upon the shore two miles to the eastward of Malapideu. The landing was not completed until 7 p. m. (more than two hours after dark), when the ship sailed for the westward, leaving the poor wretches without a morsel of food upon the beach. About seventy men, women and boys found their way during the night to Malapideu, where they were kindly received by the few in habitable dwelling there, but even were found dead next morning, who had strayed into the woods and died from exposure to the weather at that inclement season. Those who reached Malapideu in safety were sent to Sydney in a shallop belonging to one Luke Keegan, except twenty which the shallop could not take. On their arrival at Sydney, the poor creatures were liberally supplied with provisions, and as per person a brig relief was not large enough to carry them all to Halifax, and no other vessel could be hired for that purpose, arrangements were made for housing them for the winter at a distance from Sydney, as it was feared a contagious disease might break out in their abject condition. Owing to the severity of the winter these poor wretches less than fifty patients in the hospital from frost bites, and several became permanently lame from the same cause. (Mr. Brown makes no mention of the deaths of Woodhouse and Doll, or Doyle). As no instructions were received in the spring relating to their disposal, the convicts were allowed to go where they pleased: some left the island altogether, whilst others found employment with the settlers." The most painful incident connected with this affair remains to be told. On the very night that they were landed, two of the convicts, Fendernast and McDonald, murdered an old man, one of their companions, in the woods, for the sake of a trifling sum of money he had about him, for which they were tried at Sydney, found guilty, and condemned to be hanged. They, however, escaped from gaol while some correspondence was taken place between Governor MacCormack and the Secretary of State respecting the legality of the trial. On a note of this kind received a violent shock from the reply of the Secretary of State to the Governor—who thought that the captain ought to be severely punished—that "in the present state of the law he was afraid that the captain could only be held for the penalties of the bonds which he had forfeited;" and that "measures would be taken to prevent the recurrence of such cases."

THE GOOD MACHINE HANDS.

Sometimes we get a mill hand who does more work and does it better than any of the comrades. Perhaps he is an ordinary looking sort of man, but every motion he makes seems to amount to something. He is never in a hurry, but he is rolling up a big pile of work and gets a job done before his neighbors are well started. What is there about this man that makes him so extraordinary? The fact is this man knows how to think. He has studied principles and when he sees a certain result he is in the habit of studying out the cause of it. He has fallen into the habit of doing work in the most economical manner and avoids all extra movements. He never turns a board over twice when only once is necessary, and he doesn't machine a piece three times when twice will do the work. He has stored his tool: He knows just how much he can force that machine and have it do good work. He always keeps the machine working to its full capacity and when on duty he keeps his brains, as well as his hands, upon his work.

Such a man will not stand over a machine and feed it with one hand while he takes a chew of tobacco with the other, and all the time he is thinking of a glass of beer and a base ball match. No, sir! When our man was hired by the boss he hired out his brains as well as his hands. He is conscientious and gives the worth of the money he receives. The boss man employs him in finding out Sam or Abe in getting 40 cents more than he should, and 50 cents more than he deserves really earns. When he ascertains this fact, he does all the thinking he is capable of to devise some way to get Sam bounced or get as much pay as Abe. Failing in this, this poor old head will turn its attention towards getting up a strike. Then he has his fellow workman a great benefit as he stirs up discord among them. Don't tell your boss what you are getting per day. It is none of his business. That question belongs only to you and your employer. Not two men are worth the same money. One will do more and better work than his neighbor and that one should have more pay. If the inferior man hears of it, he gets himself and all concerned into discord at once. Fix your pay at what you are worth. If you don't know that point, you are not worth having. —Chickadee.

FROM BOSTON.

Baltimore, Nov. 8.—The committee who organized the management of the Maryland House of Correction report a disastrous state of affairs. General Reed, the superintendent of the institution, is charged with the most infamous neglect of prisoners under his charge, as well as gross mismanagement of the affairs of the institution. In August a white man was given 30 lashes with a rawhide on his bare back. A colored man who was ordered five lashes with a cat was given twenty with a rawhide, because it is claimed the cat has been strung and five strokes with it equals twenty with a rawhide. The board of managers unanimously voted to discontinue Reed's services.

WIT AND WISDOM.

Good homes are like good apple trees—they propagate after their kind.

Let our lives be as pure as the snowflakes, where our foot leaves a mark, but not a stain.

A plowman never allows his wife to burst into tears. He has no time to mend such leaks.

"Doctor—"For dinner take forty valentines. Timid patient—"Would it be dangerous to add a piece of meat and some vegetables."

A little girl asked nine, call her father to her bedside the other evening. "Papa," said the little diplomat, "I want to ask your advice."

"Well, my dear, what is it about?" "What do you think it will be best to give me on my birthday?"

"That brother's no guid," said a grumbling youngster at the dinner table in a Scotch farm.

"Weel, weel," says his mother, a quiet sort of body, "if ye don't tak' yer brook ye'll no get any beef, an' if ye tak' yer brook ye'll no need any."

A Scotch dominie, after relating to his scholars the story of Ananias and Sapphira, asked them, "Why God did not strike everybody dead who told a lie?" After a long silence one little fellow got to his feet and exclaimed, "Because, sir, there wadna be anybody left."

"I always can judge the state of the market pretty near," said a country barber, "too, don't you see, I cut the hair of a good many farmers, and I reckon the market by it. When the market is bad, their hair be quite limp, but when the market be good, their hair, be beautifuller or naught."

Some Glasgow Agricultural Society's show grounds—Jock, after silently admiring a stall-woman Clydesdale. "Mann, Sandy, that's a fine animal!" Sandy. "What—that an animal! Awa' ye ignorance, dse ye no ken a horse when ye see it?"

A cabin boy on board a ship, the captain of which was a very religious man, was called up to be whipped for some misdemeanor. Little Jack looked up at the captain, and said to the captain—"Please, sir, will you wait till I say my prayers?" "Yes," was the stern reply, "Well, then," replied Jack, looking up and smiling triumphantly, "I'll say them when I get ashore."

One day, and at a moment when it gave hopes of fairing up, a parish minister at Strathmore met one of his parishioners, who was something of a wit, and accosted him with, "Well, John, do you think it is going to fair?" John respectfully touched his broad kilmarnock, and looking up to the sky in a doubtful sort of way replied, "Weel, Mr. Paton, I dinna ken, but it needna do it."

A man having been long in a delicate state resolved at last to consult an eminent doctor. After the medical man had heard all his complaints he wrote out a prescription, and also urged him to take as much "animal food" as he possibly could. The patient wonderingly gave the rather amusing reply, "Weel, sir, I think I could manage a neep, an' I might try oaks, but I'll be hanged before I wad eat stork."

To Housekeepers.

Fair, VanEvery & Co. have opened another large consignment of Gray and White Blankets, Cotton and Wool Comforters, at such low prices as to warrant a quick sale.

At Home.

The "At Home" to be held Thanksgiving evening in the lecture room of the George St. Methodist Church promises great attractions. There will be vocal and instrumental music, debate, recitations, etc. Refreshments will be served. Admission 25 cents.

Journalists.

The Orillia Packet has completed the fifteenth year of its existence, and it promises extensive improvements during the next year. One would be inclined to think that there was no room for improvement in the Packet, as it is model paper now, but on the principle that nothing in this world is perfect we suppose even the Packet can be improved.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate north-west and south-west winds; generally fair, with partially cool weather.

The above has no parallel in the history of any life insurance company. GEO. A. MORRISON, agent.

All Over.

As a good many people are anxious to know how the young child who is affected with varicella is progressing, it may be said that the little thing is doing very well. The flakes have nearly all left its body and they are now gradually leaving its face. The gratitude of the citizens of Peterborough is certainly due to Dr. Clarke, the Medical Health Officer, for the prompt and vigorous action which he took in having the whole family properly isolated and the case isolated, thus preventing the spread of the deadly disease, which, if it had gained headway, would have cost our town the lives of many of the valued citizens and the loss of a large amount of trade. The child and its parents will be kept at the temporary hospital until all danger of imparting the disease to others is past.

In no Way Discreditable.

A new vehicle has just been turned out of Messrs. Porter Bros' carriage factory which is in no way discredit to the high reputation of the firm. The new rig is a baker's express of a quite novel design. It is seven feet long by four feet broad, and the box is set in half by the seat. Here the driver sits with the staff of life both before him and behind him. And special attention has been paid by Porter Bros' designer to allow the expressman ample convenience in getting at his goods. Doors open at the driver's seat in both the fore and aft departments, while in the aft one a door opens from the back and a trap door opens from the top. In wet weather the driver will find this vehicle much more convenient than the old style, for he is shielded from the rain by a wooden canopy held up by ten little vermilion painted supports. The box is handsomely painted in wine colors, on which the beautifully gold lettering stands out conspicuously. The gear is very substantial and is covered with velvet. In all, it will make the handsomest baker's express in Peterborough. It is made for Mr. R. F. Foster, recently of Norwood, who will shortly start business here. It may here be remarked that Porter Bros' carriage makers, are now engaged on a job which, when finished, will undoubtedly be the admiration of the town.

If you are in want of a good serviceable overcoat, out made and trimmed in the latest fashion, there is no better place to call, than ANDREW McNALLY, of Habillment Hall.

MR. H. QUIRK

His Peterborough Cigar Factory and How It is Progressing.

Since the establishment of the Peterborough Cigar Factory last year by Messrs. Quirk, Miller & Co., the local cigar trade, especially that in the domestic line, has been, to a great extent, supplied by it.

But business at the factory is now brisker than ever. Since Mr. Quirk succeeded into the sole proprietorship a few months ago he has been pushing his trade energetically forward, and now has orders coming in from various parts of the Midland district, some as far up the line as Barrie having been received. This press of outside work has made things fairly busy at the factory. A considerable addition has been made to the staff of cigar makers, and work is being prosecuted with all possible vigor.

The Peterborough cigar factory's cigars are all well made of the purest tobacco, and as a consequence have enjoyed rare favor with the smoking public. A new brand is now to be added to those already made at the factory, and it is to be christened "My Own Brand." It is a cigar of middling length, rather stoutly built, and is made of first class domestic tobacco. The box is a novel one, being perfectly plain outside, with no flashy labels to set it off, the goods being intended to recommend themselves. In the inside will be a true likeness of Mr. Quirk, over whose head will be painted in plain characters, "My Own Brand." The box has brass hinges and clasps down like a trunk. The new cigar will shortly be put on the market for sale.

Mr. Quirk is having marked success since assuming full control of the Peterborough Cigar Factory. We wish that this success may continue and be more marked and that Mr. Quirk will soon find it necessary to build up a new factory to accommodate the growing requirements.

Members of the Y. M. C. A.

That Sale.

Coming.

The Port Hope Guide says of the Polo Club of that town:—

"The full club go to Peterborough on Thanksgiving Day to play an exhibition game in the Lansdowne Park of that town—being a holiday and one that, usually, offers very little attraction in the way of amusement. Not doubt a great many will avail themselves of the opportunity of visiting our sister town, and also of witnessing a first class game of polo. Special rates are being secured for that day, good to return the following day."

Just to hand, at Turnbull's, a full range of Heavy All Wool Dress Goods. Regular price 30 cts., selling at 25 cts.

A Fox Hunt.

Foxes have done considerable damage about Mr. J. J. Bruley's place in North Monaghan, and an animal of this kind having been captured by Mr. Bruley, he intends to make him pay for the damage by making sport for a company of hunters. R-yard will be liberated at 7.30 o'clock on Thursday and a regular Old Country style hunt will take place. Several sportsmen have announced their intention of being present. Those attending the hunt are requested to go by the road.

English Literature.

A class in English Literature, to be conducted by Mr. B. Kelle, will be begun next Monday, 16th Nov., at 8 p.m., in the Y. M. C. A. rooms. The admission fee has been placed at a nominal sum, being $1 to members of the Association, and $2 for other gentlemen, for a course of 25 lessons. The first work to be studied will be Gray's Elegy, copies of which may be procured at Davis'. Those intending to join the class should send their names to the Secretary, Mr. Geo. E. Williams. Several have already joined.

Memorial Services.

The Rev. I. T. O'Neill preached a sermon in the George Street Methodist Church on Sunday with special reference to the death of Mrs. George Allen, wife of the proprietor of the Temperance House. Mr. O'Neill took his text from Romans viii. 28:—"And we know that all things work together for good to them that love God." He illustrated the truth of the text by reference to facts recorded in sacred and secular history, and concluded an eloquent discourse by referring to the virtues of the deceased as a wife, a mother and a Christian. During the service the choir sang the anthem "O death! where is thy victory?"

Another Survivor.

Mr. Isaiah McCall, who formerly kept a confectionery store on Simcoe street, and who has been, for the last six years, a resident of the Northwest, is now in town on a visit. When Mr. McCall went to the Northwest he took up a half section, 320 acres, a few miles from Prince Albert. Then when he was selling at two dollars a bushel, the high price being caused by the Hudson Bay Company's demand for flour. Since then the price has gradually reduced and is now selling at considerably less than a dollar per bushel. Mr. McCall was housed up in Prince Albert along with all the residents of the country at the time of the rebellion. Then, he says, were the stirring times indeed. There was scarcely a day or night but a report prevailed that the Indians were coming in large numbers to sack the town and massacre the inhabitants. A stockade, built of cordwood, eight feet high, enclosing three acres in the centre of which were the Presbyterian Church and manse, was constructed, and the women and children were put inside of this for safe keeping. It was a great relief when the troops arrived, although there had been no onslaught on the town, the Indians confining themselves to standing off at a distance and making the air green with their hideous whooping. The recently returned soldier relates many interesting stories of rebellion times and of the manner in which the "quelling" was conducted. He thinks that there is the brightest of futures before the Northwest.

A NEW HAND SAW.

An Appliance Which, It is Probable, Will Revolutionize Lumber Cutting.

The Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company will, in a few days, have completed a new style of hand saw, which, it is altogether likely, will revolutionize the lumber cutting in large Canadian mills.

Millie Bros., two Scotchmen, from whose designs the company are manufacturing the new saw, are now at the company's foundry personally superintending the construction of the machine. The ordinary hand saw is an old invention, they having been in extensive use in England and France many years ago and in the United States for the last five years. But over the ordinary hand saw the one now being made by the Hamilton Company possesses an overwhelming advantage. In the ordinary saw the carriage is tilted back at every cut. This effects a great loss of time and the backward action sacrifices one side of the board. The way this hand saw works is this: The log comes up the gear way, is rolled along the skid to one of three carriages. These carriages are detached, and each one holds a log, dugged at the end. The carriage passes along and the saw passes through the log. But while its end is going through the same process the log on number one carriage is switched off to a set of back carriages and by the time number three carriage is approaching the saw number one is again ready. And this is the great advantage. It is the invention of Millie Bros. A continuous cutting is effected, the boards are clean and not the least scarified, and lastly there is an economy effected in the hand saws themselves for one of them will last just as long while cutting through a log as it will by running idly on the pulleys. The carriages may be all joined so that long timber may be cut.

The pulleys on which the hand saw runs are five feet in diameter and five inches thick. They are faced with birch and are faced with rubber. These revolve one directly above the other. One pulley sits under the floor, while the other, supported by a heavy iron column, thirty inches square at the base and fifteen inches square at the apex. On these pulleys the band saw runs like a common leather belt, the top pulley being adjustable, so as to give tension or slacken the tightness. The size of cut is also under the ready control of the sawyer, who, by touching a lever, can set the saw for cutting thin or thick boards as the case may require.

In regard to the quality of workmanship which has been done by the Hamilton Company Mr. D. F. Milne, who is a canny Scotchman, and one from whom no one would expect to hear overdone praise, said, "It's as good as I've seen done in America." This is the first hand saw that has been made in Canada.

Just received at Turnbull's, a large shipment of Tweeds (good patterns) for Men's Suits and Ladies' Ulsters, both of which are made up on the premises.

POLICE COURT.VAGRANCY.

MONDAY, Nov. 8.—Patrick Handrahan, better known as Paddy, paid his annual visit to the court this morning on the same old charge, that of vagrancy. He has been at work all summer, but the weather getting cool, he decided to seek the geniality of the goal for the winter term.

His WORSHIP, as he gave judgment for six months at hard labor, remarked that the fall generally brought Paddy around.

A DISAPPEARANCE.

An Anxious family on Murray Street Awaits James Regan's Re-appearance.

On Thursday, week before last, Mr. James Regan, Murray street, left his house saying that he was going down town to pay a bill and make some purchases. He was going to get a clock at Irving's and pay what he owed at Stenson's shoe store.

Since half past one o'clock that afternoon the family have heard not one word from him. At first they thought that, as he had not come home by Saturday night, that he had gone to visit a relative in the country, and, indeed, as he had been talking of doing so, no fears for his safety were entertained until Monday. Then word was received from this relative to the effect that he had not been there. Efforts were then put forward to find out where he had gone. It appeared that he had gone to Irving's, but had not got the clock. About four o'clock in the afternoon, he went to Mr. Stenson's, but Mr. Stenson says he had only a dollar in his pocket. Mr. Regan was then somewhat under the influence of liquor, and was accompanied by two rather boisterous companions. He went away again, not having paid the bill, as he had not enough money to discharge the debt.

Several of the hotel keepers saw him but none noticed anything wrong with him. At about six o'clock he was seen on Hunter street in company with a tall, dark complexioned man, but by eight o'clock he was seen on the corner of George and King streets alone. It is feared that instead of turning west he turned east and walked into the river at the City Mills.

When Mr. Regan left his house he was dressed in a gray suit, rubber coat and a soft felt hat. Any information regarding him will be thankfully received by his family, Murray street, near the West Ward school.

Running Engines with Water Wheels.

Whenever more power is needed, either constantly or at seasons of low water, or when variable work is being done, a steam engine may be attached to the line shaft which leads from the water-wheel by means of its main-band passing over a pulley on side shafts situated as near the wheel as practicable, said pulley to have much diameter as will permit both the engine and the water-wheel to make each its own regular speed. The effect of this is as follows: When the supply of water is ample for the work, the governor of the engine will shut off its supply of steam, or nearly so, and the steam retained in the boiler, little fuel being consumed. But when the supply of water fails, or the work is greater, for longer or shorter intervals of time the speed of the water-wheel is decreased, then this governor instantly opens the steam upon the engine, which in turn supplies just the amount of power needed to supplement and maintain the requisite speed of the line-shaft, so that, as long as the power from the water-wheel is sufficient to overcome its own friction and that of the line-shafting so long will its own water be utilized, even when it would be inefficient alone to accomplish any work at all before overcoming said friction. See Mill Gazette.

Heavy Snowstorm.

OMAHA, Neb., Nov. 7.—A heavy snowstorm is prevailing along the Union Pacific line and coming eastward. At Laramie and Cheyenne snow was falling all day yesterday and drifting badly on Laramie Hill, so that a blockade was feared. There is heavy snow also at Denver Junction. At Ogallala N.B., 14 inches fell and drifted. One freight train was blocked. The snow was still falling at North Platte four inches has fallen, and the storm is still in progress. The temperature north of Platte is 30 degrees.

"Ay, a' ae oo!"

It has been said that the Scottish dialect is peculiarly powerful in its use of vowels, and the following dialogue between a Shopman and a Customer has been given as a specimen. The conversation may relate to a pair of Blankets hanging at Alexander's store door.

Cus. (inquiring the material)—oo' (wool)?
Shop.—Ay, oo' (Yes, of wool).
Cus.—A' oo' (All wool)?
Shop.—Ay, a' oo' (Yes, all wool).
Cus.—A' ae oo' (All same wool)?
Shop.—Ay, a' ae oo' (Yes, all same wool).

ALEXANDER has got the best variety of all Wool Blankets and Blankets he has ever shown, and at prices that will effect sales every time. Call and see his prices and send for samples.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Pitch in.
A pitch in accident on the Grand Trunk Railway at Goodwood station, Goodwood, on Saturday night. Two freight trains collided, damaging an engine to a small extent and smashing five flat cars.

Stunt Rogers.
We are informed that the Opera House has been kept for a two nights entertainment, 10th and 11th of December, when the renowned "Stunt Rogers," the great reciter and impersonator, will appear for the first time before a Peterborough audience.

Weekly advertisements.
We beg to remind the advertisers in the WEEKLY REVIEW that they should send in their advertisements or change as early as possible for to-morrow, because we will go to press on Wednesday evening on account of Thursday being a holiday.

Bible study for Young Men.
To-night, Tuesday, is the evening on which the class at the Y. M. C. A. rooms will hold. An interesting series of lectures is now being taken up in the class by the Rev. Mr. Waller. At the close of the class to-night a ten minute service in connection with the week of prayer will be held.

Chas. Stapleton's.
Auction sale of oil paintings, &c., is still going on and will be continued until all are sold. Many desirable paintings are still left and will be offered at afternoon and evening sales during the week. Call around to night and supply yourself. CHAS. STAPLETON, Auctioneer, Opp. Grand Central Hotel.

Scott Act Hearing.
A sitting of the Scott Act scrutiny commission was held to-day, Hon. Mr. Judge Denison presiding. At the last sitting it was decided to call Dr. Ford, the returning officer, for re-examination, but owing to a misunderstanding between the counsel for the Scott Act Association and the counsel for the petitioners, as to who should examine him, he was not notified to attend. The sitting was adjourned until the 16th of November, when Dr. Ford will be re-examined.

Another Patient.
The Nicholls Hospital, if the present rate of the income of patients continues, will shortly have every ward filled. On Sunday a fifteen year old lad named Edmund, living near Lakefield, was taken to a doctor in the village to see what ailed him. Dr. Bell, who examined him, pronounced the ailment to be diphtheria, and recommended his speedy removal to the Nicholls Hospital. His advice was acted upon, and the lad, at three o'clock in the afternoon, was received at the hospital. There are now three patients in the hospital, all paying one. It may be said in this connection that the Trustees have received several applications from outside places, for private wards in the hospital. From the present state of things it looks as if the hospital will be self-sustaining.

A Successful Hunter.
Those who have recently been up to the back townships hunting for deer hold a reserved opinion that they—the members of each party—have been markedly successful. They wear an air which would lead one to suppose that they had killed all the deer in the Deer Bay region. But they haven't; and if they want to see a really successful hunter they should just go down and gaze on the great countenance of the proprietor of the Run Macks. Any one passing his store to-day, and seeing the fine antlered animal lying in front of it, would have at once inferred that he had returned from a hunt, and that he had secured a deer. He had. Hearing of a man going down from Long Lake with a fine set of deer, Mr. Hall started off on a hunt. After pursuing the individual for some time he suddenly came upon him. The object of the hunt was accompanied by the invincible artillery and Mr. Hall, after a hunt of half an hour, was in possession of five fine deer, the heaviest of which weighs 248 pounds.

Y. M. C. A. Social Meeting.
The members of the Young Men's Christian Association had a very enjoyable time at their rooms last evening. The chair was taken by the President, Mr. J. W. Flavelle, and there was a good attendance of members. After opening exercises a really excellent paper on Association work, prepared by Mr. D. B. O'Brien, was read by Mr. W. W. Johnson. The title of the paper was "Our Association—What are we? Why are we? Shall we continue to be?" The paper drew forth a considerable amount of comment from a number of the members. Social intercourse, with refreshments, followed, the members first having introduced themselves by singing and announcing their names. A short programme of music and reading closed the entertainment. The readers were Messrs. A. C. Gray and W. Beattie. A trio consisting of Messrs. Bullington, Stephens and French gave two musical selections, and Mr. Geo. French sang a solo in a very pleasing manner. Mr. Geo. Schneider occupied the music stand during the evening. Before closing it was decided to have a similar gathering on the 10th of December.

If you are in want of a good serviceable overcoat, out made and trimmed in the latest fashion, there is a better place to call, than ANDREW McNEIL, of Madison Hall.

F. C. Hyde, Piano-Tuner.
Will be in town for a few days. Orders left at Smart's Music Store.

To Housekeepers.
Fair, VanEvery & Co. have opened another large consignment of Gray and White Blankets, Cotton and Wool Comforters, at such low prices as to warrant a quick sale.

Card of Thanks.
The ladies interested in the building fund of St. John's South Ward Sunday School beg to acknowledge with thanks the receipt of the proceeds of the lecture on nursing, kindly given by Miss Caroline Peck, for the benefit of the fund.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—North-west and west winds, fair weather; not much change in temperature.

The Twenty-Fifth Winter.
Now, ladies and gentlemen, is the time to turn your advocacy into practice, by encouraging home manufacture. Do not follow the example of the grange, when you have an establishment here of which Toronto nor even Montreal can boast of a better. No exemption or bonus has ever been asked, this being the 25th winter season since established. Extra efforts have been made to reduce prices of selected furs to the low prices of wholesale make of goods, made for a sale. A quarter of a century of successful manufacture is the best guarantee that one can give of his goods, if which most people cannot know about the make-up. An outward look is but a poor show for inner quality. Wm. LEACH.

Mind Reading, etc.
Those who have witnessed or heard of the powers of Mr. John Miller (now in Queen's College) as a thought reader, will be glad to know that he has been prevailed on to appear once more before an audience here, in the Opera House on Friday, 20th Nov. In connection with this a first class entertainment is being arranged for. Among the soloists will be Mrs. Chambers, Miss Stevens and Prof. Parker. It is expected that a graduate of the Boston school of oratory, now a teacher of education, will be secured as elocutionist. In addition to all the above, Mr. Wm. Dixon will give an exhibition of ventriloquism. The entertainment is in connection with the Y. M. C. A. series. Tickets have been placed at the popular prices, 25 and 35 cents. Reserved seats may be secured at A. L. Davis & Co's.

Wonderful!
On Saturday evening while Mr. C——, a prominent farmer of the township of Smith, was driving home, having been to Peterborough, he met with rather a serious accident. Mr. C—— was not a habitual drinker; in fact he rarely ever touched anything but iced water. But during the afternoon he met some old friends, whom he had not seen since his boyhood days. It was only natural that they found their way to a hotel and refreshment old friendship in the cheering liquid. Had they had discretion to drink temperately, perhaps all would have been well, but when the shadows of evening stole along they found Mr. C—— in an almost helpless state of intoxication driving, or making an attempt at driving, his horse along Hunter street. His horse knew the road quite well and all was safe until the top of Smithtown hill was reached. At the brow of the hill the team started on a gentle trot, to which the wayward form of C—— kept time.

On passing the gate of a farm yard some distance on, however, a car rushed out with such suddenness and impetuosity that the animal took fright and launched off at headlong speed. Two wheels of the wagon lopped over into a ditch and Mr. C—— was thrown violently out, while the steeds coursed on, thumping the now overturned vehicle against every obstacle that came in the way. At length their strength was spent, their flight abated, and they came to a standstill. They were taken in charge by a passing neighbor and their owner, considerably disabled, soon ferreted out, now thoroughly sobered by the shock. At first, instead of complaining of pain, he began to bewail the fate of the wagon, which it appears he purchased a few days before, saying that he was sure it was totally smashed up. But to his unbounded surprise, when he came to examine the vehicle, it presented no very marked signs of wreckage—in fact beyond a few scratches it was as good as ever. The reason is plain. It was purchased from Porter Bros., who have the reputation of putting the very best material into all their work, and if the reader wants a really first class job done in the carriage making line, he should by all means go to this acknowledgedly reliable firm, corner of Charlotte and Aylmer streets, Peterborough.

POLICE COURT.

REMOVAL OF GOODS.
TUESDAY, Nov. 10.—The case of Thos. Bradburn against James Wallace, for the fraudulent removal of goods, came before the court this morning. It appeared that the landlord's bailiff had distrained and had abandoned the goods. This being the case the Magistrate held that to remove the goods was no fraudulent action on the part of the defendant. He therefore dismissed the case. Mr. Geo. Edmund appeared for the complainant and Mr. A. Macdonald for the defendant.

REEL SPLITTER.

His Execution Postponed till Monday.
The United States will not interfere.

OTTAWA, Nov. 9.—The aldermanic magistrate at Regina, N. W. T., telegraphed to the Premier to-day morning that he has postponed the execution of Riel to the 16th inst.

WASHINGTON, Nov. 9.—Major Edmund Malin, of this city, the well known writer in the French cause in the United States, and an intimate personal friend of Louis Riel, the Canadian revolutionary, had an interview with the President and made a strong appeal for the interference of the U. S. Government to prevent the hanging of Riel by the Canadian authorities. The President has not yet replied, but after giving the matter the most careful consideration, according with Mr. Malin's opinion previously given, that it was not a case in which the United States Government could possibly interfere.

Horrible!
"That," remarked Alexander, as he watched the explosion of one of his royal residences in Moscow, "that reminds me of a statue of Minerva." "And why, you may justly say," he essentially inquired the First Urban of the Black Guard? "Well, you see, it is a statue of Pallas." "The statue is tall, standing for a week," Chicago Herald.

In no Way Discredited.
A new vehicle has just been turned out of Messrs. Porter Bros.' carriage factory which is in no way discredited to the high reputation this firm possesses. The new rig is a baker's coupe of a quite novel design. It is seven feet long by four feet broad, and the box is cut in half by the seat. Here the driver sits with the seat of life both before him and behind him. And special attention has been paid by Porter Bros. designer to allow the expressman ample convenience in getting at his wares. Doors open at the driver's seat in both the fore and aft compartments, while in the aft one a door opens from the back and a trap door opens from the top. In wet weather the driver will find this vehicle much more convenient than the old style, for he is shielded from the rain by a veritable canopy held up by ten little vermillion painted supports. The box is handsomely painted in wine color, on which the beautifully colored lettering stands out conspicuously. The gear is very substantial and is colored vermillion. In all, it will be the handsomest "baker's coupe" in Peterborough. It is made by Mr. R. F. Foster, recently of New York, who will shortly start business here. It may be remarked that Porter Bros. carriage makers are now engaged on a job which, when finished, will undoubtedly be the admiration of the town.

An Interesting Point.
With regard to the amount of growth to allow before cutting timber there is this to be observed: There is a proper time to cut a tree as there is a proper time to harvest a crop of corn or grain. If any one in cutting an aged tree, will observe the concentric rings or grains, he will usually notice that there has been a period of rapid growth succeeded by a period of very slow growth, and, in the case of a very aged tree, it often happens that, for the last score or more of years, growth has come almost to a standstill, the grains being so fine as to show that the tree had but little more than held its own for a long time. Now, for all purposes of acquiring strength this ungrained timber on the exterior of the tree, the growth of 20 or 30 years, perhaps—is about as nearly worthless as anything could well be. And when we consider the enormous size of the tree, which 30 or 40 years ago was vigorous and strong, has been waiting all this time to be put to use, until its vigor is exhausted and its strength decayed, it is not surprising that the tree should be cut and the wood obtained the benefit of its good qualities years ago. Much good ink has been wasted in deploring the destruction of our "primeval forests," but there are no more acres of trees in Connecticut that have been allowed to stand until their usefulness has been greatly impaired, sometimes destroyed, because we have been giving too much attention to the proper time to harvest the crop after we have got it raised. Our hope of a future timber supply does not lie in the direction of preserving the old-growth cannot be recovered beyond certain limits, but in producing the new.—Ex.

THE WRECKED STEAMER

HOW THE ALGOMA RUN ON A REEF AT ROCK HARBOR.

The statement of the Captain regarding the accident thirty-seven persons lost—the names of the lost and saved.

OWN SOURCE, Nov. 10.—Captain Moore of the wrecked steamer Algoma, who even after reaching Lake Superior on Friday afternoon, the wind began to freshen up from the north-west and a great bank of leaden clouds along the northern horizon denoted the approach of heavy weather. Realizing, however, that the Algoma was one of the strongest and most powerful steamers afloat, and well able to cope with even a severe gale, the captain kept her on her course. As night approached the winds continued to increase in violence, and by dark it had developed into one of the fiercest and most destructive gales ever experienced on the upper lakes. While the tempest raged, great seas swept completely over the struggling steamer. The situation was made all the more terrible by a blinding snow storm that set in before morning, and the Algoma was unable to see the light of the day.

The Algoma was a fine steamer, and the crew were well equipped for the emergency. They were all saved, and the captain and crew were rescued by the crew of the steamer.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

FALSEHOOD AND FORGERY.

We have been told that the Montreal Star is not a true and honest paper, but a mere tool of the Government. We are not in the least surprised at this, as we have seen the paper's conduct in many instances. We are, however, surprised at the Star's attempt to pass off its own fabrications as the truth. We are sure that the public will not be deceived by such a trick. We are sure that the public will not be deceived by such a trick. We are sure that the public will not be deceived by such a trick.

A GREAT OCCASION.

The Queen congratulates her Canadian subjects on the completion of the Canadian Pacific Railway. The Queen's message is a most beautiful and fitting tribute to the achievement. The Queen's message is a most beautiful and fitting tribute to the achievement. The Queen's message is a most beautiful and fitting tribute to the achievement.

SMALL POLITICIANS.

Thank goodness, Belleville is not indebted to the Province. We are led to make this exclamation because of the course which the Belleville politicians have taken. The Belleville politicians have taken a course which is not only unbecomingly but also unwisely. The Belleville politicians have taken a course which is not only unbecomingly but also unwisely.

A FICTION EXPOSED.

The simple facts are that Dumont's farm was not within many miles of the Prince Albert Colonization Company's grant, and that it was not the property of the company. The simple facts are that Dumont's farm was not within many miles of the Prince Albert Colonization Company's grant, and that it was not the property of the company.

SIR LEONARD TILLEY.

It is announced that Sir Leonard Tilley has tendered his resignation as Minister of Finance. A press despatch from St. John, N. B., states that the resignation was tendered on the 10th inst. It is believed that the resignation was tendered on the 10th inst. It is believed that the resignation was tendered on the 10th inst.

THE THUNDERBOLT'S OPINION.

Riel is under sentence of death, duly pronounced by a court of competent jurisdiction. His offence has been an act of rebellion of a very aggravated kind. It is the second time he has been guilty, and the mercy extended to him for his first offence has thus proved to be ill-considered. In his second rebellion he sought allies by stirring up the Indian tribes, and the Indian war he thus caused was attended by the outrages which it is quite certain to bring.

CANADIAN PACIFIC RAILWAY.

Congratulations on its Completion from Montreal to Vancouver in Four Days.

OTTAWA, Nov. 9.—Sir John Macdonald has received the following telegram:

"CHICAGO, ILL., Nov. 7.—Thank you for your kind and unwavering support of the Canadian Pacific Railway. It is completed. The first train left this (Saturday) morning at 9:22."

"W. C. VAN HORNE."

CONGRATULATIONS FROM BRITISH COLUMBIA.

The following is from the Premier of British Columbia:

"VICTORIA, B.C., Nov. 7.—I congratulate you on the completion of the transcontinental railway across Canada. It will prove a permanent bond of union between the western and eastern provinces of this great Dominion."

"W. D. SMITH."

FROM MR. SANDFORD FLEMING.

"NORTH BEND, British Columbia. On board the train."

"To Sir John Macdonald."

"The first through train from Montreal to Vancouver is approaching Yale and in with four hours of the P.C. coast. The last spike was driven this morning by Hon. Donald A. Smith, at Craigellachie, in British Columbia, three hundred and forty miles from Port Moody. On reaching the coast the train will run to Montreal, including all ordinary stoppages, will be exactly five days, averaging 24 miles per hour. Before long passenger trains may run over the railway from Montreal to Vancouver in four days, and it will be quite possible to travel especially from Liverpool to the P.C. coast by the Canadian Transcontinental in less than five days. We are specially pleased with the work done. It is impossible to realize the enormous physical and other difficulties that have been overcome with such a marvelous rapidity and with results so satisfactory."

"SANDFORD FLEMING."

A Romance Results in a Tragedy.

STAMICA, N. Y., Nov. 9.—William Wilbur graduated from the university here on June 24th last. On the 26th of the same month, Clara E. Cressley graduated at the high school. They were secretly married, but have not lived together. When he has been to her house to ask her to live with him, he has been denied. This morning he climbed over the roof, broke a window and entered his wife's bedroom with the intention of taking her by force. She, however, had left her mother and lived with him. She was not in her room. He went down stairs and found mother and daughter. The mother ordered him out of the house. He seized a pair of scissors and stabbed them both fatally. In the court he pleaded guilty to assault in the second degree, and was held for the grand jury. The girl is very pretty. She had begun an active for divorce.

CABLE NEWS.

"Cable." The oldest and most reliable brand of cigars in the market. Free from all chemicals and artificial flavorings.

"El Padre" Cigars. Universally acknowledged to be the best 10c. cigar manufactured. Don't be deceived by cheap imitations. No chemicals or artificial flavorings used.

S. Davis & Sons have moved into their new premises in the East of its kind in America. They are the only cigar manufacturers in Canada who manufacture their own cigars and have no middlemen between them and the consumer.

Beware of cheap cigars artificially flavored for the purpose of hiding the poor quality of tobacco used in flavored cigars. Look up a name, the old reliable brand—"Cable" and "El Padre."

A trial will convince the most skeptical that S. Davis & Sons' manufacture of cigars is superior in every respect to any in Canada.

Price medals gained the world were awarded to S. Davis & Sons, of Montreal, for their manufacture of cigars, at Paris, 1889, Centennial, 1876, Montreal, 1883 etc.

It has been said that the Scottish dialect is peculiarly powerful in its use of vowels, and the following dialogue between a Shopman and a Customer has been given as a specimen. The conversation may relate to a pair of Blankets hanging at Alexander's store door.

Sho.—Ay, oo? (Yes, of wool.)
Cus.—Ay, oo? (All wool.)
Sho.—Ay, a' ae oo? (Yes, all wool.)
Cus.—A ae oo? (All same wool.)

This is an opportunity of which many may be glad to avail themselves.

It May be Remarkable.
—That ladies drink Mikado Tea, refreshing and stimulating, only 45 cents per pound.
—It may be remarked that Mr. Mikado is a jolly looking fellow, judging from the pictures we have seen of him on a pound package of his native tea; and if his jolliness was asked the secret of what preserves him so well in his old age, we presume he would answer "Mikado tea, of course."

Very busy in Turnbull's tailoring department. Our goods and prices recommend themselves to the public.

Wood Supplies.

Wood is coming into Peterborough over the different lines of railway in large quantities, and from all appearances the crop will be ample to meet the requirements of the town, now that coal is so much used. Today there were several car loads on a Canadian Pacific Railway siding and from inquiry it was learned that it was for Mr. Thomas Trennum and part of a large quantity which he will handle this coming winter. The wood is of a first class quality and is being sold at reasonable prices.

Important Announcement.

Having bought fifty dozen Scotch lambs' wool and Canadian shirts and drawers at 10 per cent. less than manufacturers' prices, I will offer from his date the whole lot to the public at prices ranging from 35c., 50c., 75c. and $1.00 in Canadian, and $1.00, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75 and $2.00 in Scotch lambs' wool; shirts and drawers the same price. Don't be deceived by thinking this a catch penny announcement. It is a bona fide offer and will save to all purchasers from 25 to 50 per cent. Underclothing was never offered in the town of Peterborough at such prices. These are no shoddy goods or old shop keepers, but new, fresh goods, warranted in every particular. Parties requiring underclothing will study their own interest by paying a visit to AMARU McNEIL's, tailor and clothier, George street.

Visitors: Unlabeled! Never wear unlabeled so much worn as now. For an extensive stock of patterns to select from call at Turnbull's showrooms.

Saved Army.

A Saved Army convention has been going on since Tuesday morning. The delegates from different stations arrived in town on Monday night and met the next morning at eight o'clock. On Wednesday afternoon the Rev. Mr. Baxter, of London, E. C., delivered an address on the "Power of Faith and Prayer." The meeting was well attended. In the evening a public was held, at which the Rev. Mr. Baxter occupied the chair. The officers and soldiers in attendance at the convention took seats on the platform and during the evening several of them gave short addresses. On Thursday a consecration service was held at nine o'clock a. m., and a farewell service at 8 p. m. On Thursday night about fifty officers and soldiers held an all night prayer meeting, which ended at five o'clock this morning.

The Black Knight's Resolve.

The following resolution was unanimously carried at a meeting of the Black Knights of Ireland on Wednesday evening, Nov. 11th:—
"That having heard read from the chair the following resolutions passed by L.O.L. No. 80:—
"That in the present condition of Ireland, we the assembled members of L.O.L. No. 80, believe it to be the duty of all Protestants to join together to oppose the advance of the so-called Nationalists (Parliament) and to allow a united front against secession and anarchy."
That this L.O.L. No. 80, sees with regret the obstacles that are being put forward to prevent the rebel, Kiel, from paying the just penalty of his many crimes in the scaffold, and that this lodge is of opinion that no further respite should be granted him, but that he should suffer the extreme penalty of the law and be hanged in fulfillment of the sentence passed upon him."
We give the same our hearty commendation and support, and that copies of the resolution be sent to Sir John Macdonald, the Orange Sentinel, the Toronto Mail and Globe and the local papers."

THE ORGAN RECITAL

Given by Mr. Heathfield at the Charlotte Street Methodist Church a success.

It is a pity that it rained on Tuesday evening, for it deterred many from going to Mr. Heathfield's organ recital. As it was, however, there was a very fair attendance, and those who braved the inclement weather had no cause to regret having done so.

At eight o'clock the choir entered the gallery and Mr. Heathfield took his seat at the organ. Nocturne in A by Hummel and Mozart's Gloria in Excelsis B was the opening organ solo. Both were played in faultless style. To the slow sustained movement of the former, the organist imparted a peculiar earnestness by an evenly sympathetic touch while in the Gloria his brilliancy of execution was equally marked.

"We praise Thee O God" Thomas, a chorus, was sung by the choir in a highly finished manner. The chorists seemed to be all animated with a single idea, and the result was a charming oneness while singing in chorus. Mrs. Chambers, Miss Rush, and Mr. Budden took solos in soprano, contralto and bass respectively. Mr. Craven was in ill voice, laboring under a rather distressing cold, and "In Native Worth," a tenor solo from Haydn's Creation, was not done in his best manner. However, Mr. Craven's middle notes were quite pleasing. Miss Dugan contributed an organ solo "Pleasant Hymn," by Burnish, in number four of part first. The simple little melody possesses wonderfully attractive grace and charm, that at once pleases and holds the attention. It was played first as an unaccompanied air, and then with several variations. Miss Dugan acquitted herself very well. Mrs. Chambers next sang Blumenthal's "The Way to Paradise," sweetly, pathetically and powerfully. "The Heavens are Telling," sung in chorus by the choir, ended the first part.

Part second was opened by a duet, "In the Cross of Christ," sung by Mrs. Chambers and Mr. A. L. Davis. The duet was given very pleasingly, and were applause in order it would have called forth a decided encore. Mrs. R. H. Denniston and Mrs. Chambers then sang a duet, with choral obligato, "I Waited for the Lord," by Mendelssohn. The two voices blended in the most exquisite and delightful harmony, while the bursts of chorus produced an effect almost approaching stunner. Mr. French's bass solo was entitled, "Before Jehovah's Awful Throne," by Mullan. This solo was well adapted to his voice, and to it he did justice. Mr. French possesses a voice of rare richness. In selecting "Eve's Lamentation," Mrs. R. H. Denniston chose for herself a rather difficult solo. However, her rendition of it was indeed surprisingly creditable. Mr. Heathfield again presided at the organ, giving Mendelssohn's "The Lord is Mindful of His Own," and Handel's chorus, "Hallelujah." By request Mrs. Chambers gave that grand and inspiring song, "Gloria," "Judith." In it Mrs. Chambers took the aerial flights with surpassing brilliancy, while in the deep contralto she was equally strong. The parts dealing with pathos or conscious vigor were both truly interpreted.

The recital closed with the rendition of the "Gloria of Mozart's Twelfth Mass" by the choir.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Strong winds and rain from the west and north west, cloudy, considerably colder weather with rain and snow, followed by clearing weather to night.

Y.M.C.A. Conference.

The Young Men's Christian Associations in the district extending from Toronto to Kingston will have a district conference at Port Hope on the 25th and 26th November. It is hoped that Peterborough will be well represented. The Secretary of the local Association, Mr. Geo. E. Williams, will present the topic, "Why the Association work should be specially for young men."

D. & D.
SATURDAY, Nov. 13.—S. Martyn was charged by P. C. Pigeon with having been drunk and disorderly. He pleaded not guilty. A witness was called, who proved the charge to the satisfaction of the Magistrate, who imposed a fine of $2 or ten days in jail. The fine was paid.

CHANCERY SITTINGS

The Cases that Come Before the Court for Disposal.

The Chancery Sittings continue. A summary of the cases that have been disposed of is as follows:—

NEWELL VS. NEWELL.—An action brought by the plaintiff, Samuel Newell, for the recovery of land which he had deeded to his son, the defendant. He claimed that at the time he gave the deed he was incompetent to do so. The case was in hearing for about an hour when a settlement was effected, the defendant agreeing to pay the costs of suit and to pay the plaintiff $100 arrears of annuity, the defendant to retain possession of the land. Messrs. E. B. Edwards and T. Grover for the plaintiff, and Messrs. F. Sumner & Rogers for the defendant.

BULMER VS. BRUMWELL.—The plaintiff, Bulmer, has been a tenant of the defendant, Brumwell, for twenty-five years past. In 1883 he took a new lease of the land at $400 a year. Brumwell excepting a small field of six acres for his own use. The agreement enjoined the building of a new house for his tenant on the defendant, the plaintiff having agreed to do certain teaming and excavation. The defendant and plaintiff in selecting the site for the house came to the conclusion that on a place in this excepted six acres was the best place on the farm whereon to build. The agreement was carried out until after the house was built, when Brumwell took possession of it and justified his procedure by saying that whilst under the lease, Bulmer was bound to do this work in 1884, yet he was not bound to build the house during the term of the lease. The suit was brought for the interpretation of the lease, and for damages for non-erection of the house for the tenant. The Court held that the agreement was that Bulmer was to build the house in 1884, and that, in fact, the house was intended for Bulmer. The Court ordered the amendment of the lease, Brumwell to pay damages to be fixed by the Master, and to pay costs of suit. Messrs. Dumble & Henry for the plaintiff, and Mr. E. B. Edwards for the defendant.

IRWIN VS. SPERRY.—A suit to try an issue arising from a contract between the plaintiff and the defendant. The issue was abandoned, and the case was dismissed. Messrs. Dumble & Henry for the plaintiff and Messrs. Wells, Gordon & Co. for the defendant.

Mr. Earle's Lecture.

In the report of the Victoria Teachers' Association Convention held at Lindsay recently, the Warer says of Mr. Earle's lecture on "The Poet Reflects the Age":—

"In the evening Burton Earle, Esq., English master in Peterborough Collegiate Institute, delivered a lecture in the Opera House, before a large audience on the subject 'The Poet Reflects the Age.' Col. Deane, with one of his usual appropriate addresses, introduced the lecturer.

His lecture reviewed English literature from the Anglo-Saxon period onwards, and brought out, step by step, how, as a later age, the poets were merely the outcome of the period. The language and style were the reflex of the dominant ideas of the time. Mr. Earle showed his great familiarity with the subject, and having the matter well arranged, made the various points clear to the audience. We have much pleasure in complimenting Mr. Earle on his masterly essay and I shall be glad to publish his lecture in full in the columns of the Review, provided it be placed as our disposal.

Mr. Earle certainly showed conclusively by his handling of the subject that he was a man of the press as he has of his teaching of English. A role of thanks was tendered him at the close of the lecture.

RIEL'S DEATH WARRANT

MESSANGER BEARING THE ORDER ON HIS WAY TO REGINA.

The Condemned Man Told that there is no Hope—Preparations for the Execution How Riel's Family View It.

WINNIPEG, Nov. 13.—A special messenger from Ottawa passed Port Arthur this afternoon on his way to Regina, bearing the Governor General's warrant for the execution of Louis Riel at Regina on Monday next. He will reach Winnipeg to-morrow morning, and Regina on Sunday morning. All the preparations for the execution have been completed.

THE DOOMED MAN'S BEARING.

Riel was made aware four days ago that the sentence of the court would be carried out on Monday. After the first reprieve he got into his head that he was to be sent to the penitentiary, and his spiritual advisers could do nothing with him, his manner becoming insolent and at times exceedingly offensive. But when the news was broken to him on Monday evening that he must prepare for death, he sobered down. He may be well to add that none of the alleged interviews said to have been held with him lately ever took place. The correspondence in this city of certain American and Canadian papers have been running a bogus news bureau for weeks back.

THE MEMBERS OF HIS FAMILY.

Riel's relations and friends at St. Vital, five miles from here, are aware that Monday will end all. They are naturally very much broken down. His poor old mother became crazed some time ago, during the rebellion, but to-day she is able to realize the dreadful position in which her son is placed. Joseph, the brother, who is a most respectable man, is in a dreadful state of mind. Riel's wife, whom he did not treat well during the rebellion, leaving her exposed to danger and to hunger, is reported to be nearly heartbroken; but the priests are with her and the other relatives, and everything that can be done will be done to comfort them. The Riel family from the first scouted the idea the prisoner was insane. They say he had delusions on religion and on the subjects of his own importance, but that on all other matters he was not only sane, but exceedingly intelligent and clever. They have been deeply pained at the publication of the bogus interviews.

FALSE REPORTS.

The reports sent out by an irresponsible person at Regina to the effect that the Blackfriars nation would rise in the spring and clean out the soldiers and settlers are utterly untrue. The story that it is being done to the Northwest by these bands is so great that many R-formers as well as C. natives in Winnipeg are in favour of punishing the falsifiers, if that can be done under the law. —Mail Special.

The Churches

The following is a list of services in the several churches for to-morrow:—

A HOLE IN A RIVER

A Three Hundred Feet Rock-Like Through a River's Bottom

A Kingwood, W. Va., despatch to the New York Sun says: About fifteen miles north of this place, along the Cheat river, can be seen some of the most rugged and inspiring scenery to be found anywhere in West Virginia, if not in North America, east of the Rocky Mountains. On either side of the river for probably half a mile, there is a perpendicular wall of solid limestone, about 350 feet in height. From the top of these walls or cliffs on the east side of the river the craggy and timbered mountains, with a slope of about 60 degrees, descend to the river, and at the base of the mountains, there are about 2,000 feet. Near the top of the mountain has several for unknown ages a great rock measuring twenty feet from top to bottom, and averaging about 18 feet in thickness. It is estimated that about 9,440 cubic feet of rock, like the limestone, and allowing 100 pounds to each cubic foot, the weight of the monster was 944,000 pounds or 324 tons. Just below and against the lower side of this rock was a large oak tree, which seemed to be the only support the rock had to keep it from falling down into the river.

I first heard of the rock a few weeks ago from a party of Kingwood young men, who had been down to that region to examine an extensive cave which they explored from an entrance near the bank of the river to a considerable distance in the mountain without finding either beginning or end, for in some places it went far down into the earth, and in other places far back and up into the mountain. They said that it was the intention of several persons who lived in that neighborhood to cut away the large oak tree which stood below the rock, and give the rock a start down the mountain. On Wednesday, Oct. 7th, one of the party received a letter informing him that a crowd had been organized and the work would begin on Saturday, the 10th. I went down on Friday morning, and on Saturday went to the scene. There were about twenty persons present from the neighborhood. The work was done by a company of six men organized for that purpose. The tree was cut down and fell, creating a considerable precipice, and lodged, but the great rock stood unmoved. The next thing to do was to find how much of the rock was imbedded in the earth. Digging and shovelling continued for nearly two hours, and, owing to the steep slope on which the men had to stand, it was no easy work. Great care had to be exercised also, for it was impossible to tell at what moment the rock would start tumbling down the mountain. It was decided to be two men, one to stand on the rock, the other to stand on the ground, and the latter to pull the rope which was attached to the rock. The men pushed against it with their hands, but its weight defied their strength. A lever was cut and a fulcrum was erected. The lever was soon bending beneath the united weight and efforts of several men of ordinary size. I saw up the mountain probably twenty yards from the rock to get a good view of its course to the river, and was watching closely for the start.

"Now the game," came to my ears, and I could see the top of the great rock going out from the mountain—now slow, now faster, now a crash and then crashing up in crashes. The scene presented by that rock tearing and tumbling down the mountain cannot be imagined, but it cannot be described. It had a tendency to confound the senses and bewilder the reason. Great trees were torn from the earth and buried into the air like twigs in a whirlwind, and the trunks of mammoth oaks were torn and splintered in every direction. The rock went, making a clean cut and a wide path. The mountain trembled, and the spectators stood spell-bound. The rock gained in speed as it tumbled down the mountain, and it was lower and of the great mountain wall. It now struck the last precipice, and, after going outward for more than 200 feet, it fell into the river with a roaring sound.

After the rock and leaves, and flying pieces of limbs had settled, we could see a peculiar action of the water, but we were too far off to discover the cause. A walk of more than a mile around, as it was next to impossible to go straight down the mountain, from where we were, brought us to the river, but instead of seeing the rock we saw the water rushing from every direction down into a huge hole, probably 20 feet square. During the half hour we were there I saw that ten taillogs were drawn into the whirl and disappeared.

It is supposed that the cave exists under the river, and that the weight of the immense rock coming down with such force and rapidity caused the roof to give way. Whether or not the water will soon fill the hole up and the river flow on as before will depend upon the extent of the cavern and the existence of an outlet to carry the water from the cavern to some other stream, or to some other part of the country.

I left that district on Sunday afternoon, and the water was then still rushing down the hole, carrying sawlogs and every other floating substance with it.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 14, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Another Car Load of Grapes.
Messrs. Long Bros. have just received another car load of Delicious Grapes. Parties wishing to get them by the basket can do so by calling at their stores.

A Treat.
A great treat is in store for the people of Peterborough. Stuart Rogers, the great impersonator, is coming, who seems gifted with the wonderful faculty of making his audience laugh or cry at his will.

Dr. Leavitt.
President Ontario Sanitarium, and Canada's only Rheumatic Specialist, may be consulted free of charge at the Grand Central Hotel, Peterborough on Tuesday and Wednesday, 17th and 18th Nov.

Honesty.
A few days ago some clothing was received at Parker's dye works from the country. In searching the pockets before placing the garment into the vat of dye, Mr. Parker was somewhat surprised to find he had pulled out four five dollar bills. The owner of the dry goods was at once corresponded with, and the loser was made happy by again regaining his deposit.

Another.
At the Central Bridge Works the building of a new iron bridge for the corporation of Ashburnham is in progress. It is to be placed over the Ottawa Mills' raceway, on Elizabeth street. The bridge will be similar to that across the Peterborough creek on Hunter street. The abutments will be of solid masonry with anchor walls. Heavy iron girders will be stretched across and on these the planking will rest. The bridge, when complete, will cost the corporation about $1,000. Mr. H. Sherwood has the contract for the masonry and is making a very creditable job of it.

Entirely Free From Smallpox.
The child that was ill with an attack of varioloid has now recovered and Peterborough and vicinity is entirely free from smallpox. Dr. Job, who had charge of the case, is to-day engaged in fumigating the furniture used in the hospital and in preparing to vacate the building. On Monday the inmates of the hospital will be removed from it, and the bedding and many other articles used there will be burned. The unfortunate child will bear evidence of having had the disease, as it carries many marks. The prompt action of the health officials and the satisfactory results of the measures adopted to confine the disease to the initial case are matters for congratulation.

Explained.
As considerable interest has been taken in the word "Mikado," which appeared in large type for some days in the Review without any clue to what was meant by it, we may explain that it is the name of a celebrated Japan Tea, of which Messrs. Hawley Bros., the tea men of Hunter street, have just received a large consignment. This tea is picked in the month of May, when the leaf is in its finest flavor. It is picked by the Mikado Trading Company, on their elevated tea plantations. Mikado brand of tea is guaranteed to be absolutely pure, of a rich olive shade, which is the natural color of the leaf when dry. It is sun-dried, by which process the color of the leaves is not changed, as in other brands of tea, where less trouble is taken to insure its absolute purity. This tea can be procured in one-half and one pound packages, and is sold at the uniform price of 45c. per pound.

An Association Picnic.
This caption is the title of a painting which will shortly be turned out of one of our artist's studios. The production is a somewhat novel one, and promises to elicit considerable comment. The party has arrived by boat at the sylvan bower, where the picnic is to be held. Two ladies have disembarked, and Dr. Geo., President of the Association, with his striped Association cap and coat, is making perfunctory efforts to unload cases of presumably, edibles. C. A. L., the sprinter, sits beside the doctor, and is manfully struggling with another bundle of goods. But he does not seem to like the way in which A. St. A. takes things, and the second on C. A. L.'s face is evidently meant for that gentleman, who coolly declines on the mossy bank and seems to hugly appreciate the twin's efforts at manual labor. The painting will be on exhibition in a day or two.

Buy and Drink
The Mikado Tea, only 45c. per pound. For sale by Hawley Bros., Hunter street, Peterborough.

Mr. Chas. Appleton's

To Housekeepers
Fair, VanEvery & Co. have opened another large consignment of Gray and White Blankets, Cotton and Wool Comforters, at such low prices as to warrant a quick sale.

Now is the time to secure a length of these new all-wool Dress Goods Turnbull has just received in all colors at extremely low prices.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from one o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Strong winds and moderate gales from the south-west and north-west, partly cloudy weather with a few snow flurries.

Very busy in Turnbull's tailoring department.
Our goods and prices recommended themselves to the public.

Commenced.
The clicking sounds of the stone cutters' hammer is at last heard echoing and reverberating in the vicinity of the Peelen lot, corner of George and Charlotte streets. This circumstance has had the effect of creating a rumour to the effect that the new Peterborough post office was at last commenced. But this is not so. It is the sounds of the hammers of the workmen in the employ of Messrs. Drake & Billings, who are doing the stonework for a new cabinet-shop and warehouse which is being put up by Mr. Aaron Comstock. The new building will have a frontage of 22 feet, a depth of 50 feet and will be three stories high. Mr. P. McNamara has the contract of the brick work and Mr. Geo. Elliott the contract for the carpenter work. During the past summer Mr. Comstock has also built for himself a fine new residence on Water street, south of the market. It is of red brick, two stories high, 26x34, with a commodious kitchen 16x20. These are signs of a safe and prosperous business.

Winters! Winters! Never were winters so much worn as now. For an extensive stock of patterns to select from call at Turnbull's showrooms.

The Market.
Although there was a considerable movement in grain this forenoon the amount offered was not so marked as that of the market days last week. No doubt the heavy rains and the threatening weather had something to do with the falling off in the delivery. No. 1 wheat brought 88 cents per bushel, while the lower grades sold down as low as 78. Barley brought from 45 to 75 cents per bushel. Feed sold at 63 cents and oats at 32 cents. Potatoes were offered in quantities, selling at 50 cents per bag and apples at from 60 to 90 cents per bag. Beef sold at 5 and 6 cents per pound; pork at 7 and 8 and mutton at 6 and 7 cents per pound. Chickens sold at 40 cents per pair; ducks at from 60 to 90 cents per pair; geese at 60 to 75 cents each and turkeys at 75 to $1 each. Eggs brought 20 cents a dozen and butter from 18 to 21 cents per pound.

Just received at Turnbull's, another shipment of Boys and Youths Overcoats. Examine them and see them for price and quality all the time.

The Buffers Literary Club.
At the regular meeting of the Dufferin Literary Club on Friday evening the President, Mr. J. H. Long, presided. A humorous reading was given by Mr. Ames, after which the President vacated the chair, and Mr. J. O'Meara was elected to preside during the debate. The question discussed was "Resolved, that independence would be preferable to our present system of government." In accordance with the appointments made by the Club at the previous meeting, the affirmative was argued by Messrs. S. R. Armstrong, J. D. McMillen and Ames, and the negative by Messrs. J. H. Long, A. Clegg and W. Peckham. The Chairman reviewed the arguments at length, with the modesty of a judge deciding his first case, but with the ability of an experienced jurist, and decided that the affirmative had proved their position. At the next meeting the Club will consider whether any barrier should be placed in the way of the admission of the people of any country to the full rights of Canadian citizenship, and the "heavenly Chinese" will come in for some attention.

A World Wide Reputation
Mr. John Nugent, druggist, of this town, on Hunter street, has been appointed agent for this vicinity for the sale of the famous Lazarus spectacles, and has received a full stock of goods suitable for all ages. We learned from Mr. Lazarus, who called at this office to-day, that the excellence of the spectacles manufactured by him has a world-wide reputation, the goods having been before the English and Canadian public for the past 35 years. The best of crystal is used in their manufacture, and those who have impaired eye-sight cannot fail to find a boon in their use. The testimonials furnished by those who have used them are of the strongest character (see advertisement in another column), and the immense sale which they have enjoyed in the past is ample evidence that they are deservedly popular with the public. These spectacles can only be had at Mr. Nugent's, who is sole agent for Peterborough. As Mr. Lazarus has no connection with any other firm in Canada, and as his spectacles can only be obtained through his authorized agent, intending purchasers will do well to see that they get the correct article. Be sure and ask for the Lazarus spectacles.

What from the West.
Mr. Hilliard is now receiving regular shipments of wheat by U.P.R. from Manitoba and grinding the same at Blyth mills.

Building.
A prominent builder does not agree with the opinion of some other contractors to the effect that the next season will not be as brisk as the season just closing. He says that he knows one stone mason who already has a large number of contracts ahead for next season to put in foundations of buildings of different kinds. He thinks that the record for next season will well out even more than that of the present one. At any rate, since the Review building list was published numerous buildings have been put up in almost every quarter of the town. The present season has been one of almost unprecedented activity, and the total value of the buildings erected will amount to fully two hundred and forty thousand dollars.

Just to hand at Turnbull's, some Choice Astrachan Mantles, very cheap. See them.

Infer d.
On Tuesday evening Mr. Edward Tierney, a brother of Mr. M. Tierney, of this town, and who is now engaged in the New York City Fire Department, met with an accident. Engine Company No. 52, of which he is a member, were engaged in putting out a fire in a foundry. Not knowing that there was any powder around the building the firemen worked away in their usual way. In a shed near the foundry, however, there were three kegs stored away for private purposes. The fire reached this building and when the flames came in contact with the explosive air was rent with a loud report and a dense cloud of dust, sticks, stones and splinters was raised. Several of the firemen were hurt, some of them seriously. Mr. Tierney escaped with having his hands and face somewhat burned and blackened.

A "Bare" Hunt
On Thursday last a couple of local sportsmen, availing themselves of the holiday, decided to have some sport in the country. They secured two of the best of vultures, skinned around and borrowed a "partridge" dog and started out in a nice shining buggy, drawn by a prancing steed, to see if they could bag some birds. They arrived in due time where the birds were said to be as thick as hair on a dog. Here they unloaded their stores, including their dogs, and loaded up their guns. When the canine touched the ground he evidently didn't feel at home. He sniffed the air for a while, looked wild, and finally turned tail and scooted for home. The birds wandered around all day, and at nightfall were found trailing the remains of a racoon towards their camp.

YOUNG MEN'S CONSERVATIVE CLUB

An will be seen by a notice in our advertising columns, a meeting will be held in the Directors' Room in the Lansdowne Rink on the evening of Thursday next, for the purpose of forming a Young Men's Conservative Club for the town of Peterborough.

The young men will have a large influence in the next and subsequent elections, as large numbers of them who did not previously possess votes have, by the passage of the new Franchise Act, been admitted to the privileges of the franchise, and efforts on their part to unite in order to become better acquainted with the political affairs of the country, and to exercise their due share of influence, are commendable.

All Conservative young men are invited to be present at the meeting, and we hope that each one will make it a point to be present. Let the attendance be large.

THE SMALLPOX CASE

The prompt action of the Board of Health and the health officials at the time the case of smallpox appeared made the danger of the disease spreading a remote one, yet people will breathe freer and feel more secure now that the patient has recovered and the disease is entirely stamped out.

The Board and the health officers are deserving the thanks of the community for the manner in which they dealt with the case.
Neglect, tardiness or inadequate provisions to contain the disease might have been attended by calamitous results, but the measures adopted were so promptly carried out and so effective that even the other members of the family did not take the disease. This result of their action is very gratifying indeed.

In this connection it may not be out of place to point out that the Board of Health for this year was not organized until the evening of the day on which the smallpox case was discovered. When the trying time came the members responded to the call and did their duty, yet it would be much better to have the new board organized each year as soon as the term commences. The Board would then be in a position to see that the sanitary condition of the town was satisfactory and support the officials in enforcing the law.

The Globe has published a "poem" to Mr.
Blake in which by an excess of poetic license
Mr. Blake is made to call the titular Reform leader a coward. The Globe should know that the charges against Mr. Blake of cowardice emanated from the comic Reform organ—from the Globe job office, subsidized by the Reform Administration of Ontario.

We are being gently prepared by the friends of the Mowat Administration for the news of a deficit in the yearly accounts of the Province of Ontario. Such a rumour has been put forth, and its truth is not squarely denied. Some of them, indeed, are endeavoring to account for it, and at least one is suggesting a raid upon the Canadian treasury as a means of meeting the deficiency. We would suggest as an alternative the cessation of the practice of using a large portion of our revenue for the purpose of influencing individual votes, or of rewarding friendly constituencies.

A more complete answer to the desperate meat by the anti-Canadian press of the construction of the C. P. R. could not be desired than the excellent report given of our great national highway by Mr. Sandford Fleming. He is well qualified to judge, and he is thoroughly impartial, so that his high and unreserved praise is highly satisfactory, not only as showing how well our country has been served, but also as making the fact manifest to the people of other countries, who do not understand how resource and saving for power leads some of the Reform journals to disparage their own country, and calumniate everything Canadian.

The DAILY EVENING REVIEW is delivered to subscribers at ten cents a week.

ACCOUNT OF A BATTLE

By a Private Who Was Cool Enough to Observe Things.

I remember thinking to myself "I wonder what this is to be like. Whether I shall stand afire, and be shot at, or shall I feel like a daddling?" We began to approach the edge of the clearing. Just then the never-to-be-forgotten shell from the enemy, somewhere on our left, caused every man to make a most polite bow. I am sure I did—for it sounded like the howl of devils and seemed to be everywhere. Our captain's face was a little ashen in colour—so were all our own I think. The captain smiled faintly, and made some remark about "dodging 'em," which we were perfectly willing to do. "Think I there's more where that came from, and I don't like the sample."

Halt! We are standing on a bit of ground, part swamp, part pasture. A few small trees about us, logs and broken branches scattered about mixed up with wild climbing vines, plants and bushes. Directly at our front we saw what appeared to be a railroad, or road bed for one, extending from our right as far as we could see on our left. Now comes another order, "Lie down." In our rear we heard the tramp of cavalry of underwood, rattling of artillery
-shells, etc., as our forces were taking up their positions. Then there seemed to be almost a perfect silence for a short time. A little bird perched on a tree at our front sang sweetly for a minute or two, and three or four crows walked about chewing their cud in a most unconcerned manner. I peered ahead anxious to catch sight of something living and moving behind the earthworks of the enemy, but they seemed deserted. A closer inspection, however, revealed the heavy guns poking their ugly black noses from out of the embrasures at intervals along the work. I thought I saw a bat or two, but wasn't sure. Will this silence ever be broken? This awful hush. I was nervous; what's going to be next? I take another look at my gun, holding on to it tight.
About me lay the boys, every face to the front, and a business look about most of them. Suddenly a crash of musketry was heard far on our left. Like a wave it rolled nearer, louder.
Then the bomb! bomb! of the field pieces planted on the road. An immediate reply came from the enemy, and the battle had at last commenced.

Now the voice of our colonel was heard:
"Tention, battalion!" "Fire at will!"
"Commence firing!" The noise was now describing. The rapid discharge of musketry at our side and the heavy volleys from the enemy, who when they first fired, rose up in one long line. Thousands of grey bats, appearing above the earthworks, delivered their fire and disappeared, to be immediately replaced by another line of men, and then by another. The turning shells, flinging their iron fragments far and wide, the whistling of grape and canister, the particularly vicious rip-rip-rip of the minie ball, flying branches of trees torn apart by ball and shell, the flying atm-sphere thick with smoke, was a scene never to be forgotten. Our gunboats threw their ponderous iron missiles over and into their works. The cannon before mentioned as leading quietly at our front now bellowed loudly, and with their tails straight in the air rushed about seeking shelter and finding none. A large dog belonging to the enemy ran after the balls where they struck around.

I had fired some half dozen rounds, when I looked about me. It seemed as though I was acting under the influence of a dream. I could not exactly realize my situation, yet knew that death was in the air. "Is this a battle?" I think I to myself; why, no one is dead or wounded about me. Carefully ramming in another cartridge, examining my cap to see that it was dry, I fired again. Could see no particular object to fire at when the enemy was not delivering their fire, unless their artillerymen should themselves fire at them. One man in dark clothes mounted the works, and with a fieldglass carefully scanned our position. I fired at him several times.
I did not know if I did not know it. Indeed,
I did not always know whether my gun was discharged or not, except by its commencing to kick back a little, there was such a noise.

"Why don't some one get hit?" My foot was pulled slightly by one of our men behind me.
Looked around. Saw him pointing to my left,
and he evidently was telling me something, as his lips were moving. I could scarcely hear him, but looked in the direction indicated, and saw one of my company who had been firing from a kneeling position laying with his face to the ground, a small spot of blood on his temple.
That was all. He never knew what killed him.
I looked at him with astonishment, and couldn't see to comprehend the situation even then.

"Don't hit me, boys! I'm wounded!" and one of our front ranks staggered to the rear, holding a bleeding hand to his bleeding face. "I" shouted some one, and the men began to fall back to the rear with bleeding wounds, or fell in their tracks. Some men in the excitement fired in the air, and one or two fired off their ram-rods. I could see these things happening all about me. By and by we heard loud cheering on our left; it grows louder and nearer. "Charge!"
and out of the works we spring, rushing at top speed, tumbling over the fallen tree trunk, plunging into mud holes, scrambling through the briars, and leaping into the ditch in front of the works, we scramble up the sloping front of the works, and are on them. The enemy is in full retreat.

We have now a short halt in the breast works; companies that were broken up in the charge were rejoined, and rolls called. Many had answered to their names this morning for the last time. The last two or three hours had mustered them out, and they had joined the great majority. During the short rest that followed Gen. Barnard rode past us but in hand, his face beaming with smiles, everyone cheering at the top of his voice. All felt happy
I think. The time of the engagement seemed very short. One man said it must have been thirty minutes or thereabouts. It seemed to me a trifle more. In reality it lasted nearly three hours. —N. Y. Commercial Bulletin.

DIABOLICAL OUTRAGE

An Express Train Wrecked by a Purposely Misplaced Switch

PITTSBURGH, Pa., Nov. 12.—A frightful wreck occurred at Blue Stone Quarry, on the Baltimore and Ohio Railway, at seven o'clock this morning. The through express from Baltimore to Pittsburgh, consisting of a sleeper, two coaches, two baggage cars and one express car, ran in a misplaced switch and was completely wrecked.
The sleeper rolled over the embankment into the Youghiogheny river, and the other cars were upset. Sixteen persons were injured but no one was killed. Nine of the wounded are believed to be dangerously injured unless it is Crummerman Boyle, from the Fayette district.
The officials of the road say the switch had been tampered with, evidently with the intention of causing the wreck.

Orin Van Meter, of this city, by his heroic action saved the car from taking fire, and perhaps some of the passengers from death. When the train jumped the track he grabbed the stove with a dead, like grip and held it until the car stopped at the foot of the embankment, where he let go to find the flesh burnt off both hands and arms.

FIENDISH OUTRAGE.—A fiendish outrage was perpetrated in Belleville on Thursday night, when the dwelling of Mr. Fell, manufacturer of crated with the object of preventing the exit of those within. The inmates escaped through the windows, but the contents were destroyed. The place is insured for $1000. The building was the property of the estate of the late Wm

AN OFFICER'S DISGRACE

Brought about by a superficial Venetianist
—A General as a Detective

A romantic story just brought to light, regarding the flight of the Fourteenth Dragoon at the battle of Chillianwallah, is exciting great interest among the soldiers in India. The accepted legend runs as that the order, "Three about and center," which originated a retreat that, under a pressure from a fierce body of Sikh horse, speedily became an ignominious flight, came from a lancer in the regiment, who, nursing a deep spite against Col. King, used his remarkable ventriloquial powers in simulating the voice of his commander. But the suicide of Col. King at Lahore removed a material witness, and the grave has crossed over most of those who were engaged in the Sikh campaign.

Now, however, on the authority of an old soldier of the Fourteenth Dragoons, another and more romantic cause is furnished for the flight of Col. King. A private named Robert Wilson, sentenced to four years' heavy marching drill by his colonel, declared that his punishment was unjust, and that he would stand a regimental court martial and be judged by officers who were soldiers "rather than submit to a sentence from a cow and." For this Wilson received fifty lashes, which he took without a murmur; but when he was unstrapped from the trials he was called out, "Comrades, I have been unjustly punished for calling the colonel a coward, and I call him so again, and I will maintain it in the face of the British army that if we, the Fourteenth Dragoons, had been properly led at Chillianwallah, we would never have shown our backs to the enemy." Wilson was marched back from the punishment parade to the guard room, and an application was sent to the commander-in-chief for a general court-martial to try the culprit for his gross insubordination.

At that time Sir Charles Napier had succeeded Sir Hugh Gough, and on the evening of the day following the arrival of the commander-in-chief's camp at Lahore, a drunken private of the Sixty-third regiment (which under Sir Colin Campbell saved the day at Chillianwallah) staggered up to the guard room of the Fourteenth Dragoons and jeeringly called out: "Three about and center." For this he was speedily made the companion of the prisoner Wilson. Wilson being a soldier of fortune, the regiment was allowed to enter into conversation with his brother prisoner; and more than that, the stranger, fast sobering, was suffered to inquire minutely into the circumstances of the disastrous retreat of the regiment. At day break the guard officer dismissed the now sober and apologetic ranker.

A few hours later the commanding officer of the Fourteenth Dragoons received from Sir Charles Napier a letter refusing to sanction a general court-martial on Trooper Wilson, and ordering his immediate release and transfer from the regiment to the Tenth Hussars. His Excellency added that he had ordered the Fourteenth Dragoons on many a hard-fought field, and he believed, with the men, that had they been properly led they would not have broken before the Sikhs at Chillianwallah. On reading this letter Col. King left the orderly room, and retiring to his own quarters put an end to his life. A few days afterwards the commander-in-chief reviewed the Fourteenth Dragoons, and the man who was on guard on the night when the drunken private of the Sixty-third regiment was a prisoner, recognized in him the person of Sir Charles Napier. —St. James Gazette.

The Formation of Icebergs.

The birth of a huge iceberg, a phenomenon that has been seen only once or twice by a European, and to a certain extent has remained a matter of theory, was observed by the Danish explorers on the east coast of Greenland last summer. The bergs are formed by breaking off from the end of the glaciers extending from the perpetual ice of the unexplored interior to the coast and into the sea. The water bays up the sea end of the glacier until it breaks by its own weight with a noise that is like a loud thunder miles away. The commotion of the water as the iceberg turns over and over in the effort to attain its balance, is felt to a great distance along the coast. The bergs are regarded as the work of evil spirits, and believe that look upon the glacier in its throat is death. The Danish officer, when observing the breaking off of the end of the great glacier Puseokk through their telescope, were notably ordered by their Equiptant escort, usually submissive enough, to follow their example and turn their backs on the interesting scene. They had happily complied their observations and avoided an embarrassing collision with their eyes by seeming compliance with the order. —N. Y. Sun.

His Impression Was.

An anecdote is told of one of the most learned of Maine scholars. He can read twenty-seven languages, and is a cyclopaedia of literary intelligence. His knowledge of books and their contents is equalled by that of few men in the world. For years of the best of his life he has been a retiring disposition, and likes his scholars, a very quiet life in his study. When asked a question in regard to a matter about which he may be perfectly informed, he never gives a positive answer, but invariably says, "My impression is that it is so, and so." Withal, he is somewhat absent-minded, as close students are apt to be. Some friends told a water one day, as a result of which one of them abruptly and abruptly said, "Professor, what is the first letter of the English alphabet?" "My impression is that it is A," he seriously replied. —Lancet Journal.

EXIT THE DUDE

He is Rapidly Disappearing Before the Equally Annoying "Mower"

The latest Parisian importation is the mower who comes to pull the dude out of the nish he has earned for himself in popular affection, and plant himself therein. When they meet the fight will be to the death—the death of the dude—for the mower may be marcular, while his opponent is confessedly a physical nonentity.

For a period of four years the dude, fair and fragile as he is, has had his own way, but his day has grown frigid cold as old cloth, or charity, or a woman's feet. The same elegance of dress, the same placid indifference to the jeers and gibes of the common herd, which were the chief marks of distinction of the dude will also characterize the mower. The latter derives his name from the manner of carrying his cane and peculiarity of gait, imitating in each the movements of a farmer with a scythe. The cane, which should be about the size of a wagon stake, is swung across the path with the handle downward; and herein reverts the chief points of difference between the Parisian mower and the A-Atlantic article. In Paris any little difficulty with the bull-copie pedestrian terminates in nothing but a French duel, and so any one who can swing a cane can become a mower, whereas in America the person who attempts to indelicately rap his fellow citizen on the shins with a club must either be something of a Sullivan in his way or he will be compelled to retire from the mower business and make an assignment without stopping to prefer creditors.

Hence the superiority of physique of the American mower. No dude can ever aspire to mow, as the mower has to be constantly on a war footing. Valedude! Mower, shake! —(Chicago Inter-Ocean.)

LOUIS RIEL EXECUTED

The leader of the recent rebellion in the Northwest has paid the penalty of his many crimes by forfeiting his life. His case has excited great attention throughout the country, and there were those who strove to have his sentence commuted, but the Government followed the course which we believed from the first they would. Riel was handed over to the law courts. There were statutes dealing with the crime of which he was guilty—and he was tried, condemned and executed in accordance with those laws.

Every opportunity to defend himself in a legal manner was afforded him. Eminent counsel were engaged by his friends and the Government paid expenses of witnesses. His case was considered by the Superior Court in Manitoba and by the Privy Council of England, and in each case it was decided that he had had a fair and impartial trial. A fair trial every man is entitled to, no matter how guilty he may be,
and a fair trial in accordance with the laws of the land Louis Riel had.

By entering the plea of insanity Riel practically acknowledged his guilt. If he had not been guilty he would have endeavored to have proven it, but knowing that he could not escape being convicted of the crimes he rested on the plea of insanity. No one in Canada believes that Riel was not guilty, and the jury, in whose hands rested the decision, decided that he was not insane. Being guilty and sane he was convicted and the punishment prescribed by law for crimes such as his was inflicted.

There were no circumstances in Riel's case which called for executive action or leniency.
He had once before been the chief mover in a rebellion and the principal in a murder. When for the second time, he rebelled he added to his crimes the atrocious one of stirring up the Indians to revolt, which led to the slaughter of innocent and helpless men. Volunteers lost their lives through the rebellion, unarmed men were murdered and priests were slaughtered by the allies whom Louis Riel induced to aid him in rising against constituted authority. A man guilty of such crimes was not one who could expect mercy not extended to criminals less guilty than he.

The execution of Riel will be a warning for all time to come that treason and rebellion cannot be carried on in Canada with impunity.
It settles the point that men cannot commit robbery, fight and kill our volunteers and murder helpless citizens and then escape punishment for their acts by pleading that their offence was a political one.

THE CAUSE OF THE REBELLION

It is still asserted by the London Advertiser that lands occupied by half-breeds were sold by the Government.

"The land sold to the Colonization Company embraced the half-breed settlement. The sale was made after the half-breeds tried to obtain entry. The Colonization Company offered to surrender these lands to the Government again if the Government would pay them back their money, but this was refused. They were told the land was theirs, and it was open to them to avail themselves of the means that the law put at their disposal to eject the half-breeds as trespassers."

This is mere assertion on the part of our contemporary, an assertion it has made before but has not proved. It does not state the case fully, nor accurately even as far as it goes.
However, let us for the present accept the statement that half-breeds had settled on part of the block of land granted to the Colonization Company, and let us further accept for the present the statement that the Company applied to the Government to have those settlers ejected.
What would be the result of such an application? A direct refusal, for the reason that, if settlers resided on part of the block of land sold to the Company, the land thus held by the half-breeds was reserved and was not included in the grant to the Company. And the settlers' farms being thus reserved, the Government could reply to the Company, "Your rights are set forth in the year deed, and you can avail yourselves of the means the law puts at your disposal to sustain those rights. We have nothing to do with that." But did the company eject a settler, or try to eject one? It did not, because it had not the power if it had the will. The company, if it endeavored to avail itself of the means the law put at its disposal, would be met by the provision in its contract with the Government, which states that,

"Should any portion or portions of the lands forming the subject of this agreement be now occupied by any person or persons who have settled thereon, such persons, and those claiming through them, shall not be disturbed in their possession by the company." No lands occupied by half-breeds were sold to the company, and not having been sold to them it would not be theirs, and the settlers could not be disturbed.

But the Reform papers assert that the half-breeds were afraid that they were going to lose their land, and that this was the chief cause of the rebellion. Now, let us also accept this statement, and what does it show? It proves that some persons or persons told the half-breeds that the Government had sold their lands; that three persons wished to stir up the half-breeds to make trouble, and that it could have been no friend of the Government that thus bore false witness against it. Therefore some enemies of the Government made false statements to the half-breeds, and the persons who made those false statements are largely responsible for the rebellion. Who were those enemies of the Government? They were those who are still insisting that the half-breeds they then told were true.
They were Reformers, and those Reformers who excited the half-breeds by making them believe that they would be deprived of their lands which was untrue are in a large measure responsible for the rebellion and all its terrible consequences.

No half-breed lands were sold to the colonization company by the Government. Not one half-breed settler was ejected from the land he had settled on. Had it not been for the false statements excited among those settlers by persons who worked with the professional agitator, Riel, there would have been no rebellion. Those Reformers who, by bearing false witness against the Government, excited the half-breeds, must be held accountable for the consequences of their acts, and no amount of shifting or unsupported assertion will remove that terrible responsibility from their shoulders.

NOT EXCITED

How Riel Received the News of the Arrival of the Warrant

KEONA, N.W.T., Nov. 15.—Riel received the formal intelligence at nine o'clock to-night in the guard room of the mounted police barracks, three miles west of this city. The intelligence was conveyed to him in person by Sheriff Chapleau. Riel, who had been conversing with the surgeon of the post, rose and welcomed the sheriff in a hearty and thoroughly unstrained way. His voice was modulated and he displayed no sign of excitement. His initial greeting was: "Well, and so you have come with the great announcement. I am glad," Sheriff Chapleau replied that the death warrant had come. Riel, continuing in the same cheerful way, said: "I am glad that at last I am to be released from my sufferings. He then broke off into French, and thanked the sheriff for his personal consideration. He proceeded again in English: "I desire that my body shall be given to my friends to be laid in St. Boniface."

The sheriff then asked him if he had any request to convey to the disposition of his personal estate or effects. "Mon cher," replied he, "I have only this," touching his breast above the region of the heart. "This I gave to my country fifteen years ago, and it is all I have to give now."

He was asked as to his peace of mind and replied: "I long ago made my peace with my God. I am as prepared now as I can be at any time. You will find that I had a mission to perform. I want you to thank my friends in Quebec for all they have done for me."

He continued in reply to another question,
"I am willing to go. I shall be permitted to say something of the matter." When told that he would be sent to England, he said: "You think I am a weakling; that it will hurt me. Under no circumstances shall I allow myself to be led away from the moment comes I shall have wages that will carry me upward."

He closed by saying to Sheriff Chapleau, as he held out his hand at parting, "Adieu, mon ami." His eyes were clear and unflinching, and his bearing throughout was such as to evoke a sense of admiration by the absence of any tremendous excitement.

Beware of cigars artificially flavored for the superior in every respect to any in Canada.

Scott Act

Another adjourned sitting of the Scott Act enquiry was held on Monday at the judge's chambers, His Honor Judge Denison presiding.
Dr. Ford was re-examined, but from his examination no further evidence of any importance was gained. The re-examination of the ballots was then commenced, and up to noon of 151 out of 152 divisions were counted. About five per cent. of the ballots are objected to on the ground that they are insufficiently and imperfectly marked.

Testimonial from Mr. Julius Benedict.

The Grand Concert Piano forte of Wm.
Knabe & Co., which I had the pleasure of trying myself, and which I also heard performed upon, combines, in my opinion, an admirable quality of tone, equally adapted to the display of power or to expression, with a most excellent, easy and yet elastic touch. The solidity and finish of the workmanship of this splendid instrument is beyond all praise, and taken altogether, I consider it to be one of the most perfect piano fortes I ever met with, and whose success, whether in a large concert hall or in a private drawing room, does not admit of the slightest doubt, and will become as universal as well as deserved. Julius Benedict, London, England.

servatory, are as follows:—Moderate winds, mostly west and south, fine, milder weather.

CHANCERY SITTINGS

The following is the conclusion of the summary of the cases disposed of at the fall chancery sittings:—

BOGART VS. TOWNSHIP OF SEYMOUR.—An action brought by Dr. Bogart, the plaintiff, to recover his fees for medical services rendered to the defendant for vaccinating the people during the smallpox epidemic in Hungerford.
The plaintiff claimed that he was employed for that purpose by the local Board of Health, and that he was entitled to be paid for his services. The defendants disputed their liability on the ground that they had not engaged him, and that the by-law under which he was appointed was defective, and that the plaintiff did not render all the services that he claimed he had rendered. Very lengthy arguments were made by the counsel on both sides as to the legal effect and interpretation of the Public Health Act. After hearing evidence and arguments, judgment was reserved.—W. Cassell, Q.
C., counsel, and D. J. Lynch, solicitor, for the plaintiff; B. B. Oler, counsel, A. L. Caldwell, solicitor, for the defendants.

GILMORE VS. STONE.—An action brought by the plaintiff, Richard Gilmore, against the defendant, Robert J. Stone, to decide the boundary between two lots in the township of Cavan. The Court held that the land in dispute was the property of the plaintiff and advised that a fence be put up on the proper boundary, each party to bear half the cost; excuse. The case was dismissed, each paying his own costs.—W. Cassell, Q.C., counsel, and H. B.
Weller, solicitor, for the plaintiff; B. B. Oler, Q.C., counsel, and J. W. Corrie, solicitor, for the defendant.

Our Point Each

On Saturday last a certain young man having nothing to do found time hanging rather heavily upon him. He therefore resolved to busy himself, by so doing to lighten the burden. This was a very noble and worthy resolution. Buying sheet-knives was the employment he chose and forthwith, with elastic step and a consciousness of good motives basking from his eye, he commenced operations on the "needle". He went to work with the keenness of an experienced buyer and after an hour's bargaining succeeded in getting together a nice little pile of pellets. He stowed the mass of untanned leather in a convenient corner and all jubilant bled him away to see what price he could get. But while he was applying to a well known dealer two of his friends happened around, appropriated one skin
each and departed, and when the aforesaid young man got back his two friends were at the office of the dealer selling the two pellets. When Mr. — came to deliver his goods to the dealer
he found he was two pellets short. His ire was considerably aroused at having all his profit purloined in this way. The dealer described minutely the fine physique, noble countenances, etc., of the twin who had tarted the pellets a short time before. The young man's ire at once cooled and with the greatest frankness he conceded his pair of friends one point each, promising speedy retaliation.

So Far and No Further.

In its report of the recent Provincial football match between Ontario and Quebec, the Globe highly praises the play of Mr. H. B. Carter, of this town. It says:—
"Again the friends of the Ontario team began to shout triumphantly, but the greater danger only seemed to stimulate the Quebec players to more heroic efforts. Owens got in and made a magnificent run up the field. He passed one after another till only Carter remained to tackle him, and he was not more than fifteen feet from the Ontario goal line. The hopes of the Ontario team now centred upon Carter. Carter is a very short but strongly formed man with arms and legs of great power. He waited till Owens was within four or five feet from him before he sprang on him. He wound his arms around Owens' neck and both came to the grass amidst shouts of 'well tackled,' 'beautiful play.'"
His play is also referred to in other places in the report.

Is It Really True

That the heretofore invulnerable Thomas Bevia, Esq., Local License Inspector, has been worsted by the Grand Trunk?
—That we are now getting Indian Summer?
—That Contractor Thornton is going to have the Smith street bridge repairs done in three weeks?
—That the story about the woodshed was all a bun-bun?
—That the costumes to be worn at the Daniel Canasta are so gorgeous and brilliant as people say they are?

Attractive

The little half horse power engine now on exhibition in one of the windows of Mr. D.
Bellegem's furniture store, attracts much attention. It was made by Mr. John Smith, of Aberdeen, when but fifteen years of age. He made his own patterns, and, with the exception of the moulding, did all the work himself. Mr.
Bellegem intends to encase it in glass and place it outside, over the entrance to his ware-rooms.

POLICE COURT.

PROFANE LANGUAGE.

TUESDAY, Nov. 17.—Orlando Mowry was charged with having used profane language in a public place. He was found guilty and fined $2 or ten days in gaol.

ASSAULT.

Wm. Nelson, a Salvation Army soldier, was charged by Frederick Methersal with having committed an assault upon him on the evening of Sunday, the 15th of November, while he was entering Bradburn's Opera House. Nelson pleaded guilty to the charge and was fined $5 and $4.75 costs or ten days in gaol. The fine was paid.

BREACH OF THE LIQUOR ACT.

Thos. H. Darcy was charged by Inspector Leary with having committed a breach of the Liquor Act by selling intoxicating liquor after seven o'clock on Saturday night, Oct. 31st.
A plea of guilty was entered and a fine of $40
and $5.50 costs imposed, the fine to be paid within ten days.

It Might be Remarked

—That the chancery sittings are over.
—That Mr. Thos. Bevia has given his opinion that Judge Dean gives a more right decision in railway cases than His Worship MacIntyre Dumble.
—That it was just after the now celebrated case was over, and in the heat of argument that Mr. Thos. Bevia gave his opinion.
—That it is definitely arranged that Henry Ward Beecher will lecture in Peterborough under the auspices of Otumabee lodge of Odd fellows.
—That the date is not yet decided on.

Twenty-five days Without Food.

Mr. Thos. Howden, of North Monaghan, who recently advertised a heifer as lost, found the lost animal on Saturday evening last in the cellar of an old barn, which had once been a dwelling house. She had been there without food or water for twenty-five days. She weighed about 1,000 when she was missed, but when found she would not weigh more than 400 lbs.
Mr. Howden has hopes of her recovery, although she is fearfully emaciated.

By Electricity.

Meers, Hamill & Bell, the photographers, find that the ten hours of good daylight is not sufficient for them in which to get through their work and they have found it necessary to carry on their photographic operations into the night.
They have, therefore, had placed in their operating room two electric lamps which give forth the required light. The subject stands directly in front of the lamps, which are covered with tissue paper to soften the light. The process has been tested and found to work remarkably well.

A Miraculous Escape.

Mr. M. Tierney to-day received a letter from his brother, Mr. Edward Tierney, who was injured at the fire in New York a few days ago.
Mr. Tierney says the explosion was the result of carelessness of a butler, who left the powder
in a shed instead of taking greater care of it.
He considers his escape and that of other fire men a miracle, and says there is only one who is seriously injured. Mr. Tierney's face is burnt on both sides, and his hands are also burnt, but not bad enough for any marks to be left.

Her Second Effort.

In Messrs. Davis & Co's. store is on exhibition a pretty little rural scene. Two large spreading maples are in the foreground, while down a short vista is the little farm house. The shadow of the trees falling on the verdure covered ground is nicely worked out, as are all the other details. The painting is from the brush of Miss Charlotte Watson, a pupil of Mr.
Cassel, artist. It being only her second effort it is very creditable.

Daniel.

The cantata "Daniel" will be given by a heavy chorus of the best local talent under the auspices of Otumabee Lodge of Oddfellows, No.
30, on the evening of the 18th of December.
For more than a month past the vocalists who are to take part have been steadily in practice, and it is confidently expected that the coming event will eclipse anything of the kind that has heretofore been attempted. A regular practice takes place this evening at the usual place.

Closed Down.
The Lansdowne Roller Rink has been closed down for the season, and Mr. E. Brown, the owner, has handed over the keys to Mr. Forquison, the President of the Curling and Skating Rink Company. In May last Mr. Brown and the Company came to an agreement whereby Mr. Brown became the lessee of the rink for the summer season. From the time of the opening, May 24th, till two months after, roller skating became almost a craze here, and the sober minded people of Peterborough seemed to be almost carried away with it. Each night the rink was crowded, and as a matter of course the financial part of the matter was quite successful.
After that a lull came. The people grew somewhat tired of the amusement, and in consequence of being under heavy expenses, the manager lost money. Mr. Brown came out about even in his speculation. He is $800 behind, but he has the skates and all appliances to the good. The rink will again be re-opened next spring.

Scott Act

In counting the ballots yesterday it was found that Deputy Returning Officer Gall-tly, of Peterborough, had, in addition to initiating the ballots, put on sixty of them numbers corresponding with the numbers on the voters list.
This would have, of course, enabled these sixty voters to have been identified. To-morrow was fixed on by the judge for examining Mr. Gal-tly in reference to this marking. There are three hundred votes to which objection has been made by both parties. These objections have yet to be considered by the judge. As, however, the objections referred to the ballots put on both sides are of the same character, it is evident that the recount will not materially effect the result.

MIKADO TEA!

MIKADO is the name of the plantation owned by the Mikado Trading Company. The plantation formerly belonged to the Mikado, or King of Japan, and was cultivated for the exclusive use of the Royal Household. The plantation was bought from the King on condition that sufficient Tea should be supplied to the Royal Family, as the King would use no other.

It is an acknowledged fact that the Teas grown on this plantation are, for Purity, Strength, and Flavor, the finest in the world. It is put up in Half and One Pound Packages, and is sold at the exceedingly Low Price of 45 Cents per pound.

In a Circular addressed to the Public some months ago,

in town, and respectfully solicit a still larger share of trade.

MISAPPROPRIATING PUBLIC FUNDS.

The Globe in its editorial columns says:—
"Appropriations have been diverted from their proper purpose, money has been squandered for illegitimate objects, officials have unblushingly used the public funds."

It would be impossible to describe more accurately and effectively the methods of the Mowat Administration. Over and over again "appropriations have been diverted" from the purpose for which they were voted by the Legislature and only applied to some other object which the Ministers did not venture to bring before their supporters in the House.
Money and property, colonization road votes,
municipal loan funds, timber, minerals, &c., have been squandered for the illegitimate objects of rewarding political friends or purchasing political opponents. Mr. Pades, with the consent of his colleagues, has "unblushingly used the public funds" for the purpose of buying votes in his constituency under the shallow pretence of lending it for draining, and then illegally and dishonestly converting the loan into a present. In scores of other matters they have misappropriated the trust property in their charge, as the Globe describes. But though it so well depicts the friends of the Ontario Government, the Globe intends its representation to portray the municipalities, and declares that the proper remedy is the appointment of independent auditors. Perhaps it was because they agreed with the Globe that an independent audit would check such misappropriations of public funds, that Mr. Mowat, his colleagues and supporters, voted down Mr.
Meredith's proposition last session for the appointment of a Provincial auditor.

LOCAL SELF-GOVERNMENT

The more cautious of the Reform journals are throwing doubts upon the truth of the premature exposure of Mr. Mowat's project of appointing a Municipal Commission. The more reckless of the organs of the Reform party, with the Globe at their head, are defending this intention, and are attacking our municipal institutions in order to excuse it. The leading Reform journal has returned several times editorially to the subject and in a recent article gave a long list of municipal matters needing investigation, some of its suggestions giving rise to grave suspicions of an intention to curtail still further our municipal powers and rights of local self-government.

This is not at all surprising, for ever since he has been in power, Mr. Mowat has steadily pursued a centralizing and bureaucratic policy, invading in one instance after another the old rights of the people of Ontario to manage their own local affairs. He aims at monopolizing as much as possible all power and all patronage.

This is a very grave matter. No privilege of our race is more ancient, more highly valued, and more effective for the maintenance of our freedom and liberty than the enjoyment of municipal self-government and the local management of local affairs. These privileges lie at the very foundation of our liberties and afford the best possible training for the conduct of representative institutions, for the successful working of which our race seems almost to have the monopoly, the cause being as we believe the popular management of local affairs by the people of the locality. Our County Councils, our City and Town Councils, our Township Councils, our School Boards, our County Courts, our municipal and other local officials, are all means of conducting our local business, which enables us to dispense with the interference of a "paternal" government, and whose powers the people by no means wish to be curtailed. Yet Mr. Mowat and his colleagues have successfully invaded the field, and curtailed the established privileges of each of these in turn, centralizing power in Toronto and grasping at any patronage that they may turn to their advantage.

They and their organs now seem to be preparing the way for a more extensive interference with our municipal institutions, a more general entailment of our right of local self government, a more complete subordination of an autocratic centralization for the management by the people of their own affairs. The threatened attempt should be closely watched and our ancient rights should be firmly maintained.

Mr. Bright and Mr. Chamberlain are assailing the very idea of protection, but the men of England are of a different opinion.
A meeting of 30,000 of them have declared Mr.
Chamberlain an enemy of the working classes for such utterances.

AGAIN Reformers are indulging in gross fallaciousness, and again the Globe is publishing and adopting forgery. This time it is the Hon. Thomas White, Minister of the Interior, who is the victim, having been accused of uttering the very reverse of what he really did say in a recent speech in Manitoba. The falsehood had been exposed some days before the Globe repeated it, and blamed Mr. White on the strength of the forgery it was knowingly uttering.

A HEROIC DEED.

Orin Van Meter's Heroism in the B. and
O. Railway Accident

Orin Van Meter, of this city, whose heroic act in saving the stove in the sleeping coach, and thus prevented it from becoming loose,
and thus setting fire to the car and roasting its occupants, thus tells of his experience:—
"I had a thrilling experience. I was asleep in the rear of the sleeper, when suddenly I was awakened by several heavy jolts. Then followed a succession of jerks which were barely perceptible. I then knew that we were running on the ties, and could give no reason why the shaking was so mild except the train was running at a high rate of speed. Suddenly there came a shock, and with a swift the sleeper left the track, I was tumbled about in my berth.
The next moment the car was rolling down the embankment toward the water. I was pitched headlong from the coach, and landed jam up against the stove with sufficient force to dislocate it. There was a good fire in it, and thinking it might burst and set fire to the car, I grasped it with both hands. It was well I did so, for the next revolution almost inverted the stove. I held on notwithstanding that the pain was intense. When the car stopped I released my hold, and found that my hands were severely burned. We were in front of the sleeper and faced better than those in the rear. We were all ducked, but fortunately escaped with slight bruises. We took our time getting out of the wrecked sleeper. I examined the track and found rails torn up and thrown upside down for some distance. The ties in several places were cut in two by the flanges of the car wheels. I do not know what caused the accident, but we were running very fast. The wreck reminded me of the schoolboy game of 'crack the whip.' Coming round the sharp curve the rear left the track, just as the last boy does on the whip. Mr.
Van Meter's hands and arms were badly burned,
and he was tenderly cared for by his fellow passengers, who acknowledged that he had performed them from a frightful death, and it was fully a half hour before the passengers, injured and uninjured, were extricated from the coach, several being taken out through the windows.—Press Telegram from Pittsburgh.

CHURCH OPENING.—The new Church of England in Lindsay is to be opened on Wednesday of next week, Nov. 25th, with appropriate ceremonies. The church is a very handsome structure, built in true Gothic style, of white brick with a great deal of blue stone in the front elevation and Bobacayon stone in the sides and rear. The nave of the church is composed of centre and two side aisles. The centre roof and clerestory walls are supported by massive iron pillars and beautifully finished plaster arches.
The roof itself, which is a very beautiful one,
is finished with panels of excellent pine wood and varnished. Outside the roof is slated throughout. The walls inside are magnificently stuccoed in a manner seldom met with these days. The seats and wainscoting are of pine, stained, oiled and varnished, showing the natural grain of the wood. The pulpit and reading desk are beautiful works of art made of butterfly wood, also finished in oil. The C. monument table, the design of the incumbent, is made of oak and oil finished. The choir seats are placed in the chancel. Stained glass, or colored glass of the Cathedral rolled class, is placed throughout the church and for its size we know of no other of the congregation. A very handsome pipe stands upon the side of the front elevation. Altogether Lindsay can boast of a church that it will be hard to beat outside of our city, and for its size we know of no other of the congregation. A very hand-

Decidedly Unhistorical Lawyer.—Now, you know the man isn't various, do you not?
Witness—I wouldn't like to say so, sir.
Lawyer—Why not? A milder way of stating it would suit you better, perhaps.
Witness—Just so, I wouldn't like to decide as to his veracity, but I know that he is decidedly unhistorical.—Philadelphia Call.

The Murder of Marshal Piggott.
St. Thomas, Ont. Nov. 16. The cat, bat and vest of Marshal Piggott, who it is supposed, was murdered about a year ago, was found yesterday in the lake adjoining the farm of Havelock Smith, the man now in jail being charged with the murder. This will strengthen materially the circumstantial evidence against the prisoner.

THE KING OF BURMAH.

How He has Provoked the Chastisement
Prepared for Him

The present ruler of Burmah, who has been on the throne for eight years, has a well established reputation as a cruel and bloodthirsty monarch. His reign has been one of terror to his subjects and insolent annoyance to his neighbours. He has especially been accused of unjust and oppressive treatment of British subjects, and the result was the withdrawal from his court some time ago of the last representative of the British Government.
This result had by no means a quiet effect upon His Majesty, who continued rather more offensive than ever. Remonstrances having been made against his course concerning certain leases of forest lands, the King replied in a pamper to accuse the British lion as he had not been stirred up before. An ultimatum was then prepared by the Viceroy of India, and the King was requested to answer it within three days.
The two most important clauses were (1) that the King should receive a British resident with a military guard, thus reducing himself to the position of the Nizam; and (2) that such resident should appear at court in boots, which in Burmah means that he claims to be as good as the King's equal. The result of the ultimatum was that if the Bombay and Burmah Company would humbly petition him he would consider the case. The last resident, he claimed, had withdrawn of his own accord from England, and if he wished, send another on the former conditions. This was quite unsatisfactory, and a declaration of war was made. Burmah is extensive in territory and rich in forests, fruits and minerals, with a population of about 1,000,000. The result of the war upon which England is just entering will probably be that England will either annex the country entirely or control its government.

Our esteemed first contemporary seems to forget, that the first paper to apply the term "forward" to Mr. Blake was the excellent comic organ of its own party. Likewise, the first paper to demand his deposition was one enjoying the patronage and confidence of Mr. Mowat.

TOO SPECULATIVE.
At a meeting in London the Hon. David Mills described himself as "a speculative thinker." There is no money in it, David! It is much more profitable in these degenerate days to be a thinking speculator.—Toronto World (Indep.).

A PURVEYOR OF FICTION.
There can be no denying that in its day the Globe was a power in the land. As the organ of George Brown it served the wonderful influence on the country, and the reform party to day is living on the fruit of the seeds which the organ planted years ago. But this all belongs to the past. As a story paper the Globe is still read and its columns are said to be orthodox as the straitest sect would desire. But a political power it has ceased to be. Those who remember the Globe in its day look with regret on its decadence. There is a fad, however, in Canada for a good story paper, and this holds the organ desirous to fill. —Toronto Telegram (Indep.).

GROUNDLESS FEARS.
It must be admitted, though, that one strong point of objection to the Bill, by the Opposition when it was before the Parliament, was the expressed fear that partisan officials would be selected whose notions of justice in the premises would work to the disadvantage of the opponents of the Government. The selection of County Judges has apparently largely dispelled these fears. —Herald.

ITS DELUSION.
When the L. don Advertiser lately said that the Dominion government had expended $30,000 in back-bite, it was probably under the impression that the government had been visiting Niagara Falls. —Hamilton Spectator.

THE CLUB DIVIDED.
There has been a clash between the old Liberals, who are forming "the club," and the Young Liberals have been called to subscribe. The old Liberals wanted to issue a prospectus for the club, containing a set of new principles. To this the young fellows objected on the ground that they were already committed to the platform adopted at their recent convention. As the old Liberals could not accept the young Liberal platform and the young Liberals would not agree to that proposed by the old Liberals, a compromise had to be arrived at, and it was decided to carry on the club for the present without a faith test. Perhaps after all this is well. If there was a faith test the Liberals who want annexation would be prevented from drinking wine within the sacred precincts with those who favor peace, while the adherents of the George Brown wing, who support annexation, would be left out in the cold altogether. If the organ is to be unimpaired in its principles should be demanded. —Toronto Mail.

THE REFORM LEADERSHIP.
The Reform journal at Port Arthur, the Herald, is kept posted with reference to the rebellion in the Reform ranks. It says: "Reform caucuses have been held recently several places, during which meeting the question of a new leader of the party has been suggested. Latest advices state that the leadership now devolves upon Mr. Mowat and Mr. T. C. Cartwright. There is no contest between the two men. Sir Richard has ample opportunity of displaying his ability while Minister under Mr. Mackenzie, and proved a miserable failure. Mr. Mowat has a record of defeat in unqualified success in his administration." Sir Richard appears to be crushed again. —Toronto Mail.

HE WAS RESPONSIBLE.
If Riel was sane enough to plan a rebellion that had for its purpose the establishment of a church and a kingdom, in which he was to fill the dual role of high priest and king, he was sane enough to stay and lead, not only the Metis, but the disaffected white settlers of the Saskatchewan. —he was plenty sane enough to lead the consequences of his rashness. Undoubtedly he was a crank, so far as sane men and sane government went, but there are such men walking our streets to day without let or hindrance. It would be deemed an outrage to lock them up, and it would be outrageous to condemn a criminal committed by one of them simply because he is a crank. If anybody doubts himself was to blame for the fate which overtook Riel, his friends and admirers were. If they were mad, as they now allege, they were culpable in leading the charge of his madness by silence and flattery. He was not the first man lured to his ruin by the fond folly of friends and the collective encouragement of dangerous knaves with a purpose to serve. —Toronto World (Indep.).

A BIG NUGGET OF GOLD.
It tipped the scales at 5,000 ounces and was worth over $90,000.

In the winter of 1849 the writer of this saw and handled the largest piece of gold that had yet been found in California. It weighed 22 lbs. 1 ounce, and was estimated by careful weighing in water and otherwise, to contain about five pounds of quartz, the rest being pure gold. The funder sold it for $5,000, and it was subsequently sold in San Francisco for $10,000. It was found at Sonoma, then known as the Sonoma camp, in Tompkins county, on the head of the waters of Wood's creek, by a lazy old Mexican "grasser," who was roving or "grazing" about in holes or pits that the whites and outsiders of the town. As soon as he found it he washed it off, took it to the nearest "mule" bank and lost $300 on it as a son as he could conveniently. Naturally, when the "game" got such a good hold on the "crank," they did not let go, but kept the old fellow drunk for a day or two, or till they owned it in full, allowing him $5,000 for it. He had lots of fun in a very short space of time for his $5,000 nugget. In this connection the Gravel Valley Union of October 10 prints the following information:

Louis Blanding says that the generally accepted statement that the largest nugget ever found in California was a little more than $21,000 is an error. He says that J. J. Finney, "Old Virginia," found a piece of gold about six miles from Sonoma, Sierra county, on the 21st day of August, 1857, that weighed 5,000 ounces. The gold of that quantity was worth $18 an ounce, which would make the value of the nugget some $90,000. This would make the Finney nugget the largest piece of pure gold ever discovered, so far as accounts go. He states that the Australian largest found in the Ballarat gold fields has been valued at $60,000. Finney, "Old Virginia," as he was familiarly called in those days, afterwards went to Washoe when the great silver discoveries were first made there, and from him the town of Virginia took its name. The man who discovered the largest nugget in the California mines and gave his name to the rich mining camp in the world died in extreme poverty. —Fremont Enterprise.

Club.

Young men are now in a position to take part in the Government of their country, the recent extension of the franchise having admitted large numbers to the privileges of the franchise, who had not heretofore possessed votes. With these increased privileges comes an increase of responsibility. Every young man should endeavor to see that the Dominion and Province have good government, and by united action they will be enabled to accomplish much.

There is every prospect of a large attendance and an enthusiastic meeting this evening.
The principles of the Conservative party are such as appeal to the good judgment of patriotic Canadians and a hearty response to the call for the meeting this evening should, and doubtless will, be given. Every Conservative young man is invited to attend.

THE SUPPOSED SURPLUS

We are told that among the duties of the proposed independent municipal auditors should be to "determine the legitimacy of every investment, and carefully examine all securities." As Mr. Mowat refused to consent to the appointment of a Provincial Auditor, we have no such official to render these services to the people of Ontario in respect to the funds of the Province. But in the absence of a Provincial Auditor we would be glad to hear from some member or friend of the Administration, or from some journal supporting it, a statement of each particular in regard to the asserted Provincial surplus. We would like to know on manner (1) the amount of the surplus, (2) the manner in which each part of it is invested, (3)
the nature and value of the security, and (4) the amount of interest received for the whole amount and for each separately invested portion.
If there is a real tangible surplus, not mere book-keeping favourable balance cooked up to deceive, there would be no difficulty in giving these few details and they would be of great interest to the people of Ontario, who are really the owners of the surplus, if there is any to own. Should there be one it must be somewhere, and if properly administered by our trustees it should be bringing us in an adequate income.

INSINCERITY

The hollowness of the truce that has been patched up between the discordant factions of the Liberals of Great Britain, who have little in common but a craving for office, is becoming more and more apparent. Mr. Gladstone has been obliged in a set speech carefully prepared to disavow complicity with the Radical proposal to disestablish and disendow the Church of England and the Scotch Kirk. This has driven to do in order to lure back the disgusted Whigs, yet at the same time he quibbles and quorks so as not to make his Radical friends despair of his yielding to their pressure. Apparently he has not succeeded in satisfying either faction.

It may be noticed how prevalent with Reformers is the want of truth and honesty, or of faith in the truth and honesty of others. In Canada the Reformers are complaining of being taken by surprise as to the Dominion Franchise Act, because though it was authoritatively announced in good time, they chose to judge Conservatives by themselves, and to assume that the expression of intention was not genuine. And now we have Mr. Gladstone manifesting the same defect in his party by a covert process. He is laying upon the Conservatives the responsibility of making Church disestablishment and disendowment a question at the coming elections. It is true, as he is well aware, that his fellow leaders, notably Mr.
Chamberlain, forced on the discussion by their threats, but he is apparently quite surprised that the Conservatives should have attached any credit to the words of his colleagues, expecting them to treat such threats, as he does, as mere nullities.

Similar insincerity and consequent want of faith in the sincerity of others, seem in both countries to be among the great disintegrating forces that have reduced the Reformers and Liberals to a discordant, disorganized condition, contradicting each other, and with a craving for office as almost the sole bond of union.

The Globe makes the execution of Riel the occasion for a Globe attack upon the Government.

AGAIN and again there come reports of English Liberals using gross violence in order to silence their political opponents, yet we do not find the Toronto Globe devoting an editorial column to the condemnation of such outrages and denials of liberty of speech, as it did when there was a solitary case of Conservatives using tutten eggs.

Not content with having sated the part of advocates for the rebels, the Globe now pleads for the murderous villains who massacred the priests and Delaney and Gosselock at Frog Lake, and who treacherously murdered Fremont and others. Does the leading Reform organ want to be considered the special pleader for all great criminals and bloodthirsty murderers?

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS.

DISCREDITABLE.

There are some people calling themselves
Liberals who seem to be under the impression that they have found the materials of a new party in the discord they have so unpatriotically evoked. The bare idea that a party based on race hatred should have the stable support of both races seems absurd. Its foundation would be as unstable as it would be discreditable. In Mr. Blake, the proponent of the murdered Scott's funeral oration in Parliament, going to lead a party based on sympathy with Riel?—Montreal Witness (Reformer).

ONE QUESTION.

The Globe demands: "On what question now at hand or in sight have the Liberals no policy?"
From a careful perusal of the socialistic doctrine of the Hamilton Times, the advocacy of a 30 per cent revenue tariff by the Hon. David Mills, the periodic screeds against protection in the Globe, the demand by Mr. Morier that the provinces be given the right to levy excise duties, we rather believe that the Liberals have not got their minds made up on the subject of the tariff.—Montreal Star (Liberal).

DISCREDITED.

The reform party at the present time is utterly discredited, and justly so. It can offer nothing to commend it to the support of Canadians who desire the advancement of their country. Policies, leaders, almost discredited, its soul mission appears to be to incite race and sectional prejudices, and to tear down if possible the work of those who seek to lay a lasting foundation for the country.
Members have no faith in themselves, and therefore none in the country.—Winnipeg Manitoba.

THE MUNICIPAL COMMISSION.

When it is remembered that within the past few years quite an increase in the burden of criminal justice expenses, formerly borne out of Provincial revenue, has been thrown upon the direct taxation of the people, more especially in dealing with prisoners, since the Central Prison has been established, it is not to be wondered at that municipal men generally entertain anxious thoughts regarding the appointment of the Commission referred to. Newmarket Era (Reformer).

CENTRALIZING INFLUENCE.

The Hamilton Times bewails the "tendency of cities to grow more rapidly under protection than under free trade." Not very long ago it argued of the free traders was that cities did not grow so rapidly under the former as under the latter. If our country has not played us trick, it is not that kind of a memory, we have read just such an article in the Times more than once.—Toronto World (Independent).

ONLY A FARMER.

Mr. Glen, M.P., has caused an attack to be made upon the new postmaster at Whitby.
Mr. Howard is the official in question, and the trifling charge brought against him is that he is only a farmer. He is admittedly respectable enough; but then he is only a farmer and therefore should not have been appointed. The Reform Club is not opposed yet, but the aristocratic of the party are getting on their club mac-jars already. It is the duty of a club to displace farmers, and if the new Reform Club did not despise them with all its little shrivelled up heart, why, then, it would not be a club. What trash this complaint that a man is only a farmer is. Many of our farmers can teach the duties who are to smoke impure Havanas and consume fancy drinks at the club their A.B.C's.— Toronto Mail.

DIABOLICAL.

We can neither understand nor excuse those English-speaking politicians who are trying to ride into power on Riel's heels, as they upon a previous occasion stepped into it over Scott's body. The Globe's manner throughout this whole business has been shockingly dishonest, and its indecency has been only too closely copied by a number of its lieutenants. In execrable rhyme, and only less execrable prose, it appealed day after day to the feelings of Orange-men and habitant in turn. It made no straightforward demand for either justice or mercy. It contemplated a situation full of pain to all good citizens with no ill concealed glee that was almost diabolical, and with a brazen disregard for everything except party advantage that was positively shocking. A party organ that knows so higher art than the construction of a policy out of the bones of slaughtered rebels and executed criminals must in the long run prove more dangerous to its friends than to its enemies.—Toronto World (Independent).

A DURABLE AMUSEMENT.

They have "vaccination bees" in Maine.
A young lady gives a party and has a surgeon present who vaccinates all the guests "for the fun of the thing" at the hostess' expense. This amusement should be imported into Montreal.
It is not much more painful than the initiatory ceremony at the roller rink, and it is a far more durable amusement than either.—Toronto Mail.

TWO CODES.

Mr. D. Mills sets up a higher standard of morality for carmen than for Reform politicians. He thinks that if Hanlan approached Teemer or Teemer Hanlan with a proposal to do what was wrong, the thing was wicked in the extreme. But if Mr. McKim approached Mr. Wilkinson with a proposal that both should violate the law, that was all right, because McKim is a politician. Mr. Mills knows how base a Reform politician should be. He is one himself.—Toronto Mail.

Heavy-headed Wharfers

LONDON, Oct. 17.—Peter Van Kuren, an old farmer living near this city, was wind-led out of $700 by a couple of grey-haired wharfers on a Grand Trunk train between Windsor and London last Friday. Peter met the strangers in Detroit the night previous. They represented themselves as lumber dealers from Toronto on their way home. Peter was pleased at having them for companions to London.
When one of them mentioned that a mortgage on a piece of property owned by him in this city was due that day, and that he would like to borrow $700 in cash, cancel in the mortgage old farmer consented to accommodate him.
The money was passed over, and Peter got a fraudulent deed of the land as security. The pair gave him the slip here.

The End of a Comedy.

NEW YORK, November 16.—Ernest Schelling, who married Victor Morosini, has secured a position as conductor on the Sixth Avenue horse car line in this city. His wife will take a subordinate part in the new play "Amorita" which is to be produced this week.

THE WRECKED STEAMSHIPS.

Reports of the Captains of the Brooklyn and Titania.

QUEBEC, Nov. 19.—The steamship Napoleon, with the passengers and crew of the steamship Brooklyn, has arrived. Capt. G. S. Dale reports that the steamship Brooklyn left Liverpool on the 29th of October with a general cargo, passengers, 65 head of cattle, and 20 sheep. They experienced nothing but hard weather, and high seas until arriving at this place on the 19th inst. At 8:40 p. m. they passed through the straits, making Greenly Island light. They took their departure from there and shaped their course for Sea Point. The weather, after leaving Greenly, was thick with snow and wind. All went well on Sunday until 8:45, when they suddenly made out a melting snow. The ship was stopped and put into sea, but before the way was clear, the ship, she took the ground and the passengers, drove the vessel to the rock. They could not land until day light, as the ice was so thick, and the sea so rough, that the passengers, etc.; landed provisions and got the party out away to Sea Point. He went with the ship, but with the heavy snow and ice, it was impossible to land. The ship was stuck in the ice, and could make no way, as they returned. Next morning he sailed another ship, which arrived that afternoon at Sea Point and sent a message to Quebec for assistance. The ship is still in the same position, and all of water. On the 13th, the Napoleon arrived and took the passengers and crew of the ship and sent them to Sea Point and Sea Point. The ship was stuck in the ice, and could make no way, as they returned.

A NEW YORK HORROR.

Seven People Killed Under a Falling Wall—One Killed.

NEW YORK, Nov. 19.—When the Empire State Building was under construction, the front and part of the side walls remained standing. They were inspected and declared sound, but orders had been given to brace the walls with six stout braces. This was being done to-day, and four were in place. The men from Engine Company 18 were throwing water on the still smoking ruin, while a squad of laborers had begun to remove the debris piled up within the enclosure of dangerous walls. The street was fenced off on both sides of the building to prevent a rush from approaching, but despite this number of boys were running back and forth picking up the debris. Mrs. M. R. Kohn, a young married woman, who lived at 34 North Street, across the way from the site, shortly after four o'clock to-day was picking up kindling wood, when the front wall of the building suddenly gave way and fell. It is probable that the workmen pulled something from the basement and so caused the collapse. There were half a dozen there and none had any warning of the disaster until the patter of falling bricks made them look up, when they saw the top of the wall falling away and bending

AN ADAGE DISCREDITED.

An adage says that "figures cannot lie," but the people of Canada are losing all respect for the venerable saying on account of the shameful manner in which Reform journals use figures. The story that the Dominion Minister spent $30,000 last year for each hire was sufficient in itself to discredit the adage, however aged and honorable it might have been. The Brockville Recorder now comes out with a mean insinuation, and to give it an appearance of truth prefaces it with figures. It says—

"It cost $300 last year to advertise for the Peterborough post office. We have noticed that the Review has been more vehement of late in its abuse of the Liberal party. It is evidently working for its subsidy."

The insinuation is that the REVIEW received $300 for advertising the Peterborough post office; that the amount was excessive, and that the excess was given as a subsidy. But the REVIEW did not receive that amount for the purpose mentioned; indeed it did not receive over $100 last year for advertising for the Post Office Department, nor did it receive $300 from all the Ottawa departments put together. It is easy for some Reform journals to make charges. All that is necessary for them to fabricate some figures, and then proceed to denounce, moralize and insinuate, but as the figures lie they are basing their lies on only second hand making themselves ridiculous. That is what the Recorder has accomplished.

The REVIEW supports the Conservative party because the policy of that party is beneficial to the country, and because it is in the interest of the country that the Dominion Administration should be sustained and the tricky Ontario Government supplanted by an honest and straightforward administration. If we have shown increased warmth in exposing the devices of the Reform party it is because that party has descended to more reprehensible methods of political warfare.

A Reform paper says that Riel "was put on trial for treason—not a capital offence for the past fifty years." When was the law making treason a capital offence repealed?

Efforts are being made to organize a third party in Montreal. The Toronto News has been endeavoring to accomplish the same object. But perhaps the News would not feel like working with the Montreal third party.

The London Advertiser has an elaborate editorial defence of the "Liberal" rowdies who backed down a clergyman on a public platform in England because his opinions did not suit these advocates of freedom of opinion.

From a Correspondent

SABBATH SCHOOL.—The Presbyterian Sabbath school of this place closed on Sabbath, Nov. 20th, for the winter months. The pastor, the Rev. F. Andrews, addressed the children on that occasion, preaching an excellent and appropriate sermon from Zeck. viii, 5:—"And the streets of the city shall be full of boys and girls playing in the streets thereof." The teachers and pupils occupied the front part of a well-arranged and paid marked attention to the sermon, which, under the divine blessing, we trust will be beneficial to all who heard it, old as well as young. The library, a very good one, was much appreciated by the members of the church, as well as the St. S. scholars.

W. C. T. U.—The Westwood branch of the W. C. T. U. held a public meeting in Cameron's School House on Friday evening, Nov. 13th. The building was well filled, notwithstanding the inclemency of the weather. The Rev. Geo. Mac, performed the duties of chairman in his usual happy and able manner. The programme consisted of a choice selection of readings, recitations and singing. Before closing the President, Miss E. Scott, explained the object of the W. C. T. U., giving a short resume of its work since its existence, and urging all interested in the enforcement of the Scott Act to assist, not only with their means, but also to give their prayers that the mantle of Omnipotence might be thrown around all those who will be exposed to the enemy's ire when the Act is being enforced. She also paid a high tribute to the perseverance and faithfulness of the W. C. T. U. On closing the meeting, the Rev. Geo. Mac, pronounced the benediction. Some have expressed a desire to have such an entertainment monthly, and the ladies of the Society are quite encouraged, and hope by the aid of a goodly number of honorary members, to help to hasten the day when prohibition's banner shall proudly wave, not alone from the school house on the hill, but over all Ontario's land.

MADOC

TWO FATAL ACCIDENTS.—On the 10th inst., an adopted daughter of Mr. James Thompson, of Madoc Township, a little girl four years of age, met with a horrible accident by falling into a pail of scalding water, from the effects of which she died the next day. The little victim was badly scalded and suffered great agony. An equally dreadful death befell a little daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Love, residing on the farm of Mr. John Bateman, near the latter's home, in Madoc Township, Monday morning last. The mother had gone out to milk, leaving the little girl, who was aged about 2 years, alone in the house. On returning the mother was met at the door by the child, who had almost entirely burned off the body, and the flesh from the knees up to the head, liberally roasted. The sufferer died the same day about 5 o'clock. It was supposed she was playing with the fire in the stove, and then ignited her clothes.

CONCERNING TOWN NEEDS

2.—OF A SEWERAGE SYSTEM AND A SUBSET OF THE TOWN.

DEAR REVIEW.—The site of the town of Peterborough is almost entirely composed of gravelly soil, and is marked by some comparatively high knolls at the northern end of the town, gradually subsiding into a low level at the southern end of the town.

A regular ridge, the western bank of the ancient river, runs along west of Park street.

A water course rising from springs to the northwest passes through the town in a direction generally diagonal to the street lines. This creek is likely to form a part of any plan of drainage, and from where it passes under the railway track at the bluff of Stewart street, down to its entrance into Scadding's Bay, its course should be used for a boulevard or avenue over a main sewer.

The acquisition of the title to the creek bed and the adjoining land required for such a thoroughfare would, at the present date, be far from costly, and the arbitrated value would be made payable to the owners at call, the property being amortized so as to make it out no more at the time of surrender, although the improvements, as they proceeded, might have greatly increased the value of adjoining land. The homologation would prevent any future question of structure over the creek or on the line of the avenue, and the present buildings would be removed only as the improvement required in due course of progress.

By this combination of a boulevard with the creek as a main sewer, a considerable street frontage would be created, yielding an increase of taxable value in proportion.

The high ground commanding the river from above the dam southward would be drained into the river below the race, and all the east side of water street would also be drained directly into the river.

The growth of the town will not produce any great increase of population on this line, as it will be occupied chiefly by churches, grounds, villa sites, and manufacturing establishments. With a small population, therefore, the disposal of drainage from this district will be easy and inexpensive.

George street would have the easternmost main sewer, and on this line the construction of the sewer should be begun at the south end, and carried north in accordance with a general system divided from the proposed town survey.

Separating the present sewer will be more costly in the end than replacing it by a properly constructed sewer.

Stewart street, beginning at the bluff commanding the creek, would drain the next area, and would be a short one compared with the others.

Park street would contain the westernmost main sewer and would drain a district rapidly increasing in population and occupied by a number of first-class houses.

All the drainage would unite below the bridge at Scadding's Bay and form one trunk sewer, emptying into the Ottonabee below the locks, thus giving a fall that will make healthy building sites of a large area of land, which, if left as it is to-day, will make one of the most pestilential parts of our future city.

Our waterworks are at present comparatively useless to many dwellings, some of them of a very high class, for the simple reason that all the use of water for other than culinary purposes would create a nuisance on the surrounding ground, there are no drains to carry the local matter in suspension.

As I indicated in my last a thorough system of drainage is a necessary provision for the full and healthy enjoyment of a water supply. The construction of the entire sewerage system would involve a total expenditure of about $200,000, and this work could be made to cover a period of 15 years, so that the annual burden would be no greater than is at present borne, or than would from a short time hence be borne every year under a course of makeshift construction entailing continued losses and dissatisfaction.

For most of the lateral street sewers a plan of using hard tiles would be economical and satisfactory. Incidentally this would create a new industry in Peterborough, for as a large part of the cost of drain pipes consist of freight and breakage in transport, the certainty of a steady demand from street sewers and houses would warrant some one in the starting of a tile and pipe factory and pottery for producing better crocks and common earthenware.

Of course the project of sewerage is not a plan but a preliminary idea; the first thing to do is to make a complete survey of the town, and I propose to show some of the advantages (subordinate of course in the importance to the great object of sewerage) which would result from a complete survey and the making of a correct town map.

1. An accurate level for the foundation line of all new buildings, and for governing the depth of cellars.

2. A ready access to a correct town plan for the purpose of transfer, mortgages and other transactions incidental to sale or to borrowing for building.

3. An accurate delimitation of properties. A fact perhaps not much thought of is that the various landmarks are being rapidly lost, as our older settlers, who are the only evidence, are dying out.

4. A facilitation of the numbering of stores and dwellings on the streets, a convenience so much needed in a commercial town that strangers who visit Peterborough wonder not to find the houses numbered in so striking a place.

This survey, which is necessary as a preliminary to the adoption of a sewerage system, would cost all told (including a plan showing every property) not over $6,000.

I estimate the area of Peterborough to contain more than 20,000 lots of 30 x 100 feet, and this outline of $6,000 would make an average of 33 cents on each lot. Against this trivial charge place all the advantages to property owners and to the wise government of the town.

A HOME-MADE HORSE-POWER

The worst disposition which can be made of a worn-out farm machine of any kind, is to lay it up by the fence in the dooryard or barnyard, to be an eye-sore for years, and a possible source of danger to domestic animals, or even to persons passing hastily or carelessly near it. The better plan is to take the machine to pieces, cut aside any unsound or broken wood for fuel, sell what ever iron is not likely to be useful in its present shape, and carefully store away in a spiral place the pieces of cast iron, whether wheels, particularly bolts, gears, etc. With a little ingenuity, and perhaps a slight outlay of money, wheels and shafts from disabled reapers, mowers or other machinery may be put together to form a light horse-power, which will be found very serviceable in driving red-motors, corn-shellers, or farm mill. In the construction of a horse-power, certain general principles must be kept in mind, otherwise failure, more or less complete, will be the result. The different parts must be sufficiently strong to bear the strain to which they will be subjected; the bearings need to be true, and the whole so carefully braced and held together that any slipping of cogs will be impossible. The role of speed must be from twenty-two to one hundred and sixty revolutions of the cutter-box shaft for every revolution of the horse, the first being rather low for a six-foot and the second rather high for an eight-foot sweep. Since some portion of the force employed is always lost through friction, the fewer wheels by which the required speed and direction are secured, the better. Hardwood boxes are cheaper and more easily adjusted than those made of metal, and if they are kept properly greased, last, perhaps, quite as long.

The writer has a portable power, which he made about ten years ago, by taking a bevel gear from an old, discarded brick machine, a pair of spur wheels from an ancient Manny reaper, two or three shafts and a band which from other sources—all odds and ends picked up cheaply here and there—arranging them to suit the purpose, and fitting all but the band wheel and one shaft in a stout frame. The odd shaft extends from the end of the frame some distance, and carries the band wheel at its further end, above which a feed-cutter stands on a loft, and is run by a belt. From a pulley on the same shaft, power is conveyed to a grindstone and corn-sheller, which require a much lower rate of speed than the cutter. Owing to some of the applications made, the horse power has been practically converted from a portable to a stationary one; but with very little trouble and expense it can be having the same lower rate of speed than the cutter. CABLE NEWS

"Cable." The oldest and most reliable brand of cigars in the market. Free from all chemicals and artificial flavorings.

"El Padre" Cigars. Universally acknowledged to be the finest cigar manufactured. Don't be persuaded to take other brands. No chemicals or artificial flavorings used.

S. Davis & Sons have moved into their new mammoth factory, the finest of its kind in America. They are the only cigar manufacturers in Canada who manufacture their own cigar boxes and packing cases, which industry gives employment to sixty hands.

Smokers! Beware of cheaply artificially flavored for the purpose of hiding the poor quality of tobacco used in flimsy cigars. Insist upon the old reliable brands—"Cable" and "El Padre."

A trial will convince the most skeptical that S. Davis & Sons' manufacture of cigars are superior in every respect to any in Canada.

Prize medals awarded the world were awarded to S. Davis & Sons, of Montreal, for their manufacture of cigars, at Paris, 1867, Centennial, 1876, Montreal, 1883 &c.

A united meeting of the congregations of St. Andrew's and St. Paul's Churches will be held in St. Paul's school room on the evening of Tuesday next at 8 o'clock, when an address will be delivered by the Rev. Mr. Anderson, missionary at the New Hebrides. In the afternoon of the same day Mr. Anderson will address a meeting of ladies in the same place at 3.30 o'clock.

A Novelty.

Mr. W. A. Sanderson has introduced a novel style of watch, and now has these of them on hand in both silver and gold, for sale. The watch is called the "Automatic," and is imported from Switzerland. The point in which it differs from the ordinary chronometer is in the manner of marking the time. Every watch is up-to-date, the dial being covered with extra strong heavy glass. At the top of the face, next to the stem, there is a little circular hole, and at the hour indicator, and immediately below it, a similar one, the minute indicator. At each change of the minutes or hours the little figure which it in these circular indentations vanish with the rapidity of lightning to be replaced by the telling the correct time. Unlike the common watch it requires no computation on the part of the possessor of the watch to tell the time, for a mere glance at the indicator will show the time to the minute.

A New Carriage for Sale.

The firm of Messrs. Punter Bros., Carriage Builders, near the Millard Station, have just completed a new carriage for Mr. Geo. A. Cox. The style of carriage is after the model of the New Haven Cabriolet for 1885, and is very fashionable in all parts of the United States and Canada. This one represents a standard pattern of the present season. Its width of body is ample; the top, which is covered with the best American leather, comes well over to cover the occupants, looks very comfortable, and will be appreciated during inclement weather. The wheels are made of a convenient height, permitting of easy access in and out. It is elegantly trimmed with dark green all wool cloth, and the seats are very comfortable; the painting is highly finished and black in color. The driver's seat is in front of the French design; a heavy seat which closes into the back of the driver's seat is attached, and folds back when not required. Heavy plate glass side windows, silver mounted, are on each side of the driver's seat. It is built on a strong platform going for turning under, having front and rear all-steel springs and steel axles. The whole structure is the climax of convenience, comfort and elegance in carriage building, which anyone will find this enterprise a new one. The first-class work they are turning out is so noveltied by all to come up to any of it in the Dominion. They also get credit by employing none but first-class workmen. They have near one-hundred in their factory another carriage for one of our residents which will, when finished, be noticed in our columns.

Keep Your Feet Dry.

I have the cheapest Rubber and overboots in Town, and can sell them from 6 cts. to 25 cts. lower than any house in Peterborough. JOHNSTON CARR, the Old Reliable Boot and Shoe Store, George street, Peterborough.

Fire, Water and Light Committee.

An important meeting of the Fire, Water and Light Committee will be held at 7.30 o'clock this evening to confer with the Water Company regarding a contract with the town, and also to consider matters connected with electric lighting.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours ending from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Strong wind, from north-east and north, increasing to moderate gales in some places, mostly fair, cool weather, with slight local falls of sleet or rain.

Stuart Rogers is Coming.

Personal.
The Rev. Mr. Battle occupied the pulpit of St. Andrew's Church on Sunday at the morning and evening services. The Rev. Mr. Bell was at Hartwick, where he took part in the opening services of the new Presbyterian Church.

Mr. James Little, formerly of Peterborough, is in town.

Mr. P. Mangrove, the Irish Canadian's general agent, is doing the town in the interest of the paper he represents.

Improved.

A very considerable improvement has of late been made in Early's art gallery, the only tin type gallery in town. The improvements have been made in a most essential place. Heretofore the light in the operating room came through the ordinary glass, entailing strength of light, at times in one place and weakness of light in another. Mr. Early has remedied this by putting in the operating room the best double diamond ground glass. The result is most satisfactory, and no matter how strong the sun shines, the light is equally diffused in every part of the room.

Turnbull's staff of dress makers are turning out some very handsome costumes. For English Dresses recently made try Turnbull's.

A Commission House.

Messrs. Forbes & Co. open out a commission house in Peterborough to-morrow. The establishment is situated at the head of the stairway north of the Telegraph office. The room is lined at the north part with a black board, much the same as those of the ordinary commission houses. A communication has been established between here and Toronto by means of a private wire, and after to-morrow these inclined to speculate will have every opportunity of so doing. The head of this firm is Mr. W. N. Forbes, a son of Mr. Forbes, a commission merchant, Toronto.

Was Co-Editor and Editor.

The many friends in Peterborough of Mr. H. H. Smith will be pleased to learn that he is meeting with success in his position in Manitoba and is winning the esteem of the people. The Winnipeg Manitoban says:—

"During his stay in Winnipeg the Minister of the Interior has on several occasions borne a very testimony to the efficiency of the office of the Dominion Land Commission. Mr. H. H. Smith well deserves the extraordinary recognition of his executive ability. When he assumed the duties of his present position he found a vast accumulation of surveys of work which he has cleared off. Prompt, courteous, energetic and efficient in the discharge of his important office, he has won the confidence and esteem of the public to a remarkable degree."

Important Announcement.

Having bought fifty dozen Scotch lambs' wool and Canadian shirtings and drawers at 10 per cent. less than manufacturers' prices, I will offer from this date the whole line to the public at prices ranging from 50c, 50c, 75c, and $1.00 in Canadian, and $1.00, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75 and $2.00 in Scotch lambs' wool; shirtings and drawers the same price. Don't be deceived by thinking this a cheap penny announcement. It is a home offer and will save to all purchasers from 25 to 50 per cent. Underclothing was never so cheap in the town of Peterborough at such prices. There are no shoddy goods or old shop keepers, but new, fresh goods, warranted in every particular. Parties requiring underclothing will study their own interest by paying a visit to ANDREW McNEIL, tailor and shirter, George street.

Artistic Photography.

Since Mr. G. E. Sproule opened out his Hunter street photographic establishment he has enjoyed the reputation of turning out most artistic work. The cases of photo-graphs, in tablets, cabinets, and other styles, now on exhibition in the window of Messrs. Taylor & MacDonald's drug store, and which has attracted so much attention during the past few days, is only a fair sample of the work turned out of his studio, as each and every photograph is but the every day work of Mr. Sproule's artistic, and the case has not been, as some may very naturally surmise, got up for the occasion. Without undue praise to Mr. Sproule, it may be said that the photographs now on an exhibition bear favorable comparison with the work of the best artists. A noticeable feature in those now exhibited by Mr. Sproule is the charming picture. The knowledge of this art, which it is evident Mr. Sproule's operators possess, together with his workmanship, is the secret of the remarkable success of Mr. Sproule's work.

Universal Universal Never were universes so much worn as now. For an extensive stock of patterns to select from call at Turnbull's showrooms.

A GOOD REASON FOR BELIEVING.

That Summer Sports Have Not Declined During the Past Season.

Most lovers of sports in Peterborough were very despondent over the result of the season's work; indeed it has been asserted by some that sports were absolutely dead. But because the record of the Lacrosse Club was not so brilliant as it had been in other seasons; because the crews of the Boating Club did not achieve the glory they have done in former years; because the cricketers did not defeat the foremost clubs in the country; and because the inebriate baseball club did not raise its youthful arm and strike down everything with which it came in contact, it must not be thought that sports are dead or even dying. The Peterborough Lacrosse Club have won as often as they have been defeated on at the end of the season are still champions of the Midland District. For the Boating Club's blank record there is no excuse. The boat has laid on their racks and from very few of them has even the dust been brushed. Oarsmen and canoeists seem to have forgotten that there was such an organization as the Peterborough Boating Club in existence. However, every organization of the kind has its brilliant seasons and its dull seasons. It is to be hoped that next year will be one of the former sort and with new life infused into the club it will make for itself its brightest record. The Cricket and Baseball Clubs have both done fairly, and taking things as a whole there is no room for grumbling.

But there is a stronger reason than that the various sporting organizations have done fairly, to believe that sport is on anything but the decline. If one of those pessimists look at what has been done toward providing facilities for sport he will see that all interest in athletic games and pastimes has not died out. Much improvement has been made in the driving park, and this season first saw the game of lacrosse played on that velvet lawn enclosed by the half mile round of turf. Early in the spring the Amateur Athletic Association came into existence. The Association acquired the old cricket grounds, and in one season's operations, has done much towards making the grounds one of the most modern in the Province. Another forward move has been made in providing increased accommodation for the athletic inclined. In June last the three acres or more of ground lying beside the Ashburnham bridge, was a very warty swamp filled with tumps and to a great extent inundated by the overflowing river. These "fats" have been reclaimed, the tumps pulled out and the ground levelled. Commodious stands were erected, the whole place neatly fenced in, and, to sum up, the beautiful Riverside Park rose from the swampy "Calcutt Flats."

Just received at Turnbull's, another shipment of Boys' and Youth's Overcoats. Everybody should see them. The price and quality sells them.

POLICE COURT.

ASSAULT.
MONDAY, NOV. 23.—The assault case of Jas. Payton against Thomas Duncan, adjourned from Saturday, came before the court this morning.

Payton, a lad of about fifteen years of age, the complainant, was the first witness. He appeared to have been rather used up, and his arms being painfully visible all over his face. In his evidence he stated that on the evening of Sunday, the 15th of November, he was going up the stairs to the Saved Army hall. On the landing at the top he was accosted by Duncan, who demanded admittance. It being only half past six he refused, stating that no one would be admitted till the usual hour of opening. Duncan then grabbed him, shoved him against the wall and struck him in the face. After that Duncan threw him down.

Robert Weir bore evidence as to the state of the boy at a quarter past seven o'clock. When (the witness) arrived at the hall at that time the lad was sitting on the floor from the first. Later on in the evening, the boy recognized Duncan among the congregation as the person who struck him.

From the evidence put in by the defense it appeared that Duncan left his home at 6 o'clock and, in company with another, at twenty minutes past six o'clock went up to the "Times" office. There they stayed till half past seven o'clock, when they left and went to the Salvation Army meeting. Subsequently they went to the Saved Army meeting. Here Payton, according to Duncan, was standing him, and one of the officers of the Army threatened to take proceedings against him.

The MAGISTRATE found that under such strong evidence of an assault he could do nothing but dismiss the case.

A Pretty Group.

Mr. H. L. Egan and Mr. Geo. H. Giroux, President and Secretary respectively of the Peterborough Lacrosse Club, have each received a photograph of the Independent Lacrosse Club, of Boston, the New England champions. The photographer has good subjects when the muscular doses of this club realized or set in take-it-easy-fashion before him, and he has also done his work well. In the photograph the every face of Mr. C. L. Bran, formerly of the Peterborough, is to be seen, while one or two from Quebec and Montreal are noticeable in the twelve. The Independents look like a team that are able to hold their own against all comers.

ELECTRIC LIGHT.—The electric light, which was put in operation on Saturday night, gives entire satisfaction. THE LATE DAVID MARSHALL.

Our readers will learn with deep regret of the death of Mr. David Marshall, Collector of Customs at Portage La Prairie, which took place on Saturday night last. Deceased was for many years a prominent citizen of Port Hope, and at one time and another was identified with all the public bodies of the town. He was well-known throughout the Province as a prominent Orangeman, having occupied the position of Grand Master of the Grand Lodge of Ontario East, for three or four years. Mr. Marshall was a man of more than ordinary ability, a clever and forcible platform speaker, and possessed many warm personal friends here and elsewhere. He was a warm advocate of the Conservative cause, and took an active part in nearly every parliamentary election in East Durham for over a quarter of a century. About three years ago he was appointed Collector of Customs for Portage La Prairie, Manitoba, but he has been in poor health nearly all the time since his removal there. He has suffered a great deal in the past two years from tumors on the liver, which finally proved fatal. Deceased was over 60 years of age, and leaves a wife and grown up family besides a large circle of friends and acquaintances to mourn his loss. In their affliction the family have the heartfelt sympathy of the citizens of Port Hope.—Times.

RIEL'S FATE

A Montreal Priest's Opinion—Beautiful Politicians Denounced.

An able discourse was preached on Sunday morning in St. Patrick's church, Montreal, by Rev. Father Dowd, one of the best known and most highly esteemed Irish priests in Canada, on the duties of Irish Catholics in the present crisis. He said he had to speak on a subject which he did not brook without having given great deliberation. He was no politician. He belonged to an order of priests whose mission it was to furnish pastors to the faithful. They kept clear of politics altogether. When a movement had been on foot to celebrate the centenary of O'Connell he had given his subscription in honor of that great patriot and devoted son of the church, but he had not attended any of the meetings convened. It was contrary to the rules of his order, so that when he spoke to them now he did so regardless of politics in the discharge of a solemn duty as their pastor. He had never deceived them and he spoke now for their good. The city of Montreal, for so long a model city, had of late turned into one of the places that might be said to be in the hands of a mob. Night after night there had been inflammatory speeches at meetings convened by deceitful politicians. The streets had been occupied by noisy processions, and respectable citizens had been insulted. What was the cause of all this? A section of the people seemed to have gone crazy. He did not address himself to them—he had no right to advise them, they were not his flock; but he had a right, it was his bounden duty, to warn his flock, for whom he was responsible to God, to have nothing to do with this movement, which must result disastrously, and to shun their meetings, processions, and Sunday demonstrations. They might say, "But we have been advised to join." Advised by whom? By foolish journalists and deceitful politicians. They had been advised to join a national party. Was it an Irish national party? No, it was a national party of a section of the people whom he had always loved for their many good qualities, and he would say that when those people carried away by designing men it stabbed him to the heart. This must end in disaster. The banding together in this community of that section would unite as one man all the Protestants of every race against them, English, Scotch, German and all others. Was it difficult to foresee the result? The Irish Catholics must keep aloof from all such folly. They were living at peace with their neighbors of all creeds. They had no interest in this movement. Many and many of the best men in the city and respected employees of Protestant employers. The foolish, rash men who advised them to join this national party would have them sacrifice everything in a moment of impulsiveness. There was nothing in it. The wretched man who had been executed had admittedly been guilty of two rebellions. He had sacrificed some of the best lives in the Dominion, and had initiated a war that brought about massacre, outrage, disaster and death. He had been fairly tried, the highest court in the Empire had pronounced his sentence a just one. He had been pardoned for one rebellion; for the other, as the leader of a civil war, he was hanged. The man who had to be taught respect for the law and the constituted authorities, the Government had taken the responsibility of making him suffer the death penalty. The responsibility was on them. There was a constitutional way of showing approval or disapproval of the manner in which that responsibility had been discharged, but to talk of starting a national party on the lines indicated by self-styled politicians was sheer madness which he solemnly warned them against. When the gallows had been erected the unfortunate man had abandoned his wicked way, renounced his false religion, wept over his crimes, and sided by the Church had been enabled to die as a Christian. Had his life been spared that grace might never have been granted to him. This was consoling. And now he had another announcement to make which would also rejoice all Christians. The Indians who had committed the atrocious murders were Pagans. Since their incarceration and while awaiting their punishment, God had touched their hearts and given them grace to join the church, through the efforts of the missionaries. They would die as Christians, and thus, through the mysterious ways of God, good would result from evil.

THE POWER TO SETTLE IT.

BRIDGEPORT, Nov. 23.—The foreign diplomatic representatives here are of the opinion that the powers are about to intervene between Serbia and Bulgaria, believing that both sides have suffered enough, while the results are decisive. Austria alone hesitates. The Russian government has requested the Serbian minister at St. Petersburg to notify his government of Russia's formal disavowal of the conduct of the Serbians.

GABRIEL DUMONT IN MONTREAL.

A Restaurant-Owner's Strange Guest—No Leaven for Springfield Mass.

MONTREAL, Nov. 23.—Mr. Francis Larin, proprietor of the Prince Louis restaurant, Notre Dame Street, states that yesterday he believes he had Gabriel Dumont as a guest, and after partaking of breakfast and enjoyed a quiet smoke and went over to the Champ-de Mars about 1 o'clock to attend the great mass meeting. On returning to the restaurant he displayed symptoms of being greatly moved, even weeping at what he had heard. Mr. Larin, suspecting that his guest was Gabriel Dumont, put several questions to him to ascertain if possible his identity. He displayed a remarkable familiarity with the condition of the Northwest, especially during the rebellion, and his strong resemblance to Gabriel Dumont arrested Mr. Larin's attention. The stranger, however, was reticent as to his identity and Mr. Larin, of course, could only infer. He left this morning for Springfield, Mass.

RIEL, REBELLION AND REFORMERS

FROM the very commencement of the rising in the Northwest to the present time the Reform party leaders and organs have been endeavoring to make political capital out of the tragic occurrences. The course of many of these journals previous to the outbreak was culpably reckless or wantonly wicked, for they strove to excite in opposition to the Government the very persons who retailed, and false stories were carried to them until they rose in arms to have imaginary grievances redressed and to force compliance with absurd demands. The halfwits, say these Reform papers, were justified in rebelling rather than submit to losing their farms; but their farms were not in danger, and when Reformers made the halfwits believe that they were in danger of losing their lands, and thus worked on their fears until they rose in arms, they did a great wrong, for which the people will not hold them guiltless.

After hostilities had commenced the Reformers showed their animus by threatening the Government if they did not make every necessary provision for the comfort of the volunteers, regardless of cost, and now they attack the Government on account of the expenditure. In the House of Commons members of the Cabinet were harassed by questions, some of them petty and many of them important only because, if answered, they would give information to the enemy to the disadvantage of the loyal volunteers. Instead of trying to strengthen the hands of the Government, as patriotic citizens should have done, the Reform press attacked the authorities on almost every imaginable pretence. While the Government was giving its attention to the suppression of the rebellion as speedily and with as little loss as possible, the Reformers were intent only on gaining a political advantage, regardless of the consequences of their acts. Even while the volunteers were dying for their country in the Northwest, Reformers in Ontario threatened, if not in plain words rebellion, at least assassination, and endeavored to repeat the performance, which had been so successful in the Northwest, of creating excitement by false cries. After the rebellion was suppressed, these same journals attacked everyone who was instrumental in suppressing it, from Sir Adolphe Caron and Gen. Middleton to the privates in the ranks, the latter being contemptuously termed "bum bullies," and charged with robbery and murder. They have shown no compassion for their part in the raising of the rebellion, but have continued on in the same course and endeavored to walk into office over the dead bodies of the slain, for the death of whom they were in such a great measure responsible.

The death of the leader of the rebels, Louis Riel, has given the Reform journals another opportunity to exhibit their lack of patriotism and their desire for the party's welfare regardless of the country's good. No one pretends to believe that Riel was not guilty of the offenses with which he was charged. His guilt was so plain that no one could deny it. Yet the Quebec Reformers, by representing to the people of that Province that Riel died because he was of their nationality, succeeded in arousing a certain amount of feeling, and of this the Reformers are now trying to take advantage in order to gain office. Some Quebec Conservatives have been carried away by the excitement, or have been driven by the clamor of the Rouges, to take a hostile stand in opposition to the Government, and to strengthen the Rouges the Ontario wing of the party, since the die is cast, is lending its aid. One Ontario paper refers to the execution as "little better than a state lynching," and the Globe, London Advertiser and other papers join in the effort to assist the Rouges to use popular excitement and to direct it against the Government.

The Rouges have adopted a plan that they think will work well. They are demanding a "national party," a fusion of the Rouges and Conservatives in the Province, but one of them has exposed the trick by stating that all members of this "new" party will be expected to oppose the Government and to follow Mr. Blake. If they should succeed in forming a coalition of the people of that Province with the avowed object of opposing the people of the other Provinces and the great majority of the Dominion, they will cause bitterness and trouble and great, though we hope not irreparable, injury to the country. Yet the Ontario Reformers, with the mistaken idea that such a state of things would be beneficial to them, are assisting the Rouges.

We cannot believe that the Rouges will succeed. It is hard to believe that a majority of the people of Quebec, when they calmly consider the matter free from the influence of the passionate appeals of politicians, will feel that a man who twice headed a rebellion, who stirred up the Indians to rise, and whose actions led to the death of the volunteers and the massacre of helpless persons, including priests—aye, and who himself opposed the priests and imprisoned them—is worthy of being considered a martyr or a hero, or was of sufficient importance to them to cause them to inflict injury on their country and themselves. Whether the Rouges succeed or not, the fact will remain that the Quebec wing of the party endeavoring to excite the people of that Province against the rest of the Dominion and that the Ontario Reformers gave them their aid.

A TENEMENT HOUSE FIRE

Agonizing Scenes of Terror and Death—A Family Lose Their Lives.

NEW YORK, Nov. 23.—The accidental upsetting of a kerosene lamp in the room of Otto Mattonak, on the third floor of the five story tenement, 464 East 6th street, early this morning, was the signal for agonizing scenes of terror and death. The house and the one adjoining were filled with Bohemian clannishness employed in a neighboring factory. One hundred and fifty people slept soundly when the cry of fire was raised. The flames commenced to rise above the through ventilator shafts. A scene of wild confusion and panic ensued, and the frightened tenants took to the fire escapes with all haste.

Reinforcements were summoned and the fire was quickly subdued. About $15,000 damage was done. There had been some narrow escapes, and one or two women with their children were reported to have been slightly burned in their rush for the fire escape, but the firemen were not prepared to find a whole family smothered to death. In the rear room on the top floor of No. 404 they came upon Mary Tkalka, a Bohemian widow, 40 years old, and her children, Mary, aged 7, and Annie, aged 5, lying dead. They had all been smothered by the smoke ascending through the air shaft that cut off their escape to the front and the street. It was three hours after the outbreak when this discovery was made. A second and closer search was made, but no other bodies had been found up to eight o'clock this morning. The report spread early among the Bohemian tenants that the house had been deliberately set on fire by one of the family. Henry Kohob, a Bohemian cigar maker, was said to be the guilty one. The police arrested him. The Bohemians had become furious and threats of lynching were made. K. had insured for $600, while his furniture was worth $75, and the charge is that he set fire to get the money.

ONE OF THE WRONGS

So many forged petitions, forged poems, forged letters and forged interviews, alleged to have been signed, written and had with Riel have been published, that one does not know what is forgery and what is fact. The Riel organs have been reeking with forgery and falsehood respecting that patriot; and the only safe thing to do is to consider everything of the sort false until proved true. A few days ago the Toronto Globe contained an account of an alleged interview between an alleged correspondent of that paper and the prisoner, in the course of which Riel is alleged to have said:—

"The parish of St. Louis de Langevin had been completely sold with the property of 24 families, and they could not get even the appearance of the title, and the chapel, priest's house, and all the ground and everything were taken away. This is only one instance of the injustices under which we labored."

We shall not stop to inquire whether these words were spoken by the unhappy man who has now gone to his account, or whether they are invented for him. We shall content ourselves by proving that they are not true. If the parish of St. Louis de Langevin was completely sold; if everything has been taken away from the twenty-four families formerly resident there, then the place must now be deserted of its halfbreed inhabitants. The pathetic story of the chapel and the priest's house closed up, and of the poor halfbreeds driven out to seek new homes is as touching in its way as anything in Evangelina. The only mitigation of its sadness is its absolute falsity. In the last number to hand of the Piece Albert Times we read an "avis public" to the effect that:

"All parties are hereby notified that the undersigned committee have petitioned the Lieutenant Governor for the erection of Notre Dame de Lourdes, Public Catholic school district, at St. Louis de Langevin, under the number 33, with in the following limits, that is to say: 'From the 45th Range 1, west and east of the third meridian. And hereby call for a vote of the school electors within these limits to decide whether such petition shall be granted or not, to be given on Oct. 30, 1885, at the school room, St. Louis de Langevin.'"

The halfbreed settlers have not been driven out. The parish has not been completely sold. The chapel and the priest's house have not been taken away. The people are there, and refuse to establish in that very parish a public Catholic school district under the name of Our Lourdes in the most ordinary and peaceable manner possible, under the guarantee of law and in full confidence of safety, protection and justice. Adolphe Nolin is the returning officer, and Louis Leclerc and N. Robert Turcotte are the members of school committee signing the advertisement.

We quite agree that this is "one instance of the injustices" under which the halfbreeds labored. The injustice was a pure invention. Ejection of the settlers, sale of their lands, closing of their churches, taking away of the priest's house—all pure myth. The people are still there peacefully cultivating their farms, and establishing schools in the very parishes from which we are told they were driven out.—Hamilton Spectator.

A CURIOUS LAW SUIT

LONDON, Nov. 22.—A case is reported in the St. Petersburg papers which reads like a legal joke, but is given as a genuine suit at present before the courts. It appears that some time ago a wealthy lady by her will placed her dog Gypsy in the hands of a friend, with a request to provide for her pet with the annual interest on 1,000 roubles, set aside for that purpose in her testament. The other day the dog died, and the lady who had charge of it assumed that the money was hers. Another lady, however, appeared on the scene, who owned Gypsy's pup and who claimed that the dog was heir to the 1,000 roubles, since nothing was said in the will regarding the disposal of the money after the death of Gypsy. The decision will be looked for with interest.

Horrible Outrage and Robbery

OIL CITY, Pa., Nov. 22.—Last night three masked men entered the house of Jacob Lips, an out of the way corner of Palat township, and demanded his money. He replied that there was none in the house. The villains then forced their way in and set fire to the place, finally succeeded in extracting from him the whereabouts of $75, which they seized and departed. Mr. Lips is quite an old man, and his bones and injuries are serious.

Investigating the Disaster

OWEN SOUND, Nov. 21.—Lieut. Col. Gordon and Capt. Harbottle commenced their investigation of the Algonquin disaster yesterday at 2 p. m., continued about two hours and adjourned till 9.30 this morning, when further evidence was taken for about an hour. The commission is proposed taking Capt. Moore's evidence at home but found him too ill. No further testimony is likely to be taken.

A PARALLEL MANIFESTO

Address to the Electors of Great Britain and Ireland.

LONDON, Nov. 21.—A Parallel manifesto, signed by Messrs. T. P. O'Connor, Justin McCarthy, Sexton, Heagley, Reimond, O'Kelly and Bigger, has been issued to the electors of Great Britain and Ireland. It says the Liberals are appealing to the electors for support under false pretences. They have flagrantly violated solemn pledges made to Ireland. It denounces the coercion practices resorted to under the recent regime and says the manner of the enforcement of the Coercion Act has been most brutal. Juries have been packed with unprecedented shamelessness and innocent men have been hung or sent to a life-long death of penal servitude. Twelve hundred persons have been imprisoned without trial, and ladies have been convicted under an obsolete act directed against the degraded sex. The press and public meetings were suppressed as if Ireland were Poland and the administration in England were the Russian autocracy. The representatives of Liberalism in Ireland were men like Mr. Forster and Earl Spencer, who have left more hateful memories in Ireland than any other statesmen during the past century. If the long delayed triumph had not expelled the Liberals Earl Spencer would still be at Dublin Castle and coercion would be triumphant in Ireland. The Irish rebels, instead of being reasonable abolitionists in their aims, which the deprecator in Ireland and Scotland conceded, would be evicting their tenants by wholesale, with Earl Spencer urging them, and the police and army and a coercion magistracy would have filled the jails in assisting them.

Jackson's Escape

WINNIPEG, Man., Nov. 23.—The Attorney-General held an investigation on Saturday into the escape of Jackson, Riel's late secretary. Dr. Young, superintendent of the Asylum, says that Jackson was not a criminal lunatic, and save for a short time at the Asylum, has been allowed the same liberty as prisoners of that class. He was rapidly recovering his reason, and probably would have been discharged ere this but for his excitement over the Riel case. He was told by a fellow patient that he would probably be tried for treason felony on his discharge, and this, Dr. Young supposed, was the reason he sought to escape. Jackson says he intends taking the lecture field in the States, and detailing the circumstances of the late rebellion.

Regina and Long Lake Road

TORONTO, Nov. 23.—A Winnipeg despatch says: "Travelling on the Regina and Long Lake Railway is now completed from Regina to the western end of the Qu'Appelle Valley. At this point it will connect with the main line on Long Lake, greatly facilitating traffic between the Canadian Pacific and Prince Albert and Battleford."

CABLE NEWS

"Cable." The oldest and most reliable brand of cigars in the market. Free from all chemicals and artificial flavorings.

"El Padre" cigars. Universally acknowledged to be the finest 10c. cigar manufactured. Don't be persuaded to take other brands. No chemicals or artificial flavorings used.

S. Davis & Sons have moved into their new man-mo-h factory, the finest of its kind in America. They are the only cigar manufacturer in Canada who manufacture their own cigar boxes and packing cases, which industry gives employment to sixty hands.

Beware of cigars artificially flavored for the purpose of hiding the poor quality of tobacco used in flavored cigars. Look upon having the reliable brands—"Cable" and "El Padre."

A trial will cover on the most skeptical that S. Davis & Sons' material and cigars are superior in every respect to any in Canada.

Prize medals against the world were awarded to S. Davis & Sons, of Montreal, for their manufacture of cigars, at Paris, 1867, Centennial, 1876, Montreal, 1883-84.

ADMIT IN A DORY

Two Fishermen Have Two Days' Terrible

Experience.

The two fishermen, John Sullivan and Jesse Lippett, who were cast on the Head-Bank, says a Boston special to the New York Tribune, have arrived home at Gloucester. They sailed from Gloucester on September 29th, and on the morning of September 29th, Sullivan and Lippett went in a dory to find the trawls. It was early in the day and expecting to get back in time for breakfast they ate nothing. It was clear, but soon a dense fog came up, and they were shut out from their vessel and all surrounding objects. Sullivan and Lippett found a buoy and began to pull on the line, another dory being at the other end. They kept on pulling and finally found that the trawl had parted in the middle and that they were separated from their brother fishermen at last at sea. The wind began to howl hard, and after rowing about a long time in vain endeavor to find another vessel they anchored their dory. As soon as it was light the next day they tried to bust their anchor, but it was caught and they had to cut the cable. They rowed miles that day until late in the afternoon, but without seeing a vessel. Rain fell in and another long night was upon them. They had to row to keep warm. All they had in their stores was a raw halibut, and they did not dare to eat a great deal of it at a time, but began with a small amount. They had no water only what they could catch in their oil jacks, and when it cleared they had to depend upon the falling dew and fog upon their clothing. For 4 days and 3 nights they subsisted this way upon that one raw halibut. On the fourth day it cleared away about 11 o'clock. They were drenched through and through and chilled to the marrow. At two o'clock they saw away from the trawls in a tug. The tug was all their strength, and finally attracting the attention of those on the vessel, they were taken on board. After twenty-nine days they arrived at Liverpool, and thence were sent to America by the Consul, who furnished clothing and paid their passage on the Ancon to New York. Arrived at New York, the Seamen's Society paid their fare to Gloucester.

SIR LEONARD'S SUCCESSOR

The Conservative Candidate Returned for St. John City.

St. John, N.B., Nov. 24.—The election in St. John on to-day for a successor to Sir Leonard Tilley resulted in the return of Barker, the conservative, the vote standing: Barker 1770; Skinner (liberal) 1625; Barker's majority 145.

FORBES AND COMPANY

OPEN OUT THEIR HANDSOME NEW OFFICE TO-DAY.

Peterborough now in possession of a Commission House and Brokerage Office—Quotations from New York and Chicago Received Every Minute.

The establishment in this town of a commission house and brokerage office is another sign of its importance as a commercial centre. But that such a commission house as that now established should be planted here, shows that Peterborough ranks only second to the large cities as a place of business activity, for outside of Montreal and Toronto a more complete establishment of the kind is not to be found. The

is situated on George street, one door north of the Great North Western Telegraph Company's office, convenient to the post office, and in the very heart of the business part of the town. The office is fitted up in the neatest style possible. Along the north side of it is a huge blackboard thirty-three feet in length by eight feet high. It is fringed with a two and a half inch border of red and is divided into three sections, viz.:

NEW YORK STOCKS, CHICAGO GRAIN MARKET and New York oil market. These sections are subdivided into almost innumerable narrow strips, at the top of which stands the cypher representing the stock company, railway company, etc., that is represented, and the stock of which is quoted. Another subdivision shows the state of the Liverpool, Erg., and London, Eng., market, and also the Beecham, which accurately tells how many cargoes of produce is at sight in all the different ports in the United Kingdom, and the number of cargoes crossing the ocean. At the south-west end of the office the

is situated. Here an operator is busily employed from the time the market opens until it closes, 10 o'clock in the morning and 3 o'clock in the afternoon, respectively, in receiving the quotations from the New York and Chicago markets. The quotations come over a direct wire and on receipt are immediately boarded, so that dealers may watch the market here as closely as they could if actually in the Chicago and New York Boards of Trade.

WEDNESDAY, NOVEMBER 25, 1886.

It is stated by Reformers that Riel could not have been indicted under the Treason Act. Under what Act, then, should the charges against him have been laid?

GREAT BRITAIN and France are the two great European nations now engaged in war. Whether or not the trouble in the Balkan States will lead to a war on a larger scale between the two powers is yet undecided.

MANY persons believe that party politics are carried too far in Canada, to such an extent, in fact, as to be injurious to the country. Yet the Reformers of Toronto have in conference assembled decided to carry party politics into the municipal elections.

On behalf of Riel it has been argued that he was tried for treason, a political offence, but has not been indicted under the Treason Act. However, anyone who has followed the trial of the friends of the rebels by contending that the Indians, also, who were tried and found guilty of murder—old blooded and brutal murder—should not be executed.

THE Hon. Mr. Laurier is not a new ally of the Reformers, but the recognized leader of their Quebec wing. He has publicly announced himself a rebel at heart and in words, avowing that if he had been living on the banks of the Saskatchewan he should have shouldered a musket with the halfbreed rebels to oppose the Canadian troops. Now we have another contribution to the Black policy, so earnestly demanded by some Reform journals.

THE Hon. Mr. Laurier, a Reform Minister of Justice, is active in the attempt to represent Riel as a martyr whose execution is a reason why the MacDonald Administration should be overturned. Much regard for the law cannot be expected from a Minister of Justice who obtained his seat by the ingenious and carefully prepared device of a trap door, by which the ballot box was passed through the floor of the polling room to be stuffed with false ballots by his friends.

A CORRECTION.

The London Advertiser takes up the case of Mr. John Bertram, of Peterborough, and asserts that he was improperly kept out of his seat. There is little use in discussing bygone, but if the Advertiser will misrepresent, it must be set right. The simple fact was that Mr. Bertram had not the qualification of unencumbered landed property then required by our laws. What steps ought to have been taken to put in force this legal disqualification was a question for the lawyers, and for the Parliamentary Committee then authorized to judge of such matters. Leading members of the bar advised the course adopted, and the Committee would have declared that Mr. Bertram had no valid qualification and no right to the seat, had not the dissolution of Parliament anticipated this result.

New York's New Railway

New York, Nov. 23.—The morning papers again refer at length to the new deal between Robt. Garrett and Erasmus Wiman, by which the latter affords a railroad entrance to the city of New York through his Staten Island route. The aid of the New Jersey Legislature, which some time ago passed a resolution opposing the Staten Island bridge bill because Mr. Wiman is a British subject, is to be again invoked and all the forces of the opposing railroads will be marshaled in opposition to the new combination. Mr. Wiman claims that he and his associates have already secured the necessary legislation and if more is wanted Congress will readily grant it in ample time to complete the road by next July. In addition to Mr. Roderick Cameron and Erasmus Wiman, named as Canadians participating largely in the advantages of the new railroad deal, it is mentioned that Mr. Ogden and Mr. Hugh Mackey, of Montreal, also add largely to their fortunes by this transaction.

A Tragedy at Hamilton

HAMILTON, Nov. 23.—Mrs. Bowles, an aged woman, 55 years of age, was found dead in her house, 134 Huguenot street, this morning. Health Inspector Penoch had occasion to call there, but was unable to gain admittance, and upon enquiry found that the woman had not been seen for several days. He reported the matter to Police Sergeant Prentice and two men were detailed to investigate the matter. They broke open the door and found her dead body in a kneeling position between the bed and a trunk with her head hanging over a pulley. A horrible stench pervaded the room, and it was evident that she had been dead for some time. The deceased lately sold three frame houses for $300. She was greatly addicted to drink, and on several occasions would have perished but for the kind attention of the neighbors. An inquest will be held.

A Military Scandal

St. PETERSBURG, Nov. 23.—A military scandal is attracting much attention. A party of officers belonging to various regiments of guards, while dining recently, became somewhat turbulent, and a commissioner of police failing in his attempts to quiet them, summoned Gen. Grener, Governor of St. Petersburg. The officers then locked and kicked the doors of the saloon. Gen. Grener ordered the doors to be forced, which was done. In coming from the saloon, Count Shchegoleff, a captain of Hussars, struck Gen. Grener in the face. A corps of guards then arrested all of the officers, who were imprisoned. The Czar has ordered a court martial.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

TO THEIR HONOR.

That the Government amid all the clamors of friends and foes have held an even and consistent course, trusting to the future for their justification—if they cannot have it in the immediate present—is greatly to their honor. They saw that there was no sense in identifying the cause of Riel with that of the French Canadian race in general, and they determined to leave those who had tried to establish such an identification to creep at their leisure out of their car, no position. The time will come, we venture to say, and not in the very distant future either, when it will not be a title of honor to any politician or journalist to have tried to persuade French Canadians that Louis Riel in raising the standard of revolt in the Northwest, after vainly proposing to sell himself to the Government for so many thousands of dollars, represented them in any way championing their cause or doing credit to the French Canadian name. —Montreal Star (Indep.)

A BIG THING.

Messrs. Cowan & Co., Galt, recently shipped a carload of wood working machinery to Calgary sending it along the north-west of Lake Superior, and all the way through by the Canadian Pacific Railway. But the carload received its destination in much less time and at a cost of $30 less than a previous shipment of theirs, sent by American roads. Much trouble and annoyance was saved, too, for when shipping to the far west by American roads Cowan & Co. had to send a man with the freight, for the sole purpose of seeing that it did not get stuck at points where different roads connect. Now they have only to write to the car, and the freight goes right through on time and without any further trouble. A through line, and all on our own soil, is going to prove a big thing for Canada yet. —Toronto World (Indep.)

INCIDENTAL PROTECTION.

The American war was the great factor in pushing our manufacturing progress up to the year 1874. It did twice as much, as a three times as much, in this way as our moderate tariff of only 20 per cent. It was the protection we had outside of the statute that was the big thing then. But the subject is one that will bear further elucidation. —Canadian Manufacturer.

MUTUAL BENEFIT.

Though the mainland of the Pacific Provinces and also Vancouver Island contain valleys and coast lands well adapted to the growth of cereals, the ground is as a rule so heavily timbered that it is very expensive to bring it under cultivation, for which reason chiefly it has been customary to import rather than grow the flour and grain required for domestic consumption. It may now be expected, however, that the "staff of life" will be supplied from the prairies of Assiniboia and Alberta. In return, the Northwest Territories will look to the Pacific coast to supply them with lumber, fresh fish and fruit, also early vegetables. —Ministry Times.

AN ILLUSTRATION.

"It is one thing to be a politician and another to be a patriot," argues the Kingston Whip. Quite so. We have had a marked illustration of that in the first press account Northwest affairs. Those journals have talked as politicians merely, the idea of patriotism being left out of the question. Patriotism before politics, however, is the motto of the Conservative press. —London Free Press.

A MERITED REBUKE.

We are about as liberal in sentiment as is necessary for any person to be, and would not go back on setting a point for the interests of the party when at honest opportunity present itself, but that party will be in a mighty bad fix when we feel called upon to champion the act of insurrectionists and murderers, in order that it may be identified thereby. Riel has been the direct cause of the death of many a man better than himself, and now at last he has got his own neck stretched, so perish the enemies of Canada. —Embo Courier (Ref.).

INCITING A RISING.

The Globe has lost its head. In a mad endeavor to gain political capital it is leading with rebellion, rapine and Indian atrocities. Its article of Saturday on "Wholesale Hanging" is a straight incitement to another Indian rising in the Northwest. Only the day before it published a despatch that such a rising was imminent in the spring. —Toronto World (Indep.)

LAUGHABLE.

Still the cry sounds, where, oh where, is the Reform policy? And the only reply that is ever heard, is a faint murmur that there is one somewhere, locked up in a dark cupboard. The great Liberal party is like a child who has a doll, and is afraid to bring it out for fear some naughty playmate will steal it. The party have a very charming policy doll, a real sweet singer, but they are afraid to bring it out, for fear that if she became popular, that naughty boy, Sir John, would make love to her and elope with the pretty dear. And then the party would be left again to sit on their little bottles and cry their poor little eyes out for another five years. It is quite laughable, isn't it. But it is the truth all the same. —Boboypoon Independent.

A New Way of Advertising

One would suppose that every possible way of reaching the public to induce them to buy goods had been long ago discovered and exhausted, but there is really something new in the advertising line practiced in Italy. It is on the North Italy railway that the idea has been developed, and it consists in providing the railway with little rolls of paper with advertisements printed thereon. You buy your ticket from Milan to Venice, for instance, and on a plain piece of paper neatly inserted therein you find all the information you can want about the Venetian houses or shops. The advertisement sheet in each ticket is divided into forty little spaces, twenty in each side of the paper, and the price of a piece in fifteen francs per thousand tickets. When all the spaces are left, the company makes twenty-four pounds on every ten thousand tickets.

Arrested in Florida

New York, Nov. 23.—P. M. L. Shepard, a thirty-five years' cashier of the freight department of the New York Central & Hudson River railway, Buffalo, p. s. through New York to day, en route for Buffalo, is charged with detective work, who arrested him in Florida. Early in June, 1884, Shepard left Buffalo, having appropriated money of the company amounting to $27,000. He was traced to Canada. He resided in St. Catharines and other points, finally establishing a clear store in Montreal, whence he absconded after swindling a wholesale cigar dealer out of $200. He was traced to Florida, where he was found living with his family in good style, having purchased orange groves, horses, etc., and was thought to be wealthy.

Reception of Farrell.

CHICAGO, Nov. 23.—The local executive committee, appointed at the suggestion of Patrick Egan, president of the Irish National League, to make arrangements for the reception and entertainment of Charles Stewart Parnell during his visit in February, has appointed a committee of 25, to make all necessary preparations for the demonstration, to be held in the Central Music Hall; also another committee of 200 representative citizens to charter a special train and meet the distinguished visitor.

CARRIED BY STORM.

The Fight at Dragoman Continued all Day Sunday.—The Bulgarians Victorious.

DARINSTAT, Nov. 24.—Prince Alexander has sent a despatch to his father thanking him for his gift of clothing, etc., to the Bulgarian troops. The despatch also says: "We fought all Sunday and spent the night on the Dragoman heights, which we carried by storm. Fighting continues to-day in the direction of Tzaribrod."

ATHERS, Nov. 24.—A note from the Turkish Government demands an explanation of the Greek armament.

LONDON, Nov. 24.—As far as can be judged from the conflicting telegrams the situation at the seat of war is as follows: Prince Alexander has held at bay the Moravian and Shunailsa divisions, which were advancing via Adri-mir and prevented them from joining the Dina and Danube divisions. He has driven the latter back from Dragoman. The Moravia and Shunailsa divisions still hold their positions and are probably commanded by King Milan. The people of Belgrade are anxious as to how the Servians will escape defeat. The Servians reverse are attributed to blunders made by favorites of King Milan, who are in command. The Bulgarian under foreign secretaries states that although King Milan has not agreed to an armistice he has not assumed the offensive since the 20th inst. None of the powers have formally intervened yet. A number of Austrians and German newspapers have opened subscription lists for the wounded Servians and Bulgarians.

A despatch from Vienna to the Times says Russia and England have induced the Porte to despatch a note to Serbia to-day counselling King Milan to stop the war. Servian war accounts are unreliable. All correspondents are excluded from the Serbian lines except two Austrian correspondents, whose despatches are on hold.

A despatch to the Standard from Soland, opposite Sirlitz, dated one o'clock Monday morning, says King Milan and Premier Gatchschine had arrived at head quarters. The Servian army was drawn up facing the enemy, and was preparing for a final attempt to break through and force its way to Sofia.

A Belgrade despatch dated Monday evening, says yesterday's despatches from Ploer make no mention of the Bulgarians having occupied Tzaribrod.

BELGRADE, Nov. 24.—King Milan was forced to retreat by the failure of his commissariat service. He will remain on the defensive at the frontier until the arrival of General Lechja's divisions and that of the Russian army. When the latter have arrived here continuously since Sunday morning. Every available vehicle is utilized for transportation purposes.

SOFIA, Nov. 24.—The city is wild with excitement, the news from the front stating that Prince Alexander at the head of the Bulgarian troops, has followed up his victories and is driving the Servians slowly from Bulgarian territory.

The latest despatches says Prince Alexander stormed the heights of Tzaribrod, and occupied the city last evening. The Prince made a triumphant entry into the city, and was received with enthusiasm by the populace.

W.P.M.S.

A meeting of the ladies of the George street and Charlotte street Methodist Churches was held on Monday afternoon for the purpose of organizing an auxiliary of the Women's Foreign Missionary Society. The organization of the Society was satisfactorily carried out, the following ladies being elected to hold office:—
PRESIDENT—Mrs. Dr. K'noad.
VICE-PRESIDENT—Mrs. Geo. A. Cox.
SECRETARY—Mrs. Keels.
CORRESPONDING SECRETARY—Mrs. A. L. Davis.
TREASURER—Mrs. F. W. Ives.
EXECUTIVE COMMITTEE—Mrs. Dumble, Mrs. McFadden, Miss Boucher and Mrs. Morrow.

A Short Haulway.

On Tuesday afternoon at about three o'clock Mr. Fred Cox was sitting in his buggy in McGeorge or Ross, literary stable yard, Chambers street. For some time he sat chatting to Mr. Harry S. Appleton, who stood with one foot on the ground and the other on the buggy step. On a sudden the mare took fright and in a twinkling shot out through the gate of the yard. Mr. Cox twisted her around to prevent her from dashing herself against the back part of Mr. W. Leck's fur store, but so quick was the team that the buggy overturned several times and Mr. Cox was thrown out. The frightened animal then bolted down Chambers street towards Hunter street. A passing farmer's wagon averted what appeared to be a serious threat for the plate glass window in Bribin's fur and feed store, the view of the George street, after taking the sidewalk for it, but in passing the lamp post at the corner the now considerably damaged buggy caught on it. The sudden shock brought the mare to stand still, when she was secured. Happily the casualties are not great. Mr. Appleton narrowly escaped having one leg run over, but Mr. Cox received some scratches and bruises of a rather painful character.

Good variety and good value in Clouds, Breakfast Shawls, Small Shawls and Slugs and Double Woolen Shawls. J. ESKRINE.

A MAN FALLS

Into a Cellar and Lies Inevitably for an Hour and a Half.

An accident which happened at the south end of the town, near the locks, is wrapped in rather peculiar and odd circumstances.

A man named John Job was building a house for himself, and, together with two others, went to work as usual on Tuesday afternoon. Mr. Job was engaged in putting down the floor, while the other two worked away outside.

At about four o'clock one of them was talking to Mr. Job, but after that, until near six o'clock, no communication passed between the outside and inside laborers. Then the two outside quit work and were going to start for home. But when they came to look for Mr. Job, he was not to be found. After looking about for a time he was found in the cellar, his clothes all covered with dirt. The ground, also, had been kicked around a good deal.

Mr. Job was, when found, wholly insensible. The other two lifted him out of the cellar, bore him to a house and bawled of a neighbor, and drove to the office of Dr. King. Arriving there, Mr. Job had recovered consciousness somewhat, but he remembered nothing of what had happened.

But the strangest part of it all was that there was not a mark or bruise on Mr. Job's body, beyond the least possible mark on his forehead. It was found that he had been rendered insensible by a slight concussion of the brain, caused by the fall. His kicking about in the cellar was purely automatic.

Ladies' Bible Class.

The Rev. A. H. Munro's Bible class will meet to-morrow afternoon at 4 o'clock p.m. in the Y.M.C.A. rooms.

Just received, a large variety of new Scripture Cards and Books, consisting of Christmas and New Year Cards, Text Books, Birthday Books, Text Books plain and illuminated, large Text Cards, and an assortment of the small books of Miss Haverhill, Dr. Macduff and others. J. ESKRINE.

Ladies' Jantons.

One of the latest inventions of the day is to be seen at Kegan & Co.'s hardware store on Hunter street, in the shape of a Cash Register, suitable for all kinds of retail business. It is a little other and self-acting for every cent that is paid in, and it tells no lie. It is ornamental as well as useful, being made out of black wood, with silver plated mountings. We think every merchant, no matter what may be the size of his business, cannot afford to do without one.

Missionary from the New Hebrides.
The Rev. Dr. Ainsworth, one of the missionaries of the Canada Presbyterian Church to the New Hebrides, now in this country, will deliver an address on the work among the natives of these islands in St. Paul's Church on Thursday evening next at 8 o'clock. The music and singing will be under the direction of Prof. Parker. A collection will be taken up in aid of the Foreign Mission Fund. All friends of missionary work are cordially invited to be present.

Handsome Scalette, Astrachan, Silk, French and Persian Mantles made to order at Turnbull's. A perfect fit guaranteed every time.

A Pleasant Evening.

The "At Home" given at Mrs. Shaw's residence, Stewart street, on Tuesday evening, was very successful. The attendance was large and the programme was interesting. During the entire evening the people continued to arrive until at ten o'clock the house was filled to overflowing with a chatting, humming, merry gathering. At times a song, a piano solo, or a reading, for a short while arrested the conversation, only to be resumed afterwards with more zest. Several ladies contributed piano solo. Messrs. Hammond and Craven, and Miss Knecht, gave vocal solos, and Mr. B. Brown gave a reading. A good round sum was realized, which will be applied to the fund for building a new Sunday School house in the South Ward, in connection with the Church of England.

More new Wool Dress Goods at the Golden Lion. The military Cloths, Cheviot Cloths, Amuse Cloths and Canvas Cloths make elegant, serviceable dresses. Fair, Van Every & Co. are giving decided bargains in every department. The activity in the dress making department is an evidence of the superiority of their choice dress fabrics.

Important Announcement:
Having bought fifty dozen Scotch lambs' wool and Canadian shirtings and drawers at 10 per cent. less than manufacturers' prices, I will offer from this date the whole line to the public at prices ranging from 35c, 50c, 75c, and $1.00 in Cassimere, and $1.00, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75 and $2.00 in Scotch lambs' wool; shirtings and drawers the same price. Don't be deceived by thinking this a cheap penny announcement. It is a bona fide offer and will save to all purchasers from 25 to 30 per cent. Underclothing was never so fitted in the town of Peterborough at such prices. To secure no shoddy goods or old shop keepers, but new, fresh goods, warranted in every particular. Parties requiring underclothing will study their own interest by paying a visit to ANDREW MCNEIL, tailor and clothier, George street.

When in quest of a good fitting mantle go to FAIR, VAN EVERY & Co.'s mantle department which affords you a large assortment of Astrachan, Scalette, Scotch Cashmere, Beaver, Otomane Curle, etc., from which handsome glove-fitting Mantles, Dolmans, Ulsters, Coats, etc., are being turned out daily. A large assortment of fur trimmings in Goat, Coon, Opussum, etc., in all widths at very low prices.

A FINE assortment of Hosiery in all sizes and good qualities in Cashmere, Lamb's Wool and Ribbed Knitted hose. A lot of Women's Seamless Hosiery. Wool Hosiery at 25c a pair, much below usual price. J. ESKRINE.

POLICE COURT.

DRUNK.

WEDNESDAY, Nov. 24.—James Carlon was charged with having been drunk in a public place. He pleaded guilty, and was fined $2 or ten days in jail.

A similar charge was preferred against John Graham. He acknowledged the offence, but urged the first offence plea, and promised to leave town at once. He was allowed to go on that condition.

THE SAWDUST QUESTION.

Messrs. George Hilliard, James Irwin and Thomas Geo. Hallitt, Manager of the Dickson Company, were charged by Wm. Hayes with having caused sawdust to be thrown or drifted into the river October, being a stream frequented by fish, in contravention of the Fisheries Act.

Messrs. A. P. FOSSETTE and C. W. SAWERS, appearing for Messrs. Hilliard and Irwin respectively, asked for an enlargement for a month.

Mr. R. B. EDWARDS, for the prosecution, pointed out that this was no new prosecution, but that the defendants had been before the court on the same business before, and that if any enlargement was granted one week was plenty long enough.

Mr. SAWERS said that these summons had been allowed to stand over since October, and he saw no reason why an adjournment for a month should not be granted. This was a matter of much moment, involving the expenditure, he would venture to say, if the charges were proven, of $50,000 between the three defendants.

Mr. HALLITT—More than that.
Mr. SAWERS—We intend to go into this matter as fully as we can. We intend to procure expert evidence, and a week's adjournment would be wholly insufficient.

Mr. FOSSETTE did not see why the matter should not stand another month, now that it had stood over on one month already. This was a matter of vital importance to the interests of the town; it concerned no particular individuals, but the people at large.

The MAGISTRATE—I understand that the mill owners have had notice of this action given them.

Mr. SAWERS—The summons was served on Mr. Irwin only the day before yesterday.
Mr. EDWARDS said that as early as the 9th of October the mill owners were informed that unless they desisted from causing the sawdust to be thrown into the river proceedings would be taken against them. He would strongly oppose any enlargement for a month.

Mr. FOSSETTE said this matter was governed by two acts, the Fisheries Act and the Mill Race Act. Officers under these Acts were in duty bound to see that they were carried into effect. The Fisheries Inspector had from time to time visited the mill and found that everything was being done that was possible to keep sawdust from being put in the river. It was very reasonable to have an action of this kind, involving such a large amount of money, brought by a few young fellows who found that the sawdust in the river interfered with their sport. This prosecution would entail the expenditure of an immense amount of money on the part of the mill owners and would do much toward ruining some of the most important industries of the town. They wished to have sufficient time granted them to show what view in regard to similar charges were held by the courts.

The MAGISTRATE thought it unfair to charge set of young fellows with having brought the prosecution against the mill owners. The river being choked up with mill refuse was a great evil, and had it not been for the great interest involved in the part of both mill owners and townspeople this matter would have been pressed long long ago. Anybody had a perfect right to bring the charges. The case was enlarged for two weeks without a plea having been put in by the defendants.

Now is the time to secure a length of these new all-wool Brown Goods. Turnbull has just received in all colors at extremely low prices.

MERCHANTS PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—In your issue of the 18th inst., a letter appeared, signed by "G. W. Fitzgerald," in which he states that he does now owe the Times Printing Company anything. Well, I suppose it is quite right that he should inform the people of Peterborough, through the columns of any of the local papers, that he does not owe this or that man; but his saying so does not make it true, as we are informed that the Times was sent to Geo. W. Fitzgerald, Selwyn, and taken from the post office, and although the accounts were sent out under seal to that name, asking that he pay his subscription, no reply was ever received until our dinner was sent, which brought an answer from a person of the same name at Lakefield. If not the same person that took the paper from the post office we do not know, but as we have many similar cases and have always succeeded in tracing them up to the right man, we expect to do this in this case, and we would advise the Geo. W. Fitzgerald that took the paper from the office to pay up, or he will find out whether our association is a myth or not. This latter advice applies to all parties that have been notified by our members to pay up. Our members include nearly all of the best firms in Peterborough. The letter referred to is headed "Who or what are they?" For the benefit of all parties wishing to know, and particularly those having accounts which they wish to call on, I will say that our established agencies in Ontario are about 100, scattered over the Province, not to speak of others in the Dominion. Our object is the collection of debts and to prevent the obtaining of further credit by any person who refuses to pay his legitimate debts. The following testimonials, being one from the many hundreds received by us from our members through Canada, speak for itself.

Thanking you for taking up so much of your valuable space, and hoping that this will be the last time we will ever have to ask you to publish a letter from us in answer to any person who may have been denounced by any of our members,

I remain, yours respectfully,

J. B. MILLS,
One of the Managers of the Merchants' Protective and Collecting Association of Canada.
LIMBART, Oct. 29th, 1885.

Messrs. J. Edmond, Mills & Co., Hamilton, Managers Merchants' Protective and Collecting Association.

THANK SIR.—In reply to your favor of the 27th inst., inquiring whether we have found our membership in your Association profitable, we beg to say that it has paid us handsomely in several instances. We have proved beyond doubt that the system has been the means of collecting several accounts for us which we considered bad, and other instances where we considered at best the account was doubtful. We have been promptly paid after sending the delinquent one of your printed ones. We do not pretend to say we have been successful in every case, but the great majority of strict attention to the timely warning. We also state that the Association will prove to be a great boon to retail merchants, as it places each firm's collections in their own hands direct from the debtor. We are,

Yours truly,

SOUTHERN, CATHRO & MARK,
Dry Goods Merchants.

Messrs. A. Hall, Mercer & Co., Kingston & Co., T. Bradburn, &c., will tell any person in Peterborough what they think of our Association.

The New Hebrides

Mr. Amund, returned missionary from the

New Hebrides, delivered a lecture in St. Paul's Church on Thursday evening on the success of the Christian work on those islands. He commenced by giving a description of the physical features of the islands. They were of a volcanic origin, and eruptions from the still active volcanoes are still quite frequent. The vegetation is entirely different from that of Canada,

the flora of the islands growing all sorts of tropical plants, and instead of cereals, the ground produces sugar cane, yams, etc. There are scarcely any cattle on the islands. The native are of New Guinea origin, resembling the negroes, but had neither curly hair nor thick lips. He gave a very interesting account of the introduction of Christianity among the people, who were, till 1839, at constant warfare

among themselves and to a race who were all cannibals. John Williams, the first missionary, came from the Society Islands in that year with several native teachers, but they were murdered and eaten, as were their successors who came in the years 1842,

1845 and 1846. In 1849, however, Messrs.

Geddy and Powell gained a foothold, and since that time the work has been a success. In 1861

the population was reduced one half by an outbreak of measles, 1,100 having died from the disease. There are now two prosperous congregations on the island, where the lecturer labored, with about 370 members to each congregation. Another encouraging circumstance was the fact that there are 33 schools on the

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Personal.

The Rev. F. McAmmond, B.A., Ashburnham, will preach in the Queen Street Methodist Church, Bowmanville, on Sunday next.

Special Meeting.

A special meeting of the Town Council will be held this evening to make arrangements for attending the funeral of the late George Johnston, Chief of Police.

Band Meeting To-night.

We are requested by Mr. Miller, bandmaster of the Fire Brigade Band, to ask every member of the band to attend at the hall this evening, to make preparation for attending the funeral of the late Chief Constable George Johnston.

"Bible and the Bible."

All should hear the above lecture by Rev. Prof. Burwash, of Cobourg, (under the auspices of the Y.M.C.A.) in the Baptist church on Monday, Nov. 30. No charge for admission. A collection will be taken.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours commencing from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory are as follows:—Light to moderate winds, fair weather, stationary or slightly lower temperature.

The Real Tam O'Shanter Bonnets.

Imported from "Auld Scotia" can be had at the sign of the Golden Lion, suitable for carvers, skaters, tobacconists, snow shoes. Give a hampering sale to the ladies, and a novelty of dressmaker to the ladies. Fit for a prince or a peasant.

Gent's Fur Collars and Cuffs.

Fairweather & Co. are making a specialty of gentlemen's Fur Collars and Cuffs. They have them in all the most fashionable and convenient made so that they can be put on and taken off the coat when desired in a few minutes. Call and see them at Fairweather & Co's Hat Shop.

The Big Race.

The Peterborough Lacrosse Club held their rehearsal the evening of the 1st of Dec. They offer, in all, prizes amounting to upwards of $75. The sale of tickets has not been as large in town as the club would like to see, although outside places have patronized it well. To-night, in order to dispose of a few books, a raffle of tickets will be held at the Grand Central House.

Interesting Address.

We understand that the Hon. Thos. White has consented to deliver an address before the Young Men's Liberal Conservative Association, and that it is probable that it will be delivered about the 9th of next month in the Opera House. In view of Mr. White's former residence in Peterborough, and his recent extended tour in the Northwest, he will unquestionably be greeted by a bumper house.

"Boquet de Fleurs."

In addition to being a plant of merit and a victualler of more than local reputation, Mr. J. A. Doucet bids fair to become a composer of some note. His new polka, the "Boquet de Fleurs," is a production of a character that will undoubtedly win for itself popularity. It is a brilliant composition, basking the attention from the introductory to the final cord, by its piquant dash and pleasing theme. The concluding minor part is especially pretty. Mr. D. Doucet is making arrangements with a publisher to have the "Boquet de Fleurs" published.

Weather Notes.

The following weather notes are supplied by Mr. G. W. Morgan, druggist:—
Thermometer: Barometer.

Tramps.

Yesterday afternoon, a member of the above society was doing the rounds of the North Ward. He was not asking for food, but, for money to buy food. Mr. Tramp did not meet with much success, his general appearance, and the fact that he was not in a sober state at the time, went against him.

Free Exhibition.

Mr. N. Johnson, the General Agent for the Domestic Sewing Machine, is in town. He intends to give a free exhibition at Mr. D. Smart's Music Store of the work that can be done by the machine on about the 15th of December. The "Domestic" possesses many advantages over the other machines in the market as to durability and quality of workmanship, but its great point is its almost noiseless action. No doubt all these advantages will be fully set forth by Mr. Johnson.

Just received, a large variety of new Scripture Cards and Books, consisting of Christmas and New Year Cards, Text Books, Birthday Books, Text Rolls plain and illuminated, large Text Cards, and an assortment of the small books of Miss Haverhill, Dr. Macduff and others. J. ESKINE.

The Art League.

A large and well pleased audience assembled in the Opera House last evening to hear and see Mr. Stuart Rogers in his splendid character delineations, which were undoubtedly the best ever witnessed in this city. His imitations of various personages were of such a nature as to call forth round after round of applause. Should he appear again before a Leavenworth audience there would not be standing room in the house. The Art League may feel justly proud of their successful endeavors to please as highly a cultivated and critical audience as that of last night. —Leavenworth Times, Kansas, May 24th, 1885.

A Sensible Decision.

It is related that the late Mr. A. T. Stewart, of New York, (who was considered one of the most successful business men in the world), was only once known to be pressed for money. In this emergency we are told he took time for the forelock, and offered his goods at about 50c in the dollar, which so increased his sales as to soon give him all the money required, after which the goods were marked up to regular prices. As will be seen by reference to another column, Mr. Thomas Kelly, our pushing dry goods merchant on the corner of George and Simcoe streets, proposes doing very much the same thing as Mr. Stewart did, although not for the same reason, but for the same object—money. We believe Mr. Kelly is acting with a good deal of sagacity in deciding to reduce his stock by selling at low prices rather than carry on his shelves until spring a large amount of winter goods that may be left unsold if they are to be offered at regular prices. His goods are all new and reasonable, and it will be a boon to many families to be able, during the next two months, to procure their winter supplies at the reduced prices that Mr. Kelly proposes to sell them at.

Y. M. C. A. District Conference.

A district conference of the Young Men's Christian Association was held at Port Hope on Wednesday and Thursday, Nov. 25th and 26th. There were workers present from the Toronto, Peterborough and Cobourg Associations, those representing our town being Messrs. J. C. Turnbull and the Secretary, Geo. E. Williams. A number of topics connected with Y. M. C. A. work were discussed, and the information and stimulus gained will, doubtless, to some extent, increase the efficiency of the work. On Wednesday evening a largely attended public meeting was held, and addresses relative to Association work were given by the Rev. W. Haslam, of England (who, we understand, is coming to Peterborough), and Messrs. Cole and McCulloch, of Toronto, and Williams, of Peterborough. Mr. Williams was, at the first session, elected secretary of the conference and was also appointed on the business committee. His address in the evening is thus summarized by the Times:—

"Mr. Geo. E. Williams, Secretary of the Peterborough Y.M.C.A., gave an address upon the subject, 'Why the work should be especially for young men.' He referred to the great need there was for Christian work among young men to keep them from falling into the many temptations with which they were surrounded. In Peterborough there were 22 drinking bars, which had an aggregate income of hundreds of thousands of dollars. It was the young men who supported the saloons and dens of infamy to a great extent—over 90 per cent, at any rate. And this was the reason the work of the Association was especially and specifically for young men. The young men were the hardest to interest in Christian things, and there was great need of concentrated efforts for the good and spiritual welfare of young men."

More new Wool Dress Goods at the Golden Lion. The military Cloths, Cheviot Cloths, Amure Cloths and Canvas Cloths make elegant, serviceable dresses. Fair, VanEyre & Co. are giving decided bargains in every department. The activity in the dress making department is an evidence of the superiority of their choice dress fabrics.

POLICE COURT.

ASSAULT.

FRIDAY, Nov. 27.—Hugh Darke and Richard Darke were charged by Joseph Pansor with having assaulted, beat and ill-treated him on Wednesday, November 25th. The defendants pleaded not guilty. It seemed that the defendant's wife had borrowed some stove pipes from the complainant, and the defendant had refused to return them, or to give up possession of them. The complainant went to get his pipes, and in doing so hot words on the part of the whole three were rife. They denied having assaulted the complainant.

The Magistrate dismissed the case, but at the request of the defendant Hugh Darke was bound over to keep the peace, himself at $500 and two sureties at $250 each. Mr. C. W. Hawers for defendants.

NUISANCE.

George Webber was charged by John Carlisle with keeping a slaughter house within the limits prescribed by law. Mr. C. A. Waller appeared for the defendant, and objected to the action, the information being laid under the old Act of 1873, which, he claimed, was superseded by the Health Act.

The case was adjourned till December 10th.

Baited.

At about nine o'clock on Thursday evening Mr. J. Howden left his horse standing in front of his George street west market while he went inside for a moment. When he came out he commenced moving the buffalo robe preparatory to getting in the buggy. The horse took fright at the noise made by turning up the robe and bolted down George street at a furious gait. The equine was captured at the corner of George and Simcoe streets without any damage having been done.

COMMERCIAL REPORTS.

New York Stocks

Over Rises and Co's. Private Wire.

NEW YORK, Nov. 28.—The market is in a feverish condition, and it is difficult to surmise which way the cat is going to jump. The street brokers are generally inclined to be bearish, and for this reason alone the market may prove to be a purchase. At present writing it is a strong, while yesterday without rhyme or reason they were weak. A failure in Chicago of a grain house which in reality brought very little weight to bear, but which was used with good effect, and the fact that in London Americans were weak, caused a break, from which, however, the market seems to be inclined to recover. To-day everything is pending, or supposed to be, on the question of the injunction upon the purchase of the West Shore by the New York Central. The road has been sold and the purchase money paid, and the injunction is backed by less than four hundred shares of stock. The report now is that the decision will not be made until after Dec. 2, but as the market is very strong the chances are the injunction amounts to nothing, and if this is the case the stock's purchase. But it is safer to buy on reactions than to sell on bulges.

CHICAGO, Nov. 28.—The Gould following, which were active sellers yesterday, were predicting lower prices for the general list. Chicago operators, particularly Mr. Armon's friends, deny that they sold the strangers as reported. They say that they hold more stock than at any time since September last. The belief that the trouble in the Western Association will be amicably adjusted is general.

CHICAGO, Nov. 28, 2:30 p.m.—Wheat ruled weak and lower, and the market was entirely unsupported. The prominent long appear to be pretty thoroughly sold out, and weaker markets, both domestic and foreign, don't look very favorable for a reaction. The volume of receipts is not yet checked, and while this condition the outlook is for weaker markets. Corn was also weaker though the weather is a shade warmer and therefore not so favorable. Receipts were large, however, and the shipping demand quite slow. Provisions weaker and heavy runs expected next week. Outlets not so generally on the buying side.

TERMS OF ALLIANCE

A REFORM contemporary discussed the political situation in the following strain:—

"It is clear that the support of a united French party is virtually tendered to the Hon. Edward Blake. The question has arisen, on what terms? What do these terms mean? Can Mr. Blake justify himself with them or accept power by their assistance? Mr. Blake's political principles and his general lines of public policy offer no difficulty."

That Mr. Blake's political principles offer no difficulty may be true enough; but his friends ought to be the best judges of that. But Mr. Blake's general lines of public policy have been diametrically opposed to the policy advocated and voted for by several of those who are expected to join the party on the Riel, Rebellion and Reform platform. Their terms are that Riel be considered a martyr, and they want his death avenged. Mr. Blake professed to be so anxious for Riel's execution that he offered a reward for his arrest. Mr. Blake must give way as I agree to the demands of the Rielites before he can lead them. And his friends say that he will do so and will lead them. Then the country will speak.

THE ENGLISH ELECTIONS.

We notice that some Canadian Reform journals are very absurdly criticizing the Salisbury Administration for asserted trickery as to fixing the date for the elections in the constituencies of the Three Kingdoms. These critics take it for granted that a Conservative Government must be attacked, and therefore they proceed to the assault with a recklessness that displays their ignorance. The fact is that the Administration of the day does not fix the date for the polling in different constituencies, but the writs are issued together. The date is determined by the time required for the notices, &c., required by the statutes. It naturally happens that in urban constituencies, especially the small boroughs, these formalities take less time, and these elections are among the earliest. It also happens, contrary to the assertions of our Reform critics, that these constituencies are especially Liberal, so that the early dates for their election would have the contrary effect to that pretended by these unfair critics.

Those Reform papers which pretend not to believe that Sir John Macdonald has gone to England to consult with the Imperial authorities regarding the fisheries question will not give prominence to the announcement that Sir Ambrose Shea, who recently visited Washington in connection with the question, has also gone to London.

UNHAPPY would be the lot of the thought reaver who would take Mr. Blake for a "subtlety." His only fixed purpose is to get into office at Ottawa, but no mind reader could lead him to the place which his mind is fixed, for he cannot get there himself.

ACCIDENTS IN NORTH CAROLINA.

Two or Three in One Day Two Men Killed and Twelve Wounded.

CHARLOTTE, N. C., Nov. 26.—A broken rail on the Chester & Lenoir narrow gauge road threw all the cars of a passenger train off the track and down an embankment near Gastonia yesterday. Twelve passengers, including four ladies, were very hurt. The most seriously injured are conductor Will Hunter, brakeman Johnston, and baggage agent Copp. The cars were all badly wrecked.

ASHEVILLE, N. C., Nov. 26.—A freight train yesterday struck a rock near the deep water from the Warm Springs and turned over into the water. The engine, tender, and three cars were thrown into the river into water forty feet deep. E. G. Lee, Parish, of Lynchburg, Va., and fireman Whitfield went down with the train. The engine and cars are out of sight with the bodies of the dead.

A Villainous Deceit

Some ingenious rascals have of late been "making money" by an ingenious but rascally device. Their mode of operations is to take bank bills, cut a piece from each, gradually increasing the size of the piece cut off each bill, until at last three portions between pieces of cut paper to the pieces taken from an old bill, leaving a little space between the ends, and the result is that the portions united being thus smaller than an uncut bill, the rascals make a gain of about one bill in twenty. The bills operated upon appear to be chiefly ten. We have been shown one of these manufactured bills, which was passed upon a firm in this city. It is apparently a ten of the Standard Bank, which had been torn and repaired. Investigation, however, showed that the bill was made up of pieces of two bills of different tenures, because as above described, one is being marked R 047, and the other part D 1129. We advise our readers to be on the look out for bills destroyed in this manner as they are worthless. —Belleville Intelligencer.

SAWDUST AND HEALTH

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—In the report of the Police Court proceedings re sawdust question, I notice one of the counsel for the defence said the action was brought "by a few young fellows who found that the sawdust in the river interfered with their sport." Not being a very "young fellow," nor having had much time for sport on the river, neither do I wish to deny some responsibility for the action, understanding it is brought by the Anti Sawdust Society, a member of which I am, I must therefore deny the truth of the above statement. I must also utterly deny any illfeeling toward the gentlemen interested in the action. I became a member of the Society from conscientious feelings of humanity, believing that the poisonous exhalations from the decaying mill refuse and sawdust in the river and Little Lake are more injurious to the vicinity and town generally than any other cause, excepting, perhaps, a want of sewerage, but not excepting many Spaulding Bays. Almost everyone knows that of the essential elements to the healthful sustenance of the human mechanism, pure air is of most importance. Can anyone say with truth that there is pure air in the vicinity of the river or lake, particularly when the water is stirred to any depth? After a somewhat careful observation during about eighteen years, I emphatically say there is not.

Old settlers, who have become inured to its influence by time, do not feel it so much, and new ones often attribute their ailments to other causes. It is there nevertheless. I have more than once been amazed by ladies from other parts while attending river sports on the river, inquiring what plants gave such a peculiar odor, little dreaming that the peculiar odor was the foul emanations of decaying sawdust temporarily stirred from its putrid and noxious depths below. I have noticed many cases of malarial fever with sometimes death ensuing from no other cause. Omitting names, I will give one instance as an illustration. A couple of years ago a young man living on the east shore of the Little Lake was believed to be dying. His ailment had failed to respond to the efforts of two of our leading physicians. The steady day-by-day vomiting matter could be distinctly found in his room every time the steamer passed. When it was thought he could not live many hours, he was removed to a few hundred feet from the lake, where with no treatment further than his removal from evil influences he began immediately to recover, and before two weeks was able to walk over to and around town.

It would not, gentle reader, to say this was due to a question of medicine. No; because after a month or more of convalescence, and when the patient was considered to be almost well, he suddenly became very ill again and in less than two weeks was dead. This was by some then attributed to his own indiscretion, but I watched the case, though only a short time in actual attendance, and can vouch for the fact that from the time of his relapse to its fatal termination the wind blew almost constantly from the lake in the direction of his last residence. All the doctors agreed that his disease was of malarial origin.

I am convinced that were the Little Lake located in the north west of the town instead of the south east, with the usually prevailing winds and its present condition, the yearly or bi-yearly scourge would be such as to place in a very secondary place the interests of a few millmen, when compared with the general health of the town.

I again assert that I have no personal feeling or interest, but believing that law and justice alike should consider the greater good and the greater number, hence my notice this great source of danger to our sanitary well being.

I am, &c.,
Peterborough, Nov. 27, 1885.

Down a Toboggan Slide

In the proof of the biggest toboggan in Montreal I sat me down. In the row behind me sat three ladies and two gentlemen. "All ready," "Yes, ready," "Up!" Whooosh! sooth! goes the toboggan. Down, down the ice slope we go at the rate of a mile and a quarter a minute. In the second of time that it takes to flash down the first dip the heart stands still—there is feeling and faintness. The sensation is something like we have all felt in dreams, where we fall from a precipice down through space to a fearful and vague abyss below.

We had just past other toboggans on parallel slides, for ours is heavily loaded, and goes with more than the usual velocity. Whizz past the plodding tobogganers going up. We go so rapidly that they seem a solid wall, and the Chinese lanterns look one cautious line of flame.

I have promised a party to give them a specimen of a Texas yell as we go down. After passing the second dip, I digress a sliver of the largest calibre. When we are beyond the foot of the slide and slowing up far out on the plain below, that familiar "Cooee" comes along and overtakes us. We had actually caught the sound of my voice. Don't believe me, you say. All right. Maybe you know more about tobogganing than I do. Perhaps you would like to finish this letter.

Tobogganing is a new pleasure. It is the most exhilarating sensation that anyone will ever experience until he throws off this mortal body. I used to think that the sensation of going over a fence on a good hunter, or following the jack rabbit on a mustang, was the some of pleasurable sensation, but now I do not think so. If I wanted to convert the mass and move whither in this northern land, I'd preach to them that the heaven was one long, eternal, never ending toboggan slide. —Texas Siftings.

A British Columbia Sea Response

A short time ago Mr. Charles Morrow, accompanied by an Indian man and woman, was paddling in a canoe through Cowichan lake, he was suddenly transfixed with astonishment and terror at the appearance of an extraordinary object which quickly lifted its head out of the water, and continued to raise it until it was some 20 feet above the surface. The head was oval like in shape and the part of the body that appeared above the water resembled that of a gigantic snake, being of a reddish brown hue on the back and a dull white star on the belly. The monster, Mr. Morrow says, was "as big around as the Amelia's smoke stack." After surveying the party in the canoe for a few moments the serpent, for such it appeared to be, jerked a "ho!" and disappeared, leaving the water as greatly agitated as were the occupants of the canoe. In conversation with some old Indians afterwards Mr. Morrow was told that there was a tribal tradition that many years ago several huge water snakes were often seen in the lake, and that the forefathers of the Indians now living were in the habit of shooting arrows into them. If the presence of a veritable serpent in Cowichan lake should be demonstrated what an attraction for tourists the lake would become, and a price would probably be set on the head of any man who should offer to harm one of the remarkable creatures. —Victoria Colonist.

Death of a Pioneer

Mr. Edward McGillivray, one of the most widely known commercial men in the Ottawa valley, died on Nov. 24th of paralysis of the brain. For nearly fifty years he carried on a large wholesale and retail trade, and had extensive business connections with the lumbermen of the Ottawa country. He was mayor of Ottawa during the years of 1856 and 1859, and was connected with every enterprise for the advancement of the place from the early days of Bytown down to the present. The Montreal Telegraph Company, the St. Lawrence and Ottawa railway and the Canada Atlantic railway are among the most prominent enterprises to which Mr. McGillivray lent the aid of his energetic assistance.

Sketches of Miland, Alexander, and George of Servia Bulgaria, and Greece

When, on September 18th last, the inhabitants of Philippopolis, Eastern Roumelia, threw off the Turkish yoke by declaring for union with Bulgaria and announcing allegiance to Prince Alexander of Bulgaria, they cut the wires leading to Turkey, blew up the bridge, and made the severance complete. All Europe was taken by surprise, for the Balkans had remained in a peaceful sleep ever since the Berlin treaty of 1878 made Eastern Roumelia a separate principality apart from Bulgaria, subject to Turkish suzerainty.

"Cable." The oldest and most reliable brand of cigars in the market. Free from all chemicals and artificial flavorings.

"El Padre" Cigars. Universally acknowledged to be the finest 10c. cigar manufactured. Don't be persuaded to take other brands. No chemicals or artificial flavorings used.

S. Davis & Sons have moved into their new mammoth factory, the finest of its kind in America. They are the only cigar manufacturers in Canada who manufacture their own cigars, boxes and packing cases, which industry gives employment to sixty hands.

Smokers! Beware of cigars artificially flavored for the purpose of hiding the poor quality of tobacco used in flavored cigars. Insist upon having the old reliable brands—"CABLE" and "EL PADRE."

A trial will convince the most skeptical that S. Davis & Sons' manufacture of cigars are superior in every respect to any in Canada.

Prize medals against the world were awarded to S. Davis & Sons, of Montreal, for their manufacture of cigars, at Paris, 1867, Centennial, 1876, Montreal, 1883 &c.

Correction.
In the Police Court report of yesterday the wife of Mr. Danks is credited with having borrowed the stovepipes from the complainant in the case. Such was not the case, it being the complainant's wife who borrowed the pipes from Mr. Danks.

Enlarged.
Mr. Brisbane, the Hunter street flour and feed dealer, has found it necessary to increase the capacity of his store. A considerable addition to the end affords much more room for transacting business. Mr. Brisbane has also had his store connected with the telephone exchange, and all orders for goods in his line, sent to him through this agency, will receive requisite attention.

Keep 'Er Up.
If prompt action on the part of the directors of the Curling and Skating Company can secure early ice it is likely that the stances and steel will soon be gliding over the crystal fields in the rink. A meeting was held a few evenings ago to take into consideration the best means of preserving the floor and to appoint a caretaker and assistant caretaker. The job of preserving this floor was let to Mr. T. Rutherford. James Watson was appointed caretaker, and J. Cousins assistant. Up to this time the caretaker has been at work leveling off the curling rink, putting in broken lights of glass, fixing the butters and putting the building in a good state of repair generally. The caretaker and assistant are to go to work at once to prepare for curling and skating. The opening of the rink for the season now only awaits frosty weather.

A Queer Complaint.
Perhaps some have heard the story of the traveler on a train on one of the old New England railway lines who, with much emphasis, declared that while he was standing on the platform of the end car, whiffing his cigar, he failed to discover which way the smoke drifted, so slow was the train moving. At any rate most people have heard various kinds of complaints as to the speed of railway trains, and, indeed, a rate much short of fifty miles an hour does not find favor with the much traveled passenger. A complaint of a somewhat novel kind, however, has been made against the Canadian Pacific Railway. An old Irish lady living down the line about fifteen miles, who never had a ride on a railway train, determined to try the, to her, new fangled mode of traveling. A day or two ago she and her son Michael boarded the midway express to come to town. The old lady had just got nicely settled down in her seat when the porter yelled "Peterborough." The daughter of Erin rose to her feet with infinite surprise, and said "Michael, is this Peterborough?" "Yes," replied the dutiful, "it is." "Faix, this," said she, "if I'd thought of it was going to get only this short ride the railroad and never ago thirty cents out of me."

Just to hand at Turnbull's, some Choice Astrachan Mantles, very Cheap. See them.

LOVED AND RESPECTED.

THE TOWN COUNCIL MEET IN SPECIAL SESSION TO PAY RESPECT

To the Memory of an Old and Tried Servant—They Voice the Feelings of the People.

On Friday evening the Town Council met in special session. Those present were: His Worship the Mayor and Councillors Cahill, Davidson, McNaughton, Kelly, McClelland, Green, Douglas, Yelland, Kennedy and Monzie. The Mayor explained the sad errand which brought the members of the Council together this evening, that of making arrangements to attend the funeral of the late Chief of Police. He doubted not that each member of the Council felt that, with the death of George Johnston, he had lost a tried friend. As for himself, he had known the late Chief since he came to Peterborough, some twenty-seven years ago, and had had dealings with him from that time. He had always found him to be a worthy citizen, a faithful officer and a man of good principles.

CORRIGENDUM.
Councillor CAHILL moved, seconded by Councillor DOUGLAS, that the members of the Town Council of the town of Peterborough, in special session assembled, desire to place on record their deep and unfeigned regret at the loss to the Council and community has sustained by the sudden and untimely death of the late Chief Constable Johnston, who, for the fifteen years that he held the important position of the head of the police force, discharged the onerous duties pertaining to it with the entire approval of the citizens, whose interests he looked after and protected so faithfully.

That by his lamented death the Council loses a trusted servant and the town a worthy and respected citizen.

That the members of this Council join with their fellow citizens in respectfully extending their condolence and heartfelt sympathy to the bereaved wife and family of the deceased officer.

And that as a mark of respect be it resolved that the members of this Council attend the funeral in a body in their corporate capacity.

And that the Clerk be instructed to forward a copy of this resolution to the family of the deceased.

Councillor CAHILL said that in moving this resolution he did so with the sincerest and most heartfelt regret. By virtue of his position of Chairman of the Street and Bridge Committee he was, perhaps, more intimately associated with the late Chief than was other members of the Council, and during the years he had been associated with Mr. Johnston, he knew of no one whom he more thoroughly respected. As a public servant he was an old and faithful one, and Councillor Cahill hoped while here below the fidelity of the deceased was being proclaimed, that in the Council above the same verdict would be given, and that he would enter to the presence of his Lord amid heavenly greetings of "Well done, thou good and faithful servant."

The motion was put and carried.

Very busy in Turnbull's tailoring department. Our goods and prices recommended themselves to the public.

Personal.
Mr. Cook, of Belleville, is in town to-day picking up stray lots of cheese.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Light to moderate winds, mostly fair weather, slightly higher temperature.

The Local Market.
The local market, both the building and the square, was crowded this morning. There was an extraordinary large amount of both meats and fowl on sale, but the seemingly over supply effected so great a decrease in price. Beef by the quarter brought from $4 to $5.50 per cwt., and dressed hogs brought $3 and $6 per cwt. The butter and egg market was again packed with people this morning. It is to be hoped that on Tuesday evening the Council will order some one to be put at once in charge to make the proper alterations in the first flat. Eggs sold for 19 cents per dozen, and prime butter in prints brought 30 cents per pound. Turkey, geese, chickens and ducks brought good prices.

The delivery of grain was fairly large to-day. Wheat brought from 90 to 95 cents, barley from 45 to 50 cents, peas from 35 to 40 cents, oats from 30 to 32. Hay was on sale in considerable quantities, the sellers asking $15 per ton. Hardwood per load (about three-quarters of a cord) brought from $3 to $3.50.

The Churches.
The following is a list of services in the several churches for to-morrow:

St. Peter's Cathedral.—At St. Peter's Cathedral, Roman Catholic, there will be three masses celebrated, the first at 7 a.m., the second at 8 a.m., and the third at 10.30 a.m. Vespers at 7 p.m.

St. John's.—The regular services at St. John's Church of England. Holy Communion at 8.30 a.m.; Morning Prayer, Litany and Communion at 11 a.m. Evening Prayer with sermon at 7 p.m.

St. Luke's.—The regular services at St. Luke's Church will be conducted by the pastor, the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, as follows:—Holy Communion after the 11 o'clock service; Morning Prayer and Litany with sermon at 11 a.m., and Evening Prayer with sermon at 7 p.m.

St. Paul's.—The Rev. E. F. Torrance, M. A., will conduct the services at 11 a.m. In the morning he will preach a sermon on "Everlasting Life," and in the evening the Rev. F. H. Wallace, pastor of the Charlotte Street Methodist Church, will preach the annual sermon to the St. Andrew's Society.

Baptist Church.—In the morning at 11 o'clock the Rev. A. H. Munro, pastor, will occupy the pulpit. His subject will be, "Iron in the Soul." In the evening, at 7 o'clock, he will preach on "Refuge."

Methodist Church, Charlotte street.—In the morning at 11 o'clock the pastor, the Rev. F. H. Wallace, will occupy the pulpit. In the evening at 7 o'clock the Rev. I. Tovell will conduct the service.

Methodist Church, George's Street.—In the morning at 11 o'clock the Rev. I. Tovell will conduct the service. In the evening at 7 o'clock the Rev. E. F. Torrance will officiate.

Methodist Church, Mark street, Ashburnham.—The anniversary services will be held. The Rev. Mr. Roberts, of Bowmanville, will preach both morning and evening.

St. Andrew's Church.—The services to-morrow will be conducted by the pastor, the Rev. Alex. Bell.

More new Wool Dress Goods at the Golden Lion. The military Cloths, Cheviot Cloth, Amure Cloths and Canvas Cloths make elegant, serviceable dresses. Fair, Van Every & Co. are giving decided bargains in every department. The activity in the dress making department is an evidence of the superiority of their choice dress fabrics.

A Generous Lady.
The Kingston papers note a contribution by Mrs. Robert, Nichols, of Peterborough, of $1,000 to the endowment fund of Queen's College. This is a liberal contribution, and is made by the same lady who gave the building for and endowed the Nichols Hospital.

What to do Before Breakfast.

St. Luke's Church.
The fact that the Rev. W. C. Bradshaw, Rector of Ashburnham, has been invited to a more important position and a wider field of usefulness, must be gratifying not only to himself, but also to his parishioners and other friends, as showing the well-merited appreciation which he has secured. If he should accept this offer his parishioners will sustain a heavy loss, and would have to console themselves with the reflection that he would have gained professional promotion, and at the same time a position in which his energies would be more extensively serviceable.

The Dufferin Club.
At the regular meeting of the Dufferin Literary Club on Friday evening the President, Mr. J. H. Lutz, presided. A spirited debate took place on the subject, "Resolved, that there should be no barrier placed in the way of the people of any country obtaining the full rights of Canadian citizenship." The affirmative was argued by Messrs. J. D. McIlmoyle, A. E. Ames and F. G. Scott, and the negative by Messrs. A. Stevenson and John O'Meara. The subject to be discussed at the next meeting will be "Resolved, that direct taxation is preferable to indirect taxation." The night of meeting was changed to Wednesday. The subject for consideration next Wednesday night is a practical and interesting one, and will no doubt lead to a debate that will be worth hearing.

The Young People.
A very successful regular meeting of the Young People's Association in connection with the Baptist Church was held on Friday evening. The Rev. A. H. Munro, the pastor of the church, occupied the chair. The musical part of the programme was highly creditable. Instrumental duets were given by the Misses Dennistoun and Misses Stratton and Fairweather. Mr. C. H. Geale gave a vocal solo, and choruses were sung by several children. Miss Minore and Mr. Duff both contributed recitations, and a novel feature in the entertainment was the character dialogue. Five girls represented the different parts of the world in which missionary labors were being carried on and three boys represented British "Jack tars." The evening was very pleasantly spent, and a fairly large number were present.

Ullsters! Ullsters! Never were ullsters so much worn as now. For an extensive stock of patterns to select from call at Turnbull's showrooms.

Important Announcement.
Having bought fifty dozen Scotch lambs' wool and Canadian shirts and drawers at 10 per cent. less than manufacturers' prices, I will offer them at this date the whole line to the public at prices ranging $3c., 50c., 75c. and $1.00 in Canadian, and $1.00, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75 and $2.00 in Scotch lambs' wool; shirts and drawers the same price. Don't be deceived by thinking this a catch penny announcement. It is a bona fide offer and will save to all purchasers from 25 to 50 per cent. Underclothing was never offered in the town of Peterborough at such prices. There are no shoddy goods or old shop keepers, but new, fresh goods, warranted in every particular. Parties requiring underclothing will study their own interest by paying a visit to ARTHUR MCNEILL, tailor and clothier, George street.

Parli Points.
The town is full of people to-day.

—George street has been crowded all day.

—A meeting of the Town Council will be held on Tuesday evening next.

—And the regular monthly meeting of the Board of Education will be held on Monday evening instead of on Tuesday evening.

—The office of Mr. Cummings, the tax collector, has been filled with people all day.

—No doubt there will be a big rush on Monday.

—After that day the extra five per cent. will be added, and those wishing to save it should pay up at once.

—A meeting of the Court of Revision was held last night. One complaint daily was brought up and that was dismissed.

—Quite a number of tickets for the big lacrosse raffie were disposed of last night.

Just received at Turnbull's, another shipment of Boys and Youth's three piece suits. Every one should see them. The price and quality sells them.

THE CAUSE AND CURE.

A SERMON ON SOCIALISM TO THE ST

ANDREW'S SOCIETY

By the Rev. F. H. Wallace.—The Question of the Near Future Reviewed. A Large Congregation in Attendance.

On Sunday evening the annual sermon to the St. Andrew's Society was preached by the Rev.

F. H. Wallace, pastor of the Charlotte Street

Methodist Church, in St. Paul's Church. There was a large congregation. The text of the sermon was taken from Galatians vi., 2—"Bear

ye one another's burdens, and so fulfil the law of Christ." The treatment of the erring and the fallen, said the preacher, was a question often painfully pressed home upon us. There were two extremes of thought and of practice concerning this treatment. One extreme was

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Liberal Conservative Club.
A regular meeting of the Young Men's Liberal Conservative Club will be held to-morrow evening at 8 o'clock in Messrs. Hutton & Wood's office. A large attendance is desired, as important matters will be considered.

A Stitch in Time Saves Nine.
All household furniture should be kept in good order, but the piano should be especially looked after. Mr. Hyde is giving great satisfaction here not only as a first class tuner, but also as a repairer. If anything goes wrong with your piano leave word at Smart's music store and it will be promptly attended to.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Winds mostly south and west, partly cloudy to cloudy with occasionally mild weather, with light rains in some places, followed to night or to-morrow by colder north and north-west winds and snow flurries.

Social.
A social tea will be held in the Town Hall, Ashburnham, to-morrow evening, from 6 to 7.30 o'clock, and an entertainment will be held in the Methodist Church, opposite the hall, consisting of readings, recitations, dialogues and singing by the children of the Sunday school, commencing at 8 o'clock. Admission to social and entertainment, adults, 15 cts., children, 10 cts.

Special Services.
Hereafter a special service will be held in St. John's Church Sunday school on the last Sunday in the month. This service will take the place of the regular Sunday school session and it will be of a catechizing character. On Sunday afternoons at four o'clock, from this time, a service will be conducted by the Rev. T. B. Ansel, curate of St. John's, in the mission school house, Dublin street.

Dr. Burwash To-night.
Egypt and Babylon are perhaps as interesting underground as they are above ground, and Prof. Burwash will give the results of the most recent excavations in those lands in his lecture to-night at the Baptist church. Prof. Burwash has not only read the accounts of the explorers, but has visited these interesting places. His lecture has met with much success in Toronto and elsewhere. The Y.M.C.A. give a cordial invitation to all. Admission free. Collection to cover expenses.

Handsome Portraits, Astrachan, Silk, Plush and Polarian Mantles made to order at Turnbull's. A perfect fit guaranteed every time.

Artistic.
One of Spauld's large imperial photographs, a little girl, finished in oil by Mr. N. H. Remer, forms a very attractive feature in the window of Mr. J. R. McCrea's drug store. The little gem of art is creditable alike to the photographer and the artist. The posing is exquisite and the coloring charmingly wrought. The merry looking little creature, with golden hair overshadowed by the profuse ostrich feather in the front of her hat, with bright laughing eyes and plump little arms, looks as natural as life.

Obituary.
The Bradford Express of Nov. 26th contains the following account of the lamented death of Mr. W. R. H. Rubidge, son of Mr. Walter Rubidge, now of that city, but formerly of Peterborough, where much sympathy will be felt by his many friends:—

"The death occurred this morning of W. R. H. Rubidge, son of W. Rubidge, Esq., aged 23 years and 9 months. 'Dick,' as he was familiarly known by his friends, has been a great sufferer from diabetes for the past year, and has had no pleasure or unwillingness to speak to others of his almost unbearable suffering at times, was often a subject of remark. His illness attacked him early in life and baffled the separate and united skill of the best physicians and the constant care of a loving family. During the past year the fact of his early demise was apparent, and he realized it to good purpose. Weaker and weaker the poor body became until on Tuesday he succumbed in bed, from which time he quickly sank, until last evening about five o'clock when he passed into unconsciousness, from which he never awoke, his death taking place about 6 o'clock this (Thursday) morning. Deceased was a general favorite, and the intelligence of his death was heard with much sorrow. The funeral took place on Sunday at four o'clock."

Just to hand at Turnbull's, some Choice Astrachan Mantles, very cheap! See them.

BY SPEEDING A HORSE

WILLIAM JAMES HOPKINS COMES TO A TRAGIC END.

He is Thrown from a Suggy and Survives the shock of the Fall but Two short Hours.

On Saturday night at about ten o'clock Mr. Wm. Jas. Hopkins, formerly a partner in the firm of Hopkins & Montgomery, livery stable-keepers, met his death terribly suddenly and tragically.

The deceased was for many years a citizen of Peterborough, but of late he had pursued the vocation of farming in the Township of Smith. On Saturday he drove to town to attend the funeral of the late Chief of Police. At about half-past eight o'clock he started for home. Mr. George Donnelly, who has been for a time visiting his brother, Mr. James Donnelly, of Smith, rode out with him. There is a long grade between concessions five and six, about five miles from town, and when the top of this was reached Hopkins said, "George, I'll show you how the new horse can travel." Forthwith he started the horse, which he had gained possession of only a short time before, and soon he animal was helping along at a stiff trot down the grade. As a short time it broke into a run, and then the deceased began to be somewhat alarmed. Though an excellent driver, his efforts to bring it down to a trot were fruitless. In front of the gate leading from the road to Mr. James Donnelly's house there is a ditch on the roadside. The road and the entrance are connected by a culvert, the stonework of which extends for a considerable length on each side. It seemed that the horse, when it came to the gate, veered to, and as far as the culvert extended the horse remained upright. But at the end of two wheels dropped part way into the ditch. At this point Hopkins cried out "Grab the line," and by this time the horse had got on the road again. The sudden jerk at the line injured the horse abruptly around and the buggy upset toward the right. Both occupants of the vehicle were thrown out, Mr. Donnelly falling over the deceased. Mr. Donnelly still clung to the one line however, and soon brought the animal to a standstill in a fence corner. Mr. Jas. Donnelly, who was at his barn, heard the clattering hoofs on the hard road, and with his own carrying the lantern, went toward the road to see what was the matter. Mr. Donnelly shouted for help, and Mr. James Donnelly immediately ran to where his brother was standing. They then proceeded to search with the lantern for the deceased. He was found in the ditch, lying face downward, inclined so that the blood from his mouth and nose ran towards the forehead. He was carried into the house, but after that he never spoke. He tried several times to give utterance, but the sound was quite unintelligible. One of the women of the house felt to see if his heart was still beating. She placed her hand over his heart, and when he grasped her hand and held it closer, while tears streamed from his eyes. This was the only sign that he was still conscious. As soon as possible a messenger was dispatched for medical attendance, but the deceased survived only a few minutes after the doctor arrived, expiring at a few minutes before twelve. On examination his neck was found to possess an undue mobility and that circumstance leads to the inference that his neck was fractured. There were no scratches or bruises on the body. The deceased leaves a wife and family.

AT REST.

The Late Chief Johnston Buried with Appropriate Honors.

On Saturday afternoon the remains of the late Chief of Police, George Johnston, were interred in the Little Lake Cemetery. Long before the hour announced for the funeral to start, Water street, between Hunter and Murray streets, was packed with carriages. At about three o'clock the funeral procession was formed in the following order:—

Fire Brigade Band.
Members of the Fire Brigade.
Rev. Mr. Torrance.
Fall Bearers.
Hearse.
Police Officers Pigeon, Adams and McIntyre.
Mourners.
The Mayor, Police Magistrate and Town Solicitor.
Members of the Town Council.

As the long procession passed slowly down George street to the solemn sound of the "Dead March" the streets were crowded on each side with a dense throng. The sight was an impressive one. The stores along the route were all closed, and many a head was bowed and bowed as the hearse, containing the mortal remains of the departed one, passed. The cortege was more than half a mile in length, the carriages still turning the corner of George and Hunter streets when the foremost carriages were passing along Crescent street. When near the cemetery the band again played the "Dead March," and at the entrance, with the band at the head, the friends divided so as to allow the procession to pass through. At the grave the pall bearers, Messrs. R. W. Heister, H. Nesbitt, T. Bonastre, Charles Cameron, and John Erskine, lifted the body out and deposited it in the narrow bed. As the funeral service was being read by the Rev. E. F. Torrance, the new made grave was moistened by the dropping tears of more than one. The Band played the "Sweet Bye and Bye," and when the last echo of the sweet strain had died away, the grave was filled and the departed one was left to sleep in peace.

DORAN, WRIGHT & Co., Limited.

New York, 230 p.m.—As the opening of Congress approaches, and the outcome of three great national questions promises to be settled, namely, the appointment of a National R. R. Committee, the Postal Telegraph scheme, and last but not least the question of the repeal of the Hand silver bill, it is just as well to keep your hands off the stock market, or at any rate not plunge too far nor stay too long. The question of the right of the N. Y. Central to double the West Shore is already being keenly watched by the speculative public. In fact the disturbing elements are at the present time far in excess of the better feeling which has pervaded the street. The B. & O. have just opened another battery by cutting rates to 25 cents for 25 words to New England and the East, and this has temporarily upset what otherwise promised to be a very strong market, and in O. T. and the ex-Villards were officiating as a boon. K. T. Erie, and the Erie 2nds, and when the effects of this B. & O. rumor has spent its force, we think higher prices will ensue.

Chicago Market.
CHICAGO, Nov. 30, 230 p.m.—Our advice show Minneapolis estimate increase this week of two hundred thousand bushels and the Duluth estimate increase of one hundred thousand bushels. We have reliable advice from Duluth saying there will be six million bushels of wheat in stock by Jan. 1st.

Ontario Crops.
TORONTO, November, 28.—The report of the Ontario Bureau of Industries for November just issued, states that Fall wheat is a fine sample and the yield large, but owing to the effect of rain and rust prior wheat is a serious failure, both in quantity and in quality. The bulk of barley was destroyed by the widely extended rain storm at the harvesting season. Oats are below the average quality, having rusted in the ripening stage. Rye is a fair average yield and quality, but the area in crop is steadily decreasing. The ground and ripening wheat for corn was short, cool and rainy, and much of it is in a poor condition. The corn crop has suffered severely from rot. In all the southern part of the province from the Detroit river to Ottawa, fully one-half is destroyed and the disease continues its ravages in pits and cellars. In the northern parts of the province but little harm has been done. The new crop of Fall wheat has been sown in good condition and it has a promising appearance. Good accounts are received of the fruit crop. Live stock is in good condition.

A Large Funeral.
The funeral of the late W. J. Hopkins passed down George street at a quarter to four o'clock to-day. It was an unusually large one, attended by many friends and acquaintances from both town and country.

Important Announcement.

Having bought fifty dozen Scotch lambs' wool and Canadian shirts and drawers at 10 per cent. less than manufacturers' prices, I will offer from this date the whole line to the public at prices ranging 35c, 50c, 75c, and $1.00 in Canadian, and $1.00, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75 and $2.00 in Scotch lambs' wool; shirts and drawers the same price. Don't be deceived by thinking this a catch penny announcement. It is a bona fide offer and will save to all purchasers from 25 to 50 per cent. Underclothing was never offered in the town of Peterborough at such prices. There are no shoddy goods or old shop keepers, but new, fresh goods, warranted in every particular. Parties requiring underclothing will study their own interest by paying a visit to ARTHUR McNEIL's, tailor and clothier, George street, east.

ADDRESS:
REVIEW PRINTING CO.,
Nov 29th, 1885 Peterborough.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 1, 1885.

It Mr. Edgar is to be taken as an exponent of Mr. Blake's views, the fact of a Reform Rebel coalition is established in the most authoritative manner. Mr. Edgar, the Reform Lieutenant, speaks of Mr. Laurier as the leader of the Quebec wing of the Reform party, and as the friend of Mr. Blake. And, as we know, Mr. Laurier has publicly proclaimed himself a rebel.

Mr. MARCIER, at a recent public meeting, is reported to have spoken of Riel as a brother.
It is not unnatural that Marcier, the notorious blackmailer, who was ready to sell his personal house and professional reputation for money, should claim brotherhood with Riel, the murderous rebel, who was anxious to sell his evil case and his deluded followers for a sum of money.

The Reform St. Thomas Journal sensibly asks, "Why should Reform alliance with Frenchmen mean French domination?" for the Blake Riel alliance means in truth only an unsuccessful attempt at French domination, and a still further obstacle placed in the way to office of those Reformers, who would sanction such devices. Patriotic and honest Reformers are condemning and repudiating such degradation as an alliance with murderous rebellion, and will show their sympathy with those who are impartially maintaining the law.

The Montreal Star publishes a paper said to have been written by Louis Riel. The Globe republicates it, and states that it was written after the Duck Lake fight, and before the storming of Batouche, and also before Mr. Blake made his long speech in the House on the Northwest question. Yet in the document reference is made to the death of the father of Moses Ouellette, who was killed at Batouche, and to the Glenside massacre and the Ouellette. If the Globe wished to lead its readers to believe that the writer of the document could not have obtained hints from Mr. Blake's speech is made a mistake.

MODERATE CLAIMS

The Globe emphatically endorses the paper by Louis Riel on "The Meis of the Northwest."
The chief Ontario organ of the new coalition says,—"The grievances of the Metis and the causes which led up to the rebellion are set out with great clearness and moderation." In conclusion the Globe remarks that "the grievances of the Metis were such as no free man could bear." The chief claims of the Metis rebel are that the Dominion robbed the Metis of their landed property in the Northwest, which believed at $179,358,000, and that the Dominion set at naught the Metis Government with a despotic constitution and a legitimate jurisdiction. It is the "Dominion," not any administration, that, according to Riel, perpetrated these wrongs, and the Dominion, according to the same authority, has been doing this for fifteen years. And because the Dominion did not remove the moderate grievances of the Metis by settling their little bill of a hundred and seventy nine million dollars for their rights in the land, and by recognizing their constitutional government as a country as large as many kingdoms, the Globe thinks that their murderous insurrection was justifiable, and that the administration that left them in the hands of justice should be banished from office with disgrace. It is no wonder that Reformers are preaching.

WHAT BISHOP CAMERON SAYS

Mr. Wet the Fate He Deserved.—The Mistake of the Reformers
His Lordship Bp. Rev. John Cameron, Roman Catholic Bishop of Arichat, Nova Scotia, arrived in Montreal on Nov. 24th, and replying to a Herald reporter, said much concerning Riel and shows that the present movement has equivalent other than the Rev. Father Dowd.
He said that it was a mistake to suppose that the people of the Maritime Provinces were taken any great interest in this matter. Personally he was satisfied that Riel had met the fate he deserved. Any attempt made to work political capital out of this question in Nova Scotia would meet with failure, and do the Liberals a great deal more harm than good.
He failed to understand the great sympathy of the French people for the great martyr as he was from being such a great martyr as he was said to be. Riel had not died on the gallows because he was French or Catholic, but because he had violated the laws of the country.
If a Protestant had been accused of the same offense and secured punishment it was no reason why a Catholic should escape. A wrong is always a wrong. If there is a principle at the back of this matter it would be very different.
He was satisfied that the Hon. Mr. Landry, speaking at St. John, had perfectly echoed the sentiments of his Anglican fellow countrymen on the question. Mr. Landry was a good man and a good Christian, and anything he would say would be sworn to by his fellow countrymen. He was satisfied that any attempt made to overthrow the Government on this question would not be successful there.

BOARD OF EDUCATION.

A NUMBER OF THE STAFF OF PUBLIC SCHOOL TEACHERS PROMOTED

By a General Redistribution of the Positions—A Headmaster Appointed—
Other Business.

A meeting of the Board of Education was held on Monday evening. There were present:
Mr. Jas. Stevenson and Messrs. Errett, Denno, Wier, Rathford, Wighton, Sowers, Sproule,
Millar, Stratton, Dumble Kendry and Dr.
Barham.

The minutes of the last meeting were read and confirmed.

Mr. DENNO inquired if any reports had been sent in as to the absence of teachers.

The CHAIRMAN replied that he had not received any.

Mr. ERRETT inquired if anyone had been appointed to Miss Johnston's place during her two days absence.

The CHAIRMAN did not know anything about it.

month of October and November was read as

Johnston from school for four days.—Received.

position should any vacancy occur.—Committee on Appointments.

From Wm. Beattie, tendering his resignation.
—Accepted.

From Miss Dowling, tendering her resignation, thanking the Board for past favors, and wishing the school every success.—Accepted.

From Mr. H. Kay Coleman, tendering his resignation, the same to take effect on the 1st of Dec., and stating that the reason of his resignation was on account of an offer of $1,000 a year.—Accepted.

From the Boiler Inspection Company, informing the Board that the boiler at the Central school was inspected on October 8th. It was in a good condition as far as safety was concerned, but it overhauled somewhat it would effect a saving in fuel.—Received.

From Miss K. Irwin, requesting removal from the South Ward school and be given a position in the Central school.—Committee on Appointments.

From the Educational Department, asking for school statistics to present, in co-operation with the Department, at the Colonial Exhibition.
—Received.

From the Educational Department, asking for a photograph of the school buildings to be exhibited at the same exhibition.—Mr. Sproule said that the matter is properly attended to.

From John A. Barron, informing the Board that the Lindsay Board of Education had unanimously passed a resolution approving of the convention of high and public school trustees, asking that the Board give its opinion on the matter, and also its opinion as to details.—The Chairman of School Supervision declined to reply, stating the Board are in sympathy with the idea.

the staff of public school teachers.—Received.

fession of the headmastership of the Peterborough Public Schools, enclosing qualifications, and agreeing to accept the position at a salary of $700 per annum.—Committee on Appointments.

ACCOUNTS.

The following account was presented:—
Harber & Ellis, ten gallons of ink $17 50
The account was ordered to be paid.

NOTICE OF MOTION.

Mr. RUTHERFORD moved that the notice of motion be moved at the last meeting, in regard to spending the by laws so that due notice be given when a salary is to be raised or money expended, be now passed.

Mr. WRIGHT said that as chairman of the Property Committee he could not keep a man waiting a month for his pay for any work done.

Mr. ERRETT said that if Mr. Rutherford's motion were passed the working of the business in regard to the schools would be seriously impaired.

Mr. RUTHERFORD consented to withdraw the resolution and give another notice of motion.

THE HEAD MASTERSHIP.

Mr. KENDRY moved, seconded by Mr. RUTHER-FORD,—That Mr. Smith be appointed Head
Master of the Public Schools.

Mr. STRATTON drew the attention of the Board to the fact that the action was out of order. Clause 32 gave exclusive power to the Committee on Appointments to make all selections for the filling of positions, the committee to submit a report of the same to the Board for approval.

Mr. SPOULE asked if Miss Ellsworth was not appointed without any consideration on the part of the Committee on Appointments.

The CHAIRMAN decided that such was the case, but no objection had been made.

A COPIING BOOK.

Mr. STRATTON moved, seconded by Mr. DEN-NO,—That the Secretary be requested to procure a copying book for this year, it being kept a copy of all letters written by him on behalf of the Board.—Carried.

CHEMICAL APPARATUS.

Mr. HORTING addressed the Board on the subject of fitting the chemistry department with proper appliances with which to perform experiments. The regulations regarding the teaching of science were much changed this year, and some instruments were absolutely necessary.
One hundred and twenty-five dollars would furnish the department completely, but he thought if the Board would grant $75 he could procure instruments with which he could perform the experiments satisfactorily.

Mr. SPOULE moved, seconded by Mr. DEN-
NO,—That a special grant of $75 be made towards procuring chemical and testing apparatus, the same to be procured under the supervision of the Supervision Committee and the Principal, Dr. Tassie.

Mr. RUTHERFORD said that the wants of any teacher should be made through Dr. Tassie, and it was infringing on the rights of the Principle for any teacher to come before the Board and ask for $75. He thought that the proper way was that the teacher explain his wants to the Principal and let the Principal make the application.

Mr. HORTING replied that he had done so,
and that Dr. Tassie had sent him to the Board.
Mr. RUTHERFORD: Well, then, Dr. Tassie has done wrong.

Mr. RUTHERFORD and Mr. KENDRY pressed to an into Committee on Appointments.

APPOINTING THE RETURN OFFICERS.

Mr. DENNO moved, seconded by Mr. ERRETT,—
That the returning officers who last year were appointed to conduct the elections of school trustees, be and are hereby appointed to conduct the elections for this year, it being placed to be at the same places where the vote at the municipal elections is taken.—Carried.

REVEREND.

Mr. RUTHERFORD moved in amendment to Mr. Sproule's motion, seconded by Mr. DENNO, That the matter of purchasing chemical apparatus be referred to the School Supervision Committee.—Carried.

CRIMINALS.

Messrs. RUTHERFORD, KENDRY and SPOULE again pressed for going into a Committee on Appointments.

Mr. STRATTON moved for adjournment.

Mr. SPOULE said that if they were talked in this way there would be more talking done.
Mr. DENNO said that this Board was an important organization engaged in important work.

and if old usages were departed from it would result seriously. When a member of the Board talked of "balking" it was altogether out of place, and it would lead one to suppose that that party had some scheme to carry out in an underhand way. The Committee on Appointments was undoubtedly the proper place where the filling of positions on the staff should be considered, for there investigation could be made that could not be made in the open Board. Such an important matter as filling the most important position in the public schools was a matter that should be duly considered, and it would appear that the way in which this position was going to be filled had all been cut and dried from the eager way in which some sought to spring the matter upon the Board.
He would strongly oppose filling the position to night.

Mr. HAWES was glad to know that Mr.
Dumble had acknowledged he had done wrong.
At a few meetings ago Miss Ellsworth was appointed in the same way and her appointment was supported by Mr. Dumble. As for any balking business, it generally came from the other side of the Board.

Mr. DUMBLE: Miss Ellsworth was called on in an emergency. She is a girl that was educated in our school and we knew all about her.

Mr. RUTHERFORD said that the matter was an important one, but the Board might as well intellectually deal with it to night as in a month hence.

Mr. Smith was also a man whom every member of the Board knew; he was a teacher in our schools and he was doing it at that capacity.

Mr. SPOULE, though not opposed to Mr.
Smith, thought it better to let the matter stand over.

Mr. KENDRY pointed out that Mr. Smith was not like a stranger. He was a successful teacher in the West Ward School, and if there was any blunder placed to be given he thought the present well tried teachers should have a chance.

Mr. STRATTON moved in amendment to Mr.
Rutherford's motion, seconded by Mr. ERRETT,
That Miss Johnston be appointed as teacher for a Principal for the Public Schools.—Lost.

The Board then resolved itself into a committee on appointments, and brought in the following recommendations:—

That Mr. Smith of the West Ward School, be appointed Principal of the Public Schools;
that Mr. Albert Scott, of Ottawa, be appointed to fill Mr. Johnston's position now vacated; that Miss Johnston be promoted to fill the position vacated by Miss Dowling; that Miss Graham be appointed to fill the position to be vacated by Miss Johnston; that Miss Errett be given Miss Ellsworth's position; that Miss Davidson be given Miss Errett's place, and be a teacher be appointed to fill Miss Keith's position. Also that a Head Master for the West Ward School be advertised for.

The Board adopted the report and adjourned.

DUMMER

From Our Own Correspondent.

WOLVERINE HUNT.—Our neighborhood was not a little surprised last week by the announcement that some "wolverines" had taken refuge in Mr. Fred P.'s swamp and made night dreary with their diabolical howling. As it happened on a Friday night, the "wolverines" were Fred arrived at the scene of the howling on Wednesday morning, he declared he had heard the fearful beasts howling about daylight in the most perfect silence. "The beasts" were Fred saw their tracks in the newly-fallen snow. At noon that day a general hunt was instituted. All hands with one exception, resorted to the swamp, armed with rifles, shot guns, revolvers, pitchforks, pruning hooks, &c., determined to kill something or die in the act. The swamp, which is only two or three acres in extent, was surrounded by trees, firs, spruces, and the rest of the men (there were sixteen in all) entered the jungle. A certain number were appointed to act as dogs to follow tracks. Finally "The Beaver" got on a splid and fresh track, which he followed. It left the woods, went down the line, and turned in at the red gate. The "wolverines" turned out to be an old Thomas cat.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Bricks and the Bible.
Owing to a press of matters a report of Dr. Barre's lecture on "Bricks and the Bible" is held over. It will appear in to-morrow's issue.

Bible Study in the Y. M. C. A.
The young men will meet as usual this evening for study under the direction of the Rev. F. H. Wallace. Those who have never attended this class should do so, and we doubt not they would become regular attendants.

Weather Notes.
The following weather notes are supplied by Mr. G. W. Morgan, druggist:
Thermometer, Barometer.
9 o'clock, 34, 29.81
11 o'clock, 35, 29.80
1 o'clock, 34, 29.81

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours ending from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh winds, partly cloudy to cloudy weather with light rain or sleet in most places, slightly lower temperature.

Social.
A social tea will be held in the Town Hall, Ashburham, this evening, from 6 to 7.30 o'clock, and an entertainment will be held in the same place, consisting of readings, recitations, dialogues and singing by the children of the Methodist Sunday school, commencing at 8 o'clock. Admission to social and entertainment, adults, 15 cts., children, 10 cts.

A Novel Pool Match.
A rather novel pool match is announced to take place on Wednesday evening, at 8 p. m., in Croft's Billiard Room. Judging from the distinguished names the participating parties, namely, Duke Miller, Count Painter, Colonel Taylor, and Admiral Shift, some remarkable shots will be made, from the fact that one of the contestants ever played a game before. They are to play best four out of seven games for a case of codfish, generously donated by the general proprietor. The Duke and Admiral will play against the Count and Colonel.

Scott Act.
The last sitting on the Scott Act enquiry was held to-day at twelve o'clock. His Honor Judge Dennis presided. Messrs. C. A. Waller and J. O'Meara appeared for the petitioners, and Mr. D. W. Dunlop, appeared for the Scott Act Association. His Honor in giving his decision, said he followed that of Supreme Court given in the Westmoreland case. He had no power in the matter other than the counting of the ballots and could not take into consideration any evidence concerning bribery or other irregularities. His Honor's decision is as follows:—
In the matter of the vote taken in the county of Peterborough under the Canada Temperance Act of 1878, on the 24th day of September, 1885, I held enquiry, as provided for by Section 61, in the presence of counsel for and against both parties, and took such evidence as was offered as to the state of the ballot boxes, ballot papers, the conduct and proceedings of the Deputy Returning Officer as appears by the notice of the evidence, and I find that the vote cast amounted to 1918 for the Act, and three cast against it amounting to 1507, giving a majority for the Act of 411. Dated this 1st day of December, 1886.

Shot suddenly.
On Monday afternoon Mr. Richard Borrowman, father-in-law of Mr. Peter Connell, was returning from the Wm. Hamilton Manufacturing Company's foundry and was passing the St. Andrew's Church. He asked one of the workmen to tell Mr. Alex. Stewart, his son-in-law, who was working at the church, to come out to the street, that he wished to speak with him. Mr. Stewart came out, but found that his father-in-law had fallen on the sidewalk. Mr. Borrowman was quite conscious and when he was about to be raised asked that he be left to rest for a while. After a time he was carried to the residence of Mr. F. Connell, Brock street, where he died shortly after. The cause of his death was pneumonia, a disease which he was subject to and which had stricken him down on more than one former occasion. The deceased was 55 years of age, being born in Ayrshire, Scotland, on June 14th, 1830. He has long resided in this country. He was father of four daughters and two sons, but only two daughters survive him, Mrs. Stewart and Mrs. Connell. His son Andrew was formerly editor of the Peterborough Times.

The case of Roddy vs. the Town of Peterborough, in regard to the Nile voyageur reception affair has been settled, the Town having given Mr. Roddy $25 for the trouble he was put to.

Conservative Club.
A meeting of the Young Men's Liberal Conservative Club will be held this evening in Messrs. Hutton & Wood's office. A large attendance is requested, as important matters will be considered.

Don't Fail to Call on Fair Van Every & Co.

Their Offices.
Messrs. Foussette & Roger have received an engraving of the Glasgow offices of Messrs. Finlayson & Auld, the chief agents in Great Britain of the Peterborough Real Estate Investment Company. The engraving is a very fine one, but none the less so than the subject it represents.

Free Exhibition.
Mr. N. Johnson, the General Agent for the Domestic Sewing Machine, is in town. He intends to give a free exhibition at Mr. D. Smart's Music Store of the work that can be done by the machine on about the 15th of December. The "Domestic" possesses many advantages over the other machines in the market as to durability and quality of workmanship, but its great point is its aim at non-stop action. No doubt all these advantages will be fully set forth by Mr. Johnson.

Hot-keepers and hotel-keepers should inspect Fair, Van Every & Co's large stock of Cottons, White and Grey, Plain and Twilled; Sheetings, Towels, Table Linens, (Cottons in all conceivable patterns), Lace Curtains, Lambrequins, etc., etc. Their Carpet Department affords a full range of choice patterns in Union, All Wool, Tapestry, Brussels and Oil Cloths, Mats, etc. Their Dress and Mantle Making and Millinery Departments are receiving every attention in order to maintain the "Golden Lion" as the Grand Centre of Attraction.

Tea Meeting.
A social tea was given in the Town Hall, Ashburham, last night, in connection with the anniversary services of St. Mark's Church. The ladies connected with the church had prepared a most tempting repast, to which the upwards of three hundred persons who sat around the tables did full justice. After tea the Rev. E. Roberts, the Rev. I. Tovey and the Rev. F. McAmmond delivered addresses. The amount realized at the social and tea will be something over $100. This sum will be applied to the church debt.

Personal.
Major Boulton, formerly Reeve of Lakeside, and the gallant commander of Bull's Horn, who did such good service against the North west rebels, is in Coburg on a visit to his friend, Col. Darcy Boulton.
Mr. Jas. Dolan, Madoc's model merchant, is in town. He represents business good and sets that his chief clerk, Mr. Coker, is rapidly becoming acclimatized. He also says that the "Jas" came around quite thickly every day to equate the prices. Well, well, who would have thought that of Madoc? Next year the deer hunting parties will likely point in that direction.

Important Announcement.
Having bought fifty dozen Scotch lambs wool and Canadian shirts at 10 per cent. less than manufacturers' prices, I will offer from this date the whole line to the public at prices ranging from 50c, 75c, and $1.00 in Canadian, and $1.00, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75 and $2.00 in Scotch lambs' wool; shirts and drawers the same price. Don't be deceived by thinking this a catch penny announcement. It is a bona fide offer and will save to all purchasers from 25 to 50 per cent. Underclothing was never offered in the town of Peterborough at such prices. There are no shoddy goods or old shop keepers, but new, fresh goods, warranted in every particular. Parties requiring underclothing will study their own interest by paying a visit to Andrew McNEIL's tailor and clothier, George street.

POLICE COURT.

VAGRANT.
TUESDAY, Dec. 1.—Michael Lest was charged by P.C. Polgreen with being a vagrant. The prisoner was in a deplorable condition, being so wasted and worn by drinking as to be on the verge of delirium tremens. He could scarcely crawl along, and that with the aid of an officer. In answer to a query from the Magistrate he said he was a fireman and a bartender, but he had no occupation now. He was sent to goal for one month.

BLOW, ye winds, blow, and tell the neighbors of Salsbery House's beautiful stock.

KING THEBAW SUBMITS.

No Race for an Armistice—A Surrender Demanded and Agreed To.
RANGOON, Nov. 30.—King Thebaw of Burmah, being alarmed at the rapid approach of the British expeditionary forces under General Prendergast, notwithstanding the resistance offered by the Burmese, sent a message to Gen. Prendergast, begging him to grant an armistice for the purpose of peacefully settling the difficulty between Burmah and the Indian Government. General Prendergast, in reply, demanded the surrender of the Burmese army and Mandalay, the capital, stating that only then could he entertain any request looking to the settlement of the dispute. The King acceded to the terms and the Ava forts, with twenty-eight guns, were turned over to the British troops. (Garrisons were placed there and the British troops proceeded to Mandalay on the 29th inst.)

PORT HOPE.
DARING BURGLARY.—On Sunday morning between 12 and 1 o'clock, the residence of Mr. E. Millson, Bloomgrove avenue, was entered and a bureau drawer in the second story rifled of seven hundred and eleven dollars. How the entrance was gained is still a mystery; the supposition is that the burglars got into the house during the absence of the family in the evening, and then kept bid until all was quiet when they ransacked the premises. About one o'clock Mrs. Millson heard a noise, and thinking it came from the stove, got up and lit a lamp and went to investigate; when she reached the top landing of the stairs she saw two men standing at the bottom, one of whom carried a dark lantern. She immediately screamed and gave the alarm. The burglars quickly opened the front door, which they had previously unlocked on the inside, and made good their escape. The money had been received from various sources during Saturday, was put up in two envelopes and placed in separate drawers in the bureau, which were found in the middle of the floor. The deed was evidently committed by some one well acquainted, not only with the house, but with the habits of the occupants. It was quite an unusual thing for such an amount of money to be kept in the house by Mr. Millson. Guilty.

LINDSAY.
FATAL ACCIDENT.—Samuel Blakey, employed in Inglis & Kyle's saw mill, was so badly injured by a flying board on Saturday that he died Sunday, leaving a wife and nine children.
Tragedy in a Quebec Village.
St. JEAN PORT, Que., Nov. 30.—The inhabitants of this village were thrown into a state of excitement by the news of what is stated to be an accidental shooting affair. A young man named Belanger was visiting Miss Daigle, a young lady with whom he kept company, last night, when he was shot through the head by her brother, and thirty minutes afterwards, Miss Daigle, who was the only witness of the affray, has become crazed.

The Largest Load of Lumber.
The Oswego Palladium of Nov. 19th says: The large Dakota arrived here last night from Brockville, in tow of the tug Proctor, having on board the largest load of lumber ever brought into this port by any craft. The cargo was consigned to Page, Fairchild & Co. and consisted of 618,325 feet of pine lumber. The amount of duty paid was $1,237.65.

CABLE NEWS.

"Cable."
The oldest and most reliable brand of cigars in the market. Free from all chemicals and artificial flavorings.

"El Padre" Cigars.
Universal acknowledgment to be the finest 10c. clear manufactured. Don't be persuaded to take other brands. No chemicals or artificial flavorings used.
S. Davis & Sons have moved into their new mammoth factory, the finest of its kind in America. They are the only cigar manufacturer in Canada who manufacture their own cigar boxes and packing cases, which industry gives employment to sixty hands.

Smokers!
Beware of cheaply manufactured cigars for the purpose of hiding the poor quality of tobacco used in flavored cigars. Insist upon having the old reliable brands—"Cable" and "El Padre."
A trial will convince the most skeptical that S. Davis & Sons' manufacture of cigars are superior in every respect to any in Canada.

Prize medals against the world were awarded to S. Davis & Sons, of Montreal, for their manufacture of cigars, at Paris, 1887, Centennial 1876, Montreal, 1883-85.

THE FISHERIES AND RECIPROcity

A RECENT article in the Globe is a fair specimen of the inconsistency and unfairness of the chief organ of the Reform party. It declares that Sir John Macdonald is opposed to a reciprocity treaty with the United States, although the Conservative Administration and House of Commons in 1879 made an offer to enter into a treaty with the United States, which offer still stands. As evidence of Sir John's "obstinate determination to have no treaty," it quotes a paragraph referring to the subject from a New York paper. The New York journal refers to the fact that the fishery clauses of the Washington treaty lapsed at a critical time last summer, and says:—

"In anticipation of the event, Sir John Macdonald had ordered the construction of two armed cruisers to seize any American ships found trespassing in Canadian waters, but the House Government directed him to desist from all proceedings which might lead to a collision, and voluntarily extended the provisions of the Washington treaty till the end of the fishing season."

The Globe adds that "this, if true, is important, as showing the lengths to which he was willing to go to sustain his party and his policy," and, further, that "only immediate separation could save Great Britain from being involved in war with the United States were Sir John allowed to do what it is said he contemplated." And yet, only a very short time ago, the entire Reform press were joining in a chorus of condemnation of the Government for not doing what the Globe now says would have led to war. When it was pointed out that not to have extended the privileges of the American fishermen received under the Washington treaty would have interfered with the prospects of successful negotiations for reciprocity, the Reform press only answered by screams against "giving away our heritage," &c. Now we have the admission that by doing as they did the Government avoided a war and left the way open for a reciprocity treaty.

The Government has shown that it was willing to enter into a reciprocity treaty with the United States. The Canadian Parliament has put on record its willingness to do so. If reciprocity does not become a fact it will not be the fault of the Canadian Government.

The self-styled Liberals in Great Britain, as in Canada, have little respect for the voice of the people when it pronounces against them. In England their latest manifestation of "liberal" conduct has been at Wycombe, where to avenge a Conservative victory they used violence to a woman, assaulting and pursuing Lady Curzon till she escaped from them by flight, because her husband had committed the offence of winning the confidence and being chosen as the representative of the electors.

We believe that there are many Reformers in Ontario who will not accept the new plank in the party platform, that the Macdonald Administration should be ousted for refusing to save from the active of the law a murderous rebel, who was left in the hands of justice. We know that there are many Reformers who would vote against their party leaders rather than be dragged into complicity with rebels and murderers.

Mr. CLYTON has to say shipped to Liverpool the October made cheese from seven factories two car loads. This finishes the cheese business for this season. The price continues low, from 4 to 5 cents, but the outlook is rather favorable.

Perished in Their Crib

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Nov. 30.—This morning during the temporary absence of Mrs. Patrick, 31 spread from her house on Hagley street, her children set fire to a mattress in a crib in which the youngest were sleeping, and three little ones, aged 1, 2 and 1 year, were suffocated.

COURT OF REVISION.

Councillor MENZIES read the report of the Court of Revision, as follows:—

To the Mayor and Councillors:

GENTLEMEN.—The Court of Revision beg leave to report and recommend that they have enquired into the assessment of Miss Rea and find by the report of the assessors that Miss Rea was properly assessed, as they found her in occupation of a part of Miss Delaney's premises, which was occupied by her and assessed to her at her request.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

Peterborough, Dec. 1st, 1886.

The report was received and adopted.

FIRE, WATER AND LIGHT.

Councillor RUTHERFORD read the report of the Fire, Water and Light Committee as follows:—

To the Mayor and Council.

GENTLEMEN.—Your Committee beg leave to report and recommend that the distribution of electric lights on Hunter street be as follows:—

One at the corner of Hunter and Rutledge streets, one at the corner of Hunter and Aylmer streets, one at the corner of Hunter and Water streets, one at the corner of Hunter and George streets; also that one light be placed at the corner of Hunter and Murray streets.

We further recommend that the following lighting of gas lamps be discontinued with effect:—One at the corner of Hunter and Rutledge streets, one at the corner of Hunter and Stewart streets, one at the corner of Hunter and Aylmer streets, one at the corner of Hunter and Water streets, one at the corner of Murray and College streets, and the lamp that is now at the front of St. John's Church to be removed to the corner of Brock street and Sheridon terrace.

All of which is respectfully submitted.

A. RUTHERFORD, Chairman

Councillor RUTHERFORD moved, seconded by Councillor KENDRY, that the report be assented by striking out the removal of the lamp at the corner of Murray and C. H. streets.

This lamp was much wanted and it would be unfair to remove it. In regard to the gas lamp in front of St. John's Church, he thought that when the electric light was placed at the corner of Hunter and Water streets there would be sufficient illumination.

Councillor GREEN moved in further amendment, seconded by Councillor KELLY.—That the ratepayers on Hunter street, between George and Aylmer streets, be allowed to have one electric light, to be placed in the centre of the block, to be paid for by general tax, the same as the other electric lights of the town.

Councillor McCLELLAND thought it would be only fair to place some of the gas lamps that were to be removed on Mill street. Along this street light was badly needed.

Councillor KENDRY was of opinion that the report should be so amended that the electric lights be placed on George street further north, and the gas lamps now there still further north.

Councillor DAVIDSON said that the Committee gave the whole distribution matter a very careful consideration, and the present recommendation, he thought, covered the question effectually.

The CHAIRMAN drew the attention of the Committee to the fact that nothing had been done about placing two gas lamps on Dalhousie street, together with the question of placing an electric light on the corner of Aylmer and King streets. One of these petitions was signed by 150 ratepayers. He also reminded the Committee that they were introducing four new electric lights while they were removing only six gas lamps.

Councillor McNAUGHTON was confident that the workmen had no influence. The Committee totally ignored the request of these 150 workmen.

Councillor RUTHERFORD moved, as an amendment to the amendment to the amendment, seconded by Councillor KENDRY.—That the report of the Fire, Water and Light Committee be referred back to the Committee to consider the further extension of electric lights both north and south of George street, also the placing of a lamp in the centre of King and Aylmer streets.

Councillor McNAUGHTON favored having the report dealt with now. He thought, however, that it should be amended with a view of removing more gas lamps.

Councillor GREEN drew attention to the Gill street lamp affair.

On account of so much discussion, Councillor RUTHERFORD withdrew his amendment, simply moving for the adoption of the report.

Councillor HARTLEY thought the passage of Councillor Green's motion would be unwise. Hunter street was too thinly populated to have two electric lights to a block.

The amendment to the amendment and the amendment were lost, and the motion for the adoption of the report was carried.

BY-LAWS.

A by-law appointing deputy returning officers and poll clerks to act at the municipal elections was read three times without amendment and passed.

A by-law for the better regulation of billiard licenses was read for a first time and passed.

Councillor RUTHERFORD moved for the second reading.

Councillor McCLELLAND objected, and on a division the Council did not go into Committee, three only, Councillors Hartley, Kendry and Green, voting for the second reading.

Councillor DAVIDSON moved, seconded by Councillor McNAUGHTON.—That the name of Henry Gordon be struck off the statute labour roll, as his real estate was assessed by error to his brother.—Carried.

Councillor DAVIDSON moved, seconded by Councillor McCLELLAND.—That the petition of Mr. Bradburn for billiard license, be granted.—Carried.

MR. CLYTON'S INCOME TAX.

Mr. Wm. CLYTON was, on motion, heard in reference to his being assessed for income. It was the first time, he said, since he had come to Peterborough, that he had come before the Council on personal business, but he felt that he had good reason to come now. Last spring, when the assessors called upon him, he told them that he had no income to assess; they believed him and did not assess him for any. But afterwards, pressure was brought to bear and they assessed him for $3,000 income. He told Mr. McGrath he would appeal, but owing to his not knowing when the Court of Revision met he had no chance in the proper time. He was willing to take an affidavit to the effect that he had no taxable income last year, and he trusted the Council would not permit him to be assessed for a thing he did not possess.

The matter was referred to the Court of Revision, with power to act.

THE TOWN CLOCK.

Councillor DAVIDSON moved, seconded by Councillor RUTHERFORD.—That the Property Committee be instructed to make arrangements with Mr. Bradburn for the Town Clock. Carried.

HEATING THE TOWN OFFICES.

Councillor KENDRY moved, seconded by Councillor HARTLEY.—That the Property Committee make arrangements in regard to heating the new Council Chamber, and report to the Council.—Carried.

The meeting then adjourned.

Daily Evening Review

THURSDAY, DECEMBER 3, 1885.

IS IT CONSTITUTIONAL?

MR. TARTS has published a very calm and temperate defence of the Rial agitation in the Province of Quebec. But this defence is based on a fallacy. Mr. Tarts assumes that the agitators are acting within their rights, because it is their constitutional privilege to judge, and if they think fit to condemn the administration. But no man is justified in working for a criminal and because he does so by constitutional means. The rebel sympathizers are proposing to punish the Administration because it did not yield to threats, and interfere to save from justice a condemned criminal, with whom, for various reasons, the agitators sympathize. Constitutional means will not justify the criminal end of punishing the Administration for not especially favoring a pet criminal. And so a fact the means adopted have not been constitutional, unless it is constitutional to use threats of violence, to make assaults upon the person and work destruction to the property of those who are not in favor of setting a condemned criminal above law and justice, or making a martyr of him when law and justice have been allowed to take their course.

THE NEW ALLIES

In some editorial remarks on the Reform-Rebel combination, the London Advertiser claims that the parties will be very equally divided next session, and says:—
"The first thing that the Reformers of Ontario will insist upon from their new allies is that they shall show them in repelling the Fenian Act and undoing the Gerrymander Bill before an appeal is made to the country."
We may observe in the first place the effort with which the Reform organ claims as political allies those who are threatening to overthrow the Macdonald Administration because it did not interfere to prevent justice being carried out in the case of a murderous rebel.

We may further remark, that according to this Reform authority, the plan of the Reform wing of the coalition is to give the sympathizers with rebellion in the Province of Quebec an unfair advantage over the people of Ontario. By the falsely styled Gerrymander Bill we may assume from former Reform utterances that the measures for the redistribution of seats after the last census is intended. The Advertiser tells us that the Reform Rebel device is to repeal this legislation, and thus to deprive Ontario of the rightful increase of membership caused by its increased population, and provided by the constitution of the Dominion of Canada. But rebels and their confederates "new allies" cannot be expected to have much regard for our constitution. Quebec is to be given an unfair advantage over Ontario that rebels and their sympathizers may punish an administration for declining to frustrate law and justice.

A SERIES OF POLITICAL ADDRESSSES

We believe that many besides those who are of the same way of thinking politically as ourselves will be ready to commend the action of the newly organized Junior Liberal-Conservative Club in proposing to have a series of public meetings during the present winter at which addresses will be delivered by leading men of their own party upon Dominion and Provincial affairs, and that a large number of our citizens, irrespective of party, will gladly avail themselves of the opportunities which will thus be afforded, of hearing the issues of the day—issues in the proper solution of which we are all deeply interested—discussed from the Liberal-Conservative standpoint.

When the people are, as in Canada, the court of last resort for the settlement of political differences, it is well that every legitimate means should be adopted of keeping them fully informed as to what is being done, and what is proposed to be done by those in authority, and certainly the platform is no mean means to that end, and one which we think should be used more frequently than it is especially by the Liberal-Conservative party.

The ladies, too, we are sure, will be pleased to learn that the Young Conservatives of Peterborough have not only sufficient gallantry to make provision for their accommodation, but that the best part of the Opera House will be reserved for the accommodation of ladies and gentlemen accompanying them, so that they will have an opportunity of enjoying the addresses that may be delivered under as favorable and agreeable circumstances as they are in the habit of enjoying concerts, lectures, &c.

While the Association extend a cordial invitation to all to attend these meetings free of charge, they have deemed it advisable to provide that admission to the hall shall be by tickets, which may be obtained from any member of the Association or at the door of the hall, as a means, if necessary, of preventing access thereto by persons whose only object might be creating a disturbance or otherwise annoying either the speakers or those who came to hear.

As already announced, the first of these meetings will take place on Wednesday evening, the 9th instant, and the speaker of the evening will be the Hon. Thomas White, Minister of the Interior in the Dominion Government. We hope to see a good attendance.

CONCERNING TOWN NEEDS

3—OF THE DUTY OF THE COUNCIL

DEAR REVIEW,—I accept with pleasure the comments of Mr. Ranney, and admit that I had not contemplated the presence of such a volume of water as the creek must carry down in spring, but this, of course, would be one of the subjects of consideration for the engineer who would plan a thorough drainage system for Peterborough.

Mr. Ranney, however, will agree with me that preceding everything must be a solid knowledge of all the local conditions of a good drainage system, and that such knowledge can only be acquired by a complete survey, such as I have suggested. As Davy Crockett said, "Be sure you are right, and then go ahead." Whoever is invited by the town to submit a plan of drainage, whether here or from abroad, must have all the available figures on which to base his estimates and measurements.

A little reflection will convince anyone that the money spent by the Council on streets and drains must of necessity be largely of the nature of a dead loss. Take the accounts of the four years previous to this: Streets and bridges (which account includes drains, &c.) cost in 1881, $6,030; 1882, $7,986; 1883, $7,188; 1884, $11,666. Judging by the steady increase in these figures, and by the fact that the town's growth, which caused this increase, is going on steadily greater, we can clearly see that our outlay on unsatisfactory patchwork will in two or three years amount to as much as the yearly cost of a systematic construction of new sewers and streetwork to last in good service for generations.

I spoke in my last of the limit to the use of the waterworks; one question on the absence of drainage; but there is a worse mischief than the loss of water-income to the town treasury. The people have to depend largely on water in the walls, which are run in a gravel stratum, the very nature of which is to retain in its mass all impurities and to deliver to the river a clear stream of water.

The whole town site is a filter, and in the very heart of this filter we sink our wells and then complain of the water.

We are right then in condemning the present routine of expenditure without any plan of sewerage. The Council will be right in ordering a survey in which to obtain information as the basis of a plan. The Council will also be right in taking action before the end of the year, so that the new Council coming into office will have already received from their constituents a strong opinion of the urgency of the case.

MERCHANTS' PROTECTIVE ASSOCIATION.

To the Editor of the Review.

SIR,—In your issue of the 27th inst. a letter appeared signed by J. B. Mills, one of the managers of the Merchants' Collecting and Protective Association of Canada. The enclosed letter from Mr. Bell, postmaster of Selwyn, will prove to the satisfaction of all that the editor of the Times is trying to collect a debt which he never gave value for. In my first letter to the Review I headed it, "Who and What are They?" which brought forth an explanation from the Association, giving us the names of different merchants of Peterborough who are members of the Association. I would advise those members, before receiving any more applications, that they should look into their characters and see that they take in men who will give in just claims to collect. As I have said before, I owe the Times Company nothing, nor ever had any business transactions with the firm. J. B. Mills says, "We would advise the Geo. W. Fitzgerald who took the paper from the Selwyn post office to pay up." I would like to inform J. B. Mills that it would be very hard for anybody to take them out, for Mr. Bell informs me that it is nearly two years since any copy of the Times came to that office addressed to anybody, except sample ones. He says you will excuse me for intruding so much on your valuable space.

I remain, yours truly,

GEO. W. FITZGERALD, Smith.

SENSATIONAL SCENE IN BERLIN.

Prince Bismarck and his Followers Leave the Reichstag in a Body.

BERLIN, Dec. 2.—There was a sensational scene in the Reichstag to-day when the President read the Emperor's message, which was counter-signed by Prince Bismarck. After Prince Bismarck's speech, which created a still greater surprise, Dr. Windthorst, who was greatly excited and hardly able to speak, moved to discuss his interpretation. The motion was carried, the whole House, with the exception of the Conservatives, voting in its favor. Thereupon Prince Bismarck, followed by all the members of the Bundestag, left the House. Dr. Windthorst then moved to withdraw the interpellation in order to consider the Emperor's message. The Progressives, led by Herr Richter, wanting an immediate discussion of the message, challenged a division on Dr. Windthorst's motion, which was carried. In the discussion of the budget, when the item of Prince Bismarck's salary was reached, Dr. Windthorst renewed his question regarding the expulsion of the Poles. Prince Bismarck, who had re-entered the chamber while Dr. Windthorst was speaking, refused to discuss the matter. The salary item was then voted.

Lacrosse Club.
There will be a meeting of the Lacrosse Club on Monday evening at 8 o'clock sharp at the Little Windsor Hotel. All members who have not made their returns for the recent game are requested to do so before the meeting.

A Fine Calendar.
We have received from Mr. Thomas Kelly a very fine calendar for 1886. It is issued by Messrs. Clark & Co., manufacturers of the Anchor sewing cotton, and is embellished with an artistic picture of Miss Mary Anderson in the character of "Juliet." Mr. Kelly has a number of these beautiful calendars, which he gives to his customers.

Great Scott! Sailsbury Bros. have a Beautiful Line of Xmas Cards.

Stuart Rogers.
The entertainment by Stuart Rogers was a good one. He is truly a platform "artist," both as a reciter and an impersonator. His powers of mimicry and his control of facial expression have not been excelled here. Mr. Rogers was effective in the character sketches and very amusing in the humorous scenes, keeping the audience in great good humor. —The Press, Fort land, Me., Oct. 5.

The Smith Street Bridge.
The repairs to the Smith street bridge are now nearly finished, and the bridge will be opened for traffic on Tuesday. Though the work was not commenced until long after the bridge was closed for traffic, yet it seems that the blame cannot be attached to anyone, contractor Thornton has, since he put on his staff of men, carried on the work with considerable despatch, and the whole job throughout is a creditable one. The plan have been well carried out and the repairs are entirely new. The cost of the repairs will amount to about $800.

Personal.
Mr. Blomfield has severed his connection with the Canadian Land and Emigration Company, with which his name has been so long identified. He intends to establish a general agency business in Lakeside, Insurance, Real Estate, Loan, &c., and will represent several well known companies. As he is unable at present to secure a suitable residence in the village for his family, he has rented for a year the house on the Ashburnham side of the river, known as Trafalgar, or Bess Cottage. Mr. Blomfield's advertisement will appear in this paper in due course.

Something New.
The building which is filling up the recently vacant gap just north of Mr. G. W. Morgan's drug store is going to be somewhat different from the ordinary business block. The plans, which were designed by Mr. J. E. Belcher, show the new building to be a very handsome piece of architecture. It is not yet decided as to whether it will be five stories high or four or five high. The lower flat is to be divided into two double stories, with plate glass fronts and iron columns. The next flat will also have a plate glass front, while the others will have ordinary windows. The top story will consist of a large mansard roof highly ornamented by gables and crests. Already one of the stores is taken, Messrs. H. & G. Griffin & Co., dry goods merchants, of St. Thomas, having secured the premises. The lower flat will be used for the dry goods store, while the upper one will be used as a show room. The other one is not yet rented. The property belongs to Mr. Geo. A. Cox.

A Public Office.

Messrs. Forbes & Co.'s commission and brokerage office, George street, is a public one, and those who take an interest in the financial and commercial reports are free to call and examine the quotations at any time.

Thermometer. Barometer.
8 o'clock, 25 28.81
1 " 23 28.79
3 " 20 28.77

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours ending from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Increasing winds from the south-east and south-west, fair followed by cloudy weather, and light rain or sleet to-night, higher temperatures.

Art.
Mr. Cassel has placed on exhibition in the window of Mr. A. L. Davis & Co.'s bookstore a representation of a Spanish harem, done in oil. The picture is copied from an Art Union plate. It is pleasing to the eye, and the manner in which the coloring is done is admired. The artist values the picture at $75. A well executed crayon drawing of Mr. St. A. Smith, by Mr. Sabine, is on exhibition in G. W. Morgan's drug store.

It Might be Remembered.
—That if the town clock is to be moved the Court House would be a good site for it.
—That the top of the present postoffice would also make a convenient spot.

—That some people talk of building up the hose tower and sitting the chronometer on the top.
—That others are of opinion that the big chimney at Ross's brick and tile factory would make the best possible site.

—That the new better and egg market will likely be opened next Wednesday.
—That the Arcade billiard room is closed and there is more litigation in prospect.
—That Court Peterborough, No. 49, C. O. F., meets to-night.

Sailsbury Bros. advise their friends to choose the Xmas Cards at once, as the best ones are going fast.

Important Announcement.
Having bought fifty dozen Scotch lambs' wool and Canadian shirts and drawers at 10 per cent. less than manufacturers' prices, I will offer from this date the whole line to the public at prices ranging from 35c, 50c, 75c, and $1.00 in Canadian, and $1.00, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75 and $2.00 in Scotch lambs' wool; shirts and drawers the same price. Don't be deceived by thinking this a catch penny announcement. It is a bona fide offer and will save to all purchasers from 25 to 50 per cent. Underclothing was never offered in the town of Peterborough at such prices. These are no shoddy goods or old shop keepers, but new, fresh goods, warranted in every particular. Parties requiring underclothing will study their own interest by paying a visit to ANDREW McNICOLL, tailor and clothier, George street.

The Town Clock.
At the time when the town rented the flat of offices from Mr. T. Bradburn, it was agreed that the annual rental of $600 should secure the town the privilege of placing a clock on the top of the building. The clock was procured and a tower built, for which, by the way, Mr. Bradburn says he footed the bill, amounting to over $400, himself. On the first of January the town's lease expired, and the Council intend thereafter to sit in the new building. But it is almost impossible that the Council take the clock along with them, and therefore a committee has been deputed to make arrangements with Mr. Bradburn as to leaving it where it is. If the committee fail to make arrangements with Mr. Bradburn, another site will have to be looked up.

Closed.
The town has one less billiard room since last week. The dispute arising between Messrs. Crozier & Phelan and Mr. T. Bradburn has resulted in the closing of the Arcade room. Some time ago the matter of which party owned the license for the tables was argued in the Police Court, and it was decided that so long as the tables were where they were they were properly licensed. Both parties claim to own the tables, but it appears that Mr. Bradburn is so confident as to his right of ownership that he indemnified the Sheriff and instructed that official to seize the tables. This was done and the room is now empty. The license, which is the property of Mr. Bradburn, has been transferred, so that even if the possession of the tables is acquired by Messrs. Crozier & Phelan, new licensees will have to be taken out.

The C. P. R.
The Canadian Pacific Railway are breaking the record every day. Now the North Shore Railway has been transferred to them, there time has been arranged that through connections to Quebec and points in the Lower Provinces can be made from Ottawa, Toronto, Detroit, and all points West, via St. Martin Junction, 12 miles north of Montreal, thus avoiding tedious waiting at connecting points and enabling passengers to reach their destinations in as short time as possible. We have no hesitation in saying that for comfort, excellence of road, and the politeness and attention of their servants, the Canadian Pacific Railway stands pre-eminent as the Model Road of Canada, and although one may feel inclined to smile at their steamers advertising the road, a trip will convince any unprejudiced mind that the road, equipment, scenery and punctuality are superlative in every sense of the word.

PALESTINE.

Missionaries to the Mohammedans Present Views of the Holy Land.

The Rev. Fathers Nowlarts and Vignon, missionaries who labor for the conversion of the Mohammedans, and who have been among the natives of Central Africa, are in America for the purpose of collecting funds to assist them in carrying on their work. On Thursday evening they gave a lecture on Palestine in Bradburn's Opera House, illustrated by views of the scenes of special interest in the Holy Land. Father Nowlarts is a Belgian, and Father Vignon a Frenchman. The former, who explained the pictures shown, speaks English fairly well. They were dressed in Mohammedan costume—in fact, the dress worn all through the East.

Father Nowlarts said that their appearance had caused a great sensation on account of the dress they wore. Some said that they had come to attend the carnival. On the street the day before a dog ran away from them as if they were the devil. They had not, however, escaped from prison, and neither had they come to attend a carnival. They were poor missionaries, who labored among 215,000,000 Mohammedans. They lived among those people, and the wild children of nature, and they were the Mohammedan dress. The Mohammedans believed in the miracles of Christ and used the rosary, but they had not the cross and rejected the principles of Christianity. As it was ten years since he had been accustomed to the English language, and as he had studied two languages, he might make mistakes, but he asked the audience to be indulgent. The East was the cradle of humanity and of religion. Patriarchs and prophets had lived in this hallowed part of the earth. There were the places where Christ healed, preached and brought pardon. Venerated dust! Sacred earth of Palestine! Its shores had witnessed the life and death of Christ; had witnessed his love and his tears. Children of the East, Christ's servants, had carried the cross to Asia Minor, to France and to England. It was view of the sacred land of Palestine that they would show this evening.

The first view shown was a steamer, as the journey to Palestine had to be made by water. Then followed views of Paris, Joppat (where Noah built the ark), Samson slaying the Philistines, David killing Goliath, Bethlehem, Hebron, the Dead Sea, etc., till Jerusalem was reached.

Jerusalem, Father Nowlarts said, had a population of 45,000, of whom 25,000 were Jews, 8,000 Christians, and the rest Mohammedans. Views of Solomon's Temple, the City of David, the great Mohammedan Mosque, and other places of interest in Jerusalem were shown. In Bethlehem the grotto and stable where Christ was born were shown. The views were thrown on a large sheet and were very good.

Father Nowlarts explained many of the customs of the Mohammedans, and his description of the wretched condition of the women, whom the followers of the Prophet said had no souls, elicited much sympathy. He told of one African king who, when he died, left behind him 1,000 wives "unconsoled and to be consoled." Mohammedans were allowed to have as many wives as they could feed, and when a man went out riding on his donkey the woman would be compelled to trudge along on foot carrying a burden. "The women are treated worse than dogs, worse than brutes," indignantly exclaimed the missionary.

The views and remarks were very interesting, and the Opera House was filled with an interested audience.

More views will be presented at the same place this evening.

HOUSEKEEPING and hotel-keepers should inspect Fair, Van Every & Co.'s large stock of Cottons, Whites and Grey, Plain and Twilled; Sheetings, Towels, Table Linens, Crotonnes in all conceivable patterns, Lace Curtains, Lambrequins, etc., etc. Their Carpet Department affords a full range of choice patterns in Union, All Wool, Tapestry, Brussels and Oil Cloth, Mats, etc. Their Dress and Mantle Making and Millinery Departments are receiving every attention in order to maintain the "Golden Lion" as the Grand Centre of Attraction.

ARMED IN THE SOUP

Eight Gentlemen Narrowly Escape an Assassinating Death.

The absorbing theme of conversation in the club and other fashionable circles in this city is the narrow escape from a sudden and agonizing death that eight well-known gentlemen experienced on Tuesday evening while dining at the Metropolitan Club.

The sensational termination of a meal which the frequenters of this popular up-town resort so greatly relish, the alarming consequences that followed and the various details of the affair, will not be forgotten until the perpetrators of the slaughter are brought to justice. Shortly after six o'clock Tuesday evening dinner was announced to the groups of gentlemen that occupied the various apartments. Eight or ten gentlemen were seated at several tables. The first course on the bill of fare was game soup, which was soon served. Ten minutes after the poultry had been partaken of, and just as the noise and bustle were about to bring on the next course, one of the diners became pale, and to the horror of the other guests was taken with a violent fit of RACIACA.

Within a moment or two every gentleman who had partaken of the soup was similarly prostrated. The sufferers experienced a general feeling of prostration, and were taken with full spasms to the region of the stomach. While the excitement was at its height and when the poisoned guests were endeavoring to ease themselves by vomiting, the waiter who had been sent to the kitchen to fetch a glass of water, returned with a glass of water, and to the horror of the other guests was taken with a violent fit of RACIACA.

HISTORICAL ROMANCE.

The following is a specimen of modern history on the authority of the London Advertiser:

"Hon. Mr. Joly, having declined to attend a meeting of the House of Commons, the Tory organs are talking very freely concerning him. Mr. Joly is a high-minded gentleman, and the Tory organs are quite right in speaking of him as such. But it must be bitter for them to have to swallow all the abuse they have lavished upon the same gentleman when the Ministry of which he was the Premier insisted on the dismissal of Lord Salisbury."

We may briefly mention the fact that the Advertiser misrepresents the reason for the prime that has been given to Mr. Joly, which is that he has resigned his seat because he cannot sympathize with the agitation to view the execution of a murderer as a crime. But this comic history of Canada is especially mirth-provoking when it represents Mr. Joly as insisting on the dismissal of Lord Salisbury. Why Mr. Joly should insist upon the dismissal of his patron who made him Premier while having only a majority in the Legislature, making a vacancy for him by ousting a Ministry possessing the confidence of a majority of the representatives of the people, is an enigma that defies solution. Mr. Joly was dismissed for his unconstitutional and dishonest conduct, but it is certainly news that Mr. Joly insisted upon the punishment of this offence after one sitting to profit by it. We would be glad to know the Advertiser's authority for its astounding statement. The fact that Mr. Joly is so strong a party man as to be blinded to the gross impropriety of Mr. Joly's revolutionary coup d'etat, shows how utterly indefensible is the new party device of some of the Reform leaders. He declines to form a partnership with crime, or to profit by murder and rebellion. There are thousands of Reformers who agree with Mr. Joly.

FATHERS Falstaff and Marchmont, the missionaries who were killed at the Frog Lake massacre, lost their lives while striving to convert the red men of a wild country, and have a right to be classed with Brebeuf and other zealous missionaries who risked and lost their lives for the sake of their religion. Yet some people in Quebec are so misguided that they forget the true martyrs and try to make a hero of the man who was primarily responsible for the death of the missionaries.

ANOTHER terrible offence has been charged against Sir John Macdonald by some Reform journals. The Premier is Superintendent General of Indian Affairs, and it appears that he has permitted some of the Indians to eat three or four days' provisions on one day and to go hungry for the other days. It also appears that some of the rebel tribes, who are therefore among the "new allies" of the Reformers, have been put on half rations.

THE Globe denies that Mr. Cameron, its manager, is an Orangeman.

"BAD LAW"

Wawasekewas (Round the Sky), one of the Indians hanged at Battleford on Friday last, was found guilty of the murder of Father Francois Xavier Falardeau, a Catholic priest. The body of the deceased gentleman showed that torture and indignities had been practised of such a revolting and horrible nature that they cannot be told in print. Father Falardeau had devoted his life to the service of the Indians, and was noted for his learning, piety and zeal. The Toronto Globe says that his murderer should not have been punished, and that it was a "bad law" which condemned him to die.

Manaschoo (Bad Arrow), and Kittimakeewas (Mischievous Man), were found guilty of murdering Charles Goudin at Frog Lake.

Napasee (Iron Body), and Little Bear were found guilty of killing George Dill at Frog Lake.

Man Without Blood pleaded guilty to killing Bernard Fremont.

Itka pleaded guilty to the murder of James Payne, Indian instructor on the Stony reserve. Wandering Spirit was the leader of the Frog Lake massacre.

The Toronto Globe says that it was "by bad laws" these Indians were condemned to die, and that the Government should be condemned for sentencing to their execution. — Hamilton Spectator.

A Wife Murdered.

ROCHESTER, N. Y., Dec. 4.—A woman named Miles was brutally murdered, yesterday forenoon, in the village of Madison, about forty miles west of here, and the latest remnant in the arrest of her husband, who is charged with the crime. Miles is a Frenchman about thirty-seven years old and occasionally addicted to drink.

Robts not to be Prosecuted.
WINNIPEG, Man., Dec. 3.—Lieut. Governor Dewdney last night gave a written guarantee to Mr. Hughes, member of the Prince Albert district, that the rebel halfbreeds, who have returned home, will not be prosecuted for the rebellion, but will be open to prosecution for stolen property in their possession.

A ROBBER'S WONDERFUL CAREER.

How, Single-handed, he Tied Up Seven Men in a Trice.

The other day, in one of the jails of New Zealand, there died a man who for many years had been an object, first of terror, then of interest, to the colonies.

The early years of Henry Garrett are shrouded in a veil of mystery, but in 1842 he received a sentence in England of ten years' penal servitude. As at that time penal servitude also meant transportation, Henry was removed to the colony of Norfolk Island. In that Pacific region he distinguished himself for his full term, for it is not until 1858 that he again appears. In that year (Garrett, having reached Australia, boldly conceived, and as boldly carried out, a most daring bank robbery. Garrett determined to carry out his scheme single-handed, and proceeded with the utmost coolness to do his little job in broad daylight. Posting a notice on the outside of the bank at Ballarat he had selected for his operations that the establishment would be closed for an hour; he went in, locked the door after him, and, presenting a loaded revolver at the heads of the surprised and somewhat disconcerted officials, he demanded the contents of the safe. Respectfully told, he quietly locked the clerks in the building, and departed smiling by the back door, with a profit of £5000 as the reward of his commercial enterprise.

With this sum Henry escaped to England, but being followed by a detective he was caught in the streets of London. The trick by which he was captured was rather a mean one. The detective thought he recognized his man, but not being sure that he was the right one, he gives a loud "Goose" from the sidewalk, and then unsuspecting Australian, doubtless thinking to help a fellow colonist in distress, turns sharply round, and in so sharply nabbles. Sent back to Australia, he was tried and received a sentence of ten years' penal servitude. Upon the expiration of his term Garrett shook off the dust from his prison shoes and crossed over to the neighboring colony of New Zealand.

Among many well-planned robberies, with the skillful execution of which he distinguished himself, chiefly conspicuous was the last he accomplished of "sticking up" seventeen men, not far from Dunedin, and relieving them of their valuables. The process of "sticking up" is charmingly simple. The operator proceeds out from ambush upon an unsuspecting party of travelers, and, with loaded revolver raised, he cries out "Hold up!" whereupon everybody shows that it means—all the men in the party throw their hands in the air. Anyone making an effort to get at his side arms is shot. It requires a certain amount of courage to do this simple trick well. Mr. Garrett, as a single-handed, managed his seventeen men himself. In a short time he had them all tied to trees, and then, at his own convenience, he emptied their pockets. With the kindliness of heart which was so pleasing a characteristic of our amiable bushranger, he made a good fire, boiled a billy of water, and gave them all tea. Moreover, knowing the solace of tobacco, he filled—from their own pouches—the pipes of such of the party who smoked and lighted them. Then wishing them a kindly "Good night, good night!" Mr. Garrett vanished.—Pall Mall Gazette.

MURDERED HIS INTENDED BRIDE.

A Detroit Young Man Slays His Affianced With a Razor and Escapes.

DETROIT, Mich., Dec. 3.—Pertha Duckwitz, aged 21, lived on Chestnut street, this city. Saturday next had been fixed as the date of her marriage with William Stevens, aged 23, who so late as last evening brought her gloves, lace and knickknacks in view of the approaching event. About six o'clock this morning Henry Duckwitz, a young brother of the girl, on leaving the cottage to proceed to work, almost stumbled over the dead body of his sister, which lay across the plank walk alongside the cottage. Within a space of six or eight feet from the garden gate, which stood open, the body of which lay the corpse. Upon the latch and the staves of the gate and bare and there in other places were smears and clots of gore, showing that a desperate struggle had taken place. One adroit blow with a razor or other sharp weapon sufficed to sever her wind pipe. Suspicion pointed to the man Stevens, and he was sought, but could not be found. The girl once told her mother that Stevens had a terrible temper and she would not for the world provoke him. A neighbor states that just before she went to bed last night she heard them conversing apparently near the garden gate. The ring which the girl had worn constantly since they had been betrothed, is missing. Stevens is five feet six inches in height, is a muscular man, of fair complexion, light hair dark, dark brown moustache, light brown side whiskers and blue eyes. A peculiar circumstance connected with the tragedy is the professed ignorance of Mrs. Stevens and her daughter of the relations Stevens bore to Miss Duckwitz. They claim to know nothing of the intended marriage, though they were acquainted with the girl. In the quest Mrs. Stevens denied having seen her son since Wednesday noon, but afterwards admitted that he came home at an early hour this morning, went into the kitchen and washed his hands, and again went out. A bloody towel found in the house is now in the hands of the police.

AN ACADIAN MYSTERY.

Discovery of a Crime Committed Three Years Ago.

HALIFAX, Dec. 3.—About a month ago some human remains were found in the wood at Black River, Cumberland county, and yesterday Coroner Black, of Antigonish, commenced an inquest.

A resident of Black River, named Horton, testified that two years ago last Autumn, while his son was driving through the woods at early evening, he met a man walking and carrying a value, and later on another man in a buggy. The man with a value was well dressed, and very old, and the man in the buggy was a young man. When young Horton was returning home the following morning, by the same road, a few miles from where he last saw them, he observed a buggy track leading into the ditch. He also observed a value in the edge of the woods, together with papers and letters, which were close to the open valley. Finding that some desperate deed had been committed he touched neither value nor papers, but hurried home and stated the facts to his father, who in company with another man immediately visited the locality, and found that they had all gone but the papers and letters, some of which they took home. These were placed in the coroner's hands to day by Mr. Horton. Their contents would indicate a patient, medical man or agent of some kind. Many of them were stubs of orders and receipts showing he had collected considerable sums of money. Coroner Black has about fifty of these bouquets. They bear the names of places in Ontario, Quebec, and northern New York State, and the months of April, May, and June, 1882. On one opposite the name and place appears "W. J. K. Southworth, Belleville," and one dozen of something had been ordered and $24 had been paid. (In the back was signed the name "W. C. Hill." Owing to the absence of young Horton and another witness the case adjourned for a fortnight to get fuller particulars.

Murdered by Indians.

TUCSON, Ariz., Dec. 3.—Later dispatches state that the two men who were killed by Indians near Solomonville were the Wright brothers, pioneers of Arizona, living at San Jose on the Gila River, and a dispatch from Wilcox, confirms the report of the killing of Sheriff Benjamin Crawford, of Graham County, by Apaches. The Indians are divided into bands of 15 to 20. The killing of Sheriff Crawford has created the wildest excitement. Men, women and children are fleeing in all directions and couriers are being sent out to warn settlers.

An Overworked Man.

"Have you any occupation? Do you do any work?" the Magistrate asked the prisoner, who was charged with vagrancy.

"Yes, your Honor, I am an actor."

"Ah, then you do not work, you play."

"Ah, yes, your Honor: you only see me on the stage. You should see me when I'm trying to collect my salary."

The Magistrate entered "day laborer" against the prisoner's name, and gave him honorable discharge. — Bayreuth.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Stuart Rogers.
The most delightful event of the season, the advent of Stuart Rogers in our midst, 10th and 11th at Opera House. Popular prices of admission.

Personal.
Mr. Morden Kincaid, son of Dr. Kincaid, left for Winnipeg this morning. Mr. John Liddie left for Detroit, and Mr. W. Argue and wife left for Winnipeg—all going by the Canadian Pacific Railway, of which Mr. A. Elliott is the up-town agent.

What to do Before Breakfast.
Cleanse and awaken the stomach with a glass of Liebig's Condensed Mineral Water. If your liver is out of order, take Carlsbad; if you are over-worked take Kissingen. Only about a cent a glass. At McKee's drug store.

The Arcade Billiard Rooms.
We were somewhat misinformed as to the Arcade Billiard Rooms being empty as there is still a billiard table there, one of those for which license was granted and which is therefore still covered by the license. The question as to the property in the license has not yet been judicially decided.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Fresh to strong gales from the northeast and northwest; cloudy, with snow; followed by partially clearing, decidedly lower temperatures; fair and cold to-morrow.

Choice Millinery at Turnbull's in all the Lending Shapes, and trimmed with colors to match any shade of Costume.

Completed.
The new residence for Mr. James Campbell, the building of which Mr. Arthur Rutherford is the contractor, has now assumed shape. On Friday evening the brickwork, which was under the supervision of Mr. J. J. Hartley, was completed, over 70,000 bricks having been laid in two weeks, notwithstanding the shortness of the days, at this time of the year. In the evening Mr. Campbell entertained the contractor, architect, builder and the men at his house, where after due justice was done to a substantial repast a pleasant couple of hours was spent in speech and toast.

The Giant T. Stores.
This is the kind of weather to make people consider whether they are sufficiently provided with stores, and further to consider where they can most advantageously supply their wants in this line. They cannot be in any doubt when they read Mr. Adams Hall's announcement that in view of contemplated changes he is now offering, and will for the rest of the month, the entire stock of stores at the Giant T. at cost price for cash. Possibly there has never before been a chance of selecting from so excellent an assortment on such terms, for whether it be for kitchen, parlour or hall, to burn coal or wood, there are the best, most improved and most favorite stores at the Giant T.

A Capital Idea.
The Lindsay Post discusses the propriety of holding a two days' bazaar for the Ontario tankard as follows:

"The Peterborough curling club have come forward with the proposition, that instead of playing as heretofore in the draw for the Ontario tankard—as at different points throughout the district—that all the clubs competing in this section should meet at Peterborough and fight it out in a grand bazaar of two consecutive days' curling. Without venturing to speak for the Lindsay club it may be stated that the idea is a capital one, and can be carried out no where in the district to better advantage than at Peterborough. And when—in addition—the Peterborough curlers hospitably promise to treat the visitors well and provide a dish of beef and greens, rumormongers were worse than useless. These points of view come up—not this on a malicious and subtle scheme on the part of Peterborough to get the better of their opponents? It is well known that risks that went to Peterborough last year full of determination to win, after being outwitted, shrewdly round the town, closed and shrewdly up, were not worth the costs when trotted out to play against their erstwhile enemies. One Peterborough curling club has already had a most debilitating effect on a competing risk. Must we now have the Greeks bearing gifts? Times Dance at home, so it were. The matter will be submitted to the club in the district for approval."

If you want New and Cheap Millinery, call at Turnbull's New Show Rooms within the neighbourhood to complete.

Good Food.

If you want food for laughter and good humor go and hear and see Stuart Rogers, 10th and 11th, in the Opera House.

Christmas Ale.

For the finest ale in Canada call at Chamberlain's restaurant and ask for Calcutt's Christmas Ale.

Second Entertainment.

The Mohammedan missionaries gave their second entertainment in the Opera House on Friday evening. The attendance was not so large as on the preceding evening.

The Hop.

The ball which was to have been held in the Opera House on Friday evening, under the auspices of the five social friends was not held, it being indefinitely postponed.

Ask to see these Heavy Cloth Gloves Turnbull is offering at 12 1/2 cts per pair.

Don't fail to call on Fair Van Every & Co. Every person made happy and comfortable at the "Golden Lion" for very little money. Shirts and Drawers, Socks, Overcoats, Mufflers, Gloves, Mitts, etc. for men and boys in great variety.

SALISBURY BROS. advise their friends to choose the Xmas Cards at once, as the best ones are going fast.

The Sawdust Cases.

The sawdust case came up before Justice Ross at Toronto on Friday and was reported:—"The law is—W. H. Lockhart Gordon moved for a rule nisi for a writ of prohibition to prevent the Police Magistrate of Peterborough from proceeding upon an information under 36 Vic. Chap. 65, granted."

Weather Notes.

The following weather notes are supplied by Mr. G. W. Morgan, druggist:—

	Thermometer	Barometer
9 o'clock	18	28.38
11 "	21	28.40
3 "	16	28.45

Our readers will notice the barometer has been falling for some days, proceeding the storm.

Important Announcement.

Having bought fifty dozen Scotch lambs' wool and Canadian shirts and drawers at 10 per cent. less than manufacturers' prices, I will offer from this date the whole line to the public at prices ranging 35c, 50c, 75c and $1.00 in Canadian, and $1.00, $1.25, $1.50, $1.75 and $2.00 in Scotch lambs' wool; shirts and drawers the same price. Don't be deceived by thinking this a catch penny announcement. It is a bona fide offer and will save to all purchasers from 25 to 50 per cent. Underclothing was never offered in the town of Peterborough at such prices. These are no shoddy goods or old shop keepers, but new, fresh goods, warranted in every particular. Parties requiring underclothing will study their own interest by paying a visit to ANDREW McNAIR, the tailor and clothier, George street.

Is it Really True?

—That the old town clock has awoke to the danger of its being removed?

—That it has made up its mind to strenuously resist removal?

—That it has promised to serve the town faithfully and not erratically, if allowed to sit and look down on George street?

—That a certain fashionable young man was standing on the verge of never getting yesterday?

—That another young man of fashion came along and outstretched his hand to greet his fashion friend?

—That he touched the first and the fashion able young man descended to explore the dark regions below.

—That Mr. Carpenter is determined to prosecute all those scamps who do not salute him in the proper manner.

Pencil Points.

—This is the time of the year when we may expect lots of tall talk about "the beautiful."

—The merry clanger of the sleigh bells resounds on the town to-day.

—Business was booming at the Police Court this morning.

—Within half an hour His Worship disposed of five cases, with the aggregate receipt of $31.25.

—The arcade billiard rooms are still running.

—The chairman of the Fire, Water and Light Committee has taken prompt action in regard to the snow ploughs.

—Two of those useful implements were in operation early this morning.

—Mr. James Campbell evidently appreciates the rapid work in the construction of his new house.

—And the buyers and sellers will likely appreciate the rapid re-construction of the butter and egg market next Wednesday.

For a Wider Field.

Mr. John Garvey, during his long residence in Peterborough, and during his career as a business man, has proved himself to be both a good citizen and a successful merchant. He embarked in business on his own account in 1869, opening up in the Broadbent block, George street, and in a few years moved one door north to the corner, occupying the large premises now taken up by the China Hall. In the year 1881 he moved southward, taking a double store in his own property, opposite the Opera House, and about that time opened up another store in Ashburnham. During these sixteen years he has always conducted his business on that safe and solid basis which defies bankruptcies. That he has succeeded is due solely to the careful buying and watchful supervision over his own affairs. But now the time has arrived when Mr. Garvey has decided to enter wider fields of commerce. He has bought out the wholesale and retail grocery of the Hon. Frank Smith, London, the book debts and stock of which amounts to $42,000. He will shortly leave for the Forest City where he, together with the honorable merchant, will look after the stock taking. The establishment of which Mr. Garvey is to take charge has 2 1/2 feet of a frontage and 106 feet of a depth. It extends through a whole block, facing Dundas street on the one side and Carling street on the other. The wholesale business is conducted on the Carling street side, while that of the retail is conducted on the Dundas street side. The building is three stories high, and is of a modern style of architecture. Mr. Garvey will not, however, sever his connection with Peterborough, and is still alive to the fact that business in Peterborough is a paying venture. He will continue to conduct his stores here and in Ashburnham. Mr. P. Quinn being appointed as manager. With the new year Mr. Garvey commences a new phase of life, the opening day of his new establishment being on the 2nd day of January.

GREAT SCOTT! Salisbury Bros. have a Beautiful Line of Xmas Cards.

POLICE COURT.

Assault.

SATURDAY, Dec. 5.—M. Dunn was charged by Edward Crowe with having assaulted him on December 2nd. The defendant pleaded guilty. The MAGISTRATE called the complainant who stated that on Wednesday he was at the Canadian Pacific Railway station checking some trunks. The defendant came up and gave him a blow on the side of the head and when he turned he got another in the face. He then ran away but the defendant followed him and kicked him on the thigh.

The MAGISTRATE called on the defendant that he might know the whole circumstances in order to measure the judgment.

The defendant said that he did not strike Crowe until he had turned around and he was face to face. He then said, "you'll talk about me, will you?" and afterwards struck him. Previous to this Crowe had talked about him and insulted him.

The MAGISTRATE said that there were times when the provocation might be such that a man could hardly restrain himself in a case of this kind. Though the law never justified any such conduct, yet the circumstances might be of such an extenuating nature that they would be taken into consideration. The defendant said that the complainant insulted him on some previous occasion. Then he deliberately took the law into his own hands in attempting to punish the complainant in a wholly illegal manner. It was this kind of thing that led to the most terrible results, as some men would be of opinion that bare fists alone was not a sufficient weapon with which to effect that punishment. Any infringement on the functions of the law the law frowned down, and thus it was that the people lived in the enjoyment of that liberty of which they are so proud to boast. The position of the defendant and his respectability makes the case more serious, as others might follow the example set. He would therefore impose a fine of $10 and costs, $4.25.

The MAGISTRATE admonished Crowe from henceforth to keep a civil tongue in his head, if he wished to avoid unpleasant consequences.

DISTURBING THE PEACE.

M. Dunn and Edward Crowe were charged by P. C. Adams with having disturbed the peace on Dec. 2nd, by fighting in a public place. The first named pleaded guilty and the second not guilty.

The MAGISTRATE found that Crowe was not guilty, as he had run away and had not attempted to defend himself. He imposed a fine of $2 and costs, $1.85, on Dunn.

INSULTING LANGUAGE.

Edward Crowe was charged by Lafayette Carpenter with having used grossly abusive and insulting language towards him on December 1st.

The defendant pleaded not guilty. Mr. Carpenter did not wish to prosecute the young man, but merely wished to jog his memory, so that it would be a warning to him hereafter.

The MAGISTRATE—Do you want to withdraw the charge?

Mr. CARPENTER—Yes, if he'll pay the costs.

The MAGISTRATE—This court is not made for the special convenience of those who wish to come here and amuse themselves. Do you want to withdraw it or prosecute it?

Mr. CARPENTER said that he did not want to go back on anything. He was sitting in the Oriental Hotel reading room reading a paper when this young ass, before quite a crowd, commenced to abuse him and use blasphemous language. He did not raise his eyes from the paper, but allowed him to talk away until he came back the second time. He then put down his paper and left the reading room. He did not know what was the cause of the action, as he had always treated the young man with the greatest kindness. He suspected, however, that the young man had a "brick in his bat."

The MAGISTRATE—Who put it there?

Mr. CARPENTER—I mean, Your Worship, that he was drunk.

The MAGISTRATE—Well, why didn't you say so.

Mr. CARPENTER—I didn't think it was a proper term to use in court.

A fine of $2 and costs, $3.45, was imposed on Crowe.

BREACH OF THE PEACE.

Robert White and George Dunnally were charged by P. C. Adams with having committed a breach of the peace. They both stood up and pleaded guilty.

The MAGISTRATE—White, you are not here now for the first time. You have been frequently before this court. I do not know how I can adequately punish you. You are certainly giving it on your muscles, but you will find a man some day that will satisfy you. I fine you each $2 and costs, $1.85.

Beware of cigars artificially flavored for the purpose of hiding the poor quality of tobacco used in flavored cigars. Insist upon having the old reliable brands—"Cable" and "El Padre."

A trial will convince the most skeptical that S. Davis & Sons' manufacture of cigars are superior in every respect to any in Canada.

Choice Millinery at Turnbull's in all the leading styles, and trimmed with colors to match any shade of costume.

Self Defense.
James Norley, the cricketer, is about to open a boxing class in the old billiard room, Town Hall (late Crevier & Phil's), and is prepared to give lessons privately at the residence of any who may require such, starting Wednesday evening, 9th inst., at 7.30 p.m. No parties will be admitted who do not conduct themselves with strict propriety.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours commencing at 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Fresh to strong west to N. West wind decreasing by night. Fair, cooler weather with snow flurries in some places. The temperature with fall near to or below zero to-night.

Smith's Market.
Fresh haddock, fresh cod, fresh flounders, fresh trout, haddies, mackerels, bonitos, ciscoes, &c. Malaga grapes, Catawba grapes, and to arrive, lot of western imported Concorda. Florida oranges, lemons, and canned goods. Lot of very choice new hams from eight to twelve pounds. Oysters, the very best, bulk and New York coast. Poultry, game and everything usually kept in the market.

Ladies purchasing Millinery, Mantles and Dresses, will be pleased with the large variety they will find at Turnbull's New Show Rooms.

More cases.
The patients who were recently at the N. H. hospital have all been cured and sent off to their respective homes, and the hospital has, for the past week or more, been without an occupant save the officials. But within the next few days there will be another lot of patients, it is probable, sent in. Five applications have been made for admission, which, if the afflicted pass the necessary examinations, will be granted. There are three applicants from town, one from Richmond and one from Otton.

A Leading Opinion.
The Cleveland Leader says of the performance of the Artistic Comedy company, which has Thursday evening appears at Reid's Opera House:—

"Holt & Kewell's Argosy last night delivered a solid bit of fun at the Theatre. The three acts were excellent, and the 'The Gooding School' and an audience nearly filling the theatre showed its appreciation by an almost unanimous vote of approval. Miss J. de Devoy as 'Titi' made a very fine and spirited child while R. O. Kewell as 'J. de G. G. G.' was a most successful character in a highly pleasing manner. The rest of the company are very good in the various characters assigned and are worthy of special mention."

If you want how and how to buy Millinery, call at Turnbull's New Show Rooms, while the entertainment is complete.

IMPORTANT AND IMPERATIVE.

The inducements to a Christian Life to Which Every Man Should Listen.

On Sunday evening the Rev. Mr. McKinnon, of Cobourg, preached in St. Paul's church. He took his text from St. Matthew 17, 19-20: "And He said unto them, Follow Me, and I will make you fishers of men. And they straightway left their nets and followed Him." Though this event seemed to be of a trivial nature, yet it looked more, it would be seen that it was of more than ordinary interest, and more than ordinary importance. Christ, during His ministry, did not make many converts, but the converts he made were destined to carry the Word to every corner of the earth. How necessary was it, then, to appoint the right men to carry the Word, that an abundant harvest might be reaped. Speeding Christ's doctrine, therefore, by human agency entailed a tremendous responsibility. The call to this kind of life was an important one, but it was none the less important than it was imperative.

The beautiful lake of Galilee, with its pure, pellucid waters reflecting heaven's inverted dome, and fringed with verdant and flowers, was not what made it interesting to us; it was the secret associations. It was here that Christ got His first disciples, and it was here that He stilled the stormy wave; here that He walked upon the water and raised a disciple's faith, and on the shores of which He preached to the multitudes. But how imperative was the call—more so than that of Xenophon by Socrates. Christ said, "Follow Me and I will make you fishers of men," and Peter and Andrew left their nets and straightway followed Him. Though fraught with hardship and difficulties and sorrows and cares, the young followers of Christ dare all dangers with a much firmness as the young volunteer, when his country calls for his protecting arm.

There were many inducements to march in the train of Christ's followers. Every kind word spoken by the pastor, every cheerful unclouded by the Sunday school teacher, every verse and every word read in the Holy Book, were inducements to which all were in duty bound to attend. Every day there were whippersnappers in the ear by a personal Christ. The preacher instilled the conversion of a diver, who, away down in the bottom of the sea found an oyster with a piece of a religious tract in its mouth. The diver read it and was, by this means, brought home to Christ.

Three very creditable portraits in black crayon are on exhibit. Two are by Mr. H. B. Carter, the other by the late Col. Williams and Mr. C. H. Goble, of the Bank of Toronto here. The work on both portraits is very good, the features in each case being well delineated. Another is by Mr. W. G. Saline, he portrait being that of Mr. A. St. A. Smith, of the Bank of Toronto. The likeness is a true one, and the work of a finished character.

It Might Be Remarkable.

—That there is now snow and cold weather—two of the conditions that go toward making a snow shoe tramp.
—That the Amateur Athletic Club ought to be looking alive.
—That there is some talk of revivifying the old Tugue Biera.

—That the skate sharpeners are having a boom in business now.
—That they are doing it up in "English" fashion this year.
—That the programme for the "Daniel" cantata is in the printer's hands.
—That negotiations for the costumes are about closed.
—That the mercury sank to 15 degrees below zero last night.

—That Mr. G. W. Morgan said so, and he is a reliable authority.
—That the Smith Street bridge opens for traffic to-morrow.

In a Fitful Condition.

On Saturday, by the noon train on the Grand Trunk Railway, there arrived in town a young woman in a truly pitiable state. Her dress was of a kind that belittled anything but comfort on so cold a day. In her arms she bore a few weeks old babe. She inquired the whereabouts of an official of the Nicholls Hospital, and being directed to a member of the Board of Trustees made application for admission to the hospital, thinking it was a home. She said that she was not married, and in answer to a question from the Trustees as to where the father of the child was, stated that she did not know where he was. There was no alternative for the Trustees but to inform her that the goal was the only public place in Peterborough into which she could gain admittance. She decided to go back to Lindsay, whence she came.

Social Supper.

On Saturday evening a supper was given at the Albion Hotel, Ashburnham, by Mr. H. Calcutt. The supper was especially given to the steamboat hands, on the coast of their doing their labor for the season, but places were provided around the table for the boys from the brewery also, and all together, from the bottom of the table to the top, which was adorned by the genial and jolly figure of Mr. Calcutt, a most happy and harmonious evening was spent. The tables were of the best, as evidenced by the rapid manner in which they disappeared. The "out brow" also appeared to be highly relished (if most have been Calcutt's) for every time the flowing cheer was poured around the sturdy steamboat hands and the brewery boys filled their goblets to the brim. When the cloth had been removed all were in the most agreeable of moods. Then it was that speeches were indulged in, the purpose of which was that both the steamboat line and the brewery might prosper, and that Mr. Calcutt might long live to look after them. Some singing in which several took a hand, and the evening passed off most pleasantly. The party broke up at about 11 p.m.

POLICE COURT.

LIQUOR CASES.

MONDAY, Dec. 7.—The Magistrate ascended to the bench this morning and as he had down announced that the adjourned case, Roberts vs. Cavanagh, would be first dealt with.

Mr. C. W. Sawers appeared for the defendant.

Mrs. Roberts, by whom the charge was laid, wished to withdraw it, provided Mr. Cavanagh pay the costs.

Mr. Sawers—We'll do nothing of the sort. We court the fullest investigation.

On Mrs. Roberts's side that some arrangement had been made between her brother and Mr. Cavanagh about withdrawing it. His Worship enlarged the case until Wednesday.

Subsequently Mr. Cavanagh stated that no arrangement whatever had been made.

The adjourned case, Roberts vs. Mitchell, was next called.

Mr. C. W. Sawers, for Mr. Mitchell, pleaded not guilty.

John Roberts, the complainant, swore that Mr. Mitchell had bought and drank liquor in Mr. Mitchell's shop, Hunter street.

The evidence of Mr. Mitchell and the shop boy, Beaton, refuted the evidence of the complainant. They both bore testimony that Roberts was tipsy when he came to the shop, and that he got no liquor. He had thrown down 25 cents to purchase whiskey, but which was withheld for a debt. He became angry at this and threatened legal proceedings.

Mr. T. Cavanagh swore that Roberts acknowledged to him that it was for spite that he was bringing this action against Mitchell. Roberts tried to turn this statement by asking the witness if he didn't say it was "because I was tight." The witness, however, was confident that "spite" was the word.

The case was discharged.

AGRICULTURAL NOTES.
There are 1000 kinds of pears—1500 sorts of apples, 100 pines, more than 150 varieties of gooseberries, and about 125 strawberries.

The late lamented Jubbs consumed in one year over 75 tons of hay, 300 barrels of potatoes and 320 bushels of onions, besides a vast quantity of peanuts, candy, etc.

Seedling timothy with fall grain might do on soil in its first state of rich fertility, but now that it is impoverished the weaker grass is overgrown by the more vigorous wheat and destroyed.

A writer in the Indiana Farmer thinks that he keeps his hen house free of lice by having two sets of perches, which he changes, exposing to the weather the set not in use. How much easier to see the perches occasionally.

A farmer of Dutchess county who had given up cabbage raising on account of the fierce cold, heard of a simple remedy which, after trying it, induced him to resume on a new culture. It was simply to sprinkle the cabbage heads with bran while the dew is on in the morning.

The remedy is to treat the grass in a rational manner as a special crop and not as a by-product of the whole or by itself, whatever it may be, by which it is "killed" or "killed," as it is said to be, and crowded out, to speak truly. Fit the soil thoroughly; make it fine and mellow as a lawn or garden should be, and sow the grass and clover seed alone early in August.

A correspondent of the Allerton (Mich.) Gazette gives an easy remedy for the tent caterpillars which will make their appearance on the apple trees. Take a sprig of cotton, dip it in kerosene, and then, about sunset, when the worms are all at home, give the nest a few quirts of kerosene and it will "cook" their "meat." It is much better and easier than burning the limb, cutting it off, or shooting them out.

The oldest and most reliable brand of cigars in the market. Free from all chemicals and artificial flavorings.

El Padre Cigars.

Universally acknowledged to be the finest 10c. cigar manufactured. Don't be deceived by any other brand. No chemicals or artificial flavorings used.

S. Davis & Sons have moved into their new manufactory, the finest of its kind in America. They are the only cigar manufacturer in Canada who manufacture their own cigars, boxes and packing cases, while industry gives employment to sixty hands.

Be aware of cigars artificially flavored for the purpose of hiding the poor quality of tobacco used in flavored cigars. In a top-up having the reliable brands—"Cable" and—"El Padre."

A trial will convince you—most skeptical that S. Davis & Sons' manufacture of cigars is superior in every respect to any in Canada.

Price medals against the world were awarded to S. Davis & Sons, of Montreal, for their manufacture of cigars at Paris, 1889, Oshkosh, 1894, Montreal, 1895 &c.

A CRIMINAL END

BECAUSE we pointed out in a recent editorial that the alliance of a certain section of the Reform party with rebellion was not justifiable, the Belleville Ontario finds fault with us. We said that no man was justified in working for a criminal end, because he did so by constitutional means. The Ontario scoundrel the idea that the defeat of Sir John Macdonald by a constitutional means is a criminal end. Under the circumstances we take direct issue with our opponent. Not only Conservatives, but a whole host of honest Reformers, agree with us that it is criminal to endeavor to oust Sir John Macdonald for refusing to interfere in favor of a convicted criminal, with the course of law and justice. Those Ontario Reform journals, which are now advocating a coalition with the Quebec malcontents, on the ground that a criminal of French extraction should not be subject to the ordinary action of the law, had already shown their desire, not for justice, but for political capital, by ousting Sir John and his colleagues because they were supposed to contemplate an interference with the carrying out of Kief's sentence.

THE HON. THOS WHITE

The visit to Peterborough of the Hon. Thos. White, Minister of the Interior, on Wednesday, Dec. 9th, to address the Junior Liberal-Conservative Club, is of especial interest to our readers. That Mr. White is a Minister of the Crown for the Dominion of Canada would be sufficient to ensure him a worthy reception from our loyal people, irrespective of politics, and the fact that he is a member of the Conservative Administration naturally intensifies the cordiality of the welcome to the Conservative Riddings of Peterborough. But the special reason why Mr. White's visit has such an interest for the people of Peterborough is that he is looked upon as one of ourselves—he is an old Peterborough boy, was brought up here, made his first advance as a journalist and newspaper proprietor in the PETERBOROUGH REVIEW office, and in many ways still maintains his connection with our town. Mr. Thos. White does not visit us as a stranger, and we are all proud of his success as that of one of ourselves.

BOTH LAW AND FACT

We do not profess, like the London Advertiser, to know more of the law than leading lawyers, and, therefore, we cannot undertake to say in the face of high legal authorities to the contrary, that the wrong course was adopted when Mr. Bertram was not returned for West Peterborough because he was not qualified to be a candidate according to the law at that period. As a matter of fact, Mr. Bertram was not legally qualified, as was proved to the conviction of the Parliamentary Committee to which the consideration of the case was committed. It was only the dissimulation of the House that rendered the presentation of their report to this effect unnecessary.

We have no wish, for Mr. Bertram's sake, to recur to this subject, but if the Advertiser will peruse its own and inaccurate knowledge of both law and facts, it must be set right.

Mr. J. J. CURRAN, M. P. for Central Montreal, has published a very able, moderate and patriotic letter, in which, with many courtesies, he discounts the present agitation in Quebec and in a section of the Reform press, showing that Riel was a traitor, not only to his country, but also to his church and to his misguided associates. Mr. Curran, therefore, concludes that Riel was especially unworthy of the sympathy of Irishmen and Roman Catholics.

ASHBURNHAM AFFAIRS.

MEETINGS OF THE VILLAGE COUNCIL AND BOARD OF HEALTH

Dr. Clarke, the Medical Health Officer, reads his Annual Report The Sawdust Question.

A meeting of the Ashburnham Council was held on Monday evening. There were present, Mr. John Burnham, Reeve, in the chair, and Messrs. Wright, Smith and Ward. Mr. Wood, the Clerk, read the minutes of the last meeting. There was not much business before the chair, and that of an ordinary character. A few minor matters, relating to charity, etc., were dealt with, and the following accounts were ordered to be paid:—

Mr. Craig, work on streets for week ending Nov. 13 $17 40
Mr. Craig, work on streets for week ending Nov. 13 40 57
Mr. Craig, work on streets for week ending Nov. 24 40 98
Mr. Craig, work on streets for week ending Dec. 1 19 75
J. R. Stratton, printing 31 27

The Council then resolved itself into the Board of Health, Mr. Ward, who is not a member, retiring. Dr. Clarke, the Medical Health Officer for the village, read his annual report as follows:

To the Chairman and Members of the Ashburnham Board of Health.

"GENTLEMEN.—The record of the past year has been unfortunately a record of routine work only. Settlement of complaints, inspection of premises, removal of nuisances such as manure heaps, bog-pens, and examination of drinking water have occupied the attention of your officers chiefly. A stimulus was given to this by the threat of an invasion from cholera, but that unwelcome visitor has not even touched the shores of the continent. Nor has a germ of smallpox found its way into the village, or if such has been the case, the active precautionary measures taken have not given it a chance for propagation. The worst thing we have to complain of is the presence of more or less typhoid fever in the fall of the year, and this only shows the necessity for increased vigilance particularly when a whole family has been taken down, as was the case both last year and this. In the early days of wood and swampy and remittent fever were common. These were gradually dying out, leaving typhoid as the representative of diseases of a malarial defect. It is essentially a disease of civilization, and is peculiar in not being the special heritage of those living in a state of poverty, for rich as well as poor may contract it. The rich man may have a comfortable house, and apparently perfect sanitary arrangements, yet some slight imperfection may let in the poison. At times it seems to require very little to produce it, particularly in certain predisposing states of the system, and in the spring and fall of the year. When all in a house take it, it is nearly always due to the same cause and not to communication from one to another, for typhoid is not contagious in the same sense as smallpox. I have examined some samples of water, where families have been taken down and found them saturated with the gases of decaying vegetable matter. Where large quantities of water are habitually drunk, as among the temperate working classes, particularly when temperance is so far as to exclude tea from their diet, it is very apt to happen. Particular precautions ought to be taken in such cases to have the water regularly cleaned out every night, and to boil or filter the water before it is used.

House to house inspection has been carried on regularly, to see how much inspection some houses will stand without burning them. A yard is found in a filthy condition, and orders given to clean it, which is done within two or three days after the inspection, again, and it is as good as ever. I do not mean to say that this is generally the case. In fact, the majority of a nation, desire to have things right, or a wholesome dread of the Inspector's visit, is sufficient to check unsanitary accumulations of refuse, but a few are not, and be they ever so few they are apt, like the proverbial sickly sheep that infects the flock, to poison all the rest.

Wells have been another object of attention, and necessarily so, for the reason named. The currents of drainage seem to be a matter beyond comprehension. Slops may be thrown all summer or a manure heap be within ten feet of a well and not infect the water, but, on the other hand, through some peculiarity of the soil, drainage may be carried long distances. As an instance, in 1883 a large part of London, Ontario, was flooded by an excessive rainfall. Fire engines and hose were used to pump out the wells, and in one case where the water did not go down as rapidly as might be expected, it was found that a cellar full of water, 120 yards away, was lowering at almost the exact rate of the volume of water pumped from the well, showing a direct communication in the soil between the two. This is an extraordinary instance, but it shows how far drainage will carry.

The country has been alarmed through fear of smallpox, owing to its prevalence in Montreal. The village being now in direct communication with that city and numbers of men passing through to work in the shanties or on river, gave good grounds for this alarm. At the request of your Board I vaccinated about 250 persons gratuitously, and thus the village is free from danger of a general epidemic for years to come. It is the only way to do, in the absence of a compulsory law, it being an affair of public safety. Perhaps, even with a compulsory law, it is the best way, for we may be pretty certain people will avail themselves of it, while the cost per head to the municipality will be small. Years ago, when the inhabitants were fresh from older countries, vaccination was considered as important as baptism, but of late years, through indifference, or procrastination, numbers of unvaccinated children have been growing up. Quite a number of unprotected adults also presented themselves.

In connection with this I may say that the Peterborough Board of Health has sent in a recommendation to the Council to procure a piece of land on which to erect a hospital for infectious diseases. I believe they would like Ashburnham to co-operate in this. The cost of erecting a hospital for a single case, with the possibility of its being burned down immediately after, is too great, and we cannot tell that the next one will not occur in Ashburnham, which is much less able to bear cost of a separate building than Peterborough.

A word about sawdust. The lake has been in a much worse condition this year than for years before. Last summer of peat gases are being continually evolved and swept over the town and village. To say that cases of disease cannot be traced directly to this agency is so denial of the fact that such a condition of affairs is an intolerable nuisance. It is well to keep on agitating, and a good motive of protest would be in getting as many as possible to join the Anti-Sawdust Association.

As good many complaints as to nuisances have come in from time to time. We have kept the names of the complaining parties quiet, so as to give every chance of getting betterment about nuisances, and we have generally managed to arrange affairs satisfactorily with out troubling the Board to interfere.

Weekly reports of the ratio of sickness, infections and otherwise, has been sent to the Provincial Board and has been embodied in their health maps of the Province. An elaborate series of questions as to the results of vaccination has been answered, and monthly reports of sanitary work done and condition of village also sent up.

To conclude, the efforts of the Board in the prosecution of its work must not be relaxed. The reward of a diminished rate of mortality comes slowly but surely. During the six years after a campaign with the pest, the rate before the passage of the English Health Act, a saving of about 12,000 lives was effected. And if we push on steadily and courageously the rate will be similar here, to say nothing of a prospect of comparative freedom from many of those minor ailments that annoy us and of a sense of satisfaction a neat and well-ordered village affords.

The following is a synopsis of the work done during the year 18th Nov. 1884 to 18th Nov. 1885:—

Number of yards examined 90
Number of closets examined 95
Number of yards in good condition 70
Number of complaints 32
Number of manure heaps and bog pens removed 45
Number of old wells closed 4
Number of notices served 17

REPORT OF DISEASES.

Scarlet fever 1
Diphtheria 1
Typhoid fever 1
Houses placarded 3
Respectfully submitted

JOHN CLARKE, M.D.,
Medical Health Officer.

JOHN CRAIG,
Sanitary Inspector.

Mr. BURNHAM, the Chairman of the Board, said that the thanks of the Board were certainly due to Dr. Clarke, not only for his full and elaborate report, but for the way in which he looked after health matters during the summer. Had it not been that Dr. Clarke had done so much the work would not have been done at all. He had vaccinated a large number of persons, a duty which was even beyond his duties as Medical Health Officer. He was sure that Dr. Clarke's work was satisfactory to all.

Mr. WARD moved, seconded by Mr. SMITH, That Dr. Clarke's report be received and filed, and that the thanks of the Board be tendered to him for the same.—Carried.

The Chairman was authorized to arrange with Dr. Clarke as to payment for the vaccine points used in vaccinating 254 persons, together with remunerating him for the time spent in these services.

The CHAIRMAN called the attention of the Board to the suggestion in the Medical Health Officer's report in regard to the sawdust question. He thought now was a proper time to deal with it.

Mr. SMITH moved, seconded by Mr. WRIGHT, That this Board consider that active measures should be taken to abate the deposit of sawdust in the river, and they agree with the remarks of the Health Officer in respect to it; that the Reeves memorialize the Government to see that the law in regard to depositing mill refuse in rivers is strictly enforced.—Carried.

The Board then adjourned.

Since taking the first bottle I have noticed a decided improvement, and can with confidence recommend it to be one of, if not the best medicine extant for Dyspepsia. This invaluable medicine for Liver Complaint, Indigestion, Kidney Complaint, is purely vegetable. Sold by John McKee's Drug Store. Trial bottles given free."

At present there is one officer short on the police force. But the night duties have not on down on that account. Instead of the officers take regular turns at night while one officer goes on duty during the day. Officers McGinty and Adams are on duty during the night this week, while officer Pidgeon takes the beats during the day.

James Norley, the cricketer, is about to open a boxing class in the old billiard room, Town Hall (late Crevier & Phelan's), and is prepared to give lessons privately at the residence of any who may require such, starting Wednesday evening, 9th inst., at 7.30 p. m. Oysters, the very best, bulk and New York counts. Poultry, game and everything usually kept in the market.

Sig Preparations.
Some time ago it was announced that Mr. G. W. Hall was going to put forth an effort to supply the Christmas confectionery trade with as finished goods as can be had from any of the city establishments. He is as good as his word. Work in the candy department is fairly booming now and operations are carried on both night and day. A visit to the factory on Monday night revealed Mr. John Watt, the foreman, in full shop uniform, busily giving directions to his staff, while Mr. Hall, in person, sat near the big boiling tanks viewing the busy scene with an eye of evident satisfaction. Mr. Watt, who did a large part of the designing for this season's trade, has every reason to feel proud of the creations he has made and fashioned. Some really beautiful pieces of confectionery are already on exhibition, and those who wish to get something entirely new, something attractive and taking for the Christmas trade should wait and see the Hall samples.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Strong winds or gales from the south and east, partly cloudy to cloudy weather, with snow towards evening or by morning, slightly higher temperature.

The following is the scale of rates for admission to the Parlor Roller Rink:—
Gentlemen's tickets, eight for..... $1.00
Ladies' monthly tickets..... 1.50
Gentlemen admitted and furnished with seats..... 25
Ladies admitted and furnished with seats..... 15
Special rates to children in the afternoon and on Saturdays.

The First Tramp.
The first snow shoe tramp of the season took place on Monday night. About half a dozen members of the old Togue Blues assembled at the Indian Queen, and, mounting their new, took a run out as far as the quarry. This was merely a preliminary dash, one to get up wind for the big run which is to take place some night this week. A new club is shortly to be organized, which, it is said, will be christened the Peterboroughs.

The Jolly Argonauts.
The Pittsburgh Times says:—
"All who remained from the Opera House last night missed one of the most laughable performances, full of ludicrous situations, ever seen on the Pittsburgh stage. 'The Boarding School' has very little plot in it, but as full of fun as an egg is of meat. There is lots of ginger and life in it. Josie Devoy, a very talented suburbanite, played the part of 'Tod' and sang, danced and acted herself into favor with a large and demonstrative audience. 'Prof. Jeremiah Gimcock,' as played by R. G. Knowles, is one of the best characters in the piece. The company is a good one throughout, and all work hard to keep the audience in the best of spirits. If you want to drive away the blues, go to the Opera House."

A Versado.
On Monday evening the Fire Brigade Band left their practice room and marched up George street, as far as Hunter, where they turned and struck off at a good lively pace west. A Review scribe being in the vicinity at the time, and scenting an item, followed up at a respectable distance in the rear. A halt was made in front of the new terrace erected by Mr. Geo. A. Cox, and it was then known to the scribe that cake and coffee was not far distant, as the band were there for the purpose of serenading the newly married and popular proprietor of the Indian Queen tobacco store, Mr. George Rubidge. The members were invited in and partook of the hospitality of Mr. and Mrs. Rubidge, who set before them tempting dishes of various kinds. After spending a pleasant hour entertaining the inmates to choice music, "good night" and well wishes were exchanged, and the band returned to their hall.

Chit-chat.
—Why is the Holt-Knowles Company called the "Argonauts"?
—The only answer that comes to mind is that the efforts of the company bring forth "rowers."

—The Little Lake was well dotted with skaters yesterday evening.
—The skating, though very good, is hardly as good as that in the Charlotte street rink.

—The Ashburnhamites know how to transact municipal business.

A meeting of the Council and Board of Health held last night averaged seventeen minutes each, and the whole business was done by nine o'clock.

—One of the snowshoers who went out for a tramp last night, George, by name, can make furrows worthy of a prize ploughman.

—He also has the rare faculty of disappearing like a sprite—that is, when the drif is deep enough.

—There was some discrepancy in the registration of thermometers on Monday night.

—The Collegiate Institute's instrument registered 7 below zero, while 9, 14 and 15 were the tally of others.

Chapin, of Lakefield, represented this section.

Baptist Anniversary.

The Murray Street Baptist Church intends holding its first anniversary of the opening of its present place of worship on Sunday, the 20th instant. The Rev. Dr. Castle of McMaster Hall is expected to occupy the pulpit both morning and evening of that day. The Rev. Dr. Thomas, of Jarvis Street Church, whose eloquence charmed all who heard him on his visit to this town last year, will deliver his lecture on "Men for the age" on Monday, the 21st. On that evening also the annual tea meeting of the church will be held. On Tuesday, the 22nd, the Sunday School will have its annual festival and on Wednesday, the 23rd, a Christmas Cantata will be given under the direction of the Rev. E. Duff. Further particulars will be published at a later date.

A Tallow Tree.

This remarkable tree is a native of China. In the island of Chusan quantities of oil and tallow are extracted from its fruit, which is gathered when the tree has lost its leaves. The twigs bearing the fruit are cut down and stripped off to a farmhouse, where the seed is stripped off and put into a wooden cylindrical box open at one end and pierced with holes at the opposite end. The box is then suspended in a cylindrical ketle containing water, and the diameter of which differs little from that of the box. The water is then made to boil, and the steam penetrating into the box, softens the seeds and facilitates the separation of the tallow. After about a quarter of an hour's exposure to steam the seeds are poured into a steam mortar, where they are stirred about until all the tallow has been separated into a semi liquid state. It is afterwards poured into a cylinder with a hole at the bottom through which it is driven by the action of a press. It comes out perfectly white, free from all impurities and soon becomes solid.

NOTICE

IS HEREBY GIVEN that application will be made to the Legislature of the Province of Ontario at the next Session thereof, for an Act to incorporate the Trustees of the New City Hospital, being a hospital established and endowed for the benefit of the Protestant population of the Town of Peterborough in the County of Peterborough, and for providing that the Municipal Council of the Town of Peterborough and the Municipal Council of the Village of Ashburnham, in the said County, shall act jointly in the management of the said Hospital, and for the purpose of the said Act, a special rate or rates shall be levied upon such ratepayers as shall be named in the said Act.

As the town grows this unsystematic way of working will become more and more unsatisfactory.

The Council of a town divides itself into committees in order to expedite the work it has undertaken to do for the future of its constituents. It is wise to do so for an important committee, such as that of streets and bridges, to further away its duties from work properly undertaken by a regular employee, instead of applying the general business ability that characterizes its members in the consideration of plant which would involve a regular purpose properly regulated and handled by a surveyor.

The efficiency of the committee of a town council lies in their fulfilling the duties owed by the municipality to the interests of its property, just as an individual, while carefully holding his own property, will not neglect his duty as regards specialties by the advice of an expert in the particular work he contemplates doing on his property.

Let the Council then awake to the larger duties imposed on it by the importance of Peterborough; let its committees take the position of judges of plans, not of experts devising a scheme or a non-scheme of improvements.

If they do this; if they take up before the end of the year the question of town survey, the new Council can complete before the fall the whole task, and the larger following question of a system of drainage will be then ready for full and ample discussion.

The money hitherto wasted every year will be after that represented by permanent improvements, each of which will ultimately be found in its place as part of a well planned city's condition.

One word about the mischief caused by saw dust accumulations from the mills. The grievance by itself has been too much considered by people who do not reflect that whatever mischief is caused by this, there is no cause of injury to the town's health in the drifting of sawdust down the lake. But there is grave danger to the health of the town in a mass of drainage carrying much of the fecal matter of the town to mix and ferment in the mass of otherwise innocent sawdust. Mills in making saw dust grow wealth for the town, drainage increased in the sawdust produces loss in health, and loss in the lives of inhabitants, loss, on the way, of love and affection.

Cure the greater evil and commercial principles will cure the minor one of sawdust.

CONCERNING TOWN NEEDS

IV.—OF THE EMPLOYMENT OF COUNCILMEN'S BUSINESS CAPACITY.

DEAR REVIEW.—A town which has so rapidly grown into importance as Peterborough would naturally retain some of the crudités of management that belong to a village municipality.

We need not be surprised, therefore, to find a committee of the Town Council attempting in all good faith to perform the duties, which in a well-developed town or city, would properly require the skill of a salaried official. His own sense of the magnitude of his task would compel such an official to ask of the Council such a plan or general survey for work as I have suggested in my previous notes.

At present the Committee on Streets and Bridges decide, without any practical knowledge of the business, on expenditures that, as I have shown, amounted in the last year to $10,000. A good deal of this has been of the nature of patchwork, done by inferior day-labor, and, therefore, certain to give the smallest possible permanent result for the largest outlay.

As the town grows this unsystematic way of working will become more and more unsatisfactory.

The Council of a town divides itself into committees in order to expedite the work it has undertaken to do for the future of its constituents. It is wise to do so for an important committee, such as that of streets and bridges, to further away its duties from work properly undertaken by a regular employee, instead of applying the general business ability that characterizes its members in the consideration of plant which would involve a regular purpose properly regulated and handled by a surveyor.

The efficiency of the committee of a town council lies in their fulfilling the duties owed by the municipality to the interests of its property, just as an individual, while carefully holding his own property, will not neglect his duty as regards specialties by the advice of an expert in the particular work he contemplates doing on his property.

Let the Council then awake to the larger duties imposed on it by the importance of Peterborough; let its committees take the position of judges of plans, not of experts devising a scheme or a non-scheme of improvements.

If they do this; if they take up before the end of the year the question of town survey, the new Council can complete before the fall the whole task, and the larger following question of a system of drainage will be then ready for full and ample discussion.

THE SAWDUST EVIL.

To the Editor of the Review.

Sir,—I well remember the first time I crossed the old wooden bridge and looked upon the beautiful Otonabee River then in its pristine loveliness. It was on a bright, bright morning in the charming month of June in the year 1832.

The islands, below the bridge were well defined (there was no dam at Whitla's rapid) and were covered with stately elm trees with their symmetrical spreading branches and fine foliage. The banks of the river on either side were lined with trees both above and below the bridge. The principal current or main body of water ran on the village side, and west of the island the water was clear and covered over beds of small stones and gravel. I also remember fishing from one of the piers of the bridge, with rod and line, for b'a's bass, perch and sunfish, with gill-nippers for bait. Gill-nippers were plentiful and so were fishes in those days, and the fishing was good. I once wanted a b'a's bass, fresh out of the water for dinner, all that was necessary to do was to walk up to Hall's dam and spear it.

In the spring of the year the river was illuminated every night by great torch lights in 1 cks in the bows of boats, floating hither and thither with people speering mask-loues. Suckers also came up the river and were taken to the delight of small boys, but boys were few in number in Peterborough at that time. Elks were caught in great numbers every morning in the wiers at the mills.

So much for the past.

Now, below the dammed islands, there is a vast accumulation of sawdust, silt and bark of trees, and another embryo bank is in formation in front of the embankment of the C.P.R. bridge. There is no doubt that this is neutralizing the river, but this is neutralizing (?) by their adaptiveness for spreading disease in the town, as verified by your correspondents, Doctors Burritt and O'Sullivan, and by the able and valuable reports of Doctor Clark.

When Lord Palmerston was Home Secretary in the Coalition Government, Lord Aberdeen being Prime Minister, the Presbytery of Edinburgh wrote to him and asked him to make a motion to ask whether a national fast ought not to be appointed in consequence of the appearance of cholera. Lord Palmerston admonished the Presbytery that the Maker of the universe had appointed certain laws of nature for the planet on which we live, and that the weal or woe of mankind depends on the observance of these laws, one of them concerning health, with the absence of these anxious physicians which proceed from overeating, human beings, or from decomposing substances, whether animal or vegetable." He therefore recommended that purification of towns and cities should be more strenuously carried on, and he asked that the Council and Corporation, if allowed to remain, "will infallibly breed pestilence and be fruitful in death, in spite of all the prayers and fastings of a nation but ineffective nation."

I do not agree with your correspondents who complain of the cause of the legal gentlemen who advocate the cause of the saw mill owners in the Police Court. It is the business of these gentlemen to make white appear black and black appear white, and I have heard of other side they would, no doubt, have insisted that the young men were entitled to commendation for their philanthropy, and that the saw mill owners should be held up to public execration for the mischief they have done. I have confidence in young men. We have heard of young men who have done some good in the world; they have less fear and more courage than their seniors. In Russia at the present time, we find young students running the risk of being sent on their long tramp to the deadly Siberian Mines, or to a more swift death at home, in their endeavor to lighten the suffering of the laboring millions of the people, oppressed by the despotic barbarism and oppressive rule of the Czars.

If we turn to the sacred book we read that when Goliath, of Gath, defied the armies of Israel the old warriors were dismayed and held back, and a young man—a "stripling"—went forth and overcame the champion of the Philistines and brought victory to his nation. Barabbas, a young man, was a young man's attack on a giant evil in our midst, and I think they are worthy the support of every law-abiding person in the community. But this letter is already too long, and I will close, and with your permission will resume the subject in my next.

Yours truly,
Peterborough, Dec. 9, 1885.

THE TERMS OF ALLIANCE

A RECENT brief article in the REVIEW under the above heading has brought forth as answer from the Waterloo Chronicle, of which the following is the commencement and which contains the path of the answer:—
"Alluding to our remark that Mr. Blake's policy offers no difficulty that should deter patriotic French Canadians from supporting him, our esteemed contemporary, the Peterborough Review, remarks: 'Their terms are that Riel be considered a martyr, and that they want his death avenged.' That is true enough, but Riel is dead, and that particular issue is to a certain extent buried with him. Mr. Blake and the French will agree in opinion whether they act together or not, in believing that Riel was not alone to blame for the rebellion. That was caused by gross misgovernment, chargeable direct to Sir John Macdonald."

The word "not" is supplied by us as it was evidently left out of the Chronicle by a typographical error.

Mr. Blake and those French Blues who are now denouncing the Government for not interfering to save Riel cannot agree in the opinion that the Government was responsible for the rebellion, for the Blues stated by voice and vote that the Government was not responsible. Mr. Girouard, one of those who now profess admiration for Riel, argued the question in a very long speech in the House and vindicated the Government. Their only complaint is that the Government did not interfere with the course of justice to save a murderous traitor from punishment; their only object in joining the Reformers is to avenge his execution.

The Chronicle must see that the statement that the particular issue raised by Riel's death is buried with him cannot be correct. The particular issue referred to—revenge for Riel's execution—could not have been raised before his death. It was raised by his death, and it is absurd to call it a dead issue. It is the burning question with the Runges (the Quebec Reformers) and those Blues who have united with them. Instead of being buried, it is being on every platform where the Runges and their new allies appear. The Reformers of Quebec intend to, and doubtless will, make it the chief issue in the next election. The Ontario Reformers, by joining with the Runges to set them in attaining their object, have made it an issue in Dominion politics all through Canada.

Those Blues who have joined the Runges united with the Reformers solely for the purpose of avenging Riel. The Globe has pronounced their demands just. By supporting the Reform party, therefore, the electors would be assisting the avengers in condemning the Government for punishing the chief rebel. The Chronicle also prepared to say that the demands are just? Does it say that the rebels were justified in rebelling, and that Riel's execution was a murder? Will it still support a party that accepts as allies those who denounce the execution of the traitor and demand that the Government be punished for his execution? The Chronicle might also give its opinion of the declaration of Mr. Wilfred Laurier, the recognized leader of the Quebec wing of the Reform party, that if he had been on the bank of the Saskatchewan he would have taken arms to assist the rebels in opposing the rebellion.

MR. WHITE'S VISIT.

We fancy that owing to the rapidity with which the thousand admission tickets printed have disappeared, and other causes, that we need scarcely remind the readers of the REVIEW that the Hon. Mr. White's address before the Junior Liberal Conservative Club of this town is to be delivered this (Wednesday) evening, at Bradburn's Opera House, the chair to be taken promptly at eight o'clock. As already stated the front seats of the hall will be reserved until five minutes to eight for gentlemen accompanied by ladies, but subject to this limitation it will be well for those intending to be present to be in mind that it will be first come first served. But this course will however lead to no tedious waiting inasmuch as Mr. P. Miller and his party have kindly consented to be present and play a selection of airs previous to the chair being taken. In fact the members of the club are doing all in their power to render the meeting the success which it deserves and which we believe it will prove to be. We understand that Mr. White will arrive by the 6.40 p.m. train on the C. P. R. from the east and will be the guest of Mr. James Stevenson during his visit.

A Wreck of a Schooner.

KINGSTON, Ont., Dec. 8.—The schooner "Bellina," a Cornish lad, from Toledo, was wrecked on Sunday morning, but rescued in safety yesterday. The tug "Proctor" started for her on Wednesday. The craft struck the middle ground, two miles below the city, and began to fill. She sank along the Wall Island shore. The vessel and cargo were uninsured. The wreckers "Donnelly," with pumps, have gone to rescue the schooner. A. G. Kinn, also on Oak Point, W. L. Island.

THE DAILY EVENING REVIEW is delivered to subscribers at ten cents a week.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

A SHORT CHAPTER OF HISTORY.

The Reformers affirmed that the Blues were among the worst people on the face of the earth. They also affirmed that the Macdonald government had failed in its duty because it did not hang Riel. They said the government did not hang Riel because Mr. John Macdonald was afraid of the Blues. Next the government did hang Riel. The Blues (or some of them) raised a great outcry and said they would turn the government out of power for hanging Riel. "All right," said the Reformers, "we will join you. The execution of Riel was a judicial murder."—Hamilton Spectator.

A BRILLIANT THEORY.

This seems to be the theory of the Trill newspaper just now. If a murderer kills one man the murderer should be hanged; but if he kills a hundred men, and adds the crime of treason to murder, he should be let off.—Hamilton Spectator.

THEIR ONE ADVANTAGE.

Some of the Trill papers figure that the deficit is much greater than two and a half millions. That is where the Trills always had the best of the Tories; the former always were able to make the larger deficits.—Hamilton Spectator.

GOOD OUT OF EVIL.

If Sir John still retains power in the face of the Blue desertions, Ontario interests will be much benefited. The Blues have been exercising greater control in moulding the future legislation and expenditure of the Dominion. To our mind good will come out of the agitation.—Newmarket Era (Ref.).

A CRISIS.

Perhaps the meanest move ever witnessed in Canadian politics is that of a few Ontario Liberals to make capital out of the treasonable agitation in this province. Sir John Blake fell in which their plan is, he may thereby obtain office, but he will surely lose the respect of every sound Liberal. If there ever was a time when the great principle on which Liberalism is based—the equality of all men, no exception being made for any favored class—should be boldly upheld, it is the present.—Montreal, Que., Observer (Ref.).

NO SYMPATHY FOR HIM.

The personal opinion of Emmanuel Tasse, manager of La Miniere, as to Riel, having been asked, he said "it is impossible for him to feel personal sympathy for the man who, having stirred up the North-west, had fired the terrible storm, after the Frog Lake massacre, at Lac la Poudre to hide themselves on the Ile a la Beche, fearing the worst." Eight days the helpless women spent on that barren island, suffering from cold and hunger, in mortal terror, and with nothing to eat save such fish as they could catch. Mr. Tasse had the story from the superiors personally. It is upon the fate of the author of such horrors that the Globe and its French allies declare that the political fortunes of Canada must hang.—Toronto World (Indep.).

REFORM CRITICISM.

The Hamilton Times comes to hand with the question, "Why do not the Government remove Riel before the rebellion broke out?" If the Times is angry because Riel has been executed after having qualified and after being duly tried it would with a great show of reason have been violently agitated at any interference with the man's body before he had committed any crime. The Times says that the Government should have punished Riel before he had committed an offence as almost as ridiculous as the complaint entered by a Reform paper called the Ontario Reformer that the Government did not decide "last spring" what Riel should be hanged. This latter paper evidently thinks this is wrong that Riel should be hanged after he has been tried; but that it would have been quite right for the Government to have decided that he should be executed before bringing him to trial. Three characteristic specimens of Reform criticism.—Toronto Mail.

PLUCKY FRENCHMAN.

Although Mr. Chapleau's open letter to his constituents was not prepared for an English audience, it will raise the author in the estimation of every fair minded English speaking Canadian who reads it. It is temperate but uncompromising. Mr. Chapleau says but he does not plead. He takes back nothing. Passion and prejudice may render the address ineffectual, but it is unanswerable by anything worthy of the name of argument, whether it be requested from a national, from a French Canadian, or from a Roman Catholic standpoint. Mr. Chapleau tells his people calmly but firmly that if he cannot retain their support except at the expense of his conscience as a sworn adviser of the crown, his liberty as a Canadian citizen, and his dignity as a man, he is prepared to forfeit that support, with all that it implies. In saying this he takes the same ground as has been taken by his old time opponent, Mr. J. B. B. but he does not deem it his duty to reason, because it is the duty of a patriot to remain on deck during a storm, and because his resignation would involve disloyalty to his colleagues. He shows more pluck than he ever gave his credit for, and there is nothing that Britons and Irishmen admire more than pluck.—Toronto World (Indep.).

PATRIOTIC AND HENRIABLE.

The French-Canadians of Essex County Protested Against the Riel Agitation.

Says the Amherstburg Herald:—At a meeting of the St. Jean Baptiste Society, of Amherstburg, held on Wednesday evening, the 2nd ult. Mr. N. A. Costa delivered an address on the North West troubles and on the public life of Louis Riel, condemning with all his energy the agitation in favor of Riel. After which the president of the society moved, seconded by the secretary general, the following resolutions:—

"Resolved—That the St. Jean Baptiste Society of Amherstburg deplores the thoughtless movement which goes on at present in the Province of Quebec for the formation of a National party, whose object would be to secure to the French-Canadians the respect of all and the free enjoyment of their rights. That the St. Jean Baptiste Society of Amherstburg protests with all its power against such a party, which is unnecessary, and could only raise against the French-Canadians the distrust and antipathy of the Anglo-Saxons, who are much more numerous than themselves in the Dominion of Canada."

"That the St. Jean Baptiste Society of Amherstburg is convinced that the French-Canadians of Quebec, as well as those of Ontario and of the other provinces of Canada, have so far possessed the respect of their co-citizens whenever they have imposed respect by their loyal and truly national conduct, and that they have enjoyed the plenitude of all their rights and privileges according to the laws of the country and to the treaties. That they could not wish for anything better on that score, and that the movement inaugurated in the Province of Quebec is a danger which can only result fatally for them, and disturb the good understanding between the various races in the country."

"That as citizens of the Province of Ontario

they see with sorrow and apprehension the continuation of an agitation which is likely to include them during the present crisis, in the estimation of their co-citizens of the other races, and which would draw upon them the mistrust of the people of Ontario, who have treated them well so far, and with whom they are determined to keep up a good understanding."

"That the St. Jean Baptiste Society of Amherstburg cannot have any sympathy for the chief of the rebels of the Northwest, who was the cause of the ruin and death of so many innocent persons, and who had shown a sordid cupidity in claiming money to abandon the half-breeds whom he was supposed to be defending, and who had raised the savage Indians of the Northwest, causing thereby the murder of the priests and other respectable persons."

"That in consequence, the revenue movement against the execution of a great culprit, condemned after a trial in accordance with the law and pronounced just and regular by the highest courts of the country, is a thoughtless movement, unworthy of a Catholic and Canadian people who ought to have reflected before venturing into which he refuses to join the national sentiment, that the whole agitation was carried on by unscrupulous politicians exclusively with a political object, to attain which even religion has been prostituted in making of a solemn requirement of an entire political agitation, having nothing religious in it, and that such an agitation could only result in a dangerous crisis without any really national aim, and cause doubt to be raised as to the good sense and loyalty of a good example of the country, of the French-Canadian people."

"That the St. Jean Baptiste Society of Amherstburg approves and honors the Hon. Mr. J. B. B. for his truly dignified and patriotic letter in which he refuses to join the Riel movement, which he pronounces bad, and deprecates the levity and disloyalty of the Hon. Wilfrid Laurier, ex-Minister of the Crown, for the words which he has pronounced during this crisis in which he declared that if he had been on the Saskatchewan he would have shot a murderer and joined the rebels, that such sentiments expressed by a man who should always show to the people a good example, and unworthy of a statesman and of a good citizen."

"El Padre" Cigars.

Universally acknowledged to be the finest 10c. cigar manufactured. Don't be persuaded to take other brands. No chemicals or artificial flavorings used.

S. Davis & Sons have moved into their new mammoth factory, the finest of its kind in America. They are the only cigar manufacturer in Canada who manufacture the best cigars, boxes and packing cases, which industry gives employment to sixty hands.

Beware of cheap artificially flavored for the purpose of hiding the poor quality of tobacco used in flavored cigars. Insist upon having the old reliable brands—"Cable" and "El Padre."

A trial will convince the most skeptical that S. Davis & Sons' manufacture of cigars are superior in every respect to any in Canada. Prize medals against the world were awarded to S. Davis & Sons, of Montreal, for their manufacture of cigars, at Paris, 1867, Centennial, 1876, Montreal, 1883, 88.

Daily Evening Review

WEDNESDAY, DECEMBER 9, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Mr. Munro's Bible Class.
Rev. Mr. Munro's Bible class will meet at the Y. M. C. A. rooms at 3:30 to-morrow afternoon. Subject: "Unfulfilled prophecy with regard to Christ."

Look Alive.
Those who are thinking of joining Prof. Donost's violin class are requested to hand in their names before the 25th Dec., as application after that date will not be received. Hurry up, boys!

No. 1 Company.
All persons who have rifles, clothing, or accoutrements, of No. 1 company in their possession, are requested to at once return them to the Armory, or to Nelson Brown, at Mr. R. Shortley's Harness Shop.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Strong wind and gales shifting to the west and north-east cloudy weather with rain and snow, followed by a drier weather to-night.

Some choice goods in Venetian and Serge Overcoatings to select from at Turnbull's. Suits made to order on short notice.

Self Defense.
James Norley, the cricketer, is about to open a boxing class in the old billiard room, Town Hall (late Crevier & Phelan's), and is prepared to give lessons privately at the residence of any who may require such, starting Wednesday evening, 9th inst., at 7:30 p.m. No parties will be admitted who do not conduct themselves with strict propriety.

Smiles.
The tickets for the contest, Daniel are now for sale, and although the date of the performance is not yet at hand, still the sale is rapid. The plan was opened at Heartley's yesterday evening, and inside of two hours several rows of the best seats were taken. No doubt before the date of the event every seat will be taken.

Smith's Market.
Fresh haddock, fresh cod, fresh sole, fresh trout, haddies, mackerel, bloater, crabs, &c. Malaga grapes, Catawba grapes, and to arrive, lot of western imported Concord, Florida oranges, lemons, nuts and canned goods. Lot of very choice new hams from about twelve pounds. Oysters, the very best, bulk and New York counts. Poultry, game and everything usually kept in the market.

Choice Millinery at Turnbull's in all the leading shapes, and trimmed with colors to match any shade of costume.

What's in a Name?
There's a great deal in giving a suitable name to things as well as persons. Many a young fellow has received the preference and chosen the first rung in the ladder of success, because he had a well sounding name, and many a young lady has captured a husband, when in his turn has been captivated by a mother's pretty name as her good looks. Thus in these people often find themselves prejudiced in favor of a certain institution because its name is so them a feeling of confidence in the establishment. In christening his drug store the "Prescription Store," Mr. J. R. McClellan has adopted a name in every way appropriate.

Canada's Christmas.
From Grip office, Toronto, has been received Canada's Christmas, a beautifully illustrated Canadian Christmas paper. It contains sixteen pages, eight of which are filled with magnificent illustrations of winter scenes and Christmas scenes. The double page lithographic cartoon, by Mr. J. W. Beough, contains correct portraits of a hundred well-known Canadian political figures. It is very amusing, and, besides, is so well illustrated that it is almost worth the price of the paper. The other eight pages are filled with entertaining reading matter, including poetry, relating to the Christmas season. Canada's Christmas is a creditable production and should have a large circulation.

Ladies purchasing Millinery, Mantles and Dresses, will be pleased with the large variety they will find at Turnbull's New show Rooms.

A Sensation.
A tremendous sensation to-morrow night at Opera House. Stuart Rogers.

The Fastest Yet.
The quickest ocean passage was made recently by the Oregon, of the Canada line of steamers, that vessel completing the voyage in six days eleven hours and ten minutes. Messrs. Forbes & Co. represent this line.

Mr. George Belford.
"Of Mr. Belford's talents, it is almost impossible to say too much. He is gifted with all the parts which go to make up a first class elocutionist, and his display of his powers last night was of a character unexcelled, if equaled, by any predecessor."

Personal.
Mr. Pridden, of the Toronto Engraving Company, is in town taking a sketch of the lock factory.

Messrs. A. Comstock and A. Clegg were at Toronto on Tuesday, to attend the funeral of the late John Young.

Weather Notes.
The following weather notes are supplied by Mr. G. W. Morgan, druggist:—

	Thermometer	Barometer
9 o'clock	36	29.72
1	40	29.56
2	40	29.52

Missionary Work.
The Ven. Archbishop Pinkham is expected to visit our town, and will give an account in St. John's church, Peterborough, on Sunday evening of the missionary work in Manitoba and the Northwest, a subject of the greatest importance and interest.

For the South.
The Ontario Canoe Company has recently shipped two of their celebrated cedar rib canoes to Florida. The canoes are billed through to Jacksonville, Fla., but one of them goes to Pittsburg, for Mr. N. M. Wick, of that city. The other is for Mr. Reid, of Toronto, who is going to spend the winter in Florida.

A Question.
A question has been asked asked, is Stuart Rogers' entertainment to-morrow evening and the evening following a theatrical performance? Answer: No, it is not; nothing will be said or done in connection with it that would offend the person of the most delicate sense.

Scale of Rates.
The following is the scale of rates for admission to the Parlor Roller Rink:—
Gentlemen's tickets, eight for $1.00
Ladies' monthly tickets, 1.50
Gentlemen admitted and furnished with states 25
Ladies admitted and furnished with states 15
Special rates to children in the afternoon and on Saturdays.

Fun.
The performance of the Jolly Argonaut Company was announced to be full of fun, and so it was. "The Boarding School," which was presented on Tuesday night, is full of amusing nothing, and the stiff current of dry and pertinent wit which flows through it kept the audience in a perpetual titter, occasionally bursting out into irrepressible laughter. Miss Josie Devoy and Mr. R. G. Knowles took the principal parts with credit.

Ask to see these Heavy Cloth Gloves.
Turnbull is offering at 12 1/2 cts per pair.

The Market.
The sudden changes in the weather of late have had the effect of much diminishing the attendance at the market. On Friday there was good wagoning, but when the farmers woke on Saturday they found the ground covered with snow. Everybody was not prepared for it, and the attendance at the market on Saturday was considerably smaller than usual. This morning the almighty condition of the roads, and the drizzling rain deterred many from attending, but still there was a fair attendance. Meats of different kinds were offered in considerable quantities. The market in grain was small.

THE COUNTY COURT

And General Sessions Opened at the Court House.

At twelve o'clock on Tuesday the County Court and General Sessions opened at the Court House, His Honor Judge Denison presiding.

The bar was represented by Messrs. A. P. Poussette, Q.C., C. A. Weller, C. W. Sawers, E. H. D. Hall, J. Henry, J. Hopkins, Lindsay, W. H. Moore and Stone & Masson.

The Grand Jury was composed as follows:—

James Beatty, Foreman.
Richard Cosgrave, Wm. Clarkson
Jacob Hicks, Ed. Hawthorne
Israel Humphreys, Jas. E. W. Kidd
James Leach, Wm. J. Housman
Francis Mason, Thos. McDonald
Thos. Power, Thos. Southart
Walter Thomson, John M. Walsh
Andrew Young.

His Honor, after addressing a few remarks to the Grand Jury, dismissed the members to inspect the gaol, etc.

The first case on the docket was that of QUINTAL VS. CORNEIL.—Charles Quintal, a horse buyer, of Montreal, the plaintiff, bought a horse from the defendant, David Corneil, on the understanding that it was sound and without blemish. After he had taken the animal to Montreal he found that it was affected with the heaves. He sent it back to the defendant, who refused to take it on account of its being otherwise sick at the time of its return. The defendant was willing to take it back had it not been for this, but afterwards he refused to take it back on any account. Judgment was given for the plaintiff for $68.—Poussette, Q.C., for the plaintiff, and Hopkins, Lindsay, for the defendant.

GRAND JURY PRESENTMENT.
The Grand Jury brought in the presentment as follows:—

PETERBOROUGH, Dec. 9th, 1885.
To His Honor Judge Denison, Peterborough: Sir,—We, the Grand Jury, hereby submit that we have duly inspected the gaol as succeeded by Your Honor, and find everything clean and in good order. There are at present confined in the gaol sixteen male prisoners, six of whom were committed on being insane. It is to be regretted that they cannot be at present removed to some insane asylum.
JAS. J. BEATTY, Foreman.

If you want New and Cheap Millinery, call at Turnbull's New show Rooms while the assortment is complete.

POLICE COURT.

AN ARMY OF VAGS.

WEDNESDAY, Dec. 9.—When the Magistrate entered the Court and took his seat this morning, Officer Pidgeon marched in the whole army of tramps that have been laying off here during the last week or so. In the line that filed in from the constable's room were to be seen nearly all sorts and conditions of humanity styled "tramps." There was the old and the young, the long and lank, and the short and stout. A little broad-shouldered fellow led the way, while a tall, thin specimen, with spindle legs, a terrified look, and his hirsute adornments all dishevelled, brought up the rear. The usual seat was filled to overflowing and Officer Pidgeon had to provide extra room.

The Magistrate surveyed the motley group, and remarked that they looked like a noble army of martyrs. At this facetiousness a grin fitted from one end of the row to the other, but when His Worship told them that they were all charged with being vagrants they suddenly resumed sobriety. Then commenced the cross-questioning. One old son of the Emerald Isle said that last summer a stone fell down on both his feet, and that since he has been disabled. But among this gathering of poverty there were those whose downcast morose betrayed real misfortune. One of these pleaded guilty to the charge and stated that he was not able to get out of town. Two others availed themselves of the loophole left open by His Worship and promised to leave town at once if allowed to go. All of the others were remanded till Monday.

LIQUOR CASE.
The case of Roberts vs. Cavanagh, charged with having supplied liquor to Jacob Roberts, after having received a notice to the contrary, came up. Mr. C. W. Sawers appeared for the defendant.

The Magistrate said that he understood Mr. Cavanagh had agreed to pay the costs of the charge was withdrawn.
Mr. Sawers observed the contrary, but Mr. Cavanagh said that he would rather pay the costs than be coming up and down here every day. In doing this did not wish it to be understood that he was guilty of the charge.

SAVING.
The second case came before the court this morning. Mr. E. B. Edwards appeared for the Anti-Sauvage Association and stated that he was ready to proceed. An order nisi had been granted in the case against J. M. Irwin under the Navigation Act, but no such order was taken out under the Fisheries Act. Therefore, he was prepared to press the charge on the information laid under the latter named act.

Mr. C. W. Sawers, for the defendant, said that order nisi were not taken out under the Fisheries Act simply to avoid expense. There could be no reason for hurrying the matter forward, as no refusal was now being deposited in the river.

The cases were adjourned for two weeks.

Address.
The Hon. Thos. White, Minister of the Interior, will deliver an address in Bradburn's Opera House this evening under the auspices of the Junior Liberal Conservative Club. Chair to be taken at 8 o'clock.

Handsome Cream Blankets and Astrachan Cloths for children's Mantles now being shown at Turnbull's.

Giant T.

ADAM HALL.

Settled.
Mr. N. H. Ramer, artist, of Toronto, who came to town some time ago, finds that it is a desirable place in which to settle down. He has accordingly fitted up a cosy studio on George street, over China Hall, and is ready to execute all orders entrusted to him. That Mr. Ramer is a talented young artist is evidenced by specimens of his work already exhibited. An oil portrait of Mr. B. Earl has shown his ability in that class of work, while his coloring of photographs for Mr. G. B. Sproule, is pronounced by those well capable to judge, Mr. Sproule among the rest, to be of a high order. This afternoon Mr. Ramer was found in his studio hard at work before his portrait easel. He had just begun a portrait in oil. A number of strokes and touches from the magic brush soon confirmed the suspicion that Mr. Wm. Lech was the subject in hand. Mr. Ramer's specialties are portraits in oil and crayon and photograph coloring.

unusual confidence was reposed in the Government of the day. The answer was that it is because of the fact that the policy of the party is one of material development of the country, and because of the fact that their opponents

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

A Sale.
A sale of farm stock and implements will be held on Mr. James Galvin's premises, lot 13, on the 11th concession of the township of Smith, on Thursday, Dec. 17th.

Christmas Cheer at the Golden Lion.
Every department full of choice new goods, with many specialties for the festive season. Every intending purchaser should visit the establishment to be convinced of the variety and bargains now being offered by FAIR, VAN EYRE & CO.

Cornet Factory.
We understand that the new cornet factory is doing a brisk business, orders coming in with encouraging rapidity. Mrs. Gemmell has purchased an additional new Domestic sewing machine from D. Smith, in order to keep up with the work.

The Inaugural Match.
The curling season has begun. Two rinks from the home club went to Lindsay this morning over the link to try become with the Lindsayites. The rinks were composed of the following:—A. Stevenson, R. N. Roddy, W. Ball, T. A. Smith, ship. J. McClelland, C. McGill, W. H. Boddie, and Geo. Dunlop, ship. No doubt these veterans of the rink game, under the command of such veteran skipper, will give a good account of themselves.

In New Markets.
Some time ago Messrs. Sharwood Bros. opened out a commission office over the China Hall, George street. It is gratifying to know that they found their business increased rapidly as to compel them to move to larger premises. They have secured a commodious place on Water street, and intend to carry on the business of commission merchants and dealers in groceries' supplies more extensively than heretofore. It is quite possible that the establishment may in time develop in a wholesale grocery. There is no reason why it shouldn't.

St. Paul's Church.
The anniversary services in connection with the opening of St. Paul's Church Sunday School will be held on Sunday, December 13th. The Rev. G. H. Wells, of the American Presbyterian Church, Montreal, will preach both morning and evening. On Monday evening a tea will be given under the auspices of the St. Paul's Church Ladies' Aid Society in the school room from 6 to 8 p.m., after which the Rev. Mr. Wells will deliver an address in the church. Special music will be provided by the choir under the direction of Mr. Parker. Admission Monday evening 25 cents.

Real Estate Auction Sale.
A sale of farm stock and implements was held on Mr. J. B. Fife's premises, Otonabee, on Thursday. It was just such a one as would serve to recall the good old sales of years gone by. The bidding was brisk, the attendance large, and the sale a success in every respect. The well selected stock and neatly kept implements contributed largely towards the top prices which were given, but the able manner in which the sale was conducted helped towards that and in no little degree. Mr. Charles Stapleton was the auctioneer.

Reminded Volunteers.
Three of the volunteers joining company G. under the command of Capt. Bartha, which formed part of the force sent to stamp out the Northwest rebellion, have applied to be examined before the Medical Board, which sits at Kingston shortly. These three are Private Billings, Crowe and Bell. The first received injuries from being thrown from a horse at Clark's Crossing, the second fell from a plank while he was carrying a bag of oats from a barn, while the third has contracted rheumatism from exposure. Private Bell, who received serious injuries, was examined by the Medical Board, composed of Drs. Fowler, of Kingston, Boulter, of Stirling, and Wilson, of Belleville, at a meeting of the Board, held in Belleville on Thursday. The other two will be examined by Dr. Kincaid, surgeon of the 57th Battalion, before they present themselves to the Board.

Precedent.
On Tuesday evening the Rev. W. Bennett, of Peterborough, delivered a lecture in Norwood on "Obsequy, his Trials and Triumphs." The Register thus concludes its notice of the lecture:—"Mr. Bennett in his lecture has done both his subject and himself justice, and we hope that congregations who have not heard the lecture will see to it that they do so, since it is one both highly instructive and interesting."

Mr. E. F. Morrow, dentist, successor to Mr. D. Freshland, was elected Honorary President of the Dental Association, at a meeting of that Association held in Toronto on Saturday.

The Lindsay Word says:
"J. J. Lewis, B.A., late of Peterborough, and a former highly respected resident of Lindsay, left last Wednesday morning for British Columbia. There, it is to Mr. Lewis' intention, to enter into business in Victoria. He carried with him the heartfelt wishes of this entire community."

"Rubinstein's Piano."
All who heard Mrs. T. Charles Watson recite "Rubinstein's Piano" last month will be glad to have another opportunity of hearing it by a finished pianist. The press says of Mr. Belford's performance, "Rubinstein's Piano" was given in a manner that probably could not be equalled by any other pianist.

Government Buildings.
As will be seen by an advertisement in the Weekly Review, Mr. Goblet, Secretary of the Department of Public Works, has called for tenders for the erection of "the Post Office and the Customs and Inland Revenue offices at Peterborough." The plans may be seen at the office of Mr. J. E. Belcher, C.E., Peterborough, on and after Friday, December 18th.

This exhibition will display anything ever shown in Peterborough; the display being made up of over five hundred dollars worth of samples. No admission fee will be charged, and the ladies of the town and county are cordially invited to call and see it.

The Anniversary Services
of the Murray Street Baptist Church will be held on Sunday, 20th Dec., when the Rev. Dr. Castle, Principal of McMaster Hall, will preach both morning and evening. On Monday, 21st Dec., the annual meeting will be held in the basement of the church. Tea will be served from 6 to 8 o'clock p.m., after which the Rev. Dr. Thomas, of Jarvis Street Church, Toronto, will deliver his great lecture on "Man for the Age." Tickets for tea or lecture 25 cents each; for both, 35 cents.

A Warning.
Mr. James Dolan, formerly of Peterborough, recently opened out a dry goods store in the thriving village of Madoc, and from all reports he seems to be doing a good business. He has not, however, given up his factious way of advertising. The following notice, an appendage to his advertisement, which appears in the North Hastings Review, is an example:—"Wood customers wanting overcoats and suits will bear in mind that we sell them for cash. If they don't pay attention to this notice they will be elbowed by clubs which we have secured, to the Royal Oak, where they will be told by Jim Fanning to dip their bills in the creek." This is a terrible penalty.

Stuart Rogers.
Mr. Stuart Rogers, the elocutionist, appeared for the first time before a Peterborough audience on Thursday evening. He was introduced by Mr. F. Mason. Mr. Rogers is a young man, but he has the gift of elocutionary talent in a marked degree, which he has evidently assiduously cultivated. The first part of the entertainment consisted of dramatic recitations, and the latter of character sketches. In the first part he exhibited, especially in the selection from the second scene of Shakespeare's Hamlet, his deep, musical voice, well toned for dramatic representation, together with the remarkable facility to change. The little burlesque, "The Ghost," was amusing, but his rendition of "The Flying Machine" was perfectly irresistible, and the manner in which he depicted the character of the unhappy inventor, as well as those of his brothers, would compel the most laconic minded to join in the laughter. His representation of the three Italians, the father, mother and daughter, served to exhibit his rare power of rapid articulation, his remarkably sudden change of facial expression, and the variation of voice to suit each character. His character sketches were highly amusing, those of Gus Fitzpoodle, the "lady killer," and Miss Amalthea, the maiden of 33, each drew forth both laughter and applause. That of "Ben, the Newboy," was as realistic as it was pathetic. The entertainment closed with a representation of Oscar Wilde's mode of address. Another entertainment will be given this evening.

THE HUSBAND.
Dear wife, I am weary of seeing
You tell every day for our bread,
While I am a poor helpless being,
'Tis often I wish I was dead.

But I'm never compelled, dear, to bury,

And makes all our garments so fine
That our clothes are the envy of neighbors,
Who adore the Domestic machine.

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1886.

SPURIOUS CONSISTENCY.

CONSISTENCY is a jewel; the Reform party does not possess, but a spurious article is manufactured for it. The organs of the party insist that in joining with the Reformers, their "new allies," as the London Advertiser called them, they are not inconsistent, because (quoting the logical beauty of the reasoning) they were opposed to the Government before and are only opposed to the Government still. This reasoning may do for those who believe that the only business of a Reform member of Parliament is to oppose the Government, regardless of what the Government may do. It is, in fact, adopting the platform of party without principle. The principles involved in an agitation or movement to oust the Government are not considered, the only object being to defeat the Administration without taking into consideration the principles involved or the grounds upon which the defeat is brought about. Such a method of conducting the business of the Dominion may be satisfactory to embittered partisans, but it will not satisfy electors of intelligence and patriotism.

This argument of being "consistently" opposed to the Government is adopted to screen the party from the consequences of its alliance with those who wish to take revenge upon the Government for not interfering to save Riel from the condemnation of the law. The Reformers argued that Riel was deserving of the severest penalty and attacked the Government on the supposition that it would interfere to save him. When the Government did not so interfere a party arose and cried out against the Government for allowing the law to take its course. The Reformers accepted this party as their allies, and prepared to work with them, although their demands are utterly at variance with the views the Reformers formerly held. They are now assisting the Rielites in their endeavors to punish the Government for not interfering with the law to rescue the man whom they said deserved death, and try to establish their consistency by showing that they are only still opposing the Government! It is true that they are opposing the Government now, but in assisting the Rielites to uphold the doctrine that a murderous and mercenary rebel should not be punished they act in a manner the very opposite of consistent. It simply comes to this, that they are willing to join with any allies, whatever their opinions, to unite with any number of men, whatever may be the principles they are contending for, and to assist them in attaining their object, if by so doing they can secure office.

The Rielites demand that the Government be punished for upholding the law in the case of Riel. The Reformers say that they will assist them to inflict the punishment, and call upon the people to join them in doing so. Will the electors respond to that call? That is the question each voter in the Dominion has to face.

CABINET CHANGES.

The resignation of Sir Leonard Tilley made a vacancy in the Dominion Cabinet, which has been filled by the Hon. Mr. Maclean taking charge of the Department of Finance and Mr. Foster, M. P. for Kings County, N. B., being sworn in as Minister of Marine and Fisheries. Mr. Foster is an able speaker, and since he entered the House has taken a foremost place in the debates. Being a resident of a Maritime Province he is acquainted with the interests which will be under his management and he is well qualified for the position. Mr. Maclean is a thorough-going business man, whose business experience, as well as his administrative ability and acquaintance with public business, qualifies him for the administration of the affairs of the Department of Finance.

Mr. TATE claims that Riel was not fairly tried, because there were only six, not twelve, jurors, and the Reform coalition supports this view. But the Manitoba Superior Court and the Imperial Privy Council have decided that this was legal and right. Besides this, the act providing for six jurors in such cases was passed at the instance of the Manitoba-Blake Administration, so the Reform wing of the coalition cannot consistently take this objection.

HOW HE WON IT.

The Englishman who gave [Frederick] the Victoria Cross.

Major-General Pringle, commander of British forces in Burma, won the Victoria Cross when he had barely attained his majority. He was educated at the military academy maintained by the British East India Company, and had only been a year in active service when the great mutiny broke. For gallant work he was promoted to the staff of Sir Hugh Rose, a gentleman in Washington. The description of the incident at Jhansi: "While the British were pressed backwards by the enemy until reinforcements arrived, a wounded sergeant, badly hurt, fell off his horse and the worthy Sepoy rushed over him like a wolf to finish his work. They contended their victory too soon. Lieutenant Pringle's command was nearly 100 yards away from the wounded man, and had been ordered to fall back but held their ground and wait for a Highland regiment to come up before continuing the advance, for the force at his front was too heavy to be driven back without aid. At the head of his column he heard the shout, not unlike the scream of a wounded tiger, with which the Pandies leaped upon their prey. It was twenty to one, but the man who had been the bravest of his class at the school, and was the best athlete and gymnast in India, did not hesitate a moment. As the honest sergeant's English face sank down among the black ones, he saw his lieutenant start, and he knew no more until they were both dragged out from under a heap of dead, whose heads bore a sign-manual you would naturally care to see. "This is the sort of thing they give us in the East," said Pringle, looking at his best sword, blood stained to the hilt, with which he had cut down the enemy before his company came to his assistance. The Pandies were no intent upon their work that they did not see the avenger until, with a mighty back-swing, he drove to the throat one who was just raising his razor-edged talwar to give the bleeding sergeant his death stroke. With thirteen dead, equal wounds, he was a sight to see, and to-day Pringle's left arm bears the ineffaceable effects of that morning, twenty-nine years ago, under the walls of Jhansi. —New York Graphic.

HALIBUTON.

THE HAUGHTER OF DEER.—There must have been about 200 deer shipped from this station during the season of hunting. A large proportion have gone to Toronto, but a considerable number have been killed by sportsmen who have come here for a hunting holiday and those they have taken home with them. Last week a sportsman from a distance, who was only here for a few days, shot two moose deer, both large ones, up somewhere near Hurricane Lake.—Peterborough Independent.

LINDSAY.

ACCIDENT.—Percy, a little son of Ed. English, accidentally broke his leg on Saturday afternoon. The little fellow, who is only six years old, was playing with his little sister when he too caught in the head along the bed, and he fell and broke his thigh bone. Dr. Vrooman immediately attended the little sufferer, and it is to be hoped that under his skillful treatment the little fellow will soon be all right again.—Warder.

WIT AND WISDOM.

A child, like a letter, often goes astray through being badly directed.

Pay unmistakable respect to ladies every where, but beware of cruel flirtation.

Honesty sometimes keeps a man from becoming rich, and civility from being witty.

A newspaper is like human being. It must keep up its circulation or it will die.

We may, as Shakespeare prescribes, throw physic to the dogs; but the dogs are too knowing to take it.

Truth—open, bold honest truth—is always the wisest, always the safest, for everyone in any and all circumstances.

"Amputator" writes to ask if we can tell him how to take the curl out of hair. Have you ever tried getting married?

"Then, I suppose, Miss Strongmind, you and Mr. Sparrow are to be married wife?" "No sir, woman and husband."

A little boy being asked why Lot's wife was turned into a pillar of salt replied, "Because she was too fresh, I guess."

At the recent birthday festival of a centenarian the guests appropriately, but rather disrespectfully, we think, sang "Old Hundred."

An old lady was recently heard to observe, on taking up the morning paper, "I wonder if anybody has been here that I know."

Every man is fond of striking the nail on the head, but when it happens to be his finger nail his enthusiasm becomes wild and incoherent.

At a recent wedding in Ohio the minister was about to salute the bride, when she stopped him with, "No, mister, I give up them vanities now."

"Kiss the baby while you can," admonishes a poet. We can kiss her just as well fifteen or twenty years from now—if she's that kind of a baby.

Mr. Thompson—"Well, I've taken you to every place of note in the city." Mrs. Thompson—"Except to the Necropolis." Mr. Thompson—"Oh, that's a pleasure I am holding in reserve."

"I understand you are a graduate of Vassar, Miss Lucy. Did you ever study English literature to any extent?" "Oh, dear, yes; we had Hogg for breakfast, Bacon for dinner, Lamb for tea and Lover in the evening."

Christopher will burn his fingers lighting a cigar with a piece of paper, and make no fuss about it; but when his wife asks him to set the tea-kettle over, and he takes hold of the warm handle, he is mad enough to wreck the kitchen.

Rev. Dr. King, like Paul, was not imposing in personal appearance. On the birth of one of Dr. King's children the little stranger was brought to James, the headie, who was making his daily call. James looked for a little, and then said:—"No see bad—consider!"

"I think I'll get out and stretch my legs a little," said the tall man, as the train stopped at a station. "Oh, don't," said a passenger who had been sitting opposite to him, and who had been much embarrassed by the legs of his tall companion—"don't do that! They are too long already."

Another Awful Blunder.—A new nervous disease has been discovered. It is called "cosmophobia," or "dread of the world process." Dr. Vance, in the Medical Review, says that a patient stricken with this terrible disorder believes that "the power of the world is a power of evil and existence a frenzied carnival." We have known a man with cramps to have just this belief. Bilkinnon will also produce a somewhat similar state of mind. They say a "big head" in the morning is also conducive to the idea that "existence is a frenzied carnival." This extreme analysis of nervous diseases leads physicians into a great deal of nonsense. But then it pays. Let a man once become convinced that he is afflicted with "cosmophobia" and he'll pay almost any price for a remedy.—Frey Press.

The Dog Bitten Children.—NEW YORK, Dec. 10.—Eddie Ryan, Austin Fitzgerald, Patrick Reynolds and Willie Lane, four of the little boys who were bitten by a mad dog in Newark, N. J., started for Paris yesterday on the steamer Canada, in charge of Dr. O'Hara and the mother of Eddie Ryan. As two of the dog bitten children remain at home it is thought that the experiment will be an excellent test of the effects of M. Pasteur's treatment.

Smallpox at Oshkoshwa.—MONTREAL, Dec. 10.—At a meeting of the central board of health this evening it was resolved to inform the government that the smallpox had broken out among the Indians of Oshkoshwa, and to recommend that a qualified medical man be appointed to undertake the sanitary regulations of the village and supervise the vaccination of the entire population.

Eight deaths were reported in the city and suburbs to day and ten new cases.

Bishop Cleary's Anniversary.—KINGSTON, Dec. 10.—Today the fifth anniversary of the consecration of Right Rev. Dr. Cleary, Bishop of Kingston, was celebrated by a grand Pontifical mass. Among the dignitaries present were: Archbishop Lynch, Bishops Walsh, Londesborough, Ottawa; McNamee, Rochester, N. Y.; O'Mahoney, Toronto; besides various Vicars Generals and all the clergy of the Kingston diocese. Bishop O'Mahoney was the orator of the day. The service was followed by a magnificent dinner.

Epidemic in Quebec Town.—QUEBEC, Dec. 10.—It is reported that there are forty cases of smallpox within one mile of St. Anne de la Pocatiere, situated on the line of the Intercolonial railway, eighty-six miles below Quebec, where there are 300 students and a population of 4,000 persons. The school of St. Anne has been temporarily closed, and the Christmas vacation extended indefinitely. The whole village and parish have been thrown into a great state of excitement over the epidemic, and families have been fleeing to River du Loup and Quebec.

The Boston Conspiracy.—BOSTON, Dec. 10.—The Grand Jury has returned a bill against L. M. and Mrs. Coolidge for conspiracy, to kill and murder the wife of Edward L. Mallis in Baltimore.

If you are not afraid of the results of that Cough and Cold, you ought to be. "Pectorina" will thoroughly cure you. Sold everywhere; 25 cents.

CABLE NEWS.

The oldest and most reliable brand of cigars in the market. Free from all chemicals and artificial flavorings.

"El Padre" Cigars.—Universally acknowledged to be the finest 10c. cigar manufactured. Don't be persuaded to take other brands. No chemicals or artificial flavorings used.

S. Davis & Sons have moved into their new mammoth factory, the finest of its kind in America. They are the only cigar manufacturers in Canada who manufacture their own cigar boxes and packing cases, which industry gives employment to sixty hands.

Beware of cigars artificially flavored for the purpose of hiding the poor quality of tobacco used in flavored cigars. Insist upon having the old reliable brands—"CASA" and "EL PADRE."

A trial will convince the most skeptical that S. Davis & Sons' manufacture of cigars are superior in every respect to any in Canada.

Prize medals against the world were awarded to S. Davis & Sons, of Montreal, for their manufacture of cigars, at Paris, 1887, Centennial, 1878, Montreal, 1863-68.

Daily Evening Review

SATURDAY, DECEMBER 12, 1886.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

A Sale.
A sale of farm stock and implements will be held on Mr. James Galvin's premises, lot 12, in the 11th concession of the township of Smith, on Thursday, Dec. 17th.

Hit by a Horse.
We are glad to hear that the boy Dunford that was so severely kicked by a horse on George street yesterday is doing well and passed a good night. It was Dr. Pigeon that attended to his injuries, not Dr. Kincaid and Pigeon as reported yesterday.

Handsome Cream Blankets and Astrachan Cloths for Children's Mantles now being shown at Turnbull's.

The English Electionist.
The Daily Telegraph, of London, England, says:—
"Mr. Balfour fairly thrilled the audience by his magnificent rendering of 'Thomas O'Brien.'"
"Don't fail to hear him in Bradburn's Opera House on Wednesday and Thursday evenings, Dec. 16th and 17th. Plan of hall now open at Messrs. A. L. Davis & Co's. Tickets 25 cents; reserved seats 50 cents."

England for Ever.
I have just received a large shipment per Durham City, which completes my Santa Claus's presents. We have been busy this last week, and now, with fifteen clerks, we can give our customers the best of attention. Come and see our show room up stairs and get your presents before the rush. Christmas cards in abundance, cheap and good. C. B. ROUTLEY.

Ask to see these Heavy Cloth Gloves Turnbull is offering at 12 1/2 cts per pair

St. Luke's Church.
The venerable Archdeacon Pinkham, of Winnipeg, will preach at St. Luke's Church, Ashburnham, to-morrow morning at 11 o'clock. He is the accredited representative of the Church of England in Manitoba, and is commissioned to present the needs of the church in the diocese of Rupert's Land before the people of Ontario. The Archdeacon is an effective and pleasing speaker and his discourse will no doubt be interesting.

Home Manufacture.
A visit to Miss Jenkins' store on George street suffices to convince one that she has a stock of fancy goods rarely to be surpassed. But not only are these good attractive in appearance and made up in the neatest manner, but the goods are well made—they are, to a large extent, home made. The greater part of the stock being made on the premises, the proprietors can vouch for the quality of the materials used. The most unique and original designs in Christmas cards are to be seen there.

If you want New and Cheap Millinery, call at Turnbull's New Show Rooms while the assortment is complete.

Opened For Traffic.
On Thursday last the final tap was given to the reconstruction of the Smith street bridge, and since then people with loads of all kinds of stuff have been clearing out at each side for the barricades that blocked the entrance to be taken down. Contractor Thornton, however, did not do so without authority, and not until he was satisfied that his work was approved. The Town Engineer, by consent of the Street and Bridge Committee, inspected the bridge to-day, and found the work to be well done. He says that the job is not as good a one as it would be if the bridge were entirely new, but he is of opinion that the present bridge is stronger now than it was. Contractor Thornton was at 11 o'clock to-day instructed to open the bridge for traffic.

Some choice goods in Venetian and Serge overcoatings to select from at Turnbull's. Sent made to order on short notice.

The Local Market.
The clear bright weather this morning doubtless contributed largely to the bringing out of the large attendance at the market. At ten o'clock the platform enclosing the square was lined on both sides, while that part enclosed was wringed up with loads of grain, wood, hay, etc. The movement in grain was large, and the buyers were kept busy in despatching the continually arriving loads to the respective warehouses they represented. Wheat brought 60 cents, barley 55 cents, oats 31 cents, peas 62 cents, and rye 65 cents. Potatoes brought 60 cents per bag, and apples from 75 cents to $1.25 per bag. Of meats offered there was a quantity almost approaching a glut. Yet the prices were fairly high. Pork, by the carcass, brought from $5.50 to $6.75 per hundred; beef, by the quarter, from $1.00 to $1.75 per hundred, and mutton sold at from 6 to 8 cents per pound. Although the new butter and egg market was ready for use, it was not opened, owing to the fact that the market authorities thought that the big potato market was large enough to accommodate all marketers, and that it would be wiser to split it up into two parts. There was a fine lot of four offered to-day, and that at reasonable prices. Turkeys sold at from 60 cents to $1 each, geese at 50 cents each, chickens at 35 to 45 cents per pair, and ducks at 60 cents per pair. Butter in prints brought 17 cents per pound, and eggs 20 cents per dozen.

100 Second Hand Watches.
All in good running order, suitable for both men and boys, at prices ranging from $2 to $10, at W. A. SANDERSON'S, the jeweller.

The Probabilities.
The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours counting from 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Moderate to fresh winds; generally fair, comparatively cold weather, with snow flurries in a few places.

A Painful Accident.
On Friday afternoon a very painful accident occurred at the Metropolitan Grocery. Mr. Joseph Cranford, one of the clerks, was engaged in unloading some barrels of plaster of Paris off a cart. The barrels are heavy, weighing in the neighborhood of three hundred and fifty pounds. In taking one of them off, the Board by some means slipped and caught the fingers of his left hand between the barrel and the cart. The flesh from the knuckle to the tip of the middle finger was scraped off to the bone, while that of the other finger was torn off considerably also. Mr. Cranford walked to Messrs. Ormond & Walsh's drug store, where the wounds received a preliminary dressing.

THE DOMESTIC.
THE MURDER.
Dear wife, I am weary of seeing
You toll every day for our bread.
While I am a poor helpless being,
'Tis often I wish I was dead.
You never were accustomed to toiling,
Your hands were once white like the snow;
While I watch you stitch night and morning
Your movements seem weary and slow.
THE WIFE.
Dear husband, give over your worry,
My work seems like labor, I ween,
But I'm never compelled, dear, to hurry,
For I run the DOMESTIC machine.
It lights up by two-thirds my labours,
And makes all our garments so fine
That our clothes are the envy of neighbors,
Who adore the DOMESTIC machine.

SHUFFLING

The following from the Brockville Recorder shows how a Reform paper can endeavor to shuffle out of a tight corner:—

"The Peterborough Review seeks to take away the responsibility for Sir Leonard's defeat by the statement that the larger part of it was caused by the rebellion. But who caused the rebellion? Was it not the Government of which Sir Leonard was a member?"

The rebellion was not caused by the Government. The Government was not responsible for the rebellion, unless they should have paid Louis Riel his original demand for $100,000 or he modified demand for $35,000. Does the Recorder contend that the Government should have paid Riel the money, which he was not entitled to? Or does it believe that the half-breeds owned the whole Northwest and were entitled to the millions that Riel claimed for them?

By the above paragraph the Recorder wished to avoid its former statement that not a cent of the money expended by the Mowat Government was raised by taxation. It made the statement, and when its incoherence was shown it had not the manliness to acknowledge its error. Nor is this the first instance in which the Recorder has followed such a course. It recently stated that the Review received $200 for advertising the Peterborough post office, and when the statement was shown to be untrue it did not retract it nor the same insinuations it had connected with the statement. But little better could be expected from a journal that was one of the first to encourage the alliance between the Reform party and those whose desire is to avenge the execution of a rebel leader.

CONSERVATIVE (to Reformers).—"Your party is not consistent." Reformers.—"Oh, yes it is." Conservative.—"But you demanded that Riel be hung, and now you say he should not have been hung." Reformers.—"But we are still against the Government." Conservative.—"And you said that the high tariff was ruining the country, and now you say that if returned to office you would still retain the high tariff." Reformers.—"Yes, but we are still against the Government." Conservative.—"You insured the system of granting lands to colonization companies, and now you say that the system is wrong." Reformers.—"Oh, yes, but we are still against the Government." Conservative.—"You denounced Sir John Macdonald for allowing the Americans to fish in Canadian waters a part of last season free, and now you say he is honorable because he did not want to grant that privilege." Reformers.—"But, don't you see, we are still opposing the Government." Conservative.—"How can you change your opinions and take first one side on a question and then the other and still be consistent?" Reformers.—"Because we are against the Government all the time." Conservative.—"Then you have no fixed opinion on public questions; you have no fixed political principles; you say first one thing and then the opposite, and still you claim consistency. Out on such hypocrisy! Such consistency is not a jewel; it is a base paste imitation."

A WINTER contemporary maintains that the Tories have a platform! Of course they have. It is the one that Sir John Macdonald handed Riel up to—Conservatism. The principle upon which Louis Riel was hanged was that all persons in Canada are equal in the eyes of the law and subject to the law. That is a principle that forms a plank in the Conservative platform.

Thieves at Belgrade

The Servians at Belgrade are as disreputable a gang of thieves as any that exists upon the face of the globe. The Servian peasants are hard working, quiet, decent people. Belgrade is peopled by scamps, who make use of these peasants for their own end, and have but one object in view. They now want to steal their neighbors' land; usually they are engaged in stealing the property of any passing foreigner whom they can inveigle into their den. A little while ago an English gentleman made a bad debt in Serbia. He was handed over some property situated in the country. What was the surprise of the Englishman when the Servian Government called upon him to pay upon some frivolous pretext, $2000. In vain he offered to give up the property. Finally he had to make a bargain with the Government and pay $200 to get out of the entire business. In another case that I know of, some Englishmen loaned on a mortgage and became possessors of real estate in Belgrade. They put it into the hands of a Servian lawyer to sell on commission. The lawyer suddenly called upon them to pay him $200. They refused. Another lawyer at once offered to settle the claim for half the sum. On seeing this the second lawyer was discovered to be a great scoundrel as the deceased thief. The courts of justice in the country are a mere mockery. And decisions can be obtained for money. Those, too, who have had dealings on a large scale with the Government have discovered that they must bribe King, Ministers, and Deputies. The Servians have all the vices of savages and of civilized beings, without any of the redeeming virtues of either. If Belgrade, the Sodom, were to be destroyed unless ten thousand men could be found in it, its fate would not be doubtful.—London Press.

THE WALL OF KING THEBES

His Burmese Majesty claims to have been a mere Pappet.

Thebes is a stout, young and good looking man of about 30 years, with a weak face. He has not the receding forehead which has always been a distinctive mark of the descendants of Aung Mye. Since he has found that he has no reason to fear violence, King Thebes has recovered his nerve and his display a good deal of quiet dignity. Col. Sladen told the king that I was a correspondent of the Times. At the close of the interview I read over my notes through an interpreter to Thebes, who said that they were correct. "I wish to be kept quiet," he said. "I have given over everything to the English, and I want Col. Sladen to govern the country now and in the future. If Col. Sladen had remained as resident and had not left, this war would never have occurred. I have been badly advised. I was misled when young and made a mere puppet. I have now to suffer what Tinsdah and others forced me to do. I know that I was altogether wrong. Tinsdah urged me on to war, and when the fighting commenced he and his friends said the Burmese could not resist the English. I said to the interpreter, he said, 'Tell him that the day before yesterday I was attended by 3000 men of honor. Yesterday evening only 18 remained with me. I have two children alive and three are buried in the northern garden.' Thebes, resuming, said: "Let Col. Sladen govern the country for five years. When he has got affairs in good order, then I will come back and be guided by him. I have known Col. Sladen since I was a child, he told the queen I was the quiet one. A horoscope was also drawn by the priests, and my name came out first. Seven months after I became king I was not allowed to interfere. I was even crowned. I continued to wear the Phogayee priests robes. I ordered that my relations should not be killed, but imprisoned, so that there might not be a disturbance in the country. I was sleeping in bed when the order to kill them was given by the ministers. After eight months the Yenut Menayes, who killed the prince, tried to murder me.

"The English people know much that I did, but not of what was going on behind me. I have known the palace. I wish the English to know that I am not a drunkard. I am a religious Buddhist. I have given up all the crown jewels, and I am sure the English, who are a great people, will not object to my keeping my ring (showing me a magnificent ring he was wearing), or to his wife keeping her jewels," (pointing to a diamond necklace on the queen).

During the early part of the day, when King Thebes was moving, owing to the issue of an order that any woman applying should be allowed to enter the palace through the queen's gate, the palace was looted by several hundred women from the town, who carried away a large amount of property. The crown jewels were saved by Col. Sladen.—Corr. London Times.

THE WAR OF 1812

Experiences of the Edison Family in the vicinity of Welland.

Mrs. Samuel Edison, second wife of the late Samuel Edison, of Vienna, is an old lady now living in that village. Although in her 87th year, she has complete possession of all her faculties, and has a very vivid recollection of certain stirring events that took place in her young days. She was born in 1799, in Philadelphia and removed to Canada in 1803 with her father and mother. Her father, Mr. Jesse Yokum, secured a farm on the south bank of Lyons Creek, opposite Cook's mill, and distant only a few miles from the town of Welland. Her mother, who had been before marriage Miss Anna Reid, was in Philadelphia at the time of the Declaration of Independence, being at that time 23 years of age. Mrs. Edison has now in her possession an antiquated pocket book made by her mother during those stirring days. During her childhood her mother frequently recounted to her the events of that period, telling her about things that, while she was making the pocket-book before mentioned, she could distinctly hear the booming of the cannon at the battle of the Brandywine river. Mrs. Edison's parents died while the war of 1812 was in progress. Her three elder brothers went out to assist in defending the country and she and her two younger brothers were left in charge of the house. A Mr. Baker with his wife and two children were living in the house with them. The news came that the Americans were approaching from Fort Erie. Mr. Baker and Lemuel and Jessie Yokum hurriedly collected the horses, cattle and pigs and drove them away. Mrs. Baker and she resolved to remain with the two children, as they did not think the Americans would do them any harm. In a short time the Americans came up to the house, a large number being on horseback. About the same time the British arrived on the other side of the river and commenced firing, the house being on the bank of the river between the opposing forces. The very short time the battle was in full progress, and the bullets came crashing through the roof in large numbers. The four occupants of the house crept under a feather bed and remained there while the firing lasted. They could hear the bullets constantly coming through the roof and falling on the chamber floor above. After a time the Americans came to the house and shouted to them to let them in, as they wished to bring in their wounded. They opened the door and a large number of men were carried in, whose legs had been broken by the ricochet firing of the British. The firing was still going on, but they thought they would attempt to make their way to a neighbor's. They called out, and though the balls whistled by them in large numbers, they reached the nearest house in safety. In a short time the British, being much inferior in numbers, fell back for reinforcements. Mrs. Edison says the Americans were the bravest set she had ever seen. There was a large field of pumpkins near the house, and they built fire, cut up and roasted the pumpkins and ate all of them. They devoured honey and butter in large quantities, and, in fact, everything eatable about the place, carrying off about sixty crows and a large number of ducks. When the Americans left they dug two large pits, one on each side of the house. In one they buried fifteen men and in the other nine, pitching them in with contempt, and covering them but slightly. Then they retraced their steps to Fort Erie, as the British were retreating with reinforcements. When her brothers returned they thought the presence of so many bodies near the surface might cause a pestilence, so a hole was bored and the bodies were removed in sleighs to the woods at the back of the farm. Mrs. Edison says that many received compensation for the losses they sustained, but relations were nothing. She says that one was quite sufficient for her.—St. Thomas Times.

AFFAIRS IN THE SUDAN

Another Expeditionary Force to be Despatched Forthwith.

LONDON, Dec. 11.—The activity and daily increasing strength of the rebel forces have attracted the attention of the government to the serious state of affairs in Egypt, and to the fact that the present British force in Egypt is totally inadequate to cope with the formidable army of the new Mahdi. Hence it is announced to-day that the government has decided to send a new expedition to the Sudan and it is being prepared for immediate departure for Egypt. The frontier field force in Egypt consists of about 6000 men under command of Brig. Gen. Grenfell, one half of the force being British and the remainder Egyptian. The force in Egypt proper, which with the above field force constitutes the command of Lieut. Gen. Stephenson, consists of about 8000 British and 3000 Egyptian. Some 2000 of the former are stationed at Alexandria, the remainder being at Cairo with small detachments at Assiut, Suez and Port Said. Under Gen. Hudson at Suakin are about 3000 British and Indian troops.

The Caliph Abdul has ordered every man over the age of 16 to join the army of the Sudan. The natives are readily obeying the order.

Autumn Orchard Tour.

No other time of the year offers such opportunities for planning decided improvements in both young and old orchards as autumn. The quality of a tree's product is then readily perceived, and in case of its being of an inferior variety it can be marked for spring grafting, and where, here and there, branches are bearing wild or undesirable fruit, they may if not to be removed, should be bladed or marked for the same subsequent operation. I am well satisfied from a number of exact trials that fall pruning is wonderful. The callus which usually forms over the wound quite fast, grows scarcely at all in the following year; besides the adjacent bark and cambium is frozen or dried, and becomes dead for a half-inch or more below the cut, and the entire balance over the exposed surface is then insipid. With an old tree decaying and a harmful knot-hole follows.

Still it is wise to plan for spring trimming. Old trees having dead limbs, or those with sickly foliage or dead tops, or still other branches in position hindering the center in picking, are easily detected now. They can be bladed or even sawed or chopped off, if the cutting be made a foot away from the trunk or main branch, they in spring the stump remaining can be sawed off close. Though many old orchards have been neglected up to late years, there is surely an opportunity for judgment in this matter. Until the orchard is badly decayed, or in local spots some one or two trees are on billtops, or upon shallow clay or some similar undesirable land, it can certainly be reclaimed by trimming, grafting and mulching. A tree dead at heart is no encouragement. All trees are dead at the heart. Some grow vigorously and productive orchards are all in an incipient decay at the centre of the trunk. Old trees with considerable decay at the heart can still be made to produce handsomely if they can be induced to lay on annual layers of albumen. The betterment of the apple crop is not all to do with old or neglected orchards. I know of a number of fruit growers who are grafting over young bearing orchards, and replacing others, mostly Greening, changing them in some instances to the old Seckel no further. Some Greening trees produce good fruit; others are much subject to the apple scab, or seemingly fall a prey to every insect. This is the usual case with the Bottle Greening, but the Rhode Island is by no means uniformly good. The prospect of old adjusting the dead branches to the tree is very much improved on in practical fruit-growing by anticipation, hence as above noted, the branches which have no more the vigor to yield any crop of good fruit are cut out. Still further, there is often a more decided compensation from the excision of scores of healthy bearing branches. It is, however, a trifling confession to confess to a large limb of this kind; it should be done when small, and it may be done with less than a medium of resulting injury now. The foliage still on will and very much in training and symmetrizing the tree. W. F. Trubane.

Home Rule in Ireland

LONDON, Dec. 11.—Thomas F. O'Connor, member of parliament elected and Mr. Parnell's trusted lieutenant, in an interview to-day, defined the nationalist's view of home rule in Ireland as like that of the government of Canada; Irish members not to sit in imperial parliament, and the people of Ireland not to contribute towards the expenses of the imperial government, nor to share in the payment of national debt. Regarding funds to carry out nationalist measures Mr. O'Connor said the Parnellites could easily raise £1,000,000 in America.

Belaid to Rest

WINNIPEG, Man., Dec. 12.—The remains of of Louis Riel were removed from the family home at St. Vital this morning, to the Cathedral of St. Boniface, where a grand requiem mass for the repose of his was said by Rev. Father Andre. The body was then interred by the side of the remains of the father of Riel. Great numbers of Irish priests were present to witness the final ceremony, but there was no disturbance.

CABLE NEWS

"Cable." The oldest and most reliable brand of cigars in the market. Free from all chemicals and artificial flavorings.

"El Padro" Cigars. Universally acknowledged to be the finest 10c. cigar manufactured. Don't be persuaded to take other brands. No chemicals or artificial flavorings used.

S. Davis & Sons have moved into their new manufactory, the finest of its kind in America. They are the only cigar manufacturers in Canada who manufacture their own cigars, boxes and packing cases, which industry gives employment to sixty hands.

Beware of cigars artificially flavored for the purpose of hiding the poor quality of tobacco used in forced cigars. Get it upon the reliable brands—"Cable" and "El Padro."

A trial will convince the most skeptical that S. Davis & Sons' manufacture of cigars are superior in every respect to any in Canada.

Prize medals against the world were awarded to S. Davis & Sons, of Montreal, for their manufacture of cigars, at Paris, 1867, Centennial, 1876, Montreal, 1863-68.

TERRIBLE DROWNING ACCIDENT.

Four Persons Lose their Lives in Mischanceful Bay.

St. ARMAND, Que., Dec. 14.—Henry Burk and Miss Scroggie, while skating on the lake at Phillipsburg, Saturday afternoon, broke through the ice. Mr. Burk was drowned, the lady being rescued in a very exhausted condition.
Mr. Burk is the only son of Mr. E. C. Burk.
About one hour after the recovery of the body a sled was noticed near a hole in the ice not far distant. Suspicion being aroused, search was made, and the bodies of Henry Cadotte, his daughter and son were taken from the water.
All the victims were well known in the vicinity,
and it has cast a gloom over the whole community. Miss Scroggie has not claimed a victim for four years, when the late T. S.
Whitwell was drowned. Miss Scroggie is quite comfortable. Her relative live near Montreal.

HEIRESS AND GROOM.

An Elopement Agitation Society Circles in Cork.

LONDON, Dec. 14.—Society circles in Cork are agitated over an elopement scandal. A young man named Hodnett was employed last summer as groom by Mr. Long, a wealthy land owner living a few miles from Cork. One portion of Hodnett's employment was to attend Miss Marianne Long upon her daily rides through her father's estates and the surrounding country. In this way the young man and girl became very intimate.
The young man was handsome and the lady was impulsive. The result was an elopement, which occurred early in November, and the groom became a bridegroom in Dublin. As soon as the disappearance of Hodnett and the young heiress became known the police were put upon their track. The runaways were finally captured in Dublin, where Hodnett obtained employment as managing director of a luncheon car. The young lady was sent back to her father's care, and Hodnett has just been sentenced to six months' imprisonment. Miss Long is only fifteen years of age, and the young man will be his wife again as soon as he gets out of prison.

ONLY A PAUPER.

The Horrible Manner in Which a New England Town Treats Its Paupers.

RUSSELL, Mass., Dec. 14.—For many months
there have been rumors afloat of the cruel treatment of town paupers by Keeper Chipman, who has for three years bid off the town's poor, averaging twelve persons, at $800, or about $76 for each pauper. The select men have persistently denied the rumors. Two officers of the State Board of Health, Lunacy and Charity, have just completed an investigation, and some of the details of their report are too revolting for publication. The inspectors found filth abounding and stenches too loathsome for human endurance. Not a few of the inmates had long and filthy beards, and the worst of the filth and for covering only old clothing.
Upon such a bed an aged man named Thompson died without attention from the keeper or his superiors. The food provided him was uncooked oatmeal mixed with water. Starvation rather than disease or old age hastened his death. It is alleged that in his last moments he called for water to cool his parched lips, but though his cries were heard by passers-by some went to his aid. Not long before this another inmate, once a property owner of the town, died similarly of a terrible disease. One man, a school teacher and public lecturer, after enduring months and hunger, finally ran away. The general care of the paupers was found to be on a par with that given in the above described cases. The select men are charged with trying to kill off the paupers to get rid of them.

OPINIONS OF THE PRESS

A QUEER MENAGERIE.

The Barrie Gazette talks about the Mall's "Blue Mass." The Gazette hopes to see its party get into power by the aid of the French Catholics, yet it does not hesitate to ridicule their form of worship. The Barrie party is a queer menagerie. —Toronto World (Indep.)

THE NEW MINISTER.

The office vacated by the Hon. Mr. McLean has been given to Mr. Foster, of New Brunswick, known as leader of the temperance movement. He is extremely earnest and studious. He is a hard worker, and a powerful debater. He will perform the duties of his office with care and with ability. —Montreal Witness (Reform.)

THE LAW IS SUPREME.

The power which tries and condemns to death is not the Cabinet but the law of the land, which the Cabinet, equally with the humblest citizen, is bound to respect, and with the operation of which it cannot interfere save for urgent and well defined cause. It is not the Cabinet, therefore, but the law which must be held to account for Riel's punishment. —Toronto Mail

DESERVED THEIR PUNISHMENT.

We have always held and still hold that those who investigated and led the hopeless uprising which resulted so disastrously were criminal deserving of the severest punishment. The Government could not have done otherwise than hang Riel; they could not have interfered with the sentence of the law in the case of the Indian murderers. —Winnipeg Free Press (Reform)

DID HE "SKULK?"

Many have been anxiously anticipating Mr. Blake's arrival at Quebec, where it was proposed to give him a banquet at which he would be afforded his earliest opportunity of saying what he thinks of the present political situation. The announcement that he returns via New York has upset all those calculations. The talented leader of the opposition is taking a sensible course. —Toronto World (Indep.)

NOT FORGOTTEN.

Mr. Thomas Nelson, of Edinburgh, no doubt thinks the Riel agitation a fine thing. It attracts public attention from the schoolbook robbery. No doubt it is the case to some extent. The schoolbook robbery, as a subject of public discussion, must for the present take a secondary place, but it is not forgotten. Every time a book is purchased the buyer has a fresh reminder of the manner in which he is being robbed. The newspapers have not just now so much space for the discussion of this matter as they had a while ago; but popular indignation against the Riel Government on account of this shameful monopoly is not fed by newspaper discussion. Mr. Nelson need not flatter himself that he is forgotten, or that he will be forgotten. The people have plenty of time to discuss the Riel business and to remember the schoolbook robbery as well. In the meantime Mr. Nelson continues to carry off his plunder to Edinburgh, and appears to be careless whether the people of Ontario like it or not. But the day of reckoning is coming for all that. —Hamilton Spectator

UNREASONABLE DISCONTENT.

It is so rare in these days for a political offender to receive exemplary punishment that people experienced a sensation of surprise on hearing that Riel had actually suffered the death penalty. Can any person of good sense and moderation assert that Riel did not deserve his doom? He had twice been a rebel; he had murdered one man in cold blood during the 1870 insurrection; and during the late revolt he caused numerous deaths, and was the indirect though perhaps not the actual, instigator of massacres for which full-blooded Indians are now lying under the death penalty. If these ignorant creatures are to suffer the extreme penalty of the law, surely the mass of comparative enlightenment who agreed the rebels to suffer also. We fully admit that Riel and his party had grievances which deserved to be redressed, but a grievance in a constitutional country must be of a most pressing and exceptional character to justify armed rebellion. The execution of Riel, too, may have a salutary effect on the French Canadians, many of whom took Riel's part, less because of the justice of his cause, than because he was the enemy of the English-speaking fellow citizens. Of late there has been a growing feeling of alienation between the two chief sections of the Canadian population. Yet in the judgment of the impartial observer, the French Canadians ought to be disappointed. The ancient laws and customs were suddenly discarded, and at this moment the Roman Catholic Church in Canada enjoys privileges which it has lost in the rest of the world. The country of Riel is to be discovered. The present unfriendliness may soon vanish away, for it would be a downright calamity if Quebec and Ontario were to be divided into two independent communities. —London Graphic

A SPECULATOR IN WAR.

The Government makes out a strong case against Riel as a malefactor deserving of no mercy. There is no doubt in the mind of any reasonable and impartial person that his motives were interested. He would have "sold out" his rebellion at any time for a moderate price. We can neither blame or wonder at the indignation that has been aroused in Canada at the spectacle of a man managing a rebellion as a "strike" and sacrificing lives immeasurably more valuable than his own to his purpose of making money for himself. The defence of the Government upon this point is not only skillful, but is fortified with facts there is no gainsaying. —New York Times

MARKETING FOWL.

When killed on the farm, should be starved thirty-six hours before killed. During this time they should remain perfectly quiet, and if possible, in the dark. At the end of this time, the food will all have been digested, and the bowels will be empty, or nearly so. Then if they are hung up by the feet, bled by the mouth, dry-picked while warm, singed over an alcohol lamp flame, and laid on a table to cool; in twelve hours they may be packed. It is well to have clean castrators to line the boxes in which they are packed for shipment, and the boxes themselves should be light, strong and tight. Clean barrels are very good. The manner of packing depends upon the size of the box or barrel, and the character of the fowl. It should be uniform and systematic, and always in distinct layers and very close. They must, of course, be thoroughly cold before they are packed. —American Agriculturist

AFTER THE GREAT PROSECUTION.

"Judge," said an Arkansas man, who was arraigned the other day for assault with intent to kill, "I'm no baby. I don't wine and kick. I want for this Tennessee man with a club, and that's a fact. But, your honor, there was a awful provocation."

"Then you plead guilty?"

"Certainly I do; but hear me. This long-legged, tender-shanked, white specimen of humanity got right up on the head of a bear in front of Simcoe's grocery and snarled like a raccoon, and yelled out that Tennessee had two murders on our case. That's what got me touched off my state pride, your honor, and I walked in and killed old Arkansas again."

The jury found a verdict of "not guilty" without leaving their seats. —Ottawa Herald

CONCERNING
CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR.

SENSIBLE AND REASONABLE!

This is particularly the season of giving. Every body has, or should have, a present to make to somebody else. The question of the hour is

WHAT SHALL I GIVE?

Come to our FANCY GOODS DEPARTMENT and you will have a hundred answers. The more useful the article the more appreciated it will be by the receiver. Now in looking after Christmas presents, it should be the aim of everyone to select something that will be useful as well as ornamental.

Nothing can be more acceptable or appropriate than a nice WOOL HOOD or JACKET for a little girl; a warm comfortable CLOUT or KNITTED SQUARE for a lady; a pair of handsome fur top hat RIBBONS or GLOVES for other ladies or gentlemen; or a nice SCARF or HILK HANDKERCHIEF for each and every body.

We have in addition many nice things cheap, fresh and inviting, and as the busy season is drawing to a close, all can be satisfied that they will receive a most generous money's worth.

Daily Evening Review

TUESDAY, DECEMBER 15, 1885.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

Low Temperature.

The Rev. V. Clementi's self-registering thermometer recorded 7° below zero on Monday night.

Curiosities.

It was Miss Alice Hagan who met with the painful accident during a runaway on Saturday, not Mrs. Hagan, as the compositor yesterday unskillfully put it.

Sabbath School Workers.

All Sabbath school workers are cordially invited to attend the teachers' meeting at St. Paul's Church school room this evening at 7.30 o'clock.

Society of Encouragement.

The Y.M.C.A. deserves the hearty encouragement of the better part of the community in its effort to supply recreation of an elevating character. There should be a large attendance to-morrow night to hear the next eloquentist of their series, Mr. George Balford.

The Probabilities.

The weather probabilities for this district for the twenty-four hours commencing at 1 o'clock this morning, as reported from the Toronto Observatory, are as follows:—Strong winds or moderate gales from the south-west and south; partly cloudy to cloudy weather, with light snow or sleet towards evening or at night; rising temperature.

Bogart vs. Seymour.

Judgment was given at Toronto on Monday in the case of Bogart vs. the township of Seymour, tried at the last Chancery sittings here. Judgment was given for the plaintiff for the amount of his professional services. Reference to the Master at Peterborough to ascertain the amount due. F. D. and costs reserved.

An Explosion.

To-day, at a few minutes after twelve o'clock, an explosion occurred at the Collegiate Institute. Mr. L. E. Horning, who has charge of the science department, was performing some chemical experiments in the laboratory. He was engaged in mixing sulphur and potassium chloride in a mortar, when the mixture exploded. The report was a loud one, it being heard in every part of the building. Materials and contents of different descriptions were scattered about the room, and Mr. Horning suffered considerably. Two of his fingers were cut and the nail was torn from a third. Mr. Horning went to Dr. Clarke's office where the wounds were dressed.

The Taxes.

Mr. Wm. Cunningham, Collector of Taxes, says that the taxes have been paid in more rapidly up to this time than during any corresponding period since he took the office of collector. It is now not quite four weeks since he took the first taxes to amount to anything, and now nearly $34,000 have come into the town's coffers. This has been done without any forcing, no reminders having been given the ratepayers other than the ordinary notices. The fact that the taxes have been collected with so little trouble is a healthy sign of the town's healthy financial state. There is now about $3,000 more to be collected. This amount the collector will not collect immediately to gather in so that he may return the roll at an early date. All who wish to save costs should pay up at once.

Winter Sports.

The directors of the Riverside Park, Ashburnham, have decided to arrange the Park in such a way as to afford amusement and recreation to the public as well in the winter as in the summer. They are now preparing to provide an open air skating and curling rink and they are also preparing to build a toboggan slide on the new improved plan. The design of the one being erected in the University grounds, Toronto, will be used in this case. At night the park will be illuminated by numerous electric lights, so that patrons may enjoy the outdoor sport both during the day and evening. Those who are of opinion that outdoor sports are more exhilarating and beneficial to the health than indoor exercises, will now have every opportunity of taking advantage of the recreation to be afforded. May the directors of the park have success in their endeavor to provide healthful amusement for the people. The enterprise deserves to be well patronized.

Town Council Meeting.

A regular meeting of the Town Council is called for this evening.

The Rink.

The Charlotte street rink will open for the season on Friday Evening.

Some of England.

The Lansdowne Lodge, Sons of England Benevolent Society, hold their annual dinner at the Croft House this evening.

Ice Skating Watches.

All in good running order, suitable for both men and boys, at prices ranging from $3 to $10, at W. A. SAMPSON'S, the jeweller.

Christmas Ale.

For the finest ale in Canada call at Chamberlain's restaurant and ask for Calcutt's Christmas Ale.

Ladies' Meeting Postponed.

The meeting of the lady friends of the Y. M. C. A. called for this afternoon, to make arrangements for the New Year's reception, has been postponed till Wednesday afternoon at 3 o'clock. All ladies are invited to attend.

Weather Notes.

The following weather notes are supplied by Mr. G. W. Morgan, druggist:—

	Thermometer.	Barometer.
9 o'clock	13	30.15
1 "	10	30.15
3 "	22	30.11

Don's Fall.

A visit to Smart's store will well repay the visitor. There is an elegant display of fancy work on exhibition. The most unique designs in arranges, raised work, tinsel work, etc., etc. Don't fail to see it to-day and to-morrow. No admission fee.

Christmas Cheer at the Golden Lion.

Every department full of choice new goods with many specialties for the festive season. Every intending purchaser should visit the establishment to be convinced of the variety and bargains now being offered by FAIR, VAN-EVERY & Co.

Northwest Mission Work.

The Ven. Archdeacon of Manitoba, who is now in Peterborough, is anxious to meet the members of the Women's Foreign and Domestic Missionary Society of St. John's Church. A special meeting of the Society has therefore been called for Thursday afternoon at half-past three o'clock in the school house.

The Hop.

The Ball which was to have been held in the Bradburn's Opera House a few evenings ago was postponed. It will be held in the Parlor Roller Rink on New Year's night. A full orchestra of the Fire Brigade Band has been engaged to attend and persons intending to be present may expect to spend a very enjoyable evening.

Smith's Market.

Fresh haddock, fresh cod, fresh flounders, fresh trout, haddies, mackerel, bladders, ciscoes, &c. Malaga grapes, Catawba grapes, and to arrive, lot of western imported Coscords. Florida oranges, lemons, nuts and canned goods. Lot of very choice new hams from right to twelve pounds. Oysters, the very best, bulk and New York counts. Poultry, game and everything usually kept in the market.

The Anniversary Services.

of the Murray Street Baptist Church will be held on Sunday, 20th Dec., when the Rev. Dr. Castle, Principal of McMaster Hall, will preach both morning and evening. On Monday, 21st Dec., the annual tea meeting will be held in the basement of the church. Tea will be served from 6 to 8 o'clock p. m., after which the Rev. Dr. Thomas, of Jarvis Street Church, Toronto will deliver his great lecture on "Man for the Age." Tickets for tea or lecture 25 cents each; for both, 35 cents.

A Dislocation.

Mr. Wm. Walsh, of Messrs. Ormrod & Walsh, druggists, met with a painful accident on Sunday afternoon. He was at the northern part of the town, when, passing over an icy place on the sidewalk, he slipped and fell. He felt his left arm pain considerably, but did not think that anything serious had happened until he reached home and summoned Dr. King. It was then found that the shoulder had been dislocated. The member out of its position was replaced, and Mr. Walsh is at his accustomed post to-day.

Anniversary Services.

The anniversary of the opening of St. Paul's Church Sabbath School was celebrated on Monday evening. During the afternoon the ladies connected with the church had spread the numerous tables that filled the pretty school room in a most tasteful manner. The tables were all ornamented with flowers, and in the bright, cheerful sunlight the sight was a very glad one. At seven o'clock the one element lacking to complete the scene—a merry company—was supplied, and seated around the tables each and all enjoyed themselves in the most social and amiable manner. At about eight o'clock an adjournment was made to the church, where the people listened to the music and addresses. The Rev. E. F. Torrance acted as chairman, and the Rev. G. H. Wells, of the American Presbyterian Church, Montreal, delivered an address. The specially prepared choruses given by the choir were of a most pleasing kind, and the manner in which they were rendered spoke louder than words as to the training. Miss Hagan and Miss Stephens took their solos in the anthems with credit. The musical part of the programme was much enhanced by the numbers given by Miss Clara Claxton, who had kindly consented to be present. Her rendition of "One Soberly Solemn Thought," by Ambrose, was particularly impressive. Mr. Craven sang the tenor in a duet with Miss Claxton with credit. Mr. Gault sang "Val Ashmore of Christ."

It is all over town. Don't be a clam and pretend not to hear it. Don't run away either, but remember that the best variety of plush goods, gift books, and Xmas cards is at BALLANTYNE BROS., who are selling everything very low.

Election of Officers.

At a regular meeting of McWilliam's lodge of True Blues, No. 35, the following officers were elected for the ensuing year:—

Personal.

On Monday several Port Hope citizens visited Peterborough. In the party were Messrs. J. P. Clume, an aspirant for the chair of Chief Magistrate of Port Hope, J. B. Traves, of the Times, A. Winslow, W. Beamish, W. Stevenson, Wm. Gamble and Messrs. Mulholland. Mrs. J. E. McIntyre has returned from Plum Creek, Nebraska, where she has been for the past several months. The patrons of the Oriental are glad to see her.

The firm of Fitzgerald & Beck, Barristers, &c., Toronto, has been dissolved, owing to Mr. Fitzgerald having accepted the position of Inspector of Insurance. The business will be continued by the remaining partner, Mr. H. T. Beck, son of the Rector of Peterborough.

Mr. Markham B. Orde, of the Bank of Scotia, is at present in town on a visit to his relations. He saw the hottest work of the Northwest campaign at Fish Creek and Batoche, having been in the 90th Winnipeg Rifles, which suffered so heavily, especially a company to which he was attached. His front rank man was wounded, and the man immediately on his left was killed, so that the deadly bullets were very close to him. Mr. Orde reports that business in Winnipeg and the Northwest has been improving for some time and is now very satisfactory.

POLICE COURT.

ASSAULT.

TUESDAY, Dec. 15.—James Rose, of Oshawa, charged his son, Abraham, with having assaulted him on Sunday. The defendant, through his solicitor, Mr. J. O'Meara, pleaded not guilty. It appeared by the evidence that some family troubles had occurred about a year ago, by which Abraham was excommunicated from the house. He had been living with a neighbor, but had frequently visited home since then. On Sunday the complainant went home and found Abraham there. He ordered his son out and attempted to force him out, when the alleged assault took place. The Court did not hold the defendant much to blame under the circumstances. He had, however, been guilty of assault. A fine of $1, the lowest, was imposed.

A Brave but Rigid Soldier.

Lord Charles Beresford is almost as fearless a soldier as his late friend Colonel Bunsby, and consequently a great favourite. It is related of him that during the hot fighting in South Africa, as he was riding back after an engagement, he overtook one of his troopers, wounded and slowly making his way back. He stopped and told the trooper to get up behind him; the trooper refused on the ground that if he got up they would both be taken by the enemy, but if Lord Charles Beresford rode on alone he was certain to escape. Lord Charles Beresford looked at him a moment and said:—"If you don't get up, I shall have to get off and knock you down." Whereupon the trooper mounted, and both escaped.—London Advertiser.

CHRISTMAS AND NEW YEAR.

SENSE AND REASONABLE!

This is particularly the season of giving. Every body has, or should have, a present to make to somebody else. The question of the hour is

WHAT SHALL I GIVE?

Our FANCY GOODS DEPARTMENT and our Hosiery Department are now open. The new stock of goods is appreciated it will be by the receiver. Now is the time to select something that will be useful as well as ornamental.

Nothing can be more acceptable or appropriate than a nice WOOL HODD or JACKET for a little girl; a warm comfortable CLOUT or KNITTED SWEATER for a lady; a pair of handsome fur lined KID MITTS or GLOVES for either lady or gentleman; or a nice SCARF or SILK HANDKERCHIEF for each and every body.

We have in addition many nice things cheap, fresh and inviting, and as the busy season is drawing to a close, all can be satisfied that they will receive a most generous money's worth.

Mr. Harry Webb, who always stands at the fore about the time when Christmas or Easter comes around, has for some time past been preparing for a grand Christmas display of goods. His specialty will be beef, but all the requests that go to make up an attractive exhibition, will be represented. He has already begun operations in arranging his stall for the big display. Further particulars will be given later on.

Anniversary

The 5th anniversary of Bishop Cleary's Episcopal Consecration was celebrated with all due solemnity on Thursday last week in the city of Kingston. There were present six Bishops and fifty Priests. Among the Priests were Fathers Murray, O'Connell, Kelly and McEvoy of Peterborough Diocese. Father Cleary of St. Raphael's, Cleary, is looking the picture of good health and was enquiring for his many Peterborough friends.

A High Chance.

The ladies of Peterborough should take advantage of the big sale that is now going on at the Bon Marche. There is a big chance now afforded for purchasing at a very low price, household supplies such as towels, table linen, blue & red spreads, carpets, tea & sugar, and all sorts of groceries; also good lines, selling very cheap, of millinery, including hats and bonnets trimmed and untrimmed, flowers, feathers, dollies and ulsters, etc. Buyers everywhere are selling off at low prices. Auction sale every evening commencing at 7 o'clock.

That Turkey.

On Saturday last, while Miss Fowler, of Ennismore, was attending the market with a quantity of turkeys that she was offering for sale, a woman of ladylike appearance came for some inquiry the price of the fowls at the same time having one of them in her hand. There were other ladies looking at the fowl, when her ladyship, seeing a chance to skip with the turkey, made use of it. She was noticed by other ladies, but not knowing that she had not paid for it at the time they took no notice of it. This lady will not find this a very cheap turkey when she is done with it.

Previous to the meeting a long procession was formed, and, after parading the principal streets, the soldiers and officers adjourned to the hall, where the colors were presented with the usual ceremonies of such an occasion by Commissioner Combes. There was a large attendance.

"DANIEL"—On Friday Evening, December 18. Don't miss it.

New Coal Yard

Mr. Wm. Yelland wishes to correct the impression that has gone abroad to the effect that he has sold out his wood yard on the corner of George and Murray streets. He has neither sold out his wood yard nor has he retired. He will continue to run it in the future as he has in the past. What Mr. Yelland has done is to rent his coal yard, on Bell Street, to Messrs. Rathbun & Co., of Des Moines, who, it is expected, will shortly assume the management of it.

Teachers' Association.

The Sunday School Teachers' Association of Peterborough held a regular meeting on Tuesday evening in the school room of St. Paul's Church. The attendance was rather small, but the meeting was, nevertheless, an interesting one. Mr. J. A. Hall read a paper on "How best to conduct a Teachers' Meeting." Considerable discussion followed, led by Mr. W. J. Flavelle. The next meeting will be held in the school room of the Baptist Church.

The Anniversary Services

Drowned in a Cistern

St. THOMAS, Dec. 15.—Mrs. B. ARAUM, wife of Ben ARAUM, a well known conductor of the Grand Trunk Railway, went to the cistern this evening for a pail of water and accidentally slipped in. She was shortly after discovered with her feet sticking out above the cistern. She was taken out and medical aid summoned at once and every effort made to save her life without success.

THE ORIGIN OF DANIEL

The All Absorbing Topic of the Day—Some of the Great Danites.

The people seem to be in a perfect ferment over the presentation of the cantata "Daniel," which is to be presented in the Opera House on Friday evening. Already nearly all of the reserved seats are taken, and it is probable that the efforts put forth by Otonabee Lodge of Oddfellows to provide the citizens with morally elevating amusement will be highly and generally appreciated.
